"That the part of this Court's order of October 2, 1962, directing commitment of Edwin A. Walker to the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Missouri, for psychiatric examination, be and is hereby vacated; provided, however, that defendant shall not be precluded in any subsequent stage of this cause to challenge the legality of said order, or the jurisdiction of the Court to enter the same;

"That the defendant, Edwin A. Walker, shall be admitted to bail upon depositing the amount of $100,000.00 with the United States Commissioner at San Antonio, Texas, and that the principal and surety on said bond shall be permitted to execute same before the United States Commissioner at Springfield, Missouri;

"That the defendant, Edwin A. Walker, be and he is hereby ordered to present himself to Dr. Robert Stubblefield, Chief Psychiatrist, Southwest Medical Center, Dallas, Texas, within five days after his release from the aforesaid Federal Medical Center, and remain available for such reasonable psychiatric examination as may be determined necessary by the Chief Psychiatrist of said Southwest Medical Center and by such other reputable psychiatrist engaged in private practice as may be selected by the United States Attorney;

"That if the defendant should fail to present himself for psychiatric examination, or should be present himself for said examination and then fail to cooperate, the aforementioned psychiatrists shall report any such failure to this Court so that this Court, upon such failure, shall enter such further orders as may then seem just and proper;

"That psychiatric examination at the Southwest Medical Center is for the Court to obtain the benefits of psychiatric examination, as provided for in Section 4244, Title 18, United States Code; provided that said examination shall be for the purpose of determining: (1) whether or not the defendant is presently sane, (2) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to understand the charges pending against him, as shown by the complaint now pending against him in the Northern District of Mississippi, and (3) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to properly assist in his own defense;

"That upon completion of said examination a report of the results thereof shall be transmitted to this Court, and to the parties hereto, for such further action as to the Court may then appear just and proper.

"It is further

"ORDERED:

"That certified copies of this order and of the complaint now pending in the Northern District of Mississippi against the defendant be delivered to the Chief Psychiatrist of the Southwest Medical Center, Dallas, Texas, and to the psychiatrist engaged in private practice selected by the United States of America;

"That the United States of America shall forthwith select a reputable psychiatrist engaged in private practice, as provided for in this order, and that this Court and the Chief Psychiatrist of the Southwest Medical Center shall be promptly notified of the selection;

"That [illegible] of this order shall serve as authority for all officers and other persons to act in accordance herewith.

"This [illegible], 1962."

[illegible] United States District Judge CHARLES L. CLAIBORNE.

ORDER FIXING BAIL

[illegible] the defendant appearing in open court [illegible]

IT IS ORDERED:

"1) That the amount of the bail heretofore fixed for the appearance bond of the defendant in the case wherein criminal charges are pending against him in this court shall be and the same is hereby reduced to the amount of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00).

"2) Said bail bond when approved by a United States Commissioner in San Antonio, Texas, in Springfield, Missouri, or by any other properly qualified United States Commissioner of any United States District Court may serve to permit the defendant to stand aside thereon.

"This [illegible] day of October, 1962."

The foregoing quoted Order Fixing Bail is also signed by United States District Judge CLAUDE F. CLAYTON.

RECORD OF PROCEEDINGS - MISCELLANEOUS

Mrs. WITTS also made available "Record of Proceedings - Miscellaneous" of the United States Commissioner for the Western District of Missouri, which document was filed in United States District Court, Northern District of Mississippi, October 10, 1962. This document, which also relates to defendant EDWIN A. WALKER, contains the following entries:

"10-6-62 Defendant brought before United States Commissioner Powell at Springfield, Missouri, by Bruce W. Wilson, U. S. Marshal, Western District of Missouri, from United States Medical Center for Federal Prisoners at Springfield, Missouri. Defendant's identity established. Present were defendant's counsel, Clyde J. Watts, Oklahoma City, Okla. and William A. Walker and Thomas J. Deegan, both of Springfield, Mo. and F. Russell Millin, United States Attorney for Western District of Missouri.

"Order of Judge Claude F. Clayton, Northern Dist. Mississippi, Western Division dated Oct. 6, 1962 No. W-CR-34-62 filed. Said order ordering that the defendant, Edwin A. Walker, shall be admitted to bail upon depositing the amount of $100,000.00 with the United States Commissioner at San Antonio, Texas, and that the principal and surety on said bond shall be permitted to execute same before the United States Commissioner at Springfield, Missouri', filed.

"10-6-62 Order of Judge Claude F. Clayton dated Oct. 6, 1962, No. W-CR-34-62, reducing said bail bond to the amount of $50,000.00 filed.

"United States Commissioner, John R. Banks, San Antonio, Texas by telephone and confirmed by Western Union telegram informed U. S. Commissioner at Springfield, Missouri, that George P. Walker, Jr. (brother of defendant) and his wife, Helen G.

Walker, had qualified before him as surety on the $[illegible].00 bond of Edwin A. Walker.

"Pursuant to above-mentioned Court Order and on notice by U. S. Commissioner at San Antonio, Texas that surety had qualified for said amount of bond designated by Court order, defendant (on advice of his counsel) signed said bond, together with his mother, Charlotte T. Walker, as surety, at Springfield, Missouri, and same approved by United States Commissioner at Springfield, Missouri.

"Thereafter, U. S. Commissioner at San Antonio, Texas, advised U. S. Commissioner at Springfield, Missouri, that he has in his possession certain securities of Mrs. Charlotte T. Walker, with a marketable value of some $51,846, which would accompany his portion of bond to the Clerk of the Northern District of Mississippi at Oxford, Mississippi."

Mrs. BLISS advised that WALKER was released on bond on October 6, 1962, the bond being returnable to the United States District Court, Northern District of Mississippi. The date the bond is returnable was not stipulated.

[redacted] said he had no further contact with [redacted] although he recalls [redacted] and an individual who was later identified to him as General EDWIN WALKER on the campus of the University of Mississippi at an unrecalled time between the hours of 9:30 p.m., September 30, 1962, and 1:00 a.m., October 1, 1962. He said at that time he observed [redacted] and General WALKER standing on University Avenue opposite the Confederate Memorial on the University of Mississippi Campus at which time General WALKER was talking to four or five young white men whom he cannot describe or identify. [redacted] said he may have said hello to [redacted] although he is certain he had no other conversation with [redacted] WALKER. He said he has never spoken with General WALKER. [redacted] advised that as he recalls he overheard General WALKER say something about "cutting the supply line" or possibly "cutting the communications line" to the above group of young men; however, he cannot be more specific as to what was said by WALKER. He said he has not seen [redacted] General WALKER since then and advised he did not observe General WALKER, or anyone else whom he can identify participate in any specific acts of violence at the University of Mississippi Campus. 7D

[redacted] said he went to the grove of trees near the Engineering Building on the University of Mississippi Campus to see what was happening at about 9:30 p.m. on September 30, 1962, and stayed near this location until about 1:00 a.m., October 1, 1962, when he returned to his dormitory because the tear gas was beginning to choke him. He said he did not participate in any acts of violence and that he cannot identify anyone by name, physical description, or photograph who did participate in any acts of violence during this incident. He said he saw a number of persons throw rocks, bricks, and glass bottles at the U. S. Marshals who were guarding the Lyceum Building, however, he cannot identify these persons. He said the only vehicle he observed damaged was a Plymouth Station Wagon, further description unknown, which had been set on fire before he first observed it. 7D

He stated he was present during the time the riot broke out on the campus and during the entire evening of September 30, he attempted to talk the students into leaving the campus and cease their activities. He recalled that sometime around 11 P.M., on September 30, 1962, he was near the monument on the campus in the general direction of the main gate on University Avenue talking with a large group of students, none of which he recognized as being University of Mississippi students and had been talking with these individuals at length in an effort to persuade them to go home. He advised that he believes he had convinced several of them that they should leave the campus at which time General EDWIN WALKER was observed at the monument about 30 feet from where [redacted] was standing. Some of the mob recognized WALKER and shouted his name and immediately thereafter the entire group who [redacted] had been talking with immediately ran to WALKER where he apparently took charge of this group. [redacted] recalls that the group followed General WALKER in the general direction of the YMCA Building and shortly returned to the monument. He recalls WALKER was holding a cup of some sort in his hand and was wearing a large white hat. He further recalled that WALKER made some statement to the students and others present that Colonel T. B. BIRDSONG of the Mississippi Highway Patrol had "let you down" and made several remarks about upholding Governor BARNETT'S position in this matter.

[redacted] advised that at one time the majority of the rioting students were congregating around General WALKER. He overheard students talking to WALKER and stating that they had guns, rocks and a large force to fight the United States Marshals. [redacted] recalls that at one time WALKER told the crowd, "Go get 'em boys" at which time the crowd moved in the direction of the United States Marshals and after being dispersed with tear gas they returned to the monument where WALKER again told them to "charge." [redacted] advised that the students ran back and forth between WALKER and the marshals and in his opinion WALKER definitely was inciting a riot. He advised that on the night of September 30, 1962, [redacted] during the time the riot took place on the campus and that sometime between 10:30 and midnight on September 30, 1962, he was among a large crowd of individuals who appeared to be students in the vicinity of the monument located on the east end of the campus. He advised that he observed General EDWIN WALKER standing at the base of this monument talking with a large group of persons. He recalled WALKER remarked, "Don't let your Governor down. He was not the cause of this." He also said, "BIRDSONG let you down." He recalled that he had something in his hand and appeared to be drinking. He was unable to state whether it was a glass or a bottle but definitely appeared to be drinking something. He also recalled that on several occasions WALKER told the crowd, "Stay with ROSS BARNETT." On one of two occasions he heard and observed WALKER direct this mob to "Charge," at which time the mob would run toward the United States Marshals. After being dispersed with tear gas the group would return to the area of the monument where WALKER would again give them instructions to "Charge."

In addition [redacted] advised that many in this group were obviously not students and appeared to be "roughnecks." 7D

He advised that on one occasion he was able to talk to a large group of these boys and begged them to go home and cease their activities. He advised he believes he had actually talked several into leaving at which time WALKER called to them and they all returned to the monument where WALKER again instructed them to "Go get 'em."

He advised he realized that he had no control whatsoever over this mob and left the area.

He also added that he did not recognize any of the students or individuals as being students or employees at the University of Mississippi and in his definite opinion WALKER was inciting the riot.

[redacted] stated that he was reluctant to give any information concerning anything he observed on the campus at the university on the night of September 30-October 1, 1962, as he feared that he did not desire to give testimony in a court of law.

[redacted] stated that he did observe former Army Major General EDWIN A. WALKER giving a speech on the evening of October 30, 1962, at the Confederal monument located at the east end of the "Grove." He did not recall any specific comments which WALKER made during his speech, but he recalls that WALKER had said the Federal Government had taken away the rights of the state of Mississippi and had ruined the Mississippi Constitution.

WALKER made a statement that he did not want the students "in on it" as he knew of many people coming from other parts of the country to help. Someone in the group surrounding the Confederal monument asked General WALKER "what should we do now." General WALKER thought for a few seconds and then answered to the effect that the group should keep up with what they were doing, as they were doing a good job.

During WALKER's speech, an Episcopal minister was attempting to climb onto the Confederal statute, and several members of the group jerked him down. WALKER made a comment that he was a member of the Episcopal faith and was ashamed to be an Episcopalian. WALKER stated also that Colonel BIRDSONG had let the marshals into the University of Mississippi.

[redacted] stated that at the time WALKER was making his speech, he was not positive that the individual was General WALKER, but he had heard several of the students mention that

[redacted] was contacted, at which time he advised that he was on the campus of the University of Mississippi, in the vicinity of the Lyceum Building, on the evening of September 30, 1962, and observed a large group of people, as well as the United States Marshals. He advised that he was unable to furnish the names or identities of any of the individuals in the mob. 7D

When questioned if he observed General WALKER in the mob, he advised that he observed a man that someone told him was General WALKER. He stated that he did not get anywhere in the immediate vicinity of this individual and did not know General WALKER.

When questioned if he observed anyone making a talk and organizing a mob in the vicinity of the flag pole in the park in front of and to the east of the Lyceum Building, he advised that he did not see or hear anyone making any plans of any kind. He was then asked if he had heard that the members of the mob were planning to force the United States Marshals inside the Lyceum Building and block the front and rear doors and then burn the building, [redacted] stated that he heard that rumored but he considered it as gossip and rumor and thought nothing of it. 7D

[redacted] furnished the following information:

In connection with the detaining of General WALKER at 11:17 a.m. on October 1, 1962, as he and his party were leaving the campus of the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi. [redacted] said that the entire party in General WALKER's group amounted to six in number. They were riding in a white Ford car, [redacted]-drawn. There were two women and an older man, possibly 50 or over in the rear seat. In the front of the car were the driver, a young man, probably less than 21, General WALKER, and another young man, probably over 21, 6' tall, dark hair that was short but not a crew cut, who wore a suit and who described himself as General WALKER's aide.

When [redacted] recognized General WALKER and stopped him he told General WALKER he would have to wait for permission to go on, at which time [redacted] contacted [redacted] General WALKER told [redacted] that he had two women with him and that he had an appointment in Jackson. General WALKER said he would like clarification of this so he could continue and then he got out of his car and walked around the car while waiting for a reply to the call [redacted] had made. After about 15 minutes or less, when [redacted] had been instructed to bring General WALKER to the Lyceum Building to Mr. KAIZENBACH, General WALKER then got into the jeep with the MP's while the rest of General WALKER's group was free to go. However, the young man claiming to be General WALKER's aide asked permission to go with General WALKER. He did not go with him in the same jeep but was permitted to go in another jeep and the others accompanying General WALKER did follow to the Lyceum Building in the white car. After arrival at the Lyceum Building, General WALKER's aide continued to follow WALKER into the Lyceum Building. This is the last [redacted] saw of either WALKER or this aide.

At the moment [redacted] told General WALKER he would have to take him to the Lyceum Building, General WALKER looked surprised and [redacted] said he even looked shocked, then General

SUBJECT: DESEGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI
RACIAL MATTERS

Former Major General Edwin A. Walker has filed civil suit at Oxford, Mississippi, against reporter Van H. Savell, Jackson, Mississippi, and the Associated Press. This action was filed yesterday and asks for a judgment against the defendants jointly and severally in the amount of $1,000,000 actual damages, $1,000,000 exemplary damages and all costs. In his action, Walker claims he went to Oxford 9/29/62, to voice his protest against what he considered oppressive and unwarranted application of Federal power. He claims he told various law enforcement officers there that violence must be avoided. He stated reporter Savell on 9/30/62, made a false, unfounded and malicious report to the Associated Press that Walker lead the riots at the university and that this report was published throughout the United States.

[redacted] appeared for interview at our Birmingham Office yesterday. [redacted] claimed to have served in the Army under Walker. [redacted] He gave an account of Walker's activities from his departure on 9/23/62, from Abilene until Walker's arrest in Oxford on 10/1/62. 7D

[redacted] claimed he was not on the university campus with Walker, although he did observe him making a speech on 9/30/62. He denied that either he or Walker had firearms with them at Oxford and maintained Walker's only purpose in going there was to give the students moral support. He stated that at the time of Walker's arrest, they were on their way [redacted] Montgomery, Alabama. [redacted] said the reason for this contemplated visit was to "make sure that Walker got a fair deal." 7D 7D

Honorable Claude F. Clayton
United States District Judge

Re: Edwin A. Walker

Dear Judge Clayton:

After evaluating the authority vested in me in the amended order of appointment, I called in Andrew S. Watson, M.D., of the University of Michigan Medical and Law faculties and Titus Harris, M.D. of the University of Texas Medical School to consult with me and with Professor Charles Webster of the Southern Methodist University School of Law to explore the question of what constituted a reasonable pre-trial psychiatric examination under the Order # W-C-29-62 to evaluate Edwin A. Walker.

Unfortunately, the Court decisions interpreting 18 USC # 4244 have had unwittingly the effect of asking the psychiatric profession to deal with a legal concept in such a way that in the end, a psychiatrist called upon by the Court is unable to offer the benefit of his own area of medical competence in order to assist the Court in arriving at its decision.

While there are many decisions arising under #4244, a discussion from a medical and legal point of view has centered around the language found in Dusky v U.S. 362 U.S. 38 (1960) wherein the Court stated "that it is not enough for the district judge to find that 'the defendant (is) oriented to time and place and (has) some recollection of events' but that the test 'must be whether he has sufficient present ability to consult with his lawyer with a reasonable degree of rational understanding - and whether he has a rational as well as factual understanding of the proceedings against him." (Emphasis supplied.) The main purpose of this letter is to point out to your Honor that the above tests are not stated in such a form that a psychiatrist can provide the Court with the necessary objective data upon which it can base its determination, and that the answers to the following question may help to clarify the meaning of rational as used by the Court.

There appear to be many questions regarding both the psychiatric examination and the standard of competence which remain vague and ill-defined and which have quantitative and qualitative inter-relationships which need to be clarified. For example, what is the inter-relationship between defendant's mental state and the alleged crime? If defendent is to participate in his own defense, he will need to have a different kind of mental skill to deal with a charge of income tax fraud than he would with a charge of homicide. For a psychiatrist to provide any information which would be useful to the Court in reaching a decision on competency, he needs to translate such legal questions and statements into operationally meaningful psychiatric concepts which can be utilized in the examination. I would like to share some concerns about these questions with your Honor in advance, so that I will be able to formulate my findings in their most useful form.

Some of the specific questions which I intend to raise with you concerning this examination relate (1) the meaning of insanity in the context of this order; (2) what does assist counsel mean; (3) how may the examination be conducted and (4) how will the matter of protection against "self incrimination" be handled. In relation to the first element in the definition of competence, that of whether or not the accused is "insane," I perceive the following questions. First, does insane mean a"person who cannot cooperate with counsel in his own defense and who does not understand the procedure in which he will be involved?" If it means this, then I am ignorant entirely since I am not [illegible] psychiatrist.

Or is the use of the word "insane" an example of the unfortunate and yet common tendency to say that psychosis = insanity = incapacity to understand the proceedings to cooperate with counsel = incompetence. There are many examples of this in medical reports to courts and in judicial opinions, and it is a totally illogical kind of reasoning from the psychological standpoint. Clearly, not all psychotics can or should be called incompetent for legal purposes. On the other hand, if a psychotic thought process is related to the substance of the mens rea required in the definition of the crime in a particular case, the Court would then be greatly concerned about the nature of such an inter-relationship. It seems to me that if the latter relationship between psychoses and competency is sought, it will greatly influence my judgment about such questions as: the length of the examination required; the nature of the material needed from the accused to form an opinion on such questions, judgments about whether to hospitalize or not hospitalize for the purpose of the examination and many other matters relating to the technical aspects of a psychiatric examination. I assume from our discussions and my reading of the legal literature (See Articles in 59 Michigan Law Review at 1078 and 1 Washburn Law Journal 91 and 176.) that it is not my role to make the judgment of competency or incompetency, but rather to provide the Court with observable and verifiable data (which may be challenged in regard to accuracy by the defense if it so desires) so that in the end the Court will have a rational basis for deciding the question of competency to stand trial.

In order to explore the question of competency, I must be able to understand certain aspects of the accused's psychological apparatus so that I may make a judgment about how he can perform the mental operations needed to achieve the desired goal of assisting in an adequate defense. I must be able to know about how his perceptual capacities are functioning, the intactness of his memory system, his capacity to make sound judgments, his ability to take these various data and place them in appropriate relationships to each other, and to analyze rationally and consistently the decisions and actions which he carries out. This information can be obtained partially or fully, but it will inevitably dictate the conclusions which can be drawn legitimately and logically from the nature of the examination. I may feel that it is indicated to hospitalize the accused in order to observe and study by appropriate methods his total behavior in a setting where I would have access to such data, over a relatively limited period of time. I may wish to have various psychological tests administered to him. Such tests have the potential to [illegible] the internal working of the subject's mind and permit conclusions about his ability to deal with his environment as well as his internal feelings. Such examination procedures may be revealing of the personality of the subject and would no doubt raise concern by the defense that such data might be incriminating. I will not provide the test protocol to defense counsel, since in the first instance, they would not be in a position to comprehend it, secondly, such material can be very upsetting to the subject if improperly used, and thirdly, I consider it a violation of my ethical code as a psychiatrist. If I knew that I would be required to provide defense with a copy of such protocol, I would elect not to use it at all. While this would limit my understanding in critical ways and make it more difficult for me to provide the Court with definite answers to some question, I nevertheless, would have to limit my examination in this way. I would like to have the Court tell me whether or not to use such tests, after balancing these possibilities.

There is no way, in advance of some preliminary examination, whereby I can state exactly what I would need in order to conduct a full exploration of this man's psychological processes in order to provide you with the information I have noted above. This fact is not specifically related to this case, but is characteristic of all psychiatric evaluations. The availability of the required information, the ease with which it can be elicited, and the capacity of a given subject to call forth the required information, is a highly individual matter related to his psychological makeup. It is also related to the examiner's preference and skills as a physician. Some psychiatrists prefer one kind of examination procedure, while others will utilize alternative techniques. All may arrive at relatively similar conclusions, though they will reach them by different routes. Each examiner should be permitted to use the tools which he deems suitable to achieve the desired goals, provided he remains within limits imposed upon him by the legal considerations. It is assumed that his findings may be challenged and he will have the burden of demonstrating their validity.

In effect, I am requesting the Court to give me a more specific instruction about the depth of observation which you require for your purposes. I feel confident that if the Court will clarify some of the questions I have noted above and make it possible for me to carry out the examination which I would require, then I could furnish concrete data from which the Court could draw a conclusion on the issue of competence.

As there may be a possibility that defense counsel will wish to challenge my findings in this matter, I would have no objection to having a psychiatrist appointed by them observe the steps in any psychiatric examination which is carried out. It is not my intention that such a person would in any way interfere with my own procedures, but he would have the opportunity to be immediately and fully aware of the observational data from which I will draw my inferences.

While # 4244 provides that no statement made by the accused may be used against him, it would be my wish that defense counsel have an opportunity to see the report before it becomes a part of the record so that if, inadvertently, there is any part of the report which in any way alludes to the alleged criminal acts, this may be deleted.

Because of the rambling character of this letter I would like to summarize the specific questions raised above:

(1) What is the meaning of "insanity" in this context

a) Is this equivalent to the"ability to assist counsel and to understanding the proceedings?"

b) Does it mean 'psychotic?"

(1) Is it merely a wish to determine presence or absence of a psychosis per se'

(2) Is it a desire to know if the psychotic thinking relates to specific mens rea questions

(2) What does "assist counsel" mean?

a) Does it necessitate the ability to manipulate mentally notions of motivation in relation to the specific crimes charged?

b) Does it require reality-oriented accuracy in memory, judgment, thinking, etc. about the events related to the alleged crime?

c) Whose opinion about this ability is pertinent:

(1) Counsel?

(2) Court?

(3) How may the examination be conducted?

a) How much time is the examiner permitted?

(1) Relationship to answers of a, b, c, 2 question

b) Where may the exam be conducted,

(1) As outpatient?

(2) As inpatient?

(aa) How much limitation of the defendant's activity may be imposed, if it is necessary?

(bb) If hospitalization is necessary, do we have the right to require standard releases as established by hospital authorities

c) How and in what manner may psychological tests be used?

(1) Can I require him to take the test?

a) How much 'depth' is required in the examination?

(1) Relates to defendant's willingness to participate in the process.

(2) Relates to his psychological ability to participate.

(3) Relates to the time permitted for [illegible]
(4) Relates to answers required/desired of the examiner.

(4) How will the matter of protection against "self-incrimination" be handled?

a) Examiner will delete such data as he perceives to be incriminating.

b) Court will return report for deletions before entering it into record?

c) Other alternatives?

If the court can respond specifically to these questions, our examination process will achieve relatively sharp focus.

At the time that we decided upon this plan of operation we notified both the United States Attorneys and defense counsel of this. That after we had determined what our course of action would be, we would notify you, with copies to them. We hope this is satisfactory as it will give defense an adequate opportunity to raise any particular questions concerning the nature of the examination procedures and in this way completely protect the legal interest of the accused.

I apologize for the length of this letter but hope that you Honor will appreciate my concern about the vital question of what constitutes pretrial competency. We feel we may actually be able to expedite this matter before your Court by having an answer to these questions beforehand rather than having them arise during the course of the examination. We feel that this will provide the Court with the information necessary to accord the defendant with his dual right to a speedy trial but also a fair trial. I trust you will feel disposed to raise any further questions you may have, or to request clarification of any of the questions which I have posed for your Honor's consideration.

Respectfully yours,

[illegible]

[redacted] advised that to date he has received no information concerning reaction of either court or counsel for EDWIN A. WALKER re the STUBBLEFIELD letter to Judge CLAYTON. He advised that he had received information that Dr. MORRIS had indicated a present intention to appeal the entire matter, if necessary, to the Supreme Court of the United States, based on a denial to WALKER of rights under the Sixth Amendment, granting the right to speedy trial. SA [redacted] was contacted regarding the above matter and stated that during interviews with these student newspaper representatives they had stated that some of them had cameras with them and had taken some pictures Sunday morning, September 30, 1962, prior to the rioting but were warned that they might possibly be attacked and cameras confiscated if they continued to take pictures, at which time they ceased taking pictures. They did not take any additional pictures until Monday, October 1, 1962, at which time the rioting had ceased, and have no photographs showing actual rioting or violence in connection with captioned matter. 7C

Synopsis:

[redacted] 7D at Lyceum Building, University of Mississippi night of 9/30/62, can identify and furnished description of two of leaders in crowd throwing eggs, bricks, bottles and other items at U. S. Marshals about 7:00 to 7:30 P.M., that date, but does not know their names. He observed one man in this crowd who he later saw assaulting [redacted] a Border Patrolman from Miami, Fla., and arrested by [redacted]. This man assaulted [redacted] by hitting and kicking him and was identified as [redacted] 7C [redacted] may possibly be able to identify others, but is sure of being able to identify only these three men. Nine students of the University of North Carolina representing the "Daily Tarheel" (student paper of the University of North Carolina) observing events at the University of Mississippi, 9/30 - 10/1/62, interviewed. Some observed activities in front of the Lyceum Building, including the damaging of a camera and the automobile of reporters, vandalizing of military vehicles and attacks with fire extinguisher on driver. Some were in vicinity of gymnasium when Mississippi State Troopers received instructions and then departed from campus. Several heard comments by General WALKER at the Confederate Memorial Momument emphasizing every American had right to protest, that BIRDSONG had sold Governor ROSS BARNETT out, and that neither Governor BARNETT nor WALKER desired violence. University of North Carolina students state they are unable to identify any participant of act of violence. They expressed opinions Mississippi state Troopers had not made diligent efforts to maintain peace.

[redacted] stated he saw General WALKER about 5:00 P.M., Sunday afternoon and photographed him when WALKER was stopped at the gate of the campus. At this time WALKER was denied admission to the campus by the troopers and drove away. Then sometime after 8:00 P.M., he heard students say something about going to hear WALKER speak, but [redacted] said he did not go.

[redacted] said the comments of the student body obtained by him Sunday indicated they were solidly behind Governor BARNETT. He said he observed no indication of any leadership of the crowd and had heard no mention that a riot would occur.

He heard the car belonged to a Texas reporter whom he understood had offended the students previously. By this time the crowd was in excess of 1000. The State Troopers rescued the occupants from the car but watched the students tear up the car and laughed without making any effort to stop them. When the students finished, the troopers drove the car off and parked it. Then another student broke off the autronic eye while another cleaned out the glove compartment.

Back at the Lyceum, students were throwing lighted cigarette butts and bottles at the Marshals and the trucks. He overheard two men tell local officers that BARNETT was not going to do anything. The troopers were not to resist the Marshals.

More troops arrived and the students tried to set the top of the trucks on fire. A Federal Marshal put out the fire and was pelted with eggs. The crowd grew more rowdy and another camera was broken. Then a representative of Governor BARNETT said BARNETT did not want any violence. About this time the Marshals donned their gas masks. Air was let out of truck tires and truck windows were broken. About 8:00 P.M., the Marshals fired tear gas in front of the crowd. The troopers were still between the Marshals and the crowd. When the gas was fired, the crowd fanned out. Some students were overheard saying to get bricks at the construction site of a new building. Later, additional troops came and were clobbered by the crowd with rocks.

Sometime about 1:30 to 2:00 A.M., October 1, 1962, [redacted] observed General WALKER walking away from the Lyceum past the Confederate Monument. He never heard WALKER speak. [redacted] then left the campus. When he returned sometime later, the State Highway Patrol had a roadblock at the gate and he was not permitted to re-enter. He returned to the Colonial Hotel. He returned to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, that afternoon. 7D

A United States Justice Department spokesman believed to be named GUTHMAN, told newsmen a release was to be given at the motel. The reporters wanted the release to be given at the Lyceum and some of the press was admitted to the Lyceum. About this time the Marshals put on their gas masks and [redacted] moved back. As [redacted] spoke, the United States Marshals were being crowded back and fired tear gas. This angered the students and they loaded up with bricks which they threw in the direction of the Marshals. The Marshals moved out into the open in front of the Lyceum and fired more gas. 7D

[redacted] went with [redacted] over near the girl's dormitory. When they returned to the campus in front of the Lyceum they observed the students had set up a roadblock to stop the State Troopers from leaving the campus. They observed the State Troopers leave orderly, one after another, some wearing gas masks. They overhead a trooper say the troop had been ordered back to their district. 7D

As the students then started back up on the campus, someone stood up on the Confederate Memorial. This person turned out to be General WALKER who praised the students for their protest. He told them he was glad they had exercized their Constitutional rights to protest. A crowd of about 250 listened to WALKER. WALKER said he had talked with the Governor and the Governor said he had never given orders to permit the Marshals on the campus. WALKER said this meant the crowd had been sold out. The students inquired as to who was responsible. WALKER told him he did not want to name anyone but upon insistence of the crowd, WALKER told them it was BIRDSONG, Commander of the State Troopers. WALKER told the crowd people from all over the South were coming to help maintain the protest. WALKER stated BARNETT did not want violence and WALKER agreed that WALKER did not want violence. WALKER then stated that an Episcopal Minister wanted to talk to the crowd. The crowd replied they did not want to hear the minister as he was a "Nigger Lover". WALKER said that was right and it made him sick that he (WALKER) was an Episcopalian. About this time the tear gas enveloped the Memorial. WALKER left the monument and walked into the tear gas toward the Lyceum followed by several of the students.

[redacted] returned to the campus about 1:00 A.M. He heard a reporter had died right where he was walking. He heard some small arms fire and observed a small crowd still in front of the Lyceum. He observed two older men passing out soft drink bottles to students who were emptying them and filling the bottles with gasoline. This group burned two cars. He observed the crowd charge toward the Marshals, fire their bricks and molotov cocktails. Then the United States Marshals would fire tear gas in their direction and the crowd would retreat. 7D

About 1:45 A.M., [redacted] left the campus again with [redacted] and went to a rest area. They saw convoys of troops pass toward the campus. A State Patrol car drove up beside them. Then six men in a camper on a truck from California came up and said they had come to help Mississippi. This group talked with the State Trooper and learned that two had been killed and that the United States Marshals were attacking. The State Trooper left. Then soldiers made [redacted] and [redacted] move and they returned to the Colonial Hotel. 7D

About 6:30 A.M., they observed troops in the town. They tried to get back on campus but were stopped by the National Guard. Roadblocks manned by troops were then searching all cars trying to enter the campus. About 9:50 A.M., Monday, they saw MEREDITH come down accompanied by [redacted] and five Marshals and get in an old green Ford and go toward the Lyceum. That afternoon they left Oxford, Mississippi, and returned to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, bringing [redacted] and [redacted], with them. 7D

[redacted] stated that he and [redacted] had given their name to a United States Marshal and indicated they had heard General WALKER's speech. [redacted] expressed the opinion that although WALKER had stated he did not desire violence, the tenure of his talk about protest had been in a different vein. 7D

The only time he noticed anyone in the crowd give an individual attention was when a crowd of 75 to 200 stood to listen to General WALKER speak from the Confederate Memorial, after cars of the State Troopers had left. [redacted] heard WALKER state he did not feel there should be violence, however his tone was to the opposite. WALKER emphasized every American had the right to protest. Each student had the right to protest. He had talked with Governor ROSS BARNETT and ROSS BARNETT told [redacted] Finally, WALKER named BIRDSONG as the individual who had sold Mississippi out. By this time tear gas was drifting over the momument. WALKER said an Episcopal Minister desired to speak to the crowd. The crowd booed as the Minister was known to have spoken openly for integration. WALKER agreed that some of the things the man said made him ashamed to be an Episcopalian.

[redacted] said WALKER was a poor speaker and hadfailed to hold the attention of the crowd. The crowd left in the direction of the Lyceum but [redacted] did not see if WALKER went with them.

7D

Later, [redacted] observed a crowd of over 100 set fire to two cars in front of the Lyceum. He also observed the crowd throw gasoline in the street in front of a troop convoy arriving on the campus and throw sticks and bricks at the troops in the trucks. He never saw the Marshals orthe troops hit anyone.

7D

[redacted] said he heard some small arms shot but had no idea as to their origin or their purpose. It was his observation that the crowd lacked leadership and plan.

7D

On Monday, October 1, 1962, [redacted] observed MEREDITH leaving a class accompanied by United States Marshals. A Marshal on the stairs had declined to make any comment. [redacted] gave his name to a United States Marshal as one of the witnesses to WALKER's speech.

[redacted] then went to the men's dormitory directly across from the cafeteria. About 9:30 P. M., he went to St. Anthony Hall Fraternity to look for fellow students from the University of North Carolina and then went to the Journalism Department where he observed the activities with [redacted] of the Mississippi University paper.

[redacted] said he made several trips to the dormitory where MEREDITH was supposed to be located, but was unable to observe any activity there and the Marshals in the vicinity declined to make any comment. He observed the National Guard arrive. The crowd threw rocks and other missiles at them. About 1:00 A.M., [redacted] rejoined the crowd. He observed General WALKER speaking with several individuals across the street from the Confederate Memorial. He recalled WALKER commenting they had put up a real good protest here. WALKER mentioned if this much action had been taken concerning Cuba a different result might have occurred there. [redacted] recalled WALKER specifically stated this is the longest route to Cuba. BIRDSONG was to blame for letting MEREDITH on the campus. He had violated BARNETT's orders in letting the Marshals on the campus.

Someone mentioned to WALKER that [redacted] ought to come and WALKER said yes, he should. [redacted] stated he did not observe that WALKER was inflammatory or inciting any violence.

[redacted] noted that three United Press reporters and one reporter from a New Orleans paper were present taking notes of WALKER's comments while [redacted] was present. [redacted] then left with two of the United Press reporters and went to Baxter Dormitory where the reporters talked to the Marshals. The Marshals again declined to make any comments. [redacted] returned to the Journalism Building and then to the campus. He observed General WALKER was still at the same place next to the smashed fountain. A student with a scalp wound approached WALKER and WALKER had an aide examine this student. WALKER also talked with a boy who said he had been shot in the leg but WALKER did not seemed to be impressed.

Thereafter [redacted] circulated through the crowd and heard shooting from a building which he believed to have been the Physics Building, however,he did not observe any person responsible for this discharging of firearms. He remained in this vicinity from about 2:00 A.M., until 4:00 A.M., October 1, 1962. He observed a barrier had been built across the road on the way to the main gate. It was built of two by fours and other building materials, but was not manned. He also observed the complexion of the crowd had changed during the night and by 3:00 A.M., he estimated the crowd was 80 per cent or more non-student. He noted several students from Mississippi State wearing college jackets and spoke of a rally which had been held at Mississippi State. These students were asking where the Old Miss people were. About 3:15 A.M., he heard three quick small arms shot. Thereafter he never heard any shots. By 5:30 to 6:00 A.M., most of the activity was over. By this time he observed the National Guard escorting approximately 30 prisoners, including two older men and the boy with the head wound whom General WALKER had had examined.

About 8:50 A.M., October 1, 1962, at the Lyceum Building, [redacted] observed MEREDITH come out surrounded by the United States Marshals and the press. A number of the students yelled obscene remarks but there was no violence.

[redacted] said in his opinion the State Troopers and campus officers had failed to take sufficient action to avoid trouble. He did not feel they had made any particular effort. He felt had they tried they could have controlled the activity as on the one occasion when the troopers had asked the crowd to step back they had done so promptly. Further, when the trash was being thrown at the trucks officers standing in the immediate vicinity had taken no action whatever to discourage this activity or make arrests. [redacted] further advised he would be unable to identify any person observed by him throwing missiles at the Marshals or troops.

[redacted] He observed some State Troopers on the scene at the time but they took no action. When he returned to the campus that morning he saw General WALKER escorted into the Lyceum about noon. He never did see MEREDITH. He took no pictures.

[redacted] expressed the opinion the violence resulted from the negligent attitude of the State Troopers. He said it was his observation that the United States Marshals just stood their ground and defended themselves with tear gas as best they could.

When he was released, [redacted] said he went to the vicinity of the Confederate Memorial momument. There he observed General WALKER. All he heard WALKER state was that the students had a right to protest. WALKER made no advocation of either violence or abstention from violence while [redacted] listened. While [redacted] was there, WALKER was speaking to a group of approximately 100. [redacted] then walked toward the main gate. As he did so, a 1958 Buick stopped at the barricade. It was operated by an inebriated white male approximately 40 years old who told him some students had taken his pistol and he hoped they would put it to good use. He also observed a Volkswagen bus which he believed to have been from some news agency from Memphis.

About daybreak, October 1, 1962, there was a group of approximately 40 people in the city square. A convoy of troops came through the community toward the campus. On the left of the square was a patrol car full of State Troopers. As the convoy started through the square the crowd jeered and then threw cigarettes, rocks, a 50 gallon drum and other missiles at the troops. Toward the end of the convoy, the crowd tore a section of the front off a theater and threw it at a jeep. The State Troopers took no action.

The convoy came to a halt with the last two jeeps right opposite the crowd. Someone in one of the jeeps leveled a carbine and [redacted] heard the bolt slip as if the gun were empty, however, the crowd moved back and the convoy continued.

BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date October 17, 1962

[redacted] stated that during the time the riots were actually taking place he was only among the crowd for approximately fifteen minutes. During the entire period of his visit to Oxford, [redacted] he did not personally observe any acts of violence or destruction. He explained that it is possible such acts may have occurred near him but because of the darkness and confusion he has no direct personal knowledge of such acts.

[redacted] 7D stated that EDWIN A. WALKER, former Army Major General spoke before a group of approximately one hundred persons commencing some hours after the first tear gas was thrown and following the period of major rioting. [redacted] remarked that it was his impression that the gas had driven everyone from the circle area between the Lyceum and the Confederate Statute except for the group of approximately one hundred before whom WALKER spoke.

[redacted] stated that at approximately 11:15 P.M. on September 30, 1962, when former General WALKER first began to speak he could not be seen by [redacted] and the group of individuals [redacted] 7D stated, however, that he had heard WALKER's voice and as the group around him moved forward he found WALKER standing on what appeared to be a pile of sand before the Confederate Statute. [redacted] stated by this time he was positive as to WALKER's identity.

[redacted] replied he heard but only a few moments of WALKER's remarks because of two reasons, one, the group listening to WALKER began to take unusual notice of the newsmen 7D

by [redacted] 7C Date dictated 10/17/62

it was believed better to "move along". Secondly stated, the gas thrown by the United States Marshals became so strong in the area they were compelled to leave.

stated regarding WALKER's comments that he overheard the former General speaking of what had apparently been a clash with someone just prior to his, WALKER's, talk. This person later proved to be the Episcopal minister in Oxford. remarked that he could not be sure what stand WALKER was taking regarding but he, felt sure that students in the area were shouting that should have been given an opportunity to speak.

stated that one must "know and understand WALKER" to follow his comments. He described WALKER as "very confusing" and because of the clamor and excitement, etc., it was difficult to make sense from his remarks. cited as an example the only two statements he could recall WALKER making, both of which, he stated, he would have to paraphrase since he could not quote WALKER directly. One of these comments stated, followed WALKER's remarks regarding the and in effect was, "Governor BARNETT and I have ordered no violence". The second statement addressed to the group before him was in effect that "Your protest should have no end." or "Your protests should know no end." These two statements, stated, seemed to contradict each other and obviously puzzled those listening to WALKER. stated that he could furnish no additional information regarding WALKER, his statements or activities at Oxford, Mississippi.

In addition stated it would be extremely difficult to comment regarding the complexion of the crowd on the campus. He stated that all of those present were obviously not students at the University, however, a sizable number of those were of that category. stated that he had no of any individual group of individuals for initiating or the violence at Oxford, Mississippi.

Walker Files Suit On A.P.

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)— Resigned Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker Monday sued the Associated Press and one of its newsmen for $2 million, charging the AP had disseminated a false account of Walker's activities during rioting on the University of Mississippi campus.

The suit, filed in circuit court of Lafayette County, seeks $1 million actual damages and $1 million exemplary damages.

Walker is free on $50,000 bond on charges of inciting insurrection during the integration rioting at "Ole Miss." A report by psychiatrists was scheduled to be in the hands of [illegible] Mississippi Monday on what could be a "reasonable" psychiatric examination for Walker.

The newsman named in the suit is Van Savell, [illegible] the AP's Jackson, Miss., bureau. Walker charged in the suit that the night of Sept. 30 Savell made a "completely false, unfounded and malicious report" of his activities.

The suit said Savell wrote that Walker "had organized and led the riots that occurred at the University." The suit further alleged that the AP "thereafter wilfully, irresponsibly and maliciously published and disseminated news reports in Lafayette County, Mississippi, and elsewhere throughout the United States."

Walker's attorneys filed as an exhibit a copy of a first-person account written by Savell dealing with Walker's alleged activities the night of the riot.

The Savell story said Walker first appeared in the riot area at 8:15 p.m. Savell wrote, "I observed Walker as he loosened his tie and shirt and nodded when a unidentified man asked the general to lead a group to the steps of the Lyceum Building. Savell's story said Walker "advised several tactics." It said he directed the use of sand to stop the tear gas.

Walker's suit said he came to Oxford on Sept. 29 to voice his peaceful protest against what he considered to be an oppressive and unwarranted application of federal power . . ."

The suit said Walker checked with Sheriff Joe Ford upon his arrival in Oxford and "advised him that all should work together to avoid violence" and that Walker would assist the sheriff in any way he could.

The suit said "after a brief observation of the area with no participation in the activities of the crowd," Walker mounted a Confederate statue. It said Walker "pleaded with them to avoid violence, advising them that the real enemy was toward the southeastward . . . in Cuba," at which time the students jeered him for refusing to lead them."

MAYORS TO TELL U.S. MISSISSIPPI'S STORY

Mayors of Mississippi will be telling the Mississippi story of the battle against federal [illegible] by judicial bodies and will tell the story on a nation-wide basis.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Miss. Municipal Officers Association here Monday, plans were laid for implementing this program by volunteer speakers who would pay their own way over the nation.

Executive secretary W. C. "Bill" Caraway of Leland, a state senator, has compiled an extensive dossier on the states rights aspects of recent trends and occurrences. Prominent and able lawyers of the state are already enlisted in the plans for preparing model speeches, dwelling mainly on the legal aspects of the situation. During the past year, which saw one of the state's longest legislative terms, Mr. Day worked very closely with lawmakers in attending industrial legislation.

Federal Money As A Political Weapon

Attorney General Robert Kennedy's threat to use economic pressure and withhold federal funds from Mississippi during the Oxford crisis adheres to a pattern which becomes increasingly evident along the New Frontier. Less direct threats nonetheless high-handed have been made in other areas in Kennedyism's reckless crusade for power.

Speaking in Pennsylvania the other day President Kennedy issued what had earmarks of an ultimatum to voters of that state — either elect a Democratic governor or be placed in an unfavorable position to receive federal defense or other contracts.

Also in Indiana and other states, voters have been warned that they might lose substantial federal benefits if Kennedy candidates are not elected.

Such statements, however subtle their [illegible] of late maturity dignity or integ[illegible]. Surely it is not becoming for one elected as President of all the people to even imply threats of retaliation for any state failing to comply with the executive will in political issues.

Favoritism of a political nature in awarding federal contracts or issuing federal funds is nothing less than a form of vote-buying, just as Robert Kennedy's threat of withholding funds from Mississippi is naked political intimidation, — a means of winning bloc votes of South-haters at our expense.

The federal treasury should not be used as a political weapon but unfortunately, this seems to be an increasingly common tactic of Kennedyism, despite all its fine preachments about the need for national unity and teamwork.

If our executive leadership does have the country's best interests at heart, sincere efforts should be made to bring about a better unity of the states on a non-political basis, without threats or intimidation.

Dear Editor:

I personally recommend that the Mississippi Constitution be changed by a legislative resolution for an election of members ... Board of Higher Learning and submit same to the people in order that we can replace every member as soon as possible.

Next, we need a wholesale firing of members of the faculty at the University. We now know where our weakness is! We are being taken from within as well as from without.

Furthermore, the Mississippi Congressional delegation should begin immediate procedure of impeachment of John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy for openly defying the Constitution of the United States, and they should both be defending themselves rather than General Walker defending himself.

The world has turned to Mississippi for leadership, and Governor Barnett is giving the world its request.

I firmly believe that the people of Mississippi are awake and aware of the weakness in our ranks. I do not believe that we will tolerate the attitude and action that we are receiving from some positions of authority.

I will not submit to integration of the school with or without bayonets, and I sincerely believe 98 per cent or better of the people of Mississippi, regardless of race, feel the same.

Army Trains To Suppress Uprisings

WHAT IS BEHIND the special emphasis being placed by the U.S. Army training program against "counter-insurgency," which apparently boils down to military preparedness against civilian uprising?

In case you mislaid your dictionary, "insurgency" is defined as "a revolt against a government, not reaching the proportions of a organized revolution and not recognized as belligerency."

Just what threat of "insurgency" has been evident to justify the reportedly intensive Army training program designed to deal with civilian uprisings?

Former Maj. Gen. Edward A. Walker has warned that such a training program could result in intimidation and enslavement of the American people by a Washington dictatorship.

Walker, however, has been thoroughly discredited and stigmatized, so his warning has received little attention in the press.

It is remarkable that the military is giving special attention to the potential problem of "insurgency," at a time when our executive leadership insists that domestic Communism is no real threat to national security and that the big danger is from without.

Does this mean the Kennedy Administration fears a revolt from constitutional conservatives of the rightwing?

Military Conference Held In March

THE 8TH ARMY CORPS Headquarters "Octagon" bulletin of April, 1962, published at Austin, Texas, announced that "Special emphasis will be placed by the Army on counter-insurgency during the coming months, to include troop training, troop information and public information."

General Herbert B. Powell, Commanding General of the U. S. Continental Army Command, reportedly told more than 200 conferees in a special meeting at Fort Monroe, Va., "It is mandatory that all Army personnel be thoroughly familiar with counterinsurgency and that all soldiers be given information and instruction on the subject."

General Powell reportedly defined counter-insurgency as "an action including all military, political, economic, psychological and sociological activities directed toward preventing and suppressing resistance groups whose actions range in degrees of violence and scope..."

Attending the special counter-insurgency conference at Fort Monroe, Va. last March 23-24 were representatives from all major active divisions, Army service schools, training agencies and centers, and selected Reserve component units.

The conference emphasized that "every individual in the regular Army, the Reserve, ROTC and cadets at West Point must be indoctrinated or training in counterinsurgency just as soon as physically possible."

ENCLOSURE

What State Will Be Next Victim?

THIS MOVE TO deal with possible civilian revolt has followed a Kennedy Administration crusade to muzzle military leaders outspoken against the Communist threat inside the U.S.

Having repeatedly insisted that internal subversion is the greatest threat to the U.S. security, it would appear that the Kennedy Administration's "counter-insurgency" program is not prompted by fears of a Red uprising in this country.

Since it is not American policy to send military expeditions against internal uprisings of other countries it seems possible that the New Frontier may anticipate civilian uprisings by U.S conservatives.

DOES THE PRESIDENT anticipate mass violence in protest of his compulsory race-mixing drive in the South? Does the New Frontier expect civilian revolt against the reported scheme to disarm the U.S. and put our country under the "protection" of a UN world police force? Does Kennedyism and its rubber-stamp courts intend to crush to social, economic and political revolution, backed by military power as "law of the land"?

Is all this ruthless exercise of military, political, economic and social pressure against stubborn Mississippi and initial demonstration of Kennedy Administration preparedness against "insurgency"?

If so, what area of the United States will be the next victim of this all-powerful "counter-insurgency" steamroller, should other freedom-loving people dare to oppose the iron will of the New Frontier hierarchy?

Dr. McCain Gives Advice To All Friends Of USM

By JAY WEST

Dr. William D. McCain, president of the University of Southern Mississippi, gave some good advice when he appeared in Laurel before the Jones County Alumni Association.

In brief: Let the university officials handle the college's affairs and and in event problems arise stay off the campus.

It's good advice. Not following such a course was probably the first mistake at Ole Miss in that the university affairs got out of the hands of university officials.

The Hattiesburg American, published near the USM campus, commented appropriately on Dr. McCain's remarks saying:

"We hope his words will be remembered throughout South Mississippi for as long as they are needed.

"In a nutshell Dr. McCain said:

"'I will fight by every means I know to prevent integration at the University of Southern Mississippi, but if I get my back to the wall I want to ask you and all friends of the university to stay off the campus and trust me to handle it. There will be no rioting and bloodshed on the campus.

"This is not to say there will be an integration attempt anytime soon at USM. There might be. We hope not.

"But when and if there is, we hope Dr. McCain's plea will be heeded, and Hattiesburg will avoid the turmoil that has plagued the University of Mississippi and Oxford these past few weeks.

"The tragedy of Ole Miss should be a lesson to any person inclined to let his emotions override his calm judgment. Two persons, who had nothing whatsoever to do with a Negro being there, died in the infamous Sunday night riot on the North Mississippi campus. This blackened the name of a great state and a great institution in the eyes of many outside the state who might otherwise have been on our side.

"And for what?

"Nothing was accomplished by it. James Meredith is still a student at Ole Miss.

"Perhaps if the outsiders had stayed out of Oxford and off the university campus, officials there could have handled the matter in a manner that would have been much more satisfactory to the majority of Mississippians than the present situation. It couldn't have been much worse.

"Dr. McCain and his staff have done a fine job at USM, the fastest growing institution in the state. They are much more capable of handling any crisis that may arise there than any outsider and we are in favor of letting them do it if one arises."

We add: Dr. McCain is a man of courage and conviction.

We believe he can do what is best for the great new University of Southern Mississippi without any outside help.

COLLEGE BOARD 'ACTED ON OWN'

Didn't Seek Appointment As Registrar, Says Barnett

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gov. Ross Barnett said today the state college board acted on its own when it named him registrar at the University of Mississippi during the recent desegregation crisis.

During the height of the crisis, the college board named Barnett registrar of the university in that capacity he refused to register Negro James Meredith as a student. Meredith won a federal court order directing officials to admit him.

"I didn't request them to make me registrar. Personally I'm a news conference. It was the board's own action. I told them if they did name a registrar, I would be very glad to appoint either of the gentlemen."

Suggested Names

Barnett said he had suggested the names of the late Gene Smith, city editor of the Jackson Clarion-Ledger and a close personal friend of the governor; Dr. Ney Williams, a Jackson anesthesiologist, and Gov. Paul Johns.

"All of them told me they would like to have the job," Barnett said.

Meredith, a 29-year-old Kosciusko Negro, later was registered by regular registrar Robert Ellis after he was escorted onto the campus by a large force of federal marshals. His appearance triggered rioting on the campus which resulted in two deaths.

The governor said T. B. Ballentine, head of the state highway patrol, [illegible] the deaths, but had not reported yet.

Barnett said duration was a matter for states to handle and that he sought to prevent violence.

Had Not Seen Walker

The governor said he had not talked to former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker during Walker's visit to the state while the desegregation crisis was under way. Walker was arrested during the second day of rioting by federal authorities on four counts and was ordered to undergo psychiatric tests. The four federal charges include seditious conspiracy.

Students Yell, Block Path Of Meredith

In the dining room itself, where Meredith was sitting, a federal marshal was standing across the room when the crowd started gathering.

One white girl sat at a table in the dining room studying.

About 30 white students had left the dining room when Meredith entered.

At one point the white girl looked up from her books, glared at the crowd gathering at the door, and said:

"I hope you're getting your eyes full."

After a few minutes a second marshal shoved his way through the crowd into the dining room. He motioned to Meredith, who got up and walked out between the two marshals.

Shoved Back

The marshals had to shove back the students to make a corridor for Meredith at the start, but near the back of the crowd it opened without resistance.

As Meredith and the marshals walked through the crowd, the students shouted.

The incident occurred midway through the 29-year-old Negro's 19th day of attending classes at O[illegible] Miss.

This was the first large demonstration of student feeling against Meredith since a rock-throwing incident Oct. 8. At that time a rock broke a window in a nearby cafeteria where Meredith was eating.

A riot erupted on the campus after Meredith arrived Sept. 30. Two persons were killed and hundreds hurt in the all-night rioting.

INTERNAL SECURITY - X

Reference is made to the telephone call from Mr. Allen Krouse of the Civil Rights Division of the Department to Assistant Director A. H. Belmont of this Bureau on February 5, 1958, at which time Mr. Krouse made reference to the speech scheduled to have been made by Amis Guthridge before the Fairfax Citizens Council at Falls Church, Virginia, High School on February 5, 1958. Mr. Krouse desired that this meeting be covered and the results reported to the Department.

In response to the above-referred-to request there is being furnished you herewith a summary of what transpired.

The Fairfax Citizens Council, Fairfax County, Virginia, presented Amis Guthridge of Little Rock, Arkansas, at an integrated meeting at the Falls Church, Virginia, High School on February 5, 1958. There were approximately 200 to 250 people present including four Negroes. The meeting was presided over by Manning Gasch who introduced Edward Buckley who gave the opening prayer. Gasch then introduced Representative John Bell Williams of Mississippi who in turn introduced Representatives L. C. Gathings of Arkansas and John C. Davis of Georgia.

Guthridge, in his speech, stated he is a Jeffersonian Democrat believing in states' rights. He denounced United States Senator Jacob Javits, Chief Justice Earl Warren, Attorney General William Rogers and former Attorney General Herbert Brownell and stated they "are nuts if they think the people of Arkansas are going to accept integration in schools." He claimed they are trying to start a race war but it would never happen in the South but might in northern cities such as New York, New York; Detroit, Michigan; and Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Guthridge claimed integration of schools in Little Rock was communist inspired and that Harry S. Ashmore, editor of the "Arkansas Gazette," Little Rock, Arkansas, newspaper, had come from South Carolina and was a "darling" of the "left wingers" and members of the Fund for the Republic. He stated Winthrop Rockefeller, a leader of the Urban League, had insisted that that organization be included in Community Chest drives in Arkansas or else he would donate all of his money to the Urban League. Guthridge mentioned Dr. Lee Lorch, a white teacher in a Negro school whose wife, Grace, assisted Negro children last September; Dr. M. Lafayette Ferris (phonetic), president of a Negro college about whom he expected soon to be able to release information regarding his communist connections; and Virgil T. Blossom, superintendent of Little Rock schools, who he said is a friend of Rockefeller and a close associate of Daisy Bates, Arkansas National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) president.

Guthridge mentioned Woodrow Mann, former mayor of Little Rock, as being a close friend of Maxwell Rabb, whom he identified as a White House aide; Syd McMath; Representative Brooks Hays of Arkansas; United States Attorney Osro Cobb in Little Rock; and Harry Ashmore, claiming that these men were Mann's advisors.

Guthridge pointed out that no school has been integrated without the approval of school officials and related that three weeks before Federal troops arrived at Little Rock at the request of Daisy Bates and others, General Edwin Walker, commanding officer of the 101st Airborne Infantry, had been observed riding around Central High School. He cited this as an indication of conspiracy to bring in troops before any trouble had arisen. It is noted that General Walker is not the commanding officer of the 101st Airborne Division but is head of the Arkansas Military District. Guthridge stated that very little real violence had taken place at Little Rock but that northern newspapers were playing up all incidents out of proportion whereas an incident recently involving 2,000 fighting students was not played up and was termed a disturbance only. He stated the citizens councils are not against any race but that they desire in "legal, moral, and honorable methods to preserve segregation."

Assistant Attorney General W. Wilson White

Guthridge said the National Education Association is socialistic from top to bottom and that the National Council of Churches of Christ, USA, promotes socialism more than any other organization in the United States and that it is in league with the NAACP. In closing Guthridge stated that a great deal of wealth is behind the NAACP which he claimed has never had a Negro president and that the people all over America at the grass-roots level must organize into citizens councils to overcome its influence.

Fairfax Citizens Council, Fairfax County, Va. presented AMIS GUTHRIDGE of Little Rock, Arkansas, in an integrated meeting at the Falls Church, Virginia High School, 8:15 P.M., 2/5/58 with approximately 200-250 people including four Negroes present. Meeting presided over by MANNING GASCH (Phonetic) who introduced EDWARD BUCKLEY who gave opening prayer calling for cool heads and spiritual outlook on problems. JOHN BELL WILLIAMS, Representative of Mississippi, then introduced by GASCH and he in turn introduced Representatives E. C. "TOOK" GATHINGS, Arkansas, and JOHN C. DAVIS of Georgia. Nine people on stage, but three never introduced. WILLIAM MONCURE, address or position unknown, was one of these. Speaker stated he was a Jeffersonian Democrat believing in State Rights. He denounced JACOB JAVITS, EARL WARREN, WILLIAM ROGERS, HERBERT BROWNELL and stated they "are nuts if they think the people of Arkansas are going to accept integration in schools." Claimed they were trying to start a race war, but that would never happen in south, but might in northern cities such as New York, Detroit, and Philadelphia. Claimed integration of schools in Little Rock was Communist inspired. Next the speaker mentioned that HARRY S. WOODROW MANN, Mayor of LR, mentioned as being close friend of MAX RABB, White House aide, SYD McMATH, Rep. BROOKS HAYS, USA COBB, Arkansas, and ASHMORE claiming that these men were his advisors. Speaker pointed out that no school has been integrated without approval of the school officials. Speaker related that three weeks before Federal Troops arrived at LR at request of DAISY BATES and others, Gen. Cited this as indication conspiracy was then in effect by Government to bring in troops before any trouble had arisen.

Speaker related that very little real violence had taken place at LR, but that northern newspapers were playing up all incidents out of proportion whereas an incident in Philadelphia recently involving 2,000 fighting students was not played up but termed a disturbance only. Little Rock Speaker Sees Wide Integration Plot

By ZANDER HOLLANDER
SUN Staff Writer

FALLS CHURCH—With congressmen from Mississippi, Georgia and Arkansas looking on, Amis Guthridge, an Arkansas segregationist, last night described local and Federal efforts to bring about integration in public schools there as part of a "Communist-inspired conspiracy."

Mr. Guthridge is president and lawyer for the Capital White Citizens Council, of Little Rock, Ark. He spoke before some 200 people—including former NAACP official Dr. E. B. Henderson of Falls Church, and a Negro family of three from Vienna. The four Negroes sat in a segregated section of the Falls Church High School auditorium.

Mr. Guthridge's appearance in Northern Virginia, as well as an address Wednesday night in Richmond, was sponsored by the Fairfax Citizens Council.

Detailing a version of events leading up to Federal intervention in Little Rock that began with the arrival of Marxist-inspired immigrants in New York, Mr. Guthridge charged the decision to send in troops was also part of "the Communist conspiracy."

looking for blood" he said, recounting how soldiers stabbed and clubbed a man who said he was an innocent bystander.

Working with the White House in the "plot" were Arkansas editor Harry S. Ashmore, former Mayor Woodrow Mann, school Supt. Virgil Blossom, Rep. Brooks Hays (D.-Ark.), and Little Rock NAACP leader, Mrs. L. C. Bates, Mr. Guthridge said.

He blamed the President and Mr. Rabb for dispatching the troops, warning: "They are making a test—they mean business! But we mean business, too!"

"We've got to organize these Citizens Councils in every nook and cranny of our republic, and its not just something we've got to do in the South," he declared.

"We've got to organize and we've got to fight," he said. "We must elect men like those fine congressmen here, to Congress and to every office right down to dogcatcher."

On the platform were Rep. John Bell Williams (D.-Miss.), Rep. John C. Davis (D.-Ga.), and Rep. E. C. Gathings (D.-Ark.). In introducing Mr. Guthridge, Rep. Williams conveyed greetings he said were authorized by 10th District Rep. Joel T. Broyhill. "He wanted me to let you know he is with you all in spirit and would have attended if he could," the Mississippi congressman said.

Mr. Guthridge also denounced: the Communist Manifesto, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Fund for the Republic, the Arkansas and Virginia chapters of the Council on Human Relations, the Urban League, Winthrop Rockefeller, Federal Judge Ronald Davies, paratrooper Maj.-Gen. Edwin L. Walker, the National Education Association and its state affiliates, and Chief Justice Earl Warren.

At one point in his address, Mr. Guthridge emphasized: "No school system has ever been integrated unless the school officials cooperated. That's something for you people to think about."

Arlington School Board member Mrs. Helen J. Lane congratulated Mr. Guthridge after his address.

Asked by Mr. Guthridge what the Arlington School Board's attitude was on compliance with Federal court integration orders, Mrs. Lane said: "I'm just one among five. They are talking soft but they are preparing to integrate."

Mr. Guthridge encouraged her to organize a "Mothers' League," like one whose efforts, he said, had helped block integration in North Little Rock.

"Besides," he chuckled, "all it takes is one woman in any crowd . . ."

Indignation Group Tells Plan To Bring Walker to Dallas

The Dallas founder of the National Indignation Convention, planning its national rally here Nov. 22-24, disclosed Friday that his staff is attempting to bring resigned Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker here to speak.

Frank McGehee, said that no contact has been made with the controversial Army officer, whose firing as the commander of the U.S. 24th Division led to his resignation from the Army Thursday.

"We don't even know for sure where he is," McGehee said. "It could be just a pipe dream."

McGehee said he has just returned from Omaha, one of 47 cities in 34 states which have held, or will conduct pre-convention rallies within the next two weeks.

McGehee was accompanied to the Omaha rally by Maj. Harry Knickerbocker Jr. of Dallas, the Texas Air National Guard pilot whose disclosure to The Dallas News that Perrin AFB at Sherman was training Communist pilots stirred nationwide reaction.

A pre-convention meeting Friday at the NIC headquarters in the Baker Hotel was attended by some 225 volunteer workers, McGehee said.

He said work is already under way to call 8,000 Dallas residents to attend the national rally.

McGehee said he expects Dallas Memorial Auditorium will be "crowded to capacity" each night. The auditorium seats 10,000.

Volunteers, he said, are wearing convention badges, "In the NIC of Time."

Whether or not Gen. Walker agrees to take part in the convention, McGehee said a special committee is also seeking several more "big name" speakers. None of these have yet confirmed, he said.

The national rally is a protest of the training of Communist pilots at U.S. bases and the sale and transfer of fighter planes to those countries.

Dallas was the first city in the U.S. to hold an "indignation" rally, but since then Houston, Beaumont, Lubbock, Omaha and Newport Beach, Calif., have held similar meetings.

CRIME RESEARCH

Memorandum for Record

On. Jan. 13, 1961, I received a telephone call from Major Edgar C. Bundy, General Chairman of the Church League of Illinois, 1107 Hill Ave., Wheaton, Ill. He asked if I could meet him in New York next week. I asked what was up. He said, "I want to talk to you about Philbrick and company." I agreed to meet him in the lobby of the St. Morits Hotel at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Jan 8th.

I did so. We went to the dining room in the lobby and ordered dinner. He immediately went into the subject he wanted to discuss: "Tell me all you know about Herb Philbrick. When and how did you first meet him?"

I described what Bundy already knew, that I had met Philbrick after writing my book, "The Pentagon Case," which Philbrick had reviewed in his New York Herald Tribune column, and that I had asked Philbrick to become the moderator or spokesman for a projected television program which I had conceived, to be called "World War Three," and that Philbrick had agreed toddo so.

Bundy asked, "Was 'World War Three' your original idea?"

I assured him that it had been, until Philbrick took it over, along with the corporation I had set up to activate it.

"Was CASCA your idea, and who thought up the name?" he asked.

"I did. It was my concept. CASCA stood for 'Counteroffensive Against Subversive Communist Activities,' and was the organization I developed to put the 'World War III' program across,"" I said.

"Do you know a man named Justin McCarthy?" he asked.

"Know him?" I repeated. "I hired him—at Philbrick's suggestion and with his approval as Chairman of CASCA's Board of Directors, and I also fired him, as my last official act as President of CASCA, Inc., after Philbrick and McCarthy and Merwin K. Hart double-crossed me and forced me out and took over my project." (I then described how this had been engineered. I also described how Philbrick had tried to get me to ask Merwin K. Hart to resign as Vice President of CASCA, Inc., on the grounds that Hart was anti-Semitic, and that Philbrick's Jewish employer at the Seacoast Reveres Company in New Hampshire had refused to buy stock in CASCA, Inc., because of this—according to Philbrick—and that I had refused to do so, because Hart had been largely responsible for helping Philbrick and me to launch CASCA, and that Hart had disposed of the anti-Semitism charge in a letter to Philbrick, of which I still had the copy which Hart sent me.)

(I then described how Philbrick had welshed on every key agreement he had made with me and with CASCA: his employment contract, his terms of compensation, his assurance that there was no conflict with his other commitments—especially with the ZIV Television Corporation, when he knew all along that his contract with ZIV on his TV program "I Led Three Lives" actually prohibited exactly the kind of activity he had undertaken to carry on for CASCA.)

I described how Philbrick had violated his agreement to submit all TV scripts for corporate approval before production, and how he had overcommitted CASCA to the extent of $6,000.00 by producing the original and only pilot film (which was to cost only $1,600.00) on "The Strange Death of Harry Dexter White," which was amateurish and unsalable.

I described how I had been at a loss to explain Philbrick's motives until I had come across a pamphlet in which he strongly endorsed a booklet called "What We Should Teach About Communism," published by the Anti-Defamation League (ADL) of B'nai B'rith, and how the booklet proved to be largely pro-Communist. I then described how I had privately shown this pamphlet to Merwin K. Hart and had suggested that we ask Philbrick to withdraw as the corporation's spokesman, and how Hart, Philbrick and McCarthy had demanded instead that I resign as President of CASCA and turn over 200 of the 250 shares of stock I had received for my pre-incorporation services; and how Hart had threatened to dissolve the corporation within 48 hours and "freeze" me out unless I accepted their terms.

Dundy then stated that during the past few days he had shown Hart this same pamphlet, [redacted] Hart had denied that he had [redacted] seen it or even knew that Philbrick had made such an endorsement of the ADL booklet, and had expressed great shock that Philbrick had done so.

I described to Bundy the exact circumstances under which I had shown the pamphlet to Hart, who had asked me, "May I keep this?" and had placed it in the drawer of his desk in room 7501 of the Empire State Building--the same room in which Bundy had shown Hart the same pamphlet which Hart categorically denied to Bundy that he had ever seen.

Bundy then told me that he was in an embarrassing position because Philbrick had recently written an article about the National Council of Churches, published in Bundy's newsletter "News and Views," which had been widely reprinted and had received national distribution. Subsequently, one of Bundy's subscribers had sent him a copy of the pamphlet (published by the National Education Program of Searcy, Arkansas, reprinting Philbrick's keynote address before the Freedom Forum on April 17, 1958, containing Philbrick's endorsement of the ADL booklet on page 27.)

Bundy said he had immediately written to Philbrick, asking for a statement about this highly questionable endorsement, but that Philbrick had repeatedly stalled until Bundy had demanded, over the telephone, a written explanation which Philbrick had promised to provide but had never submitted. (Bundy was highly incensed to learn that Philbrick had also ignored a similar request by the editor of the American Mercury Magazine for a similar explanation, after a subscriber had queried the editor about Philbrick's endorsement of the ADL booklet. Mercury's editor wrote Philbrick and asked him to comment, but Philbrick never replied to this formal request.)

After dinner, Bundy asked me to come up to his room where he could show me documentary evidence of Philbrick's duplicity. He read to me a letter he had written to Philbrick, requesting an explanation from Philbrick, and then read Philbrick's reply, in which he pointed out five separate mis-statements of fact.

Bundy then showed me the copy of the Freedom Forum pamphlet which he had shown to Merwin K. Hart (and which Hart denied having previously seen.)

Bundy also told me that Justin McCarthy was suing Philbrick for attempting to take over a television program which McCarthy had developed for 3M (Minnesota Mining and Mfg. Co., manufacturers of Scotch Tape) and that Philbrick had also attempted to "steal" Bob Siegrist's sponsor, the Allen Bradley Company. (Siegrist is a Milwaukee radio comentator.)

Bundy opined that Philbrick was trying to make himself the leading "anti-communist" by putting all the competition out of business. Bundy was particularly bitter about Philbrick's association with Dr. Fred Schwarz, (whom Bundy termed "A terrible phony") on "seminars" patterned after those which Bundy had developed.

During our discussion of Philbrick's possible motives, other than sheer cupidity, I mentioned the fact that a former Communist Party member, Mrs. Helen Wood Birnie, had told me in Tulsa, Oklahoma, that Philbrick had never really left the Communist Party, but had testified against the eleven top U. S. Communists only after the F. B. I. had put heavy pressure on Philbrick to do so, and that Philbrick's price was immunity and a chance to make a living by writing the doctored version which eventually emerged in his book, "I Led Three Lives." (Mrs. Birnie told me categorically that "The F. B. I. will have nothing whatever to do with Philbrick.") I asked Bundy if he could verify this.

Bundy told me that he had heard the same version of Philbrick's case from other sources, and that the F. B. I. and the other government agencies which had cooperated with Philbrick deeply regretted having done so, in view of the way Philbrick was now exploiting his contacts with those agencies. The F. B. I. in particular was in a bad position, according to Bundy, since anything which might tend to discredit Philbrick in any way, might open the way for the Communist Party to challenge Philbrick's testimony which had helped to convict the eleven top American Communists.

This, Bundy said, was the explanation of Philbrick's strange immunity and his ability to communicate freely with key people in the F. B. I. and the Congressional Investigating Committees.

We agreed that had we had never met anyone else even remotely as evasive and as hard to pin down as Herbert A. Philbrick.

At this point Bundy's phone rang. He said, "My ride is here; I have to go now."

I asked him what action he intended to take with regard to the manner in which his organization had been compromised by Philbrick's actions.

Bundy replied that there was not much he could do about it, and that he was going to leave the country shortly and would be in Europe for about a year. I asked him to give my best regards to our mutual friend General Walker in Germany.

We went down to the lobby in the same elevator, and he left the hotel at once, while I was getting my coat and hat from the lobby check room.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : Mr. Belmont

DATE: October 7, 1963

FROM : C. A. Evans

SUBJECT: "THE RADICAL RIGHT IN AMERICA TODAY" — Book
BY VICTOR REUTHER

Recently Mr. Oehmann of the Attorney General's Office furnished to me the attached memorandum prepared by Victor Reuther and submitted by Walter Reuther to the Justice Department December 19, 1961. Oehmann stated that he had had a number of inquiries from members of Congress asking about this memorandum and, consequently, he had had a number of copies prepared to answer these inquiries.

Bureau files indicate that the existence of this memorandum first came to the Bureau's attention when a new book entitled "The Far Right" by Donald Janson and Bernard Eismann was published in May, 1963. This book purports to delve into the activities and background of right-wing groups in the United States. The book makes reference to the Reuther memorandum, which memorandum in effect urges the Attorney General to curb the Director's crusade against communism. A review of the book was prepared June 5, 1963 and is attached hereto. See 100-421183-4

ACTION:

Inasmuch as Bureau files do not contain the complete Reuther memorandum, the attached copy will be completely indexed and filed.

THE RADICAL RIGHT IN AMERICA TODAY

President Kennedy's addresses in Seattle and Los Angeles on November 16 and 18 evidenced both a deep concern with, and a profound understanding of, the serious problems injected into American life by the growing strength of the radical right. A spate of articles in responsible newspapers and periodicals reflect this same concern and understanding. Perhaps therefore this memorandum will prove but a repetition and restatement of suggestions already under consideration by the Administration. Since, however, the public discussion to date concerning the radical right has produced little in the line of suggested policies and programs for dealing with the serious problems raised, this memorandum may have some value in focusing attention upon possible Administration policies and programs to combat the radical right.

Initially, it needs to be said that far more is required in the struggle against the radical right than simply calling attention to present and potential dangers. If the Administration truly recognizes this as a serious problem, as it certainly appears to do, it is most important that President Kennedy's addresses in Seattle and Los Angeles be implemented. Speeches without action may well only mobilize the radical right instead of mobilizing the democratic forces within our nation. It is with this consideration in view that there is set forth below an estimate of the extent of the problem and suggested Administration policies and programs for dealing with the problem.

EXTENT OF PROBLEM

The radical right or extreme right-wing, or however it may be designated, includes an unknown number of millions of Americans of viewpoints bounded on the left by Senator Goldwater and on the right by Robert Welch. The active component of these radical right millions would, of course, be only a small fraction of the total. But, whatever may be the difficulty of ascertaining their numbers, these radical right groups are probably stronger and are almost certainly better organized than at any time in recent history. More significant yet, they are growing in strength and there is no reason to expect a turning of the tide in this regard during the foreseeable Cold War period ahead. And, possibly most significant of all, their relationship to and infiltration of the Armed Services adds a new dimension to the seriousness with which they must be viewed.

New radical right organizations have sprung up like weeds in last few years; it is estimated by the Anti-Defamation League a hundred such organizations have been organized in 1961 alone, Welch's Birch Society, Fred Schwarz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, and Billy James Hargis' Christian Crusade, are among the most powerful of the new groups. Benson's Harding College and National Education Program and H. L. Hunt's Life Line have earlier histories, but they have expanded along with the growth of the new groups. But all of these groups together are only part of an even larger and constantly growing movement which is well manned and even better financed. The Birch Society alone probably has a million dollars a year at its disposal; so does the Christian Crusade (which is just one of 3 Hargis ventures). The radical right as a whole -- and estimating conservatively -- must have twenty or more times this much on call. There are vast quantities of literature, films, and records emanating from the radical right and even such things as radical right bookshops are beginning to spring up. (General Walker gave one of these bookshops, The Bookmailer in New York, a big plug on national television December 3rd).

The Birch Society may be the best known today. But others are equally strong and perhaps more influential. Take a look at Schwarz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, for example. In the Anti-Communist School he ran in St. Louis earlier this year he was backed by the St. Louis Globe Democrat and was sponsored by the Mayor and Chief of Police of St. Louis and both United States Senators. Governor John M. Dalton even officially proclaimed this "anti-Communism week in Missouri." The New York Times eyewitness report from St. Louis asserted that one of the most striking things there was "the large proportion of younger people." Schwarz' Hollywood rallies are even more disturbing than his St. Louis and other schools. His Crusade had a three-hour rally before some twelve to fifteen thousand persons in the Hollywood Bowl and an estimated four million more watched the program over television on 33 stations in six states. Actors John Wayne, James Stewart, Pat O'Brien, and George Murphy were there, as were such top "movie-makers" as Jack Warner of Warner Brothers and Y. Frank Freeman of Paramount. The gross take at the rally (plus the week's Hollywood Anti-Communist School) was $214,796. Even more significant was the presence of C. D. Jackson, a top executive of Life Magazine. In early September Life had run a disparaging story about Schwarz. The kickback at Life was sufficient to induce Jackson to fly to Los Angeles to appear in the Hollywood Bowl and offer a public apology. Jackson told the audience, "I believe we were wrong and I am profoundly sorry. It's a great privilege to be here tonight and align Life Magazine with Senator Thomas J. Dodd, Representative Walter H. Judd, Dr. Schwarz, and the rest of these implacable fighters against communism." Only recently the Los Angeles rallies were re-telecast in New York City for three full evening hours with the Schick Safety Razor Company picking up the tab. Richfield Oil and Technicolor Corp., as well as Schick, appear to be regularly available to Schwarz as television sponsors).

Take a look, too, at another one of these groups -- Harding College and the National Education Program (both headed by Dr. George S. Benson). The propaganda operation, exclusive of the college, is budgeted at $200,000 a year. They produced some 30 movies of which "Communism on the Map" is the most famous and has been seen by 10 million persons. Dr. Benson's weekly column has wide distribution and one version is sent in bulk lots to a thousand business organizations. He has a monthly newsletter with 50 thousand subscribers; he has outlets in a great many Farm Bureau monthly state papers (the effect of which was seen at the recent Farm Bureau Convention). He has a series of high school study outlines in "American Citizenship Education" sent free to schools requesting them.

The Life Line Radio Program, now on about 200 radio stations (some run him twice), is planning to branch out into television. Businessmen all over the Nation are sponsoring this program. H. L. Hunt, one of the richest oil men in the country and owner of Life Line, boasts that "the Free World cannot be saved unless it is saved at a profit."

All of these radical right organizations have the same general line. The danger to America is domestic Communism. While their particular traitor will vary from Harry Hopkins to George Marshall, from President Truman to President Eisenhower, from Senator Fullbright to some labor leader, there is no question that anybody even slightly to the left of Senator Goldwater is suspect. They traffic in fear. Treason in high places is their slogan and slander is their weapon. They undermine loyal Americans' confidence in each other and in their government.

Their appeal is for "total victory" (note that Goldwater is with them all the way on this) and they thrive on every defeat, retreat, concession, or even negotiation. Americans feel they are "losing" for the first time in history. Since Americans intuitively tend not to believe they ever lose fairly, the radical right's charges that we are "losing" (itself a dubious assumption) because of treason in high places falls on fertile soil. In Schwarz's Southern California meetings, as shown in the New York re-telecast a couple of weeks ago, Senator Dodd's and Representative Judd's heavy-handed foreign policy polemics received little applause, but when W. Cleon Skousen (author of "The Naked Communist") charged treason in high places, the place went up in a roar of applause.

The suggestion is being made in some quarters (e.g., Reston in the Times of November 19, 1961) that the radical right is primarily a "Republican problem" because it utilizes money that might otherwise be available to Republican Party candidates. Former Vice President Nixon shares this view. Yet, on reflection, this would appear quite superficial. The growing strength of the radical right may indeed be an inconvenience to the Republican Party, but it is far worse than that for the Nation and the Democratic Party -- for it threatens the President's program at home and abroad. By the use of the twin propaganda weapons of fear and slander, the radical right moves the national political spectrum away from the Administration's proposed liberal programs at home and abroad. By vicious local pressure campaigns against teachers or preachers or any one else who supports anything from negotiation in foreign affairs to governmental programs in domestic affairs, they frighten off support for much-needed Administration programs. Pressure tactics on already-timid Congressmen are reinforced with fanaticism and funds. The pressure campaign against the Katanga operation is only one example of what is ahead. Any hardboiled, realistic appraisal of the situation evokes this conclusion: The growing strength, organization and financial resources of the radical right is not something that can be wished away or that can be confidently ignored as a Republican problem.

ACTION ON THE PROBLEM

As the radical right cannot be wished away or ignored, likewise its demise is not something that can be readily accomplished. The struggle against the radical right is a long-term affair; total victory over the radical right is no more possible than total victory over the Communists. What are needed are deliberate Administration policies and programs to contain the radical right from further expansion and in the long run to reduce it to its historic role of the impotent lunatic fringe. */

As the radical right today feeds like a leech on the frustrations of the American people, so reducing these frustrations by accomplishments at home and abroad is the most important part of the long-range battle against the radical right. Indeed, in the long run, only democratic initiative in the world struggle against Communism will roll back the radical right to its traditional insignificance. But the Nation cannot look the other way and wait for this to happen. The radical right organizations threaten to render impossible the very steps (action and negotiation) that need to be taken by the Administration if our nation is to survive and succeed in the world struggle; they must never be permitted to become so strong as to obstruct action needed for democratic survival and success.

*/ Private agencies can do much, too, to identify and expose the radical right. Indeed, in the long-run the extent of participation by private agencies in this struggle is more likely to determine its outcome than anything the Government can do. The press, television, church, labor, civic, political and other groups whose constitutional freedom is directly involved must carry the prime burden in this struggle. But the purpose of this memorandum is to consider possible Administration policies and programs rather than those of private groups. Furthermore, affirmative Administration policies and programs can set the backdrop against which private activity is most likely to succeed.

As we gird ourselves for a long struggle against world Communism, so we must gird ourselves for a long struggle against the radical right. But there are some steps which can and should be taken now to halt the growth of the radical right and possibly to turn the tide against it. There are other steps of a more long-range nature. Among the programs and policies of both types which the Administration might consider are the following:

1. The radical right inside the Armed Services presents an immediate and special problem requiring immediate and special measures.

The problem of radical right influences inside the Armed Services is an immediate one and made all the more so by the up-coming hearings of the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee. But even if there were no hearings, this challenge to the basic American concept of separating military personnel from partisan politics must be met now. Tolerance of such a challenge can only embolden those who do the challenging.

It has been widely reported that General Edwin A. Walker's radical right viewpoint is shared by a substantial number of his colleagues. One observer, Louis J. Halle, has reported that Walker's position "represents the publicly unexpressed but privately outspoken views of an important part of our American officer corps in all three services" (New Republic, November 20, 1961). Drew Pearson has twice reported without contradiction that a Lieutenant General has leaked secret information to Senator Strom Thrumond in support of the Walker position. The "Americanism Seminars", espousing radical right doctrine and sponsored or co-sponsored by the Armed Services in various places, could only have been accomplished by radical right officer personnel within the armed forces; the spectacle of the U.S. Army sponsoring Skouson's reflection on the patriotism of Franklin Roosevelt and the loyalty of Harry Hopkins, could only have been achieved through the connivance of inside military personnel. Former top brass work with all the radical right groups.

The recent experience in Algeria demonstrates that the soldiers of an army of a democratic nation may be tempted, out of frustration, to engage in anti-democratic operations; as reports from France make so abundantly clear, the radical right Generals and Admirals continue today to threaten the stability of France's democratic system.

What appears to support the position of widespread infiltration of the radical right into the Armed Services is the manner in which the Walker case was handled. Indeed, the shocking thing about the Walker case is not that his resignation was accepted in 1961, but that the Armed Services rejected his resignation in 1959 when he tried to resign because of "the fifth column conspiracy and influence in the United States" and the "conspiracy and its influences on the home front." Whether the resignation was rejected because Walker's superiors agreed with his views or simply were not shocked by them is not known; but in either event, the failure to accept his resignation constituted a dangerous tolerance of the radical right inside the Armed Services. Even worse was the action towards Walker in 1960 and early in 1961; the Army failed to act against Walker's obvious and illegal acts of "radical right politics" until public notice of Walker's offenses (brought about by a newspaper expose) forced the Pentagon's hand. Again, it is not important why this happened; what is important is the degree of tolerance of the radical right inside the Armed Services.

It also appears to have been widespread pressure from right-wing Generals and Admirals in the Pentagon which brought about the recall to duty of General James A. Van Fleet. It is common knowledge that General Van Fleet has himself been a member of the extreme right wing (Board member of "For America"; endorser of the Florida Coalition of Patriotic Societies; Board of Advisors of H. L. Hunt's Life Line). Not only does the Pentagon pressure for the recall of General Van Fleet evidence radical right influence inside the military establishment, but it demonstrates the absolute unappeasability of this group. All that the recall has accomplished is to embarrass the Administration when Van Fleet irresponsibly attacked the Administration's Ambassador to the United Nations.

Once it is recognized that there is a serious problem of radical right infiltration of the military and that appeasement is not the answer, the indicated course of action becomes clear. The Administration must get off the defensive in the Walker case; it must shift the battleground from the defensive posture of justifying the "muzzling of Walker" to an offensive posture supporting the basic American concept of separation of military personnel from partisan politics. To shift the posture from defense to offense, consideration should be given to requesting Senator Russell to broaden the hearings to cover the problem of radical right infiltration of the Armed Services. As the Washington Post said on November 28th, the hearings "ought to be aimed not to determining whether General Walker and his imitators were improperly silenced by civilian authorities, but at determining how widely the infection they represent is spread in the armed services."

An alternative to getting Senator Russell to broaden the hearings would be for Secretary McNamara to start his own investigation of radical right Generals and Admirals. Those Generals and Admirals who have lost confidence in democracy and who feel that the danger to our country is treason at home rather than the strength of the international Communist movement abroad, should be warned against political activity in any way, shape or form. This might have the effect of causing the resignation of some of these Generals and Admirals which would certainly be in the national interest. At any rate, political activity after such warning would be grounds for dismissal from the service. Above all, the suggested investigation would give courage to the officers, old and young, who believe in democracy and in a non political democratic Army.

Then, too, Secretary McNamara should try to take the offensive at the forthcoming hearings.*/ Secretary McNamara certainly has the right to be the first witness at the hearings. Instead of being on the defensive concerning his muzzling of Walker, he should take the offensive by telling how action against Walker was too long delayed and how there is a serious problem in the Armed Services concerning persons who no longer believe in democracy. If, as suggested in the previous paragraph, Secretary McNamara has by that time instituted his own investigation of radical right Generals and Admirals, he should give a report of his plans in this regard. Whether or not he has instituted an investigation, he should make clear that the Defense Department's policy rejects those extreme right-wing organizations and rejects the views of those who participate in them. He should have those of the real top brass who share his views get right up behind him at the hearing and back him up. He should get the full support of the President. In this way, the hearings could be turned against those who presently plan to use them to help the right wing embarrass Secretary McNamara.

The strong posture against radical right Generals and Admirals suggested in this memorandum would go far to answer Soviet propaganda that American foreign policy is not in responsible hands and that there is a substantial "preventive war" group in the Pentagon which may ultimately get the upper hand. This strong posture would not only reassure our own allies, but might give support to factions within the Soviet Union that strive for a more flexible position on the Soviet's part.

2. The radical right and the Attorney General's subversive list.

The Attorney General's list of subversive organizations is lending aid and comfort to the radical right. Although the radical right poses a far greater danger to the success of this country in its battle against international Communism than does the domestic Communist movement, the latter have been branded subversive by the Government and the former have not. No one loses his job or is subjected to public obloquy because he joins one of these radical right groups; yet these groups can use the subversive list to get at liberals and moderates who twenty years earlier had joined some Communist "front" organization which looked patriotic and socially desirable. The list today is almost like a Good Housekeeping seal for the radical right. Whatever one's views may be toward the list, as long as it exists it should not remain one-sided and be permitted to work in favor of the radical right.

Under existing regulations, the Attorney General can only put an organization on the Attorney General's list if he finds, after notice and hearing, that it meets the standards of the list -- i.e., that the organization is "totalitarian, fascist, communist or subversive, or as having adopted a policy of advocating or approving the commission of acts of force or violence to deny others their rights under the Constitution . . ., or as seeking to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means." Certain of the radical right organizations may well meet one or more of these criteria. For example, the Birch Society appears to advocate the denial of constitutional rights by force and openly seeks to substitute some other form of society for existing democratic forms; to it democracy is "merely a deceptive phrase, a weapon of demagoguery, and a perpetual fraud." Three of the best known radical right groups are predicated upon secrecy: the Birch Society keeps its members secret; Hargis, head of the Christian Crusade, has announced plans for a secret fraternity with Greek letters; and the Minutemen which conduct guerilla warfare maneuvers also keeps its members secret. Then, too, Birch operates on a monolithic or totalitarian system within the organization and other radical right groups may also so operate. These organizations have succeeded in promoting disaffection and, as in the case of General Walker, outright rebellion in the Army. There would thus appear to be adequate grounds for holding a hearing on one or more of these organizations to determine whether they should be listed. It might therefore be advisable for the Attorney General to announce at this time that he is going to investigate one or more of these organizations with a view to determining whether charges will be filed and hearings held on the question of listing one or more of these organizations. The mere act of indicating that an investigation will be made will certainly bring home to many people something they have never considered -- the subversive character of these organizations and their similarity to the listed groups on the left. To make this announcement before the hearings of the Armed Services Committee on the muzzling of General Walker might well be an additional way to take the offensive against Senator Thurmond and the radical right.

It is not known the extent to which the Federal Bureau of Investigation has planted undercover agents inside the radical right movement as it has inside the Communist Party and its allied organizations. If it has already done so, the information would be readily available upon which to draw up charges for a hearing against one or more of the radical right groups. If the Bureau has not as yet infiltrated these organizations, a longer time will of course be necessary to obtain the information for the charges, although much of the needed information is available through public sources. In any event, the announcement of the investigation would have an immediate salutary effect and the later announcement of the hearing or hearings might have an even greater one. It is not unlikely that these groups will refuse information and otherwise act towards the Attorney General's procedures just exactly as the Communists have acted in the past. Nothing could better reveal to the public the true nature of these groups than defiant resistance to their government.

3. The flow of big money to the radical right should be dammed to the extent possible.

The growing power of radical right propagandists and groups is directly related to their expanding ability to secure large sums of money. As funds are a source of power to the radical right, action to dam up these funds may be the quickest way to turn the tide now running in their favor.

Benson's National Education Program, Schwarz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade, Hargis' Christian Crusade and William Volker Fund, Inc., are among the radical right groups which are reported to have federal tax exemptions. It would appear highly doubtful, to say the least, that any or all of these groups properly qualifies for a federal tax exemption. Prompt revocation in a few cases might scare off a substantial part of the big money now flowing into these tax exempt organizations.*/

Then, too, corporate funds are used to put radical right views on the air for political rather than business reasons; propaganda is peddled far and wide under the guise of advertising. H. L. Hunt openly urges big business not to rely on contributions to finance the radical right but to use their advertising funds. The Internal Revenue Service sometime ago banned certain propaganda ads by electrical utilities as deductible expenses. Consideration might be given to the question whether the broadcast and rebroadcast of Schwarz' Christian Anti-Communist Crusade rallies and similar rallies and propaganda of other groups is not in the same category.

*/ An additional suggestion in this regard might be considered. This would be the feasibility of including in the publicly available files of these tax exempt organizations, their annual receipts and expenditures reports which can now be obtained only with great difficulty. Appropriately organized files available to the public would tend to create a little self-enforcement.

A related question is that of free radio and television time for the radical right. Hargis' Christian Crusade has its messages reproduced by 70 radio stations across the country as public service features and Mutual Broadcasting System apparently gave him a special rate for network broadcasts. In Washington, D. C., radio station WEAM currently offers the "Know Your Enemy" program at 8:25 p.m., six days a week as a public service; in program No. 97 of this series the commentator advised listeners that Gus Hall of the Communist Party had evoked a plan for staffing the Kennedy Administration with his followers and that the plan was being carried out with success. Certainly the Federal Communications Commission might consider examining into the extent of the practice of giving free time to the radical right and could take measures to encourage stations to assign comparable time for an opposing point of view on a free basis. Incidentally, in the area of commercial (not free) broadcasting, there is now pending before the FCC, Cincinnati Station WLW's conduct in selling time to Life Line but refusing to sell time for the UAW program, "Eye Opener."

In addition to possible misuse of federal tax exemptions and the misuse of corporate funds for propaganda advertising, it seems not unlikely that corporation funds are flowing into the radical right in other and covert ways. The President of Schick Razor Company, for example, has made it clear that "Dr. Schwarz will not lack for money while I'm around." And, finally, there is the big question whether Schwarz, Hargis, etc., are themselves complying with tax laws.

Adequate information on the financing of the radical right can only come from the inside of these organizations. As already indicated, it is not known whether the Federal Bureau of Investigation has undercover agents inside these organizations in the same manner and to the same degree as the Bureau has inside the Communist Party and other left-wing groups. Similarly, it is not known what the Treasury Department has done in the way of undercover operations to get at tax violations in the financing of these organizations. Likewise, it is not known whether the Federal Communications Commission has ever assembled information on the degree to which the radical right is getting free time without comparable expression of the opposing point of view. Certainly, there is sufficient public information indicating possible tax violations in this area and possible violations of FCC policies to justify the most complete check on these various means of financing the radical right.

4. The Administration should take steps to end the Minutemen.

Free speech is the essence of democracy; but armed bands are not the exercise of free speech. There is no warrant for permitting groups to organize into military cadres for the purpose of taking the law into their own hands.

It is not known whether the Minutemen will grow or whether they will fade out of the picture. They do, however, represent a dangerous precedent in our democracy. Consideration should be given to the question whether they are presently violating any federal laws and, if not, to the Federal Government calling a conference of States where the Minutemen exist to see what action could be taken under state laws. There is, of course, the additional possibility, as indicated earlier, that the Minutemen might fall within the terms of the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations.

5. The domestic Communist problem should be put in proper perspective for the American people, thus exposing the basic fallacy of the radical right.

The radical right feeds upon charges of treason, traitors and treachery. It has its roots in a very real sense in the belief of the American people that domestic Communism has succeeded in betraying America and threatens its very survival. Putting the domestic Communist problem in proper perspective would do much to expose the basic fallacy of the radical right.

The Administration has inherited an extremely difficult problem and posture in this area. Executive and legislative speechwriters have automatically maximized the domestic Communist menace ever since World War II. The Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. Hoover, although he made an admirable recent statement concerning the radical right, exaggerates the domestic Communist menace at every turn and thus contributes to the public's frame of mind upon which the radical right feeds. Assistant Attorney General J. Walter Yeagley, who continues in charge of internal security matters, has always maximized the domestic Communist menace. There is grave danger that the upcoming legal battle between the Department of Justice and the Communist Party over registration (particularly if there are additional indictments of individuals) will itself fan these same flames.

Each Administration since World War II has maximized the Communist problem. It will therefore be no easy task for the Administration to turn the corner and take a different attitude. But action along this line is necessary to contain and in the long-run to roll back the radical right. Without minimizing the Communist Party strength or potential in the thirties and forties, it has no capacity today to endanger our national security or defeat our national policies. There is no need for a further effort to dramatize the domestic Communist issue; the need now is to rein in those who have created the unreasoned fear of the domestic Communist movement in the minds of the American people and slowly to develop a more rational attitude toward the strength of this movement. Without forbidding dissenting officials from expressing a contrary viewpoint (and thus evoking charges of muzzling Hoover, etc.), an effort to take a more realistic view of domestic Communism by the leaders of the Administration would probably cause most of the Administration officials to fall into line and even some legislators might be affected thereby. Fifteen years of overstating a problem cannot be reversed overnight, but thoughtful handling can reduce tensions and misconceptions in this area, too.

It would be the easier course to look the other way and say that the radical right will disappear when we solve our problems at home and abroad. But the radical right may, if it is not contained, make it more difficult, if not impossible, to solve our problems at home and abroad.

Efforts to deal with radical right Generals and Admirals and Minutemen, investigation to determine whether to list radical right organizations, efforts to dam the illegal flow of money in their direction, efforts to set the domestic Communist problem in perspective -- all will evoke immediate charges of softness on Communism. But this is not a problem that can be swept under the rug. The Administration can no more combat the radical right by being "tough on domestic Communism" or appeasing radical right Generals than the Republican Administration was able to fight McCarthyism by its own excesses in this area. It is very late in the day to start dealing with these problems, but it will never get earlier.

NATIONAL INDIGNATION CONVENTION
INFORMATION CONCERNING

The Knoxville Journal, Knoxville, Tennessee, a daily publication, on page one and two of the City Edition issue of January 16, 1962, reported in a news article that a group of area citizens are organizing to sponsor with the National Indignation Convention, a Knoxville protest of aid by the United States to Communist nations around the world. This announcement was reported to have been made by a Dr. CECIL E. PITARD.

It was reported that the area group will sponsor along with the convention, a series of speeches starting with a speech at a local Knoxville Hotel on the evening of January 20, 1962. This meeting would be addressed by a closed circuit speech by former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER.

In addition to the meeting it was reported the group had begun circulating petitions addressed to President KENNEDY, Senators ALBERT GORE and ESTES KEFAUVER, and Representative HOWARD BAKER. These petitions purported to call for an immediate halt to the transferring to Communist and "other enemy national" plans and other weapons of war, and materials that can be converted to weapons. It was reported these petitions also call for an immediate halt to the training of all Communist and other enemy pilots, technicians and other military personnel and "the identity of those persons in government responsible for the training of any Communist and other enemy personnel."

It was reported that Reverend LEVI WISNER, of Maryville, Tennessee, will be Chairman of the meeting and Dr. G. THOMAS PROCTOR of Rockford, Tennessee, was reported to be program chairman.

INFORMATION CONCERNING

Enclosed for the information of the Bureau is one copy of an article which appeared in the 12/17/61 issue of The Tulsa Daily World, a daily newspaper published at Tulsa, Oklahoma. This article concerns the Christian Crusade National Anti-Communist Leadership School scheduled to be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, 1/29 to 2/2/62 at the Mayo Hotel. The article states that BILLY JAMES HARGIS is founder-director of the Tulsa anti-Communist organization. The article also states that speakers at the school will include General EDWIN A. WALKER, center of controversy over indoctrinating American troops in Germany against Communism and who resigned from the United States Army after being rebuked; EDDIE RICKENBACKER, famed World War I flying ace and Chairman of the Board of Eastern Air Lines; Senator STROM THURMOND of South Carolina, member of the Armed Services Committee; Representative GORDON SCHERER of Ohio, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities; and BENJAMIN GITLOW, former head of the Communist Party in America.

On 12/18/61 [redacted] Tulsa, Oklahoma, advised SA [redacted] that he was aware of the fact that Tulsa Evangelist BILLY JAMES HARGIS is associated with the proposed Christian Crusade National Anti-Communist Leadership School which is scheduled to be held in Tulsa during the latter part of January 1962, however up until 12/16/61 no request had been made by this group to the Tulsa Police Department for assistance in connection with parking or other matters which might be associated with a meeting of this type. [redacted] TD stated it was his understanding registration for the five-day school will cost $100.00. He said that when such a meeting is held in the city, the group usually contacts the Mayor or the Board of Commissioners and makes the meeting known to these parties. He said that as far as he knew, no contact had been made to date with the Mayor or the Board of Commissioners.

For the further information of the Bureau, The 12/8/61 issue of Time Magazine contained an article on page 23 entitled "We, The People", which is one of several articles appearing on pages 22 and 23 under the caption "Organizations." This article states as follows: "We, The People!, an organization that claims membership in 1700 communities in all 50 states, is run out of a plain, three-room Chicago office by Harry Everyingham, 53, a former radio writer and adman who formed the organization seven years ago. Everyingham believes that the Communist takeover in the U.S. is well along and that 'there are many who are working with the Communists to accomplish this.' The titular president of his organization is Tulsa Evangelist Billy Hargis, 36, whose material formed the base for an Air Force manual attacking the Protestant clergy last year. Hargis is convinced that Christianity is a fine place for Communist infiltration because 'the Christian idea of brotherhood means to a lot of people turning the other cheek.'"

The Bureau will be advised of any pertinent developments in this matter.

TALK SLATED BY GENERAL

Arkansan Among Anti-Red Speakers

Brig. Gen. William P. Campbell, U.S. Army retired, Vice President of the National Education Program, Searcy, Ark., will be one of the featured speakers at the Christian Crusade National Anti-Communist Leadership School to be held at the Mayo Hotel Jan. 29-Feb. 2. Billy James Hargis is founder-director of the Tulsa anti-Communist organization.

Previously announced speakers include Gen. Edwin A. Walker, center of controversy over indoctrinating American troops in Germany against Communism and who resigned from the United States Army after being rebuked; Eddie Rickenbacker, famed World War I flying ace and chairman of the board of Eastern Air Lines; Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, member of the Armed Services Committee; Rep. Gordon Scherer of Ohio, a member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities; and Benjamin Gitlow, former head of the Communist party in America.

The school will be held at the Mayo and will consist of three sessions each day. On Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, the sessions will be public "Survival, U.S.A." rallies which will be held at Municipal Theater. Sen. Thurmond and Gen. Walker will be featured speakers at these rallies. Registration for the entire five-day school will be $100, according to Hargis.

GEN. WILLIAM P. CAMPBELL

Campbell produced the film, "Communism on the May." At the time of his retirement he was assistant chief of finance for the Army. From 1954 to 1959 he was executive assistant to the president of Harding College in Searcy.

During a long career of military service he served as a member of the General Staff Corps, U.S. Army, chief of the Army Audit Agency, as adviser for administration to the Peruvian Army, Budget and Fiscal Officer, U.S. Air Forces in Europe, London and Paris, and various other assignments dating back to 1918.

He received George Washington Honor Medals from the Freedoms Foundation, Valley Forge, Pa., "for outstanding achievement in bringing about a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

Campbell received a B.S.A. degree from the University of Arkansas.

[redacted] advised that the NP will picket the Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) rally at Madison Square Garden, New York City, on March 7, 1962, because of YAF's withdrawal of an invitation to retired General Edwin Walker to appear at this rally.

[redacted] advised that James H. Madole, leader of the National Renaissance Party (NRP), 10 West 90th Street, New York City, is planning to distribute literature at the above-mentioned YAF rally on March 7, 1962.

All sources mentioned in the attached characterizations of organizations have furnished reliable information in the past with the exception of the source used to characterize the NP. Contact with this source has been insufficient to determine his reliability.

Re: American Nazi Party

AMERICAN NAZI PARTY,
Also known as UNION OF
FREE ENTERPRISE
NATIONAL SOCIALISTS

A source advised on February 27, 1959, that GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, of Arlington, Virginia, had held an organizational meeting of the World Union of Free Enterprises National Socialists (WUFENS) at his residence on February 26, 1959.

Six persons were present and they, according to the source, comprised the beginning of an officer corps of the organization. ROCKWELL told those present, that the WUFENS would be an international movement, but that the section of the organization in the United States would be known as the American Party of the WUFENS.

ROCKWELL, on March 26, 1959, furnished to Special Agents of the FBI, a copy of the program of the WUFENS stating that he expects to become President of the United States through the organization's platform. The main tenets of the WUFENS, as reflected in the program, call for migration of Negroes to Africa and the trial and execution of all Jews guilty of Communist and Zionist treason.

A second source advised on August 8, 1961, that the main activity of the organization, in furtherance of these objectives, had consisted of picketings with anti-Jewish and anti-Negro placards and talks by ROCKWELL attacking Jews as traitors to the United States. The headquarters of the American Nazi Party is located at 928 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia.

APPENDIX

NATIONALIST PARTY

On December 22, 1961, [redacted] New York City Police Department, advised that the Nationalist Party (NP) was formed on September 21, 1961, and is located at 507 Fifth Avenue, New York City. [redacted] stated that the NP has no actual headquarters and utilizes 507 Fifth Avenue, New York City, as a "mail drop."

On November 27, 1961, a source advised that H. ROY BRUCE, Public Relations Director of the NP, and LUKE DOMMER control the operations of the NP.

[redacted] advised that [redacted] informed him that the NP was formed on September 21, 1961, "to fight Communism, anti-Christian liberals, and all those opposing the present form of our Constitution."

[redacted] advised that [redacted] had informed him on April 21, 1961, that [redacted] had been a member of the American Nazi Party (ANP) and had resided at ANP Headquarters in Arlington, Virginia, from about February 5, 1961, to March 15, 1961. [redacted] discontinued membership in the ANP when he became convinced that GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, ANP leader was not a true anti-Semite and may even have "sold out to the Jews."

On December 13, 1960, [redacted] advised that LUKE DOMMER attended a meeting of the Fighting American Nationalists (FAN) which was held at the Lotus Restaurant, 228 East 86th Street, New York City, on December 4, 1960.

On January 22, 1962, the above-mentioned source advised that activities of the NP have consisted of anti-Communist demonstrations around New York City, sponsored by other anti-Communist organizations such as the Hungarian freedom fighters. The source stated that the NP, by joining in demonstrations with other organizations, gives the impression that it has a large membership whereas in actuality, the NP has very few members.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Common Sense is a bi-monthly tabloid size newspaper, published by the Christian Educational Association, 530 Chestnut Street, Union, New Jersey. The last statement of ownership appeared in the October 1, 1959, issue and listed the owner and publisher as the Christian Educational Association and Editor as Conde Mc Ginley. Each issue of the publication contains a box which indicates that Mc Ginley is the Editor and that it is published by the Christian Educational Association.

The Committee on Un-American Activities of the United States House of Representatives on December 17, 1954 published the "Preliminary Report on Neo-Fascist and Hate Groups", in which their growth and objectives are discussed at length. This report indicates that Common Sense has a fluctuating circulation of between 30,000 and 100,000 copies an issue. The report described the paper as a "hate sheet", the vehicle publishing "some of the most vitriolic hate propaganda ever to come to the attention of the Committee".

According to the report, "Common Sense depicts Communism as Judaism and devotes its pages almost entirely to attacks on the Jewish and to a lesser extent the Negro minorities in the United States. Sympathy for the former Nazi Government in Germany is also shown in the paper.

NATIONAL RENAISSANCE PARTY (NRP)

On May 1, 1961, a source advised that the NRP is an anti-Semitic, anti-Christian, anti-Negro and neo-Fascist organization, with activities generally confined to the New York City area. It was founded in 1949 by James H. Madole, who is in complete control of the Party. The Party's main function is distribution of the "National Renaissance Bulletin" on a monthly basis and distribution of pro-Arab literature obtained from official Arab establishments in New York City.

The source further advised that the headquarters for the NRP is located in the residence of James H. Madole at 10 West 90th Street, New York City.

The Un-American Activities Committee of the United States House of Representatives in a Preliminary Report, dated December 17, 1954, stated "National Renaissance Party activities and propaganda are clearly subversive and un-American".

AMERICAN FA[illegible]ONALISM

Dallas Editor Deplores Splinter Group Society

Special to Times Herald

CORONADO, Calif.—Times Herald Executive Editor Felix R. McKnight declared here Thursday night that "we have split into sensitive, irrational groups that are as foreign to this nation as communism itself.

"It is about time the American press takes off the gloves and tries to bring sanity to the emotional binge that has this country dangerously off balance," he said.

Mr. McKnight, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told the California-Nevada Associated Press Association that these are moments when unity has never been more urgent.

"Once there was a cry from the left that we were a 'one party press' snugly grouped together to do the bidding of conservative political wings. It started in the middle of the New Deal and rose to crescendo heights during the Eisenhower wave.

"But somewhere the tune changed. Few newspaper patterns have shifted, but the shout from the far right now labels us as 'the leftist press that distorts the nation's image.'"

It is not true, declared the newspaper executive.

"The American press is a patriotic press, dedicated more than any other agency to the absolute preservation of our freedoms and the rights of man.

"And I resent to the core these sudden patriots who aimlessly and broadly charge the American press with a lack of concern for the welfare of this country. We were here a long, long time before these groups appeared . . . selling a brand of Americanism they have distorted and molded to their particular purposes.

"We are not, as too many charge, Communist dupes because we attempt to follow moderate lines and call for a look at internal bickering.

"It is a strange but supportable fact in this new 'agree with me or else' atmosphere that critics of newspapers, on both sides, never complain, never criticize when column space is given to their leader or to their group . . . unless they twist the slightest gap in your story into 'biased reporting.'"

Mr. McKnight said in recent years he had been subjected to indignities, "to vile threats, to the venom of cowardly anonymous telephone calls. I have been called a Communist. Worse, these things have happened to my family."

He said the only reason was because he was the editor of a newspaper which printed both sides of problems.

"I wonder whatever happened to just plain Americans? Those people who could sanely and soundly debate social and political differences without endangering the precious unity that is the armor of this land."

The editor also berated the appeasement element at some length.

"FAINT CRIES"

"We even hear faint cries that some would 'rather be Red than dead.'

"It is unthinkable that we would ever hear of such moral sickness in this country . . . even from the tiniest segment."

He agreed with J. Edgar Hoover he would rather be dead than Red.

It is incumbent on this nation's press to pursue objectivity and to shun irresponsibility, he said.

The press must have the courage to challenge, added Mr. McKnight in quoting Oklahoma newspaperman Jenkin Jones:

"Let's quit being bulldozed and bedazzled by self-appointed longhairs. Let's have the guts to say that a book is dirty if that's what we think of it, or that a painting may well be a daub if you can't figure out which way to hang it. And if some beatnik welds together a collection of rusty cogwheels and old corset stays and claims it's a greater sculpture than Michelangelo's 'David,' let's have the courage to say that it looks like junk and probably is."

"In short, gentlemen," said Mr. McKnight, "let's cover up the cesspool and start planting some flowers."

"MINUTEMEN"
INFORMATION CONCERNING

On July 30, 1962, a confidential source advised a meeting of approximately fifteen members of the "Minutemen" was held July 28, 1962 at 613 East Alton, Independence, Missouri.

According to the source, ROBERT DE PUGH, the national coordinator of the "Minutemen" was in charge of the meeting and was the only speaker. DE PUGH told the group that the position of America was almost hopeless. He stated that Communists have already successfully infiltrated the national, state and local governments. He considered the three branches of the national government "rotten with Communists and pro-Communists". He told the group that it was his firm belief that our Congressmen and leaders are following the pattern set for the downfall of Capitalist nations called for in the Communist Manifesto.

The source stated DE PUGH told them he had attended a meeting at Dallas, Texas a few weeks previously where he had met with a General WALKER; ROBERT WELCH, founder of the John Birch Society; and an individual from Chicago whose name was believed to be DRASKOVITCH; and a man from Chicago named McGEHEE, the founder of the National Indignation Committee.

DE PUGH stated these leaders, including himself, had agreed their methods of late were slow and that a common goal must be selected and achieved. The goal selected by them as their first target is to be the American news media.

The organizations headed by these five leaders are apparently combining for this one purpose under the tentative label Citizens of the Republic. It is their intention to draft a Petition for Redress of Grievances and "force" newspapers to print this petition. According to DE PUGH, this is "to open a crack in the high-Red wall of fact manipulating news media".

"MINUTEMEN"

DE PUGH outlined their plan to simultaneously hold large rallies, purchase broadcasting time and to flood the mails and streets with copies of the petition. This is to be a joint effort in their war against "censorship by silence". DE PUGH explained this by stating that they believe the various news media are boycotting the truth and shading the facts.

DE PUGH and the group agreed upon a method for "forcing" the Kansas City Star into printing the petition of grievances. His plan called for the harrassment of advertisers, cancellation of subscriptions on a large scale and picketing of the Kansas City Star building.

DE PUGH also advised the group that on approximately October 1, 1962, several of the groups such as the "Minutemen", the National Indignation Committee and the John Birch Society will have simultaneous meetings in various cities throughout the United States and will be tied in with each other by means of a national telephone hookup whereby the speakers can be heard by all present at these meetings.

Re Dallas letter to Bureau, 9/21/62.

ITEM 1: FORMER GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

[redacted] advised SA [redacted] of the following information this date.

He stated that General WALKER ran for governor of Texas in the Democratic Primary, which Primary was held in May of this year and he was defeated. [redacted] stated that [redacted] invited WALKER to his ranch prior to the Democratic Primary and for five days told WALKER "what a great man he was" and told him that he would have financial support [redacted] if he would enter the race for governor in the Democratic Primary. [redacted] stated that it was common knowledge that the general opinion of individuals who knew WALKER quite well felt that he was mentally deranged. [redacted] stated that WALKER was more of a symbol of the ultra-right wing group of individuals, who normally followed Congressman BRUCE ALGER, the present Republican Congressman from Dallas, Texas [redacted] stated that there was a strong rumor Life Magazine had been in Dallas, Texas the last several days and was doing a story concerning WALKER, which would probably appear in the immediate future in Life.

ITEM 2. [redacted] 7C

On 10/3/62, SA [redacted] received the following 7C anonymous letter dated 10/2/62, 6:00 PM, Dallas, Texas:

[redacted] 7C

"I know the above named individual to be an ardent member of the John Birch Society, operating as secretary and treasurer of his group in and around the vicinity of his residence. He collect their dues and notifies them of time and place of meetings. He collects $3.00 from a couple and $1.50 from a single member of this mad organization.

"I know that for the past two years [redacted] 7C has been contemplating an uprising and I know that he has ordered by mail numerous guns, rifles and averages buying one box of shells per month. He says he only buys one box of shells to avert suspicion. I am sure this arsenal could be found at his home at the above address.

"I know that he corresponds with Robert Welch, getting and giving advice. I know that he writes to various men of the clergy, including Jewish Rabbis, and, particularly, the Dean of S. M. U., calling them communist, paranoids, etc. and I believe you will find him to be associated with the mad hatter, former Gen. Edwin A. Walker. I have said all along that this Walker was a paranoid, a mad man, and now it seems that it will be made public, but I fear not soon enough, as he has already, in his operation on Turtle Creek, installed in the minds of some of the youth of this city, the paranoid tactics of his society, the John Birch Society, and, upon a close investigation, you will uncover several arsenals in the homes of members of this particular organization. I would like to take the lead in getting this "Walker" out of our city, out of our hair, and away from our youth and other people who are being led or shown the wrong attitude toward our President and our government. To my way of thinking these people are doing much harm to our country, in teaching our youth the wrong attitudes and tactics. I hope that this mad man never returns to our city, that the government will put him where he belongs, where is is now, and I am sure after psychiatric tests, they will find him unsafe to run free in our country."

[redacted] was asked if he was acquainted with [redacted] and he stated that he was quite well-acquainted with him. [redacted] He stated [redacted] were quite well-to-do financially and were associated together in business. He stated that [redacted] was a rabid follower of ROBERT WELCH and the John Birch Society. He stated that he could very well be a dangerous individual with someone like former General EDWIN A. WALKER as a leader.

Neither the records of the Dallas Police Department nor Sheriff's Office reflect any prior record of [redacted]

Dear Mr. Hoover,

I write to you this morning because of my concern for the personal safety of General Edwin Walker. Texas, Mo.

The strange circumstances of James Forrestal's death, the experiences of Navy Captain Robert Winston in the Pentagon during the early 1950's, and the recent case of the lady in the Agriculture Department, are all too fresh in my mind.

I implore you that everything in your power be done to guarantee his personal safety and Constitutional rights to a fair and impartial trial.

As the lights seemingly dim, I am encouraged. Americalis awakening at the grass-root level and thru the grand efforts of consecrated Americans like yourself, the "truth" is being absorbed and acted upon. May God continue to guide your every effort, and give you sight to continue in the ways of the right.

COUNCIL FOR STATEHOOD

The April, 1962, issue of the Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company Directory, on page 599, contains a listing [redacted] APPROX. 7C

The January 22, 1962, edition of the "Oklahoma City Times," a daily newspaper published at Oklahoma City, reflected that Clyde J. Watts, Oklahoma City attorney, would serve as Chief Counsel for Edwin A. Walker, former Major General, when the former general appears before a United States Senate Investigating Committee. The article identified Watts as a long-time friend of Walker.

The October 8, 1962, edition of the "Daily Oklahoman," a daily newspaper published at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, reflected an article entitled "Watts Wins First Round for Client-Friend Walker." An "Editor's Note" relating to this article states:

> "Oklahoma City attorney Clyde J. Watts made national headlines Sunday when he succeeded in getting former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker released from the U.S. Medical Center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo. The following personality sketch of Watts was written by United Press International."

This article reads as follows:

"Attorney Clyde J. Watts first met former army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker when they were students at a military prep school in 1926. More than 36 years later they joined in a 'battle against communism.'

"'We are in the twilight of the cold phase of a protracted conflict,' Watts said, 'the stakes in which are slavery and freedom--life and death. The time to clean house is limited.'

"Watts represents Walker as an attorney. Unlike Walker, Watts is a very articulate person. Like Walker, Watts was a general in the army.

"Watts bitterly blasted the United States for its 'less than half-hearted effort' against communism, but his words never caught the national ear.

"Watts retired quietly from a colorful military career while Walker left the service in a blare of publicity over the political indoctrination of troops under his command in Germany.

"Walker acquired Watts as legal aide when he appeared before congress to lash out at national policy and prominent political leaders.

"Watts filed a libel suit for Walker against a Chicago columnist last spring and Saturday stepped into the spotlight to argue for Walker's release from a federal prison at Springfield, Mo.

"[illegible] his friend's aid when Walker was arrested in Oxford, Miss., during the integration crisis. He carried Walker's fight to federal court and successfully argued for a reduced bond and freedom for Walker.

"Watts flew from Oxford to Springfield Saturday night to comfort and advise Walker after freedom was ordered.

"The two were associates for years. They met at the New Mexico Military Institute. From there, Walker went to West Point and Watts to the University of Oklahoma law school. Later, they met on the polo fields and Watts said 'Walker is one of the greatest polo players.'

"Both [illegible] officers.

"It was in China in 1944 when Watts said he first was confronted with communism. He said that it was his job to tell Nationalist Chinese why the United States was supporting Communist Chinese.

"Watts said his limited speech in Chinese was not sufficient to convince the Nationalists that the alliance was to fight Japan, a common enemy. He said instead that the Nationalists convinced him the Reds were a greater threat.

"He then launched into his personal drive to awaken the United States to the Communist threat.

"His essay, 'Strategy for Survival,' was printed in the May 15, 1961, Congressional Record. He said: 'We are at war. A space age type of war. We are making less than a half-hearted effort.'

"Co-existence, Watts said, was America's weakness. He said American industry has built Russia and China from 'fourth rate' nations to great forces since World War II. He deplored the aid.

"'We are pursuing happiness at the expense of life and liberty,' he said.

"Post-military life has been good for Watts. He is a successful insurance-surety attorney in Oklahoma City and has four children, ages 2 to 22. He is a native of Wagoner, Okla., and is part Cherokee Indian. His father was a pioneer Oklahoma district judge.

"The 51-year old lawyer said he disliked such terms as 'ultra-conservative,' and 'extreme right wing' when persons speak of him and Walker. He said it is a Communist tactic to categorically brand all opposition.

"'The Communists study and understand us,' he said. 'We must become aware of them.'"

Re: Detroit Freedom Rally

A source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised October 19, 1962, that a Detroit Freedom Rally was held at Detroit, Michigan, October 18, 1962, as scheduled. It was attended by some 150 persons. The meeting was initially addressed by Reverend Henry Campbell of Lester, Michigan, who gave a brief talk critical of the United States Government taxation policy. He said there is present consideration to tax small churches such as his own and that if "the Government was permitted to get away with it" they will eventually tax all churches out of existence.

The meeting was then addressed by telephone or radio hookup by one Tom Anderson speaking from Dallas, Texas. His one hour address was reportedly heard simultaneously by some 400 freedom rallies throughout the country.

His talk was a general criticism of the Kennedy Administration and its handling of both domestic and international affairs. He was critical of everyone and everything in any way connected with official United States Government action, except former General Walker. He referred to Walker as a "patriot" and as a "political prisoner".

This Detroit Freedom Rally following the address took up a collection, which in the source's view netted a considerable amount of money.

The Detroit Freedom Rally appeared headed by one Ed Rymeurson (phonetic). Source stated he believes Rymeurson to be a active member of the Minutemen Organization and he believes him to be prominent in the direction of this organization at Detroit.

The source said he is strongly of the opinion that if this freedom rally at Detroit was not sponsored by the Minutemen Organization, it was strongly supported by this group.

NEGRO QUESTION

LA T-6 (9/25/62)

Informant advised that [redacted] Southern California District Communist Party (SCDCP), had stated that [redacted] had intended visiting Los Angeles in the near future in connection with recruitment of new members into the Communist Party, but that it had then been decided [redacted] would not make the trip until after the November elections, by which time a few potential recruits might be lined up with whom [redacted] could have a special meeting. 7C

LA T-7 (11/14/62)

Informant advised that the SCDCP had been advised that the "pressure of business" would keep [redacted] in New York, and that he would be unable to make his proposed trip to Los Angeles. 7C

LA T-2 (10/23/62)

On October 20, 1962, a meeting of the District Committee of the SCDCP was held at 1251 South St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, for the purpose of hearing [redacted] speak on a speech given by Gus HALL, Executive Secretary of the CPUSA, at a meeting of the National Committee which she attended in New York City about ten days earlier. She said, in part, the following: 7C

HALL, in speaking of the racial crisis in Mississippi, dealing with the University of Mississippi integration problem at Oxford, Mississippi, stated this crisis bordered on Civil War with the possibility of the overthrow of constitutional government just prior to the entrance of troops. He said the position of the Democratic Party in the administration in Washington, keeping the Dixiecrats in its administration coalition, while on the other hand President KENNEDY criticized their position, had made possible the crisis in government. He said that General EDWIN WALKER, in taking the side of the racists, is the symbol of the correctness of the Communist Party line point-out that the ultra-right is the main enemy in the United States today.

HALL said it is not possible for the Democrats to accede to the demands of the Negroes and to also maintain their alliance with the Dixiecrats.

HALL noted that the development of a new policy on the part of the Communist Party with regard to the Negro problem in the South has been widely recognized and received in the Negro community.

HALL said that the issue of the 35 hour work week is important to the Negro people because that is the group most affected by the problems of unemployment which the 35 hour week would help.

LA T-8 (10/8/62)

In September, 1962, a two-day conference on Negro work was held by Communist Party members involved in Negro work in the SCDCP and in the Northern District of California Communist Party. This conference was held at 1251 South St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, and discussion concerned the need for reevaluation of Party work by citing examples, the national character of the struggle of the Negro people in the United States, the economic scene and Negro freedom, Negro suffrage in relation to the overall question, and the Muslim movement among Negroes. A committee was set up to study and evaluate the conference, and to thereafter prepare a document based on this conference to the National Committee of the CPUSA for distribution, to supplement the resolution on Negro work set out as a result of the last National Convention of the CPUSA.

Title: COUNCIL FOR STATEHOOD

Character: RACIAL MATTERS

Synopsis:

Beginning in November, 1962, and at approximately one week intervals, organizational meetings of captioned organization have been held in the South Florida area. The organization's purpose is to maintain good public status but to eliminate by force if necessary all Jewish people in government and business positions and to eliminate all Jews who are Communists. The National Convention for the Council for Statehood has been set for the first week in April, 1963, at New Orleans, La.

[redacted] 7C

A Board of Directors was selected at this meeting, and included the following individuals:

[redacted] 7C

It was learned at this meeting that Major ARTHUR ROBERTS of the United States Army, stationed at Fort Collins, Colorado, is the person that sets up the military underground for this national organization. ROBERTS is reportedly a close friend of General EDWIN WALKER.

It was observed that several members of the Board indicated they wanted as many military people as possible to join their organization in order that they would have access to military arms and would be in a position to take over the Government. They complained that the United States is presently being taken over by President KENNEDY.

During the course of the meeting [redacted] exhibited several of his firearms, which he maintains in a closet of his home. These arms included one carbine, one high-powered .22 rifle with telescopic sight, two snub-nosed .38 revolvers and one Army .45 pistol. In addition, it was observed a quantity of ammunition was being maintained in the same closet.

[redacted] 7D

The general discussion at this meeting took up the topic of the national convention which will meet on April 3, 4 and 5, 1963, at the Fontainebleau Motel in New Orleans, Louisiana.

[redacted] 7C

The discussion also included the fact that the organization has a number of people backing them who are wealthy individuals. One of the backers is [redacted] 7C

The next meeting for the Council for Statehood will take place on January 22, 1963 [redacted] 7C

After the conclusion of the meeting [redacted] 7C stated he was familiar with the Council for Statehood and advised that General WATTS, an attorney residing in Oklahoma, will be one of co-ordinators for this organization. He indicated WATTS will defend EDWIN WALKER in WALKER's forthcoming trial regarding the riots at Oxford, Mississippi.

On January 23, 1963, Miami T-2 furnished the following information:

[redacted] spoke on the subject of all klans uniting under one head. He said the klans will not get anywhere until they are united and work in concert. He said he is tired of the idea that the klans must go underground and hide behind cover names such as "The Majority Citizens League" used by the Association of South Carolina Klans, and "Defensive Legion of Registered Americans" used by the national group. 7C

There was a long discussion concerning this matter, but no motions were made or voted on.

[redacted] spoke, suggesting they organize high school and college students to help combat the problems imposed on the South by the Federal Government over segregation. 7C

At the meeting which convened at 9:00 a.m., Sunday, January 13, 1963, at the same place, [redacted] started a discussion of the immoral books presently being sold on newsstands. The book "The Last Temptation of Christ" and a play "Around the Cherry Tree", being put on by the Methodist Church, were specifically identified as being immoral. 7C

[redacted] gave a talk about keeping the whole blood and blood plasma of the various races separate in blood banks and hospitals. He said the Association of South Carolina Klans had almost gotten legislation passed in South Carolina, to require that whole blood and blood plasma be labeled as to race of donor. He said all klansmen in all states should fight to get similar laws passed in their states. 7C

The American Legion was commended as an organization that was doing a fine job, and it was said that the Legion, particularly the 40 and 8 Organization, believed the same as the klan on segregation. It was suggested that klansmen approach members of the American Legion to try to get them into the klan.

[redacted] read a copy of a letter he had written to Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi and to General Edwin Walker, for a job well done in Mississippi. 7C

A discussion arose concerning the 1964 Presidential Election, and it was generally agreed that the klan should ask Governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi to run for the Presidency as an independent or on the Constitutional Party ticket, to oppose President Kennedy and Governor Nelson Rockefeller.

[redacted] gave a talk in which he agreed that all klans should be united but that he did not believe anyone present was capable of bringing together and leading the united klans. He said that, when the right man came along, all klans would be united but, until then, they would stay as they are at present. His idea is that the head of the united klans, when one is appointed, should be responsible to a Board of Governors so no one man would get too powerful. 7C

There was a discussion of a new five-cent U. S. postage stamp that contains only a picture of a United States flag, and nowhere on the stamp does it say "United States of America".

It was the concensus of opinion that this stamp was unconstitutional because the cancelling of the stamp required the cancelling of the United States flag. Even a picture of the flag should not be misused. The individual klansmen should discuss this matter with their local postmaster.

[redacted] advised he met GERALD PATRICK HEMMING at Miami, Florida, about three or more years ago when they were both residents at a rooming and boarding house located on Southwest Fourth and Fifth Streets, between 14th and 15th Avenues, Miami, Florida. This place was a rambling house and had two cottages and the woman operator operated it as both a rooming and boarding house. At the time, HEMMING gave evidence of being violently anti-CASTRO. He said he had married a Cuban girl who had been an acctress and CASTRO had incarcerated her in prison. It was for this reason that HEMMING was reportedly so anti-CASTRO in feeling. TC

[redacted] advised that there was a "wacky bunch" of 8 or 9 young men who were with HEMMING at the time. None of these young men were employed as far as [redacted] knew and they had a hard time paying for their meals and lodging. He said these individuals would, on occasion, go to the Everglades where they were reportedly in some kind of training but he does not believe they ever trained for anything, nor would they ever be caught trying to invade Cuba, where actual danger would exist. K

[redacted] advised that he did not consider himself a particular friend of HEMMING and in fact, at the present time, considered his acquaintanceship with him to be embarrassing. TC

[redacted] stated that HEMMING and a friend of HEMMING's, LORENZO HALL, who was not previously known to [redacted] appeared in Dallas on March 20, 1963. HEMMING called [redacted] and told WELCH he had just returned from California, where his TC

father had died in Alhambra, and he was broke and needed a place to stay. [redacted] invited both HEMMING and HALL to his home. HEMMING and HALL slept in the living room [redacted] on March 20, 1963. [redacted] advised that although HEMMING and HALL remained in Dallas on March 24 and 25, 1963, he did not know where they had stayed. [redacted] advised that [redacted] had accompanied HEMMING and HALL to visit with Major General EDWIN A. WALKER in Dallas, on January 21 or 22, 1963. He said the three of them had met WALKER and had talked in general terms about the international situation. He stated WALKER made the statement to HEMMING and HALL [redacted] that it would be dangerous to commit any overt action against the present Cuban regime and a better way would be to educate the public through meetings and speaking engagements. 7C

[redacted] advised HALL, at the WALKER home, had been very reticent but had previously, [redacted] been very talkative although it appeared that he was a "hanger on" to HEMMING. 7C

[redacted] said he is of the opinion neither HEMMING nor HALL would commit any overt action against the present Cuban government as it did not appear they had money, material or followers. 7C

[redacted] said he did not believe neither HEMMING nor HALL were now engaged in any type of anti-CASTRO activities.

Regarding the convention in general, the source, in his own opinion, stated as follows:

For approximately [redacted] he 7D
has attended a number of conventions and meetings of different organizations and the COF and groups which have allied themselves with this organization are the most dedicated group of individuals he has ever come across. The source noted that at many of the conventions and meetings of other groups which he has attended in the past, there was always a great amount of drinking and "raising hell" but this was not the case at this convention in New Orleans. He noted that most of the individuals attending the convention stayed at the Fontainebleau Motel-Hotel in New Orleans and that he did not observe any of these individuals sitting around bars or "raising hell" and it appeared to him that these individuals were attending the convention strictly on business.

The source advised that according to statements by [redacted] and other unrecalled 7C individuals, the membership within the COF contains high-ranking members of the Armed Forces, who secretly belong to the organization. According to information furnished to the source 7C [redacted] some of the high-ranking officers include General EDWIN WALKER, retired, (first name unknown) ROBERTS, and General DE VALL (phonetic).

The Pine Bluff Klavern, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, has been discussing the possibility of changing the name of the organization as members feel the name which includes KKK keeps a lot of people from joining the group. The Pine Bluff Klavern voted at one of its weekly meetings in April, 1963, to change the name of the Pine Bluff group to The National Patriots League, as far as the public is concerned. This in no way changes the operation of the Pine Bluff Klavern, but will be the name that will be used for a front organization to attract businessmen and other people to join. The Pine Bluff Klavern is to promote a rally some time in the near future and the purpose of this rally will be to attract members for the organization, The National Patriots League. They hope to hold this rally some time during the latter part of May and the Exalted Cyclops of the Pine Bluff Klavern stated he had written General WALKER and invited him to be the main speaker. The Pine Bluff Klavern will continue to meet weekly as it has been in the past and it will be the control and guiding influence of the National Patriots League. Members feel that by using a different name for public type meetings and having a national speaker or a speaker that is known nationally from outside of the state that they can attract local businessmen and other people into the organization and thereby build up the treasury and indirectly build the membership. This type thing has been talked about before but has not actually been voted in and accepted in the past, and it is not known at the present whether it will be successful. The Pine Bluff Klavern have elected a committee to promote this rally in the latter part of May for the National Patriots League and they hope to have a very large crowd for this rally.

[redacted] Austin, Texas, Police Department, advised the parade lead by integration leader BOOKER T. BONNER, JR., began at 2:05 PM today with approximately five hundred to six hundred followers. There were a large number of white people in the parade. Placards were carried indicating representatives from Houston, San Antonio, and Dallas. Some placards carried had the inscription "Freedom Now" and " KENNEDY Si--CONNALLY No". The parade ended approximately 3:00 PM at Woolridge Park where the participants assembled to hear speeches. At approximately 4:00 PM, there were four hundred to five hundred present at the park and six or seven individuals have made speeches. Speeches are still in progress. There have been no incidents and no arrests.

The October 20, 1963 edition of the combined "Clarion Ledger - Daily News," Jackson, Mississippi, newspaper carried the following article:

"Citizens' Council leaders from throughout the South will gather in Jackson next Friday and Saturday, October 25-26, for the annual Leadership Conference of the Citizens' Councils of America.

"Theme of the two-day session is 'Organization Is The Key To Victory!' The conference will be held at the Robert E. Lee Hotel in Jackson, with registration opening at 1 p.m. Friday, October 25.

"The carefully-planned schedule is designed to fill a dual purpose. Citizens' Council leaders will learn how to increase their effectiveness, while supporters who want to organize new Citizens' Councils in their home communities will receive detailed instructions on organizational procedures.

"Highlights of the conference include an address by Lieutenant Governor Paul B. Johnson, Democratic nominee for Governor of Mississippi, who will speak to a Friday dinner meeting, at which delegates will be welcomed to Jackson by Mayor Allen C. Thompson.

"Governor Ross R. Barnett will address a Saturday morning session.

"Former General Edwin A. Walker will be featured speaker at a Saturday luncheon. He will attend the conference as a delegate from Texas.

"At least two former chief executives of Southern states will attend the conference. Former Governors Prentice Cooper of Tennessee and Marvin Griffin of Georgia are scheduled to attend, along with high political leaders from Alabama, Louisiana and other states.

"Considerable interest in the meeting has been expressed by a number of Northern residents, many of whom are expected to attend to learn how they may organize Citizens' Councils in their home communities.

"Council leaders and staff members from each Southern state will present reports on recent activities, and meetings of each state delegation will provide an opportunity for discussion of state and local problems.

"Roy V. Harris of Augusta, Georgia, prominent attorney and president of the Citizens' Councils of America, will preside during the conference. Participants listed on the program include Robert B. Patterson of Greenwood, Mississippi; W. J. Simmons, Richard D. Morphew, Louis W. Hollis, and Dr. Medford Evans, all of Jackson; Richard T. Ely of Memphis; Jack Kershaw of Nashville; J. K. Callaway of Atlanta; Leonard R. Wilson of Montgomery, Alabama; and Donald W. Poteat of Charleston, South Carolina."

Synopsis:

Major General EARLE G. WHEELER, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, interviewed 11/8/57 and furnished signed statement pertaining to conversation he had with Chief MARVIN H. POTTS of the LRPD, 9/26/57, in the presence of Major General E. A. WALKER, Chief, U. S. Army, Military District of Arkansas. Gen. WHEELER in his statement stated Chief POTTS in reference to the conduct of the mob on 9/23/57 remarked that the police on duty at Central High School that day had nearly been overwhelmed; that his men had reached the verge of physical exhaustion in combating the mob; and that POTTS regarded it as miraculous that the police had been able to sustain themselves against the mob over such a long period of time. Gen. WHEELER recalled Chief POTTS adding a remark to the effect that he did not know how the police had avoided being "run out of town."

U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1955 O—344750

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

On November 8, 1957, Major General EARLE G. WHEELER, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff for Military Operations, was interviewed at his office in the Pentagon by SAs [redacted] and [redacted] at which time he furnished the following signed statement: 7C

"Pentagon, Arlington, Virginia

November 8, 1957

"I, EARLE G. WHEELER, Major General, U. S. Army, make the following free and voluntary statement to [redacted] and [redacted] who have identified themselves to me as Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. 7C No threats or promises have been made to induce me to make this statement, and I have been advised that I would not have to make a statement and that any statement I make may be used in Court of Law.

"I arrived in Little Rock, Arkansas at 1430 hours on 24 September 1957, to act as liaison officer between the Department of the Army and the Headquarters of Major General E. A. WALKER, Chief, US Army Military District of Arkansas, who was designated in command of federal troops charged with enforcing the injunction of the District Federal Court as regards integration of the Central High School. At about 1630 hours, General WALKER held a meeting with representatives of all federal, state, county and city law enforcement agencies in order to determine measures of cooperation between those agencies and the military in carrying out his mission. This meeting was held in an upstairs conference room in General WALKER's headquarters.

"Chief MARVIN H. POTTS, of the Little Rock Police Department, was not present for reasons of ill health as stated by Captain HAYNIE, Night Chief of the Little Rock Police Department, who represented him at the meeting. Toward the close of the meeting, which lasted well over an hour, Captain HAYNIE in private conversation with me said, in effect, that in over twenty years as a peace officer he had never seen people behave with such violence and savagery as had the mob at Central High School on the preceding day, 23 September 1957.

"As I recall it, on the afternoon of 26 September 1957, at about 1630-1700 hours, Chief MARVIN H. POTTS called upon General WALKER in his headquarters. Chief POTTS, who was obviously in ill health, was dressed in a light weight summer suit and a straw hat. The conversation with General WALKER, in which I participated as an interested observer was of a rather general nature. It did cover an explanation of the restricted degree of participation by the City Police in operations connected with security in the Central High School area. Toward the end of the conversation, at a time when only Chief POTTS, General WALKER, and myself were present in General WALKER's office, I made reference to the remark, cited above, made to me by Captain HAYNIE as to the conduct of the mob on 23 September 1957.

"Chief POTTS replied to the effect that police on duty at the school that day had nearly been overwhelmed; that his men had reached the verge of physical exhaustion in combating the mob; and that he regarded it as miraculous that they had been able to sustain themselves against the mob over such a long period of time. As I recall it, he added a remark to the effect that he did not know yet how the police had avoided being 'run out of town.'

"By the word 'overwhelmed' in the above paragraph, I understood Chief POTTS to mean that the City Police had been greatly outnumbered by the members of the mob at the Central High School on 23 September 1957, and that they had been on the verge of being overcome by sheer weight of numbers.

"The above statement is not based upon documentation in notes made during the course of my duty in Little Rock, Arkansas. It is based upon my recollection of the sequence of events, and is true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

NOTE: General Wheeler furnished a signed statement pertaining to his conversation with Chief of Police Potts of the Little Rock Police Department on 9-26-57 in the presence of General Walker of the Arkansas Military District. General Wheeler furnished comments of Chief Potts and night Chief of Police, Captain Haynie, relative to the violence which occurred at the school on 9-23-57. According to General Wheeler, he went to Little Rock to act as liaison officer between the Department of the Army and the headquarters of General Walker. General Wheeler was present at a meeting on the evening of 9-24-57 in General Walker's headquarters attended by representatives of all Federal, state, county, and city law enforcement agencies. General Wheeler furnished pertinent comments received by him from Captain Haynie relative to Haynie's evaluation of the violence occurring at the school on 9-23-57. In General Walker's conversation on 9-26-57 with Chief Potts, General Wheeler mentioned Captain Haynie's observations relative to violence 9-23-57 and Chief Potts replied to the effect that the police on

This is to record that Supervisor [redacted] of the Civil Rights Unit telephonically contacted ASAC Eldon C. Williams at Little Rock and instructed that General Edwin A. Walker be interviewed. It is noted that the Department by memorandum dated 10/28/57, had requested that General Earl G. Wheeler and General Edwin A. Walker be interviewed concerning the details of a conversation they had on 9/26/57, concerning Chief of Police Potts efforts to maintain order at Central High School on 9/23/57. General Wheeler has been interviewed by Agents of the Washington Field Office and Little Rock was furnished the substance of that interview by airtel dated 11/8/57.

ASAC Williams stated that Washington Field airtel of 11/8/57 had been received and that he would make arrangements immediately to have General Walker interviewed. ASAC Williams was instructed to obtain full details from General Walker in a signed statement, if possible, concerning his conversation with Chief Potts on 9/26/57. ASAC Williams was instructed to expedite the interview and to submit report immediately after the interview.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Trials Are Troublesome

A-17

IN THE RECORD of the General Walker case appears the following paragraph of a statement by the acting Judge Advocate:

Sokolsky

"Although the file does . . . contain an over-all indication of Hatch Act and related violations, the detailed evidence in this respect is not developed and it is noticed that many of the witnesses at the time of the investigation were already claiming recollection difficulties. It is obvious that any trial for such violations would be a most difficult and prolonged undertaking, fraught with intense and emotional publicity, certainly unfavorable to the Government, at least in part. A conviction would be by no means a certain result, and even if a conviction were obtained the sentence would probably amount to not more than a reprimand in view of General Walker's brilliant combat record and sincerity of purpose in attempting to fight communism."

THIS IS, indeed, a curious argument. A trial would be costly, as all trials are. It would be embarrassing as most trials are. It would develop mass emotions, which such trials do. Also there is no guarantee of conviction. Therefore, admonish General Walker; smear him; make him appear to be a madman; but keep him on the job. Apparently then there would be no excitement and no publicity.

Surely whoever conceived this childishness after 822 pages of testimony was taken from 40 witnesses and 229 exhibits were introduced deserves to be taken out of a position where he can ruin men of valor. How is it possible to maintain the morale of our armed forces if such cases as that of Gen. Billy Mitchell, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, General Walker are examples set before officers?

SEN. HARRY BYRD thought that the 822 pages of testimony in the General Walker case should be made public. Senator Byrd said the public should know about it.

According to Secretary of Defense McNamara:

"There are, to the best of my knowledge . . . no restrictions other than, I think, the restriction that any responsible officer of our military establishment would recognize, a restriction of good judgment and restraint in a period of tension and crisis in the world. But, to the best of my knowledge, there are no specific written instructions."

If that is so, how is an officer to know what is permissible and what is verboten? If a general is required to indoctrinate his troops against the enemy, what is he not to say? What is good judgment about Karl Marx, Stalin or even Khrushchev?

Did General Walker exceed his responsibility and authority? It could not be if the testimony of Secretary McNamara before the Senate Armed Services Committee is correct. The Secretary said:

"The responsibility for the training of the troops is with the local commanders. They are given considerable latitude in developing specific training programs to fit the needs of their personnel and their environment.

"What I have to say will be somewhat more general in character and might respond directly to your question because these programs will vary rather substantially as between commands and as between services."

IN OTHER words, General Walker could use his own judgment within the margins of good taste. However, it was brought out that speeches with foreign policy implication go to the State Department for approval. How is it possible for a military man to give his troops an anti-Communist indoctrination course without saying something negative about Soviet Russia or Red China? The censor in the State Department is Philip H. Burris, director of the Office of Policy Plans and Guidance, who reports to Assistant Secretary of State Roger Tubby. The theory of this operation is that military men may talk out of turn, might say things which could do harm.

Let everyone know the story, the truth as you now know it.

Ask the Senate Internal Security Committee (Sen. Thomas Dodd) and the House Un-American Activities Committee (Rep. Francis Walter) to investigate the Overseas Weekly of 380 Lexington Ave., New York 17, N.Y.

Demand of Army Secretary Stahr (Washington, D.C.) that Gen. Walker be exonerated in a manner that will indicate unmistakably to the public and to all the military that the General is not being punished.

Let Pres. Kennedy know how you feel about the unnamed individuals in the Pentagon who have planned and carried out this hidden campaign to wreck organized anti-communism in the Armed Forces.

Send copies of this leaflet to every serviceman you know and encourage them all, in the name of God and of America, to spread a boycott of the foul Overseas Weekly.

Write to the Department of Defense, Washington, D.C., inquiring why it accredits three representatives of Overseas Weekly: Marion von Ropanch, Thomas Vincent Mullahy, and Todd N. Martin. If this accredation by the Department were withdrawn, the Overseas Weekly could lose any claim to journalistic standing.

Write to Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, A.P.O. 403, New York, N.Y. Thank him for having instituted the Pro-Blue Program and for having taken his stand against Overseas Weekly. Let him know that America is behind him.

The consequence of inaction by knowledgeable Americans in the matter of defense of Gen. Walker can be the eventual control of all the military by left-wing bureaucrats.

The reward of concerted action most certainly will be the restoration of that common sense so necessary to our national survival.

A staff officer was commenting on a map which showed Communist countries in red and America and her allies in blue. The officer referred to the free world as "anti-red".

"That's defensive thinking," Walker responded. "We're pro-blue."

Thus was the name given to Gen. Walker's Pro-Blue Program for his 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg, Germany. Initiated in October, 1960, the Program was, in the General's own words, "designed to develop an understanding of the American military and civil heritage, and the facts and objectives of those enemies who would destroy it."

The Pro-Blue Program brought to our soldiers in Germany the best education in American citizenship and anti-communism that could be found in print. Also, Religion was stressed. The General's outline for the Program stated: "One of the basic areas of Pro-Blue is the individual's relation to God. When the individual has the right relation with God he belongs to the family of God and as such conducts himself as a child of God." The Program undertook to raise soldier morale and to stress "discipline, law, and order."

HIS ACCUSERS

Gen. Walker is well known for his desire to surround GI's under his command with a climate of morality and clean living. He and his Pro-Blue Program ran head into conflict, therefore, with a filthy tabloid sold on European military bases, Overseas Weekly.

The first and last pages of Overseas Weekly usually carry nude-type pictures. The paper has been known to print directories of European prostitutes, complete with names and addresses. Many of the headlines are so lurid as to be unrepeatable. Lt. Gen. Charles Bolte, Commanding General of the Army in Europe in 1953, banned Overseas Weekly as unfit for American servicemen. It was later reinstated when Marion von Rospach agreed to "clean it up," a promise she never kept.

Overseas Weekly is represented by an American Publishers Representatives (APABCO). PABCO also represents Suank, an obscene publication which features work of notorious Communist-fronters. Parent publishing firm for Overseas Weekly is the International Media Company (IMC). An IMC director, Gene Bernald, is a participating operator of a CIA-linked radio station in the Caribbean, Radio Swan, which aided in the failure of the recent Cuban invasion by mysterious failure to broadcast a pre-arranged signal to Cuban freedom fighters. News Editor of Overseas Weekly is John Dornberg who has undertaken a one-man anti-West Germany campaign with his disgusting book, Schizophrenic Germany. An owner of Overseas Weekly, along with Marion von Rospach, is Harold Melahn. Melahn was a delegate to the Communist World Youth Festival in Prague in 1947. When owner Rospach went to the Pentagon to appeal the 1953 suspension of Overseas Weekly by Gen. Bolte, she was accompanied by Samuel W. Yorty. Yorty has been identified under path as a Communist by former party member Arthur J. Kent. In her writings, Marion von Rospach has portrayed herself as fond of Communist-front joiners and anti-Catholics.

Gen. Walker did not like what Overseas Weekly was trying to do to his troops and he said so. Further, he barred Overseas Weekly reporter Siegfried Naujocks from all of the 24th Division's installations. Naujocks had been caught seeking a pipeline into the command headquarters. A native of Danzig, Poland, Naujocks is recorded as a former Nazi mercenary living in Germany and doing the bidding of Overseas Weekly.

An apparent retaliation against Gen. Walker, the Overseas Weekly ran an attack by John Dornberg on April 16, 1961. The "exposure" of the General and his Pro-Blue program was repeated later on page one of (of course) The New York Times. And the scene was set for another witch hunt by the lunatic Left.

News stories accused [him] of "indoctrinating" his troops with [John Birch Society] materials. This, [despite] the available The Life of John Birch, a biography which makes no mention of the John Birch Society. The book contains many generally-accepted [truths] as to the men under Walker.

When this charge against [Walker] seemed to be falling through, [another] was made. Walker was "reported [to] Mrs. Roosevelt to be "pink" and [guilty] being of the opinion" that [certain] newspapers are greatly [biased]. [These] statements would seem to be [subject] to local conclusions, but these [charges] against Gen. Walker were [made] by the Overseas Weekly [and] by the Overseas Weekly [alone].

Finally, on June 12, 1961, Secretary of Army Elvis J. Stahr, Jr. [in] announcement, announced that [Major] Gen. Edwin A. Walker was being [relieved] for having "made derogatory [statements] "participating in controversial [matters]." The Pentagon announcement [made no mention] of Overseas Weekly, but [unofficially] did say that the John Birch [Society] barred from Army newsstands.

Following the announcement [Walker] was removed from orders [command] the VIII U.S. Army Corps [in Europe].

On May 31, 1961, all [personnel] the Special Warfare Office [of the] Division in Germany were [transferred] duties and the Pro-Blue [program], my staff, was destroyed.

On June 18, 1961, [Time] quoted an unnamed Pentagon [official] as stating that he hoped [that] the Army would "get the [story] had just happened to Gen. [Walker] good judgment in what they [did]

There was no Pearson broadcast over station WTOP on 9-23-61 in view of the Washington Senator's baseball game in progress during the time ordinarily alloted Pearson. Pearson was heard, however, over station WVNJ, Newark, New Jersey, on 9-24-61.

In his Newark broadcast, Pearson made no mention of the Director or the FBI. The following is a resume of some of his statements.

AF OF L - CIO:

The real reason why President George Meany put off his retirement for another two years was to block Walter Reuther from taking over the AF of L - CIO.

THE UNITED NATIONS:

Ex-President Eisenhower has been mentioned as the possible successor to Dag Hammarskjold. One drawback is Ike's age. Another is his former role as leader of the western-bloc and former military Commander of NATO. The UN has always elected a neutral as Secretary-General in the past, however, Premier Khrushchev told me last month he believed Eisenhower was definitely a man of peace.

SHREVEPORT, LOUISIANA:

Friends of the late Congressman Overton Brooks blame the John Birch Society for his death. After Brooks voted with Kennedy to extend the number of members on the Rules Committee, members of the John Birch Society claimed he was close to the communists. They started to raise $50,000 to defeat him and took ads in local papers against him. This had a direct effect on the Congressman's health and, according to friends, hastened his death.

Mr. Pearson made the following remarks concerning the FBI:

PREDICTIONS:

As his number one prediction Mr. Pearson said: "J. Edgar Hoover will be eased out of the FBI by the end of the year. He doesn't like taking a back seat, as he calls it, to a young kid like Bobby Kennedy and he'll be eased out if there is not too much of a furor."

Will there be a resignation from the Supreme Court? Justice Felix Frankfurter, now 79, has suffered one heart attack and could retire at any time on full pension. The Supreme Court retirement bill was passed to encourage men over 70 to retire, but Frankfurter stubbornly and gleefully is hanging on, because he knows so many people want him off. Among those who want to see him retire is Abe Ribicoff, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. It is traditional that at least one Jew be appointed to the Supreme Court and President Kennedy had promised Ribicoff he could succeed Frankfurter. Privately, Frankfurter has said, "I'm not going to die or retire in order to accommodate Abe Ribicoff." On the contrary, he says he will stay on just to spite Ribicoff, so here is my prediction: Frankfurter, despite 79 years and a heart condition, will manage to hang on for one more year.

Ex-President Eisenhower has decided to speak out more often to keep the leadership of the Republican Party from being dominated by the right wing. The General is alarmed by the growing popularity of Senator Goldwater and the John Birchites. "What will happen at the long-delayed hearings on General (Edwin) Walker? Friends of General Walker have long demanded that he be given a Senate hearing and that the Kennedy administration be castigated for censuring military men, but as the time of the Walker hearing approaches, some of his boosters, including Senator (J. Strom) Thurmond (Democrat) of South Carolina, have been privately nervous. They know Walker took the Army's Fifth Amendment when cross-examined in Germany and refused to answer certain questions. They also know that Walker went way overboard by meddling in politics. So, here is my prediction: The Walker censorship hearings will begin on schedule on Tuesday. I predict Walker will get his way and will testify. He will deliver a very carefully prepared statement written for him and make a fairly good impression, but when the questions start flying, I predict the General will lose his composure and reveal himself a different man."

Khrushchev some sign of support or the right wing of the Communist Party, which believes in war, will win out. Simultaneously, in the U.S. Senate there begins on Tuesday an investigation of so-called military censorship. Actually, this investigation has been engineered by our equivalent of the right wing in Moscow; namely, the 'war-is-inevitable' group in the U.S.A. The military leaders of this wing, now retired, claim they were censured. Actually, they were censured because they wanted to speak out for war against the policies of their Commander-in-Chief. Some of these right wingers didn't like what I reported from the Black Sea last summer, when I said that Khrushchev did not want war, that he had opposition inside his own party. However, the important thing to remember is that right wingers in the U.S.A. breathing down Kennedy's neck and right wingers in Russia breathing down Khrushchev's neck make it harder to negotiate for peace, so we will probably face one of the most precarious periods in post-war history unless we are willing, very patiently, very carefully, understandingly, to work, strive, give, to win the peace and make Democracy live."

Pages 5569-5570. Senator Goldwater, (R) Arizona, spoke concerning the Peace Corps. Mr. Goldwater included excerpts from newspaper editorials and articles with his remarks. He stated "I think that most of the writers of these clippings are, like myself, generally in favor of the Peace Corps concept. But they see danger signs pointing to possible pitfalls in the program which, if not avoided or remedied, could cause it to do more harm than good, or wreck it entirely." An article dated March 13, 1961, written by George Sokolsky contained the following: "What steps then are being taken to prevent Communist infiltration? The OWI, the OSS, and the USIA did not succeed in avoiding such infiltration. Apparently the FBI and the CIA have. How will the Peace Corps handle this problem?"

Pages 5576-5577. Senator Proxmire, (D) Wisconsin, spoke concerning an article which appeared in the New York Times reporting that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, commanding general of the 24th Infantry Division, has instituted an anti-Communist indoctrination program among his troops. The article points out that General Walker distributed copies of "The Way of Life of John Birch," a book by Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society.

gence information on possible new targets and make immediate assessment and report the damage inflicted to determine whether a repeat strike is needed.

The North Atlantic Ocean could be reconnoitered by the B-70 for presence of naval vessels within approximately 4½ hours and the entire Mediterranean within 8 hours after departing the United States. During periods of tension or in limited small wars, the B-70 could be used as visible evidence to demonstrate rapidly the seriousness with which we regard any aggressive act. For example, it would be possible to be over any potential hotspot in the world in 3 hours or less. Should nuclear disarmament efforts succeed, the B-70 could still be employed effectively carrying a large number of nonnuclear munitions in each aircraft.

Certainly missiles must play an increasing role in our strategic planning as the President has so well emphasized in his defense budget. However, dependence upon missiles to the extent indicated by current trends, together with the serious deemphasis on manned aircraft, will provide little or no flexibility to the strategic commander in the late 1960's and early 1970's.

Present budget support for the B-70 leaves me with little confidence that this system so vital to our security and world peace will enter the free world arsenal. Without it, our security will be open to question. To my mind, the B-70 weapon system represents an insurance policy which has the greatest long-range significance toward a well-balanced military posture for our country.

In my opinion, this program should be accelerated and placed on a crash basis if that is what it will take to deliver these superior weapons at the earliest possible date. Therefore, one of our major tasks, I urge you, must be to restore this program to the full stature it deserves. Only in this way can we be certain that our strategic force has the flexible characteristics so essential in meeting an enemy threat of tomorrow.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, is morning business concluded?

The VICE PRESIDENT. Is there further morning business? If not, morning business is concluded.

FAIR LABOR STANDARDS AMENDMENTS OF 1961

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, may I ask what is the pending business?

The VICE PRESIDENT. There is no pending business. The bill (H.R. 3935) will not become the pending business until 12 o'clock, unless there is a unanimous-consent agreement or a motion to bring that about.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I move that H.R. 3935 be laid before the Senate and made the pending business.

The VICE PRESIDENT. The question is on the motion of the Senator from Montana.

The motion was agreed to; and the Senate resumed the consideration of the bill (H.R. 3935) to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, to provide coverage for employees of large enterprises engaged in retail trade or service and of other employers engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, to increase the minimum wage under the act to $1.25 an hour, and for other purposes.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, is there an amendment pending at the present time?

The VICE PRESIDENT. Yes. The question is on agreeing to the so-called Dirksen substitute.

NEEDED: EDUCATION FOR FREEDOM AS WELL AS AGAINST COMMUNISM

Mr. PROXMIRE. Mr. President, the New York Times reports this morning from Bonn, Germany, that Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, the commanding general of the 24th Infantry Division, has instituted an anti-Communist indoctrination program among his troops.

Mr. President, if ever there was a persuasive argument for the establishment of a responsible and intelligent educational program so that our troops can understand the Communist menace against which they are risking their lives on the frontlines, this is it.

I feel very, very strongly that this Nation has fallen down badly in failing to develop an effective system of educating all Americans in the threat of Communist subversion.

Too few Americans love their freedom because too few Americans understand it. Communist subversion has won massive victories in the world. We have developed no authoritative, responsible basis for teaching either to our troops or to any Americans exactly what is the difference between freedom and communism.

Now we are reaping the whirlwind.

General Walker is exhibit A in how badly this is needed.

The New York Times reports that General Walker's lessons in the challenge of communism went like this. I quote:

> General Walker told the meeting at which the program opened that "communism has infiltrated every institution in the United States in an attempt to overthrow our way of life."
> Copies of "The Way of Life of John Birch," a book by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Mass., the society's founder, were distributed to the division's company and battery dayrooms. Copies of the society's magazine, American Opinion, were put on sale on Army newsstands in the Augsburg area, where the division is stationed.
> Before the indoctrination program got underway, General Walker, according to Overseas Weekly, addressed 200 members of a Parent Teachers Association connected with the division.
> He was said to have described as "definitely pink" former President Harry S. Truman, Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Edward R. Murrow, Director of the U.S. Information Agency, Walter Lippmann, the newspaper columnist, and Eric Sevareid, a commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System were said to be confirmed Communists.

Imagine that, Mr. President—Edward R. Murrow, Walter Lippmann, and Eric Sevareid—confirmed Communists.

These are three of the finest, most patriotic Americans alive. Each of these men is in fact the strongest kind of opponent of communism, because Murrow, Lippmann, and Sevareid, unlike General Walker, deeply understand the real meaning of the freedom, including the freedom to dissent.

Now, of course, Mr. President, this idiotic attack on these great Americans will not affect them in the slightest. None of them needs my defense.

General Walker should be investigated and if this story is true, he, of course, should be relieved of his command at once, and I mean promptly.

But, Mr. President, let the Senate of the United States learn a real lesson from this crass stupidity of an American general. Let us ask, How can a man who has achieved this military eminence be so tragically and pitifully misinformed? How can his commanding officers have permitted this to go on for a single day—let alone for months?

The answer, Mr. President, is unforgivable official ignorance. It is time this Government takes the moral and philosophical fight against communism away from the demagogs and the morons. The fight is too important.

American troops should be indoctrinated in freedom; and, yes, in the evils of communism. They should know what they are defending. And they should know the terrible tyranny and viciousness—the monstrous, crushing oppression of communism. This will make them better Americans and it will certainly make them better soldiers.

But, Mr. President, can we do this by permitting generals to indoctrinate our soldiers with the ridiculous absurdity that Murrow and Lippmann and Sevareid are Communists. What are we trying to do, instruct our troops that they should defend America against Walter Lippmann?

Put yourself in the position of a soldier who is told that he is fighting for a way of life that must eradicate such "pinkos" as former President Truman and Mrs. Roosevelt. What will normal boys do? Oh, a few of them may fall for this nonsense, but most of them have enough commonsense just to laugh at it.

If President Truman and Mrs. Roosevelt are "definitely pink" and Lippmann and Murrow and Sevareid are confirmed Communists as General Walker argues—where does that leave the President of the United State—their own Commander in Chief, John F. Kennedy, who certainly agrees with this constellation of great Americans overwhelmingly on general policy?

Is the general counseling a not very subtle disobedience to the President of the United States? How can we expect to instill into our troops a fighting spirit if their own comanding officer tells them that their Government and their country's institutions are already rotted with communism?

Mr. President, what all this leads up to is that a pitifully misguided general is discrediting the very basis on which his own troops may be called upon to defend freedom.

The laughter of our troops at the stupidity of their commander may be healthy; but it will also be tragic. Because the basic clash between communism and freedom will be confused and in not a few minds destroyed to the very great benefit of communism.

For most important of all the answer is not simply to eliminate the General Walkers. The answer is to insist that American troops learn why they are on the frontline to defend freedom. The honest story is an inspiring and great story of practical good sense and of human idealism. It is time our troops overseas began to learn why we are opposing communism and learn it massively from responsible, intelligent instructors.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the article by Sydney Gruson from the New York Times entitled "General Indoctrinating Troops in Europe With Birch Unit Aims" be printed in the RECORD at this point.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

BIRCH UNIT IDEAS PUT TO U.S. TROOPS—GENERAL WALKER INDOCTRINATES MEN IN EUROPE DIVISION

(By Sydney Gruson)

BONN, GERMANY, April 13.—The commanding general of an American frontline Army division was reported today to have been urging the views of the ultraconservative John Birch Society on his troops for the last 6 months.

The Overseas Weekly, an independent newspaper distributed widely among American troops in Europe, published a detailed account of a special indoctrination program instituted by Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker of the 24th Infantry Division last October. General Walker was recently promoted to command the VIII Corps in Austin, Tex., starting in August.

A high-ranking officer of the U.S. 7th Army, of which the 24th Division is a part, said the newspaper's account was "reasonably correct." The account was as follows:

A "special warfare" office was established within the division last October 15 to conduct a "pro-Blue" campaign designed, in General Walker's words, to give a "new and vital approach toward anticommunism * * * a positive approach toward the defeat of open Communist subversion of the American way of life." The name of the Birch Society's basic book of principles is the "Blue Book."

WARNS ON COMMUNISM

General Walker told the meeting at which the program opened that "communism has infiltrated every institution in the United States in an attempt to overthrow our way of life."

Copies of "The Life of John Birch," a book by Robert H. W. Welch, Jr., of Belmont, Mass., the society's founder, were distributed to the division's company and battery day-rooms. Copies of the society's magazine, American Opinion, were put on sale on Army newsstands in the Augsburg area, where the division is stationed, and the division's weekly paper, Taro Leaf, published at least one article from the magazine.

The article said that democracy degenerates into "mobocracy" and concluded that the United States is "a republic, not a democracy. Let's keep it that way."

General Walker, a much-decorated veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict was named commander of the 24th Infantry Division in October 1958, after having served for 2 years as chief of the Arkansas Military District with headquarters at Little Rock. He commanded the federalized troops during the school integration crisis in 1957.

CALLED TO HEADQUARTERS

24. Gen. Harrison H. Davidson, the 7th Army commander, called General Walker to the Army's Heidelberg headquarters this morning to discuss the Overseas Weekly article. A spokesman for General Davidson said General Walker had been advised to be "candid and complete" in answering reporters' questions.

Late tonight, 24th Division headquarters in Augsburg said General Walker was conferring with his public information officers on a possible statement for the press. In the meantime, no questions were being answered.

Before the indoctrination program got underway, General Walker, according to Overseas Weekly, addressed 200 members of a parent teachers association connected with the division.

He was said to have described as "definitely pink" former President Harry S. Truman, Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Edward R. Murrow, Director of the U.S. Information Agency, Walter Lippmann, the newspaper columnist, and Eric Sevareid, a commentator for the Columbia Broadcasting System, were said to be "confirmed Communists."

EVALUATION OF PROGRAM

At a meeting of the division's officers at the inauguration of the pro-Blue program, General Walker was said to have defended a statement by the division's public information officer, Capt. Richard G. Hyde, that 60 percent of all Americans were Communist-influenced.

Among the speakers invited to address the division under General Walker's sponsorship have been Edward C. Bundy, author of "Collectivism in the Churches," and William G. Schlamm, an associate editor of American Opinion who has lectured extensively in West Germany and has been widely criticized for advocating a preventive war against the Communists.

The Augsburg Allgemeine Zeitung, in printing for its German readers an account of the Overseas Weekly article, commented:

"General Walker's sympathy for the Birch Society appears curious in the light of this group's demands for the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the abandonment of the U.S. foreign aid program and an end to American cooperation with Adenauer, De Gaulle, and Franco."

The Overseas Weekly concentrates on news about American forces in Europe and has its European offices in Frankfurt. Its news editor, John Dornberg, said it had a circulation of about 50,000.

REVOLT IN CUBA

Mr. KEATING. Mr. President, every day there is more news of discontent, revolt, insurrection, sabotage within Castro's Cuba. The unfortunate people of Cuba have indeed recognized the futility of further trust in Castro's promises. They are turning to the only method which will be effective in removing this cancer which has grown into their fair land—resistance.

This resistance is clearly the action of the Cuban people themselves. The United States cannot help but be in sympathy with their efforts to free themselves from an alien tyranny. And it is only right and natural that we provide refuge for those fleeing from Castro's Communist camp.

But, it must be 100 percent clear that the present efforts to free Cuba derive their principal impetus from the Cuban people themselves. There can be no doubt that the Cubans have had enough of Castro-style communism and isolation from their neighbors throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Mr. President, when the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Committee on the Judiciary began hearings more than a year ago on the problems relating to the effect on our country of the menace of communism in the Caribbean, it was said that probably 85 percent to 90 percent of the Cuban people supported Fidel Castro. Six months ago a sounding was taken, and it was said that probably 60 percent or 65 percent of the people of Cuba supported him. As of today, based on the best knowledge which has been made available to me, I am convinced that less than 90 percent of the Cuban people support this bearded demagog. In a totalitarian country, as Cuba is today, the only way to show opposition is through a steady campaign of resistance, sabotage, and violence.

Mr. President, some weeks ago I urged action both by the United States and by the Cubans themselves to hasten the dislodging of Castro before he is so strongly supplied with Soviet weapons that he cannot be dislodged. The Cubans have started to take action; they have formed a government in exile, and they are daily risking their lives to restore freedom to their homeland. The U.S. Government still has not acted to cut off all imports from Cuba. U.S. dollars are still going to Cuba, to be used to finance Communist-supplied weapons and so-called technicians. A complete embargo is long overdue. Several weeks ago the Department of State informed me that they were studying the problem to see what could be done, consistent with other international obligations, to plug this loophole. I hope this study can be soon completed. Time is of the essence.

Mr. President, today is Pan American Day, a fitting occasion to take up and discuss with our allies this problem which is vital to the whole hemisphere. Let us all move together, hand in hand, to create for the Americas a new degree of economic progress and political responsibility and independence, unmarred by Communist dictatorships anywhere in the hemisphere.

Mr. President, a series of perceptive articles dealing with the sovietization of Cuba was published last month in the New York Herald Tribune. I ask unanimous consent to have these articles printed in the RECORD following my remarks, so that other persons may have an opportunity to read this informative analysis.

There being no objection, the articles were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CUBA—U.S.S.R.—CONSUMMER GOAL AT CORE HERE OF LATIN ANXIETY

(By Joseph Newman)

A gun-browed curly-headed lad of 21, fresh from the Sierra Maestra, was seated in a chair, half dozing, at the entrance to the Habana Libre Hotel, a Czech submachinegun cradled in his arms.

"Chico," I asked incredulously, "can you really shoot that thing?"

SUBJECT: THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The Congressional Record for Tuesday, May 16, 1961, has been reviewed and the following items contained therein have been noted for your attention.

SENATE

Page 7483. Senator Javits, (R) New York, spoke concerning the violence in Alabama in connection with the burning of a bus and injury to persons participating in the "Freedom Riders" plan. Mr. Javits commended the Attorney General for stepping into the situation and he (Javits) included a telegram he sent to Attorney General Kennedy. Mr. Javits stated "I hope very much that those who are guilty of violations of the law will be prosecuted. I hope very much the country will take note of what these struggles mean and how they are attended by violence, by personal injury, and by disgrace to the good name of the United States throughout the world. I hope very much these ideas may also have their effect upon the decent citizens of the States in which these terrible acts are taking place."

Pages 7490-7491. Senator Bridges, (R) New Hampshire, paid tribute to Mr. Hoover on his 37th anniversary as Director. Mr. Bridges stated "few, if any, Government officials in the history of our country have been able to match the outstanding public service record of the Chief of our Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover." He included an editorial and an article from the Washington Daily News of May 10th entitled "The FBI's 38th Year" and "A Toast to J. Edgar Hoover."

Pages 7491-7492. Senator Bridges, (R) New Hampshire, spoke concerning the circumstances surrounding Major General Edwin A. Walker being relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division. He included an article from the Arkansas Democrat of April 23, 1961, entitled "Serviceman's Wife Raps Walker Attack as 'False, Malicious'" and an editorial from the Manchester Union-Leader of May 11th entitled "The General Walker Controversy." These articles in commenting on the material used by General Walker in his programs to train personnel in citizenship included Mr. Hoover's book "Masters of Deceit."

Pages 7529-7535. Senator Keating, (R) New York, requested to have printed in the Record a series of articles written by Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan entitled "Cancer of Crime" and published in the New York Mirror. Mr. Keating stated "This series highlights in a powerful way the techniques by which modern crime is outwitting obsolete law enforcement. It contains a strong plea for advancing the tools for fighting crime out of the horse and buggy age." One article states "Most law-enforcement people cry: Give us a clearing house of information. But other law-enforcement people say many criminal files contain only rumor and hearsay—that such information can't be made available willy-nilly to other law-enforcement people. 'We can't turn over our raw files,' said Robert Wick, deputy director of the FBI." The last article comments on Federal crime commissions stating "Milton R. Wessel, who in 1958-59 headed the short-lived U. S. Attorney General's Special Group on Organized Crime, told the police panel: 'I submit that statistics showing steady increase in major crimes are incontestable proof that the situation is beyond the control of local police.' In Washington, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, composed a rebuttal: 'America's compact network of State and local law enforcement agencies traditionally has been the Nation's first line of defense against crime.'" The following was stated in connection with legislation on organized crime: "On February 27 Senator Kefauver said: 'We are still trying to work out something that will satisfy Mr. Hoover.' Last week, Richard B. Ogilvie, who was in charge of Wessel's midwestern office, said in Chicago: 'Hoover was very cool to the whole idea of the Attorney General's special group. He ordered that the FBI files, containing the very information we needed on organized crime, were to be closed to us. Criticizing Hoover is a dangerous thing for anyone to do. But honesty compels me to say that some of Hoover's ideas are sadly behind the times. The FBI is still organized to fight a crime pattern of the twenties and thirties. It is not set up to do battle with the criminal syndicate—the organized conspiracy that drains $22 billion a year from the United States.'"

Page A3416. Congressman Smith, (R) California, paid tribute to Mr. Hoover on his 37th anniversary as Director. Mr. Smith included an editorial from the Milwaukee Sentinel of May 8, 1961, entitled "Washington Parade—37-Year Record Tells G-Man Story."

Pages A3431-A3432. Congressman Judd, (R) Minnesota, extended his remarks to include an article written by General Clyde J. Watts, retired, entitled "Strategy for Survival." Mr. Judd stated "If Americans would only read such a document and face up to the realities of the situations into which our drift and Communist guile have led us, we would not be unprepared for the defeats we have sustained and the worse ones still to come unless we quickly arouse ourselves and rally all the will and resources of the whole Nation." General Watts makes reference to Mr. Hoover's report "Communist Target-Youth."

FBI should enforce it. Not [redacted]nt too soon, either. When prohibition [redacted]ally came to an end, the hoodlums who had been enriched by bootleg booze turned to kidnaping as a new bonanza. Others began knocking over national banks. They, also, were in FBI jurisdiction. One by one, the Dillingers and the Machinegun Kellys were disposed of.

Meantime, the Communists were crawling out of the internal woodwork in the United States. Mr. Hoover and the FBI drew the assignment to ride herd on them. Then began the ceaseless effort of the American Commies, their friends and their dupes to get Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Hoover and the FBI comprise the most effective roadblock in this country to the objective of all Communists here and abroad which is to bury the American way of life.

Harry S. Truman probably was under the greatest pressure of any President to fire Mr. Hoover and to cripple the FBI. HST wouldn't have dared even if he had wanted to do that. To Edgar Hoover: Skoal.

COMMERCIAL COMMUNICATIONS SATELLITE

Mr. BRIDGES. Mr. President, the progress that our country is making toward space exploration, the harnessing of atomic energy for peacetime pursuits, and other miracle developments has been possible only because of the contributions and support of American industry.

The American business community has furnished our Government with highly skilled specialists in management, research and development, science and technology, and other fields where we require top personnel in order to win the cold war fight against world communism.

Now, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has set another fine example by offering to spend between $15 and $25 million to launch a commercial communications satellite.

This offer has been pending before the National Aeronautical and Space Administration since last December 14 when, according to an Associated Press dispatch of May 10, A.T. & T. asked the agency to assign it a rocket booster to launch an experimental communications satellite.

A.T. & T. has said it would welcome participation by other companies but that even if it proceeded alone it would make all experimental information available to others.

The Associated Press dispatch, as carried in the Baltimore Sun of May 11, reports that the General Electric Corp. and the General Telephone & Electronics Corp. are among other American companies that have advanced proposals for a communications satellite system.

I urge, and I hope my colleagues in the Senate will join with me in urging, that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration give careful study and consideration to these proposals, and to the magnanimous offer of A.T. & T.

For us to achieve the accelerated progress necessary to deter the Communists from worldwide aggression will require the closest cooperation between Government and private industry.

With this thought in mind, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to insert in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD at this point in my remarks the Baltimo[redacted]n story of May 11, referred to earlier.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

FUNDS OFFERED FOR SPACE SHOT

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. told Congressmen today it is willing to spend $15 million to $25 million to launch a commercial communications satellite.

The A.T. & T. plan, described before the House Science and Astronautics Committee, is one of several that private companies are circulating before Government agencies.

All plans would lead to a system of communicating anywhere on earth through satellites. Telephone calls, telegraph messages, and television could be beamed to a satellite and then relayed to a remote area.

James E. Dingman, vice president, and chief engineer of A.T. & T., testified that his company had asked the National Aeronautics and Space Administration last December 14 to assign it a rocket booster to launch an experimental communications satellite.

READY TO PAY ALL COSTS

Dingman said A.T. & T. was ready to pay the cost of the launching booster, the launch pad, and the satellite. He estimated the total cost at $15 million, but added that A.T. & T. would be willing to spend as much as $25 million on the project.

Dingman said A.T. & T. would welcome participation by other communications companies. Even if it proceeded alone, he said, the company would make all experimental information available to others.

Eventually, he continued A.T. & T. envisions a worldwide system with agreements similar to those nations have on international cable communications.

General Electric Corp. and the General Telephone & Electronics Corp. are among other American companies that have made proposals for a communication satellite system.

MAJ. GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER

Mr. BRIDGES. Mr. President, I wish to call to the attention of my colleagues in the Senate an editorial which appeared in the May 11 issue of the Manchester Union Leader and a news story from the April 23 issue of the Arkansas Democrat.

Both articles are concerned with the circumstances surrounding Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker being relieved of his command of the 24th Infantry Division.

I ask unanimous consent that these articles be printed in the RECORD at this point of my remarks.

There being no objection, the articles were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Arkansas Democrat, Apr. 23, 1961]

SERVICEMAN'S WIFE RAPS WALKER ATTACK AS "FALSE, MALICIOUS"

The wife of a serviceman serving under Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker in Europe charged in a letter to the Democrat yesterday that the controversial Overseas Weekly publication was presenting a "false and malicious picture of General Walker and the patriotic pro-blue and citizenship in services programs."

The letter, signed by Ann Flynn, care of M. Sgt. R. T. Flynn of the Headquarters Company, 24th Division, also said:

"Many of us here are deeply concerned lest General Walker become the latest victim of an organized smear and that any patriotic educational programs within our armed services will be abandoned for fear of censure from obscure, if powerful, forces."

General Walker, former commander of the Arkansas Military District, was relieved of his command in Germany pending an investigation of charges in the April 16, issue of Oveaseas Weekly, a private publication, that he subjected men under him to a "barrage of propaganda" based on John Birch Society publications and that in January 1960 he had termed former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt—among others—"definitely pink."

In an accompanying document, Ann Flynn linked the publication's charges to a probe against a reporter for the publication and implied that the John Birch Society—currently under charges from certain quarters in this country—gave the publication an excuse for what she termed "smear charges."

Mrs. Flynn wrote:

"In recent months one reporter from the Overseas Weekly had been banned from several military kasernes in the 24th Division for attempts to purchase inside information and smear material from military personnel. Since this reporter was banned and his successor permitted on military kasernes only under military escort, the Overseas Weekly has waged a vendetta against General Walker and his division."

She added:

"The Overseas Weekly, a sensational type of magazine which features the crimes, scandals, and gripes of American servicemen in Europe * * * is irreverently tagged the 'Over-Sexed Weekly' by GI readers here."

Mrs. Flynn sent with her letter and her estimate of the current situation and its background, copies of the Taro Leaf, "authorized army newspaper published by and for the men of the 24th Infantry Division in Augsburg, Germany. The materials were mailed through the Army Air Force Post Service and bore eight airmail stamps.

"As a dependent," Mrs. Flynn wrote, "I have the right to correct the false and malicious picture of General Walker and the patriotic pro-blue and citizenship in service programs without fear of official censure.

"It might interest your readers to know that the men of the 24th Division are not 'confused' by General Walker's programs as has been alleged. As a matter of fact, the 24th Division has the highest reenlistment rate in Europe, the lowest number of incidents, the championship marksmanship and boxing teams, and the Taro Leaf won the latest Army award for editorship of its paper.

"Enclosed, you will find some general background material on General Walker written by me which you may feel free to use as you see fit."

General Walker became commander of the 24th Division in November 1959. On April 25, 1960, according to Mrs. Flynn, a 30-man team of officers and enlisted men introduced Citizenship in Service, a 6-hour series of lectures supported by skits, charts and tape recordings. Intent of the program, she wrote, is "to inculcate moral and leadership responsibility, to teach fundamental principles of citizenship and patriotism, and to motivate members of this command so as to reduce sociological stress in service and generate a desire for the awards of self-discipline and public service."

At the same time, she added, the general began a troop physical training program to conditioning the men to maximum combat readiness.

"Despite gripes about the PT program, it is probable that the 24th today could stand up to physical stress far better than troops who can's adjust to climatic and weather conditions," wrote Mrs. Flynn. "Much unnecessary loss of life in the Korean [illegible] a due to this one factor. Last year the 24th Division chalked up the lowest incident rate for respiratory ailments during rugged training exercises among competing units."

"Walker introduced parallel informative programs for dependents of the servicemen and 'these interested dependents' asked the USAREUR libraries to provide special reading shelves on communism for both military and civilians.

"Library books, publications of the U.S. Government investigating committees and various periodicals are usually discussed and analyzed at weekly or semimonthly meetings of study groups," Mrs. Flynn continued. "The paperbound edition of J. Edgar Hoover's 'Masters of Deceit' and the Government publication 'Handbook for Americans' are key source books for such groups. There was also much interest in Alan Drury's 'Advise and Consent' and Victor J. Fox's 'The Pentagon Case.'"

In autumn of 1960 a series of books was introduced to all company and battery sized units throughout the division including such titles as the Hoover book, "A Guide to Anti-Communist Action," by Anthony Buscaren; "In Every War But One," by Eugene Kinkead; "The Techniques of Communism," by Louis Budenz, "The Techniques of Soviet Propaganda," by U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee; "The Life of John Birch," by Robert Welch, Jr.; "Fox's Pentagon Case," and "The Story of Mary Liu," by Edward Hunter.

The blue program derived its name from maps which showed the free world in blue and the Communist world in red with General Walker saying:

"It is in all aspects a profreedom cause. This program is a positive approach toward the defeat of open Communist subversion of the American way of life based on the Constitution, belief in God, and freedom of man."

The Taro Leaf featured writings by Hoover, Cardinal Spellman, George Washington, and Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Flynn added that one issue of the Taro Leaf carried a digest reprint of an article by Robert Welch, the Birch Society's head.

The division sponsored showings of the film, "Operation Abolition," the film "Man on a String," which, Mrs. Flynn wrote, "is a dramatization of Soviet espionage methods exposed by American counterespionage." There was also publicity on the radio series, "If Freedom Fails," described by Mrs. Flynn as dramatizing what happens to a free and democratic country when the Communists seize power.

Mrs. Flynn said this was the general background leading up to now with "General Walker * * * under fire, both from political and newspaper channels."

In speaking of the Overseas Weekly and its vendetta against General Walker and his division she wrote:

"In their issue of April 16 this vendetta reached new heights of retaliation. They accused General Walker of pushing a propaganda barrage on the philosophy of the controversial John Birch Society within the 24th Division. The paper attempted to link the general's profiue program with the Birch Society's book of principles called, they allege, 'The Blue Book.'

"The availability of the 'Life of John Birch' on company bookshelves is interpreted as evidence of a link between the profiue program and the John Birch Society. (They read no comparable meaning into the availability of other books, such as J. Edgar Hoover's 'Master of Deceit,' Kinkead's 'In Every War but One' etc.)

"The newspaper equated profiue concern with Communist infiltration and propaganda techniques, the appearance of Edgar C. Bundy (a critic of Communist infiltration in our churches) as a speaker within the division, and the showing of 'Operation Abolition' [illegible]ith parallel interest [illegible] of the John Birch Society."

Mrs. Flynn added:

"The Overseas Weekly erroneously reported the sale of 'American Opinion' (a magazine edited by Robert Welch) on division newsstands, falsely quoted from a speech that General Walker made in early 1960, inferred opposition to the profiue program from a general officer on his staff and alluded that the special warfare office bears a resemblance to a 'cell' taking secret orders 'to promote front organizations that do not use the John Birch name'."

Mrs. Flynn said that the current investigation of charges was ordered before his relief from his command was ordered and expressed the fear:

"Much of what happens as a result of this investigation will determine whether or not the armed services will be permitted to continue with educational programs that build dedication to American political, religious, and moral values and understanding of the aims and activities of organized communism against our dedicated leaders and our way of life."

She declared that Walker is "carrying the ball for a lot of others, both in Europe and in the United States (yet) there are those who would silence such a man as this and damn all such profiue programs to oblivion."

According to material submitted to the Democrat by Mrs. Flynn, General Walker's program extended to the men, their wives and to children in high school. It emphasized value of American citizenship, how to recognize "overt and covert Communist methodology in the Communist attempt to subvert military morals, espirit, prestige and leadership," a working knowledge of the "reciprocal legal obligations and areas of responsibility" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and to identify NATO "as a disciplined force for freedom * * * and the accomplishment of NATO members in halting Communist aggression."

The program enlisted and urged the support of chaplains in "helping the officers, noncommissioned officers, the men, their wives and children to 'put on the whole armor of God' (Ephesians 6: 11)."

It included classes in discipline, law and order, traffic safety, morale, physical fitness, and community relations with the German nationals.

[From the Manchester Union-Leader, May 11, 1961]

THE GENERAL WALKER CONTROVERSY

The ouster of Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker from his command in Germany pending an investigation of charges made against him in the controversial Overseas Weekly publication may well mark the first time that a U.S. Army general was ousted on hearsay evidence.

The April 16 issue of the publication had charged General Walker with subjecting men under him to a barrage of propaganda based on John Birch Society publications and said that in January 1960, he had described former President Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt—among others—as "definitely pink."

On the other side of the coin, those friendly to General Walker maintain that there is an element of spite in the Overseas Weekly editorial. They claim that General Walker had banned an Overseas Weekly reporter from all military kasernes in the 24th Division for attempting to purchase inside information from military personnel. The reporter's successor, it is alleged, was permitted on military kasernes only under escort. They claim that the Birch Society controversy simply provided the private publication with an opportunity to renew its vendetta against General Walker.

General Walker, who became commander [illegible]he 24[illegible]ivision in November 1959, has introduced patriotic profiue and citizenship in service programs to instill in his men a sense of moral and legal responsibility and to teach them the fundamental principles of patriotism and good citizenship. The Taro Leaf, authorized Army newspaper published by men of the 24th Infantry Division, features the writings of J. Edgar Hoover, Cardinal Spellman, and other patriotic Americans. The Taro Leaf won the latest Army award for editorialship of its paper and the division itself has the highest reenlistment rate in Europe. General Walker places particular emphasis on physical training to condition his men to combat efficiency.

Information programs also are open to dependents of the servicemen. Libraries provide special reading material on communism.

Those supporting General Walker deny the charge that a magazine edited by Robert Welch is sold on division newsstands. And they charge Overseas Weekly with falsely quoting from General Walker's early 1960 speech.

During the McCarthy era, Maj. Irving Peress was charged with being a Communist. He was promoted in rank. General Walker, on the other hand, is charged by a single magazine with having some connection with the John Birch Society, and despite the fact that he has flatly denied the charge, he is dismissed.

Congress should give this controversy a complete and thorough examination.

Mr. BRIDGES. I have read copies of the Overseas Weekly which were sent to me by personnel of the 24th Division, and I also received a copy of Mrs. Flynn's letter which formed the basis for the article in the Arkansas Democrat.

In addition, I have studied copies of the Taro Leaf, the official newspaper of the 24th Division, and I have examined the training circular which activated the profiue program. I found nothing to criticize in either of these publications.

With the possible exception of the two newspaper articles in the Manchester Union-Leader and the Arkansas Democrat, it seems that the majority of stories which appeared in many American newspapers have, if only by omission and implication, condemned General Walker without sufficient facts and on the basis of hearsay and rumor.

General Walker has been an outstanding American officer and military leader. He has served courageously and well in all his commands and was a combat officer at Anzio, Cassino, and Heartbreak Ridge. His ability to command and inspire his troops has served his country well and he should receive the consideration and courtesy of an objective hearing on the charges leveled against him without being prejudged or condemned out-of-hand by the American press. The large volume of letters which I have received have been overwhelmingly in favor of General Walker retaining his command, and no evidence has been brought to my attention to lead me to any other conclusion at the present time.

In justice to General Walker, it might be well for both the House and Senate Armed Services Committees to make a thorough investigation of the action taken against the general and the reasons for it. I urge my colleagues on both committees to consider this course of action.

to pick itself off the floor on the r...ng after. It failed utterly and danger... to do its own job of consulting with C...ess.

As a result, the Secretary, Dean Rusk, was required to go before the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee on Latin American Affairs, headed by the aggressive WAYNE MORSE, of Oregon, a man who knows a Senator's right when he sees it. And Allen W. Dulles of the CIA, who would rather not attend meetings of that kind, was likewise compelled to spend several hours with the full Foreign Relations Committee the following day.

As it happened, both Mr. Rusk, the amateur, and Mr. Dulles, the pro, acquitted themselves well, but either might easily have slipped during his long question-and-answer session with the most powerful committee of Congress. And if they had, the administration might then have come face to face with a full-scale investigation of the kind that the Democrats forced on former President Eisenhower last year when the U-2 fiasco torpedoed the summit conference.

LEADS TO TROUBLE

Consultation, or sharing part of the secret, with the proud and prerogative-conscious Senate is a vital aspect of the political game. Failure to know this and act upon it is to open a Pandora's box of unwanted and unnecessary troubles, and to exacerbate the very difficulties that need curing.

The Cuban invasion was launched on Sunday night, April 16. The State Department did not make an effort to get in touch with Senator MORSE, the chairman of the subcommittee that is directly responsible for Latin-American affairs, until April 26, more than a week later—and then only in response to Senator MORSE's second urgent telegram asking for information.

The first MORSE message, a telegram to Secretary Rusk asking for a briefing "in keeping with the spirit of the advice and consent clause" of the Constitution, was not even acknowledged, so far as can be determined. And yet it never should have had to be sent. Mr. Rusk and his lieutenants should have reacted automatically to the automatic need to tell the top men of Congress what was going on. The reaction should have been reflex, not forced by a telegram asking for news of what happened.

Senator MORSE dispatched his first appeal for information on April 24. When no reply came, he sent his second on April 26, this one asking Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles to come up and talk to the subcommittee on April 28. But Mr. Bowles replied that he couldn't make it.

Until that moment, Senator MORSE was punctilious in refraining from anything resembling pressure tactics. He knew that Messrs. Rusk and Bowles had a major crisis on their hands. He did not want to obstruct or confuse or get in the way.

ALMOST BLEW TOP

But when he got Mr. Bowles' refusal, he almost blew his top—and for a very interesting reason. He knew that high officials in the administration, including Mr. Bowles and Chip Bohlen and MacGeorge Bundy and others, had been briefing large numbers of editors in the State Department auditorium on the inside story of Cuba. He also knew that some of his Senate colleagues were seriously embarrassed when they were asked by these same editors to give their assessment of the scene behind the scene—and had to beg off because they had never been shown a glimpse of it.

This was not touching Senate pride, but trampling on it. With a couple of exceptions, the Foreign Relations Committee was angry. The exceptions were the chairman, Senator FULBRIGHT, who was the only Member of Congress let in on the secret of the invasion before it happened; and the Democratic leaders, Senator MANSFIELD, and Senator [illegible], who had gotten the word at their regular legislative breakfast with President Kennedy on April 18.

Under these circumstances it is scarcely surprising that Senator MORSE made his speech in the Senate condemning the whole enterprise (the first Member to raise the issue on the floor of either House): Nor is it surprising that he then demanded the presence of Mr. Dulles.

MOST IMPORTANT

The Cuban affair was the most important event ever to happen within the jurisdiction of the Morse subcommittee. Except for what they picked up in the newspapers, neither the Morse subcommittee nor the full committee had heard a word about it.

A good argument can be made, and often has been, against consulting Members of Congress before an undertaking as risky and as clandestine as the Cuban invasion.

What is not accepted, and should not be acceptable in a government that divides its powers among separate branches, is failure to consult after the event, and particularly at a time when every visiting editor, and every enterprising reporter, were getting selected versions of the inside story from the top.

Relationships between the competing power blocs in Washington are sometimes decided irrevocably by errors of no larger dimension than this one, and the result can be mean for the offending party. This time, no damage was done. But, next time, it may be different.

Mr. MORSE. Mr. President, it is my sincere hope that every responsible official of this Government, starting with the President of the United States, and including his White House advisers; the Secretary of State and the advisers in the State Department; Mr. Dulles, the head of the CIA, and all the advisers of the CIA; the Secretary of Defense, and all his advisers in the Pentagon Building, will read and take careful note of the very wise observations Mr. Evans has made in the article which I have asked to have printed in the RECORD.

THE FINANCIAL PROBLEM CONFRONTING THE UNITED STATES

Mr. WILLIAMS of Delaware. Mr. President, the distinguished senior Senator from Maryland [Mr. BUTLER] has earned a reputation as a man of a commandingly sound judgment in the field of finance. Grounded in the twin principles of fiscal responsibility and a balanced economy, my esteemed colleague has untiringly supported the free competitive enterprise system responsible for the preeminence of this Nation.

Last Thursday, before the Delaware Bankers Association in Wilmington, the Senator discussed, "The Financial Problem Confronting Us." As he forthrightly declared:

It is the task of our generation to see that Western civilization is preserved in the clash that was foreseen so clearly by De Tocqueville. Sound monetary policy and fiscal responsibility are all-important for the preservation of the heritage we cherish and would pass on to our sons and daughters.

Mr. President, I recommend the analysis by the Senator from Maryland of our financial status to my colleagues on both sides of the aisle. They will find it, as with all statements of the Senator from Maryland, based on fact, statistics, and commonsense. I therefore ask unanimou... nsent that the speech en...led, "The Financial Problem Confronting Us," by the senior Senator from Maryland [Mr. BUTLER], be printed in the RECORD following my remarks.

There being no objections, the speech was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE FINANCIAL PROBLEM CONFRONTING US

As a Senator from a neighboring State, I take great pleasure in accepting your invitation to participate in the convention of the Delaware Bankers Association.

I have a particularly warm feeling for Delaware inasmuch as it was the first State to ratify the Constitution on December 7, 1787. My own State of Maryland was not far behind. It was the seventh, and ratified the Constitution on April 28, 1788.

I know that you expect me to discuss issues of finance and economics inasmuch as I have been honored by my colleagues by being appointed a member of the Finance Committee and the Joint Economic Committee. Discussion is certainly needed these days when so many of our young people in our schools receive only one point of view.

Furthermore, there are far too many individuals today who are attempting to make economics an exact science. Their efforts are doomed to failure because economics by its very nature must respond to the wishes of the people. All economic decisions involving taxes, money, and banking are the ultimate result of the legislative process. If that endeavor is sound, then our economy will move forward; otherwise we will retrogress and, in due course, might lose our position of world leadership.

One of the most influential private organizations upon which legislators like myself depend is the American Economic Association, which was founded by Francis A. Walker, who was president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1881.

Unlike those who presently claim to be economists, President Walker realized that economics and politics in the best sense of that word were inextricably entwined. Hence, until very recent times students in many institutions took courses in political economy rather than in economics.

I would like to touch briefly on the mode of teaching economics at MIT because so many of those who are the financial and industrial leaders of your State receive their education at that institution.

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology is now celebrating its centennial. An article in the Boston Sunday Herald, rotogravure section, in its issue of October 30, 1960, stated, and I quote:

"The social sciences made their first appearance as a byproduct of the appointment in 1881 of a distinguished economist, Francis A. Walker, as president of the institute. Despite his administrative duties and many outside activities, President Walker found time to give a popular lecture course in political economy and to write a textbook that became the most widely used one in the country."

Although MIT was a new school with many problems, President Walker found time to organize the American Economic Association and was its president from 1885 to 1892. I have emphasized this quotation because you will note that the original course which President Walker gave was known as one in political economy and not economics.

Many of the principles that have been espoused by the Democratic Party, which has been charged by the people of the United States with their economic destiny for the next 4 years, were supposedly formulated by Thomas Jefferson. There may be those who believe that he was opposed to those ideas and ideals which you and I hold so dear. Nothing could be further from the truth.

Soviet Union's 8,000-mile-ran[illegible]-3 missile, which carries a thermonuclear warhead.

It then states:

The United States has determined the location of 14 Russian missile and rocket factories.

The article then says that this information appeared in the May issue of Military Review, a magazine published by the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

The article goes on to present various Russian capabilities in this field, including Soviet missile production capacity. The article closes by giving further rather precise information as to missile launching locations, including one in Poland.

If the information in this article is correct, then information given the Senate by the Central Intelligence Agency is incorrect.

But that is not the point I wish to make in these brief comments. Secretary of Defense McNamara and members of the Senate Armed Services Committee joined recently in criticizing the dissemination of too much military information. But today we have an article, whether right or wrong, emanating from the Department of Defense itself; an article presenting information about missile production and launching pad locations which is the most detailed that I have ever seen.

I am particularly interested this morning, because recently testimony was deleted by the Department of Defense from the gallery proof of Senate hearings after the transcript of these hearings had been edited for security; and I have protested the deletion.

Based on the contents on the lengthy passage deleted, it was obvious this was done for public relations reasons only.

We keep from the American people information about broad important policy problems they have the right to know about, at the same time the Department of Defense itself releases detailed information about Russian missilery contrary to that presented the Senate by the CIA in classified hearings.

I suggest to Secretary McNamara, for whom I have the greatest respect, that before there is further criticism from his Department in this field, he examine his own shop.

Again, let me present a simple fact, further illustrated by this recent unfortunate article out of Leavenworth. Regardless of the amount of money spent by the American taxpayer on our security, we will never handle our defenses either efficiently or effectively unless we reorganize the Pentagon building in recognition of progress, instead of continuing to let it drift in tradition.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the article in question by Mr. Bem Price of the Associated Press be printed at this point in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THIRTY-SEVEN PADS FOR SOVIET MISSILES

(By Bem Price)

WASHINGTON, May 15.—U.S. military leaders believe they know the locations of 37 Soviet missile-launching pads, including [illegible] one less than 500 miles from Alaska.

And they figure the Russians have 35 to 50 long-range war rockets ready to shoot.

At least 10 of the reported missile pads have been identified as launch sites for the Soviet Union's 8,000-mile-range T-3 missile, which carries a thermonuclear warhead.

Further, the United States has determined the location of 14 Russian missile and rocket factories.

All of this information appears in the May issue of Military Review, a magazine published by the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

The magazine noted that the data have been compiled from unclassified sources and added, "Because of a tight Soviet control over military information, this data is derived from sources which are not necessarily accurate or complete."

In addition to estimating that the Russians have between 35 and 50 long-range missiles ready to shoot, the Military Review figures the Soviet Union is capable of producing up to 200 strategic missiles by the winter of 1961–62.

At latest count, the United States had an estimated 59 ready-to-shoot missiles, including 32 of the submarine-launched Polaris rockets.

Further, said the magazine, "there is some evidence that the U.S.S.R. is prepared to fire strategic missiles from mobile launchers mounted on rail cars."

The rail-mounted missile is believed to be a boost-glide weapon, known as the T-4A. This missile is boosted upward by a rocket engine, then glides to its target like an aircraft. It carries a 3,100-pound payload. The range is not known, but since it is regarded as a strategic weapon it presumably can travel 1,500 miles or more.

In spotting the launching pads, the magazine noted that all are located within the Soviet Union with the exception of one at Seroc, 20 miles north of Warsaw, Poland.

Most of the Russian launch pads appear to be located west of the Ural Mountains, though there is a launch site at Anadyr in Siberia across the Bering Sea from Alaska.

There is, additionally, a concentration on the Siberian mainland just to the northwest of Japan, and on the Sakhalin Islands, due north of Japan.

The sites near Japan are identified by the magazine as Komsomolsk and Nikolaev, in Siberia, and Okha, Terpeniye and Korsakov in the Sakhalins.

There is a heavy concentration of missile launch sites in northern Russia at Kuressaarem Sovetek, Luga, Minsk, Kalinin, Brobrulsk, Roslavl, Kiev, and Kola.

In general, however, the launch sites appear to be widely dispersed, including three intercontinental-range launch sites along the extreme southern borders—at Murghab, Alma-Ata and Irkutsk.

VIOLENCE IN ALABAMA

Mr. JAVITS. Mr. President, I think the whole country must be deeply shocked, appalled, and indeed ashamed by the evidence of violence which we see again with respect to the so-called freedom riders in the buses in the South.

Mr. President, it seems to me that, whatever one may think about the undertaking of the mission, these are American citizens, and we have a great tradition of law and order in our country. I know government can only do what it can do consistent with realities, but this principle does not extend to a failure to prosecute those who are guilty of crimes. I hope very much, even if the State of Alabama does not feel [illegible] can or should give police protection these people who are riding in buses accordance with the laws and the Constitution of the United States, who [illegible] entitled to every protection—if the State of Alabama feels the mob is overwhelming its authority and the State cannot exercise it—that the United States will enforce the laws of the United States. We have express criminal laws in this regard.

I think the Attorney General of the United States is showing a commendable initiative in stepping into the situation and I, for one, wish to express my support of him.

Mr. President, I have sent the following telegram to the Attorney General of the United States:

I am deeply shocked and concerned by reports of violence, injury to persons and destruction of property in Alabama involving burning of an interstate bus and attacks on persons in the Birmingham bus terminal. These reported actions constitute clear violation of the civil rights of American citizens and violation of Federal law, including 18 U.S.C. 33 dealing with destruction of interstate motor vehicles, and 18 U.S.C. [illegible] involving conspiracies against the rights of citizens. There may well be other applicable Federal statutes, as well as possible need for further legislation, involved in these situations. I trust no effort will be spared to bring to justice those who took part in these incidents. I would deeply appreciate your advising me as to the plans of the Department of Justice for taking action in these cases.

Mr. President, I hope very much that those who are guilty of violations of the law will be prosecuted. I hope very much the country will take note of what these struggles mean and how they are attended by violence, by personal injury and by disgrace to the good name of the United States throughout the world. I hope very much these ideas may also have their effect upon the decent citizens of the States in which these terrible acts are taking place.

STATE DEPARTMENT BLUNDERED IN CUBAN CRISIS

Mr. MORSE. Mr. President, there was published in the May 14, 1961, issue of the Herald Tribune an article written by a highly respected journalist, Rowland Evans, Jr., entitled, "State Department Blundered in Cuban Crisis."

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the article be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD as follows:

STATE DEPARTMENT BLUNDERED IN CUBAN CRISIS—FAILURE TO BRIEF CONGRESS CONTRIBUTE TO HAVE HAD SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES

(By Rowland Evans, Jr.)

WASHINGTON.—President Kennedy did a great part to consolidate the Nation, and a great deal more, in the gloomy aftermath of the Cuba fiasco. He consulted more high-level Republicans than you could shake a stick at, and he stamped out the wildfire of partisan attack before it could be started in earnest.

But the State Department was mesmerized or something close to it, and couldn't see

THE ALTERNATIVE TO COMMUNISM IS A LIBERAL AND PROGRESSIVE SOCIETY

Mr. HUMPHREY. Mr. President, I believe that one of the most penetrating and thought-provoking articles I have ever read was printed in the Washington Post on May 9, under the byline of Mr. Walter Lippmann. Mr. Lippmann is one of our great economists and a noted political scientist. The article is entitled "To Ourselves Be True."

I suggest that this is a credo for American diplomacy. What Mr. Lippmann tells us is that "we cannot compete with communism in Asia, Africa or Latin America if we go on doing what we have done so often and so widely—which is to place the weak countries in a dilemma where they must stand still with us and our client rulers, or start moving with the Communists. This dilemma cannot be dissolved unless it is our central and persistent and unswerving policy to offer these unhappy countries a third option, which is economic development and social improvement without the totalitarian discipline of communism. For the only real alternative to communism is a liberal and progressive society."

I believe what Mr. Lippmann is saying to us is that we all too often seem to be fighting the wrong war. We are fighting communism in areas where communism does not even exist, when, in fact, the real war of today is the war against poverty, illiteracy, and misery. It is that war which, if we put our minds to it, we can win and we ought to win.

I ask unanimous consent to have the article printed at this point in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

TO OURSELVES BE TRUE

(By Walter Lippmann)

We have been forced to ask ourselves recently how a free and open society can compete with a totalitarian state. This is a crucial question. Can our Western society survive and flourish if it remains true to its own faith and principles? Or must it abandon them in order to fight fire with fire?

There are those who believe that in Cuba the attempt to fight fire with fire would have succeeded if only the President had been more ruthless and had had no scruples about using American forces. I think they are wrong. I think that success for the Cuban adventure was impossible. In a free society like ours a policy is bound to fail which deliberately violates our pledges and our principles, our treaties and our laws. It is not possible for a free and open society to organize successfully a spectacular conspiracy.

The United States, like every other government, must employ secret agents. But the United States cannot successfully conduct large secret conspiracies. It is impossible to keep them secret. It is impossible for everybody concerned, beginning with the President himself, to be sufficiently ruthless and unscrupulous. The American conscience is a reality. It will make hesitant and ineffectual, even if it does not prevent, an un-American policy. The ultimate reason why the Cuban affair was incompetent is that it was out of character, like a cow that tried to fly or a fish that tried to walk.

It follows that, in the great struggle with communism, we must find our strength by developing and applying our own principles, not in abandoning them. Before anyone tells me that this is sissy, I should like to say why I believe it, especially after listening carefully and at some length to Mr. Krushchev. I am very certain that we shall have the answer to Mr. Khrushchev if, but only if, we stop being fascinated by the cloak and dagger business and, being true to ourselves, take our own principles seriously.

Mr. K. is a true believer that communism is destined to supplant capitalism as capitalism supplanted feudalism. For him this is an absolute dogma, and he will tell you that while he intends to do what he can to assist the inevitable, knowing that we will do what we can to oppose the inevitable, what he does and what we do will not be decisive. Destiny will be realized no matter what men do.

The dogma of inevitability not only gives him the self-assurance of a man who has no doubts but is a most powerful ingredient of the Communist propaganda. What do we say to him, we who believe in a certain freedom of the human will and in the capacity of men to affect the course of history by their discoveries, their wisdom, and their courage?

We can say that in Mr. K.'s dogma there is an unexamined premise. It is that the capitalist society is static, that it is and always will be what it was when Marx described it a hundred years ago that—to use Mr. K.'s own lingo—there is no difference between Governor Rockefeller and his grandfather because a capitalist society cannot change. In its dealings with the underdeveloped countries it can only dominate and exploit. It cannot emancipate and help. If it could emancipate and help, the inevitability of communism would evaporate.

I venture to argue from this analysis that the reason we are on the defensive in so many places is that for some 10 years we have been doing exactly what Mr. K. expects us to do. We have used money and arms in a long losing attempt to stabilize native governments which, in the name of anti-communism, are opposed to all important social change. This has been exactly what Mr. K.'s dogma calls for—that communism should be the only alternative to the status quo with its immemorial poverty and privilege.

We cannot compete with communism in Asia, Africa or Latin America if we go on doing what we have done so often and so widely—which is to place the weak countries in a dilemma where they must stand still with us and our client rulers, or start moving with the Communists. This dilemma cannot be dissolved unless it is our central and persistent and unswerving policy to offer these unhappy countries a third option, which is economic development and social improvement without the totalitarian discipline of communism.

For the only real alternative to communism is a liberal and progressive society.

PROFESSIONAL SPORTS BILL

Mr. HRUSKA. Mr. President, S. 1856, introduced May 11, 1961, is a forward step in preserving the competitive vigor of this country's professional sports. Some 37 bills relating to this subject have been proposed in the past 10 years, but this is the first bill that leaves intact the system of player selection, control, and team organization that has made professional baseball, football, basketball, and hockey the successes they are today.

S. 1856 recognizes that our antitrust laws apply to these professional sports but exempts from those laws the contracts and practices developed over the years best suited to them. The exemptions are:

First. The right of professional teams to operate within a specific geographical area.

Second. Agreements entered into between the teams providing for equalization of competitive playing strength.

Third. Rules adopted by the teams pertaining to the employment of players and the terms of their employment.

Fourth. Agreements entered into between the teams to assist in the preservation of public confidence in the honesty in sports contests.

In addition to the forestated exemptions the bill permits the clubs in such professional sports to enter into agreements relating to television rights to their contests but makes unlawful the telecasting of a contest within 75 miles of a home club of a different league when the home club is playing a regular scheduled home game unless consent in writing is given by such club.

The bill contains similar provision applicable to the telecasting of football games, requiring permission from a college team playing within a 75-mile radius of a professional contest. However this provision would be applicable only if such telecasting is injurious to or may tend to destroy the team or sport so said college.

Some bills previously introduced provided for a limitation on the number of players a major league baseball team could own and an unrestricted draft of all players a team owned in excess of a certain specified number. Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, testified at a hearing before the Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly Legislation that these provisions would so seriously cut down player personnel that only a fraction of the 22 minor leagues could be served with sufficient playing talent. With these severe restrictions they would not get the best talent because there would not be afforded an opportunity for many young men interested in this field of endeavor to develop their talent. Shortening the base paths or handing out baskets to outfielders is not desirable. America wants the best talent available and this bill would create the proper climate to insure that the very best is what we get.

S. 1856 keeps the Government out of sports. Some other proposals have advocated Washington regulation of the operating procedures employed by professional sports. It is conceivable this could lead to regulations in baseball such as allowing six strikes before an out for the team that is behind; time and a half for play over nine innings and doubletime on Sundays; or appeal of an umpire's decision to the Federal courts.

If S. 1856 is enacted, the status of professional sports will be stabilized. The traditional, well-seasoned methods of management and operation will be preserved in this important area. The we will be truly able to say: The future is bright for the Mudville nines of today and tomorrow—as well as the top nines of the majors whose recruits come from America's Mudvilles.

Mr. BUTLER. Mr. President, I noted with some dismay that I was not in the Chamber on Thursday when my colleague and good friend from Michigan introduced S. 1856, relating to professional team sports and the antitrust laws. If I had been, I would have promptly announced my desire to cosponsor the measure.

During the discussion about the bill, the Senator from Minnesota expressed the hope that, by joining the Senators from New York and Michigan in sponsoring it, the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees might lend some assistance in vaulting his State's newly acquired Minnesota Twins into the league leadership from its third-place spot. The Senator from New York advised that no such assistance would be forthcoming. The Senator from Michigan then pointed out that the fourth cosponsor of the bill, the distinguished minority leader, must have had other reasons for cosponsoring, since the two Chicago teams are limping along at the bottom of the pile.

In these discussions my colleagues neglected, to my regret, to take into consideration the part that my home team, the Baltimore Orioles, would play in any such realinement policy. As a matter of fact, the flock itself reacted to this ruffling of its feathers by knocking the Twins out of third place on Thursday afternoon shortly after the discussion on the Senate floor and claimed that perch for itself. Unfortunately, however, they experienced some misfortune Sunday and temporarily slipped off. But I want my colleagues from New York and Michigan and Minnesota and Illinois and elsewhere to know that the Birds will regain, and then never relinquish, that perch until they decide to fly to a plusher nesting place in a more rarefied atmosphere.

Mr. President, on behalf of the next American League champions, the Baltimore Orioles, I would like to have my name added as cosponsor of S. 1856.

OBSERVANCE OF NATIONAL RADIO MONTH

Mr. WILEY. Mr. President, across the Nation, May is observed as National Radio Month.

Over the years, radio has made its indelible mark on American progress and history.

By creative programing, these "voices of the airways" provide news, analysis of significant events, public service announcements, emergency messages, drama and other forms of enlightement and entertainment.

Today, there are more tha 4,300 radio stations serving the American people. Ninety-seven percent of the homes are radio equipped; and 40 million automobiles have radios installed. In addition, there are an estimated 8 million portables meeting the needs of the mobile people. Overall, there are 158 million radios in use in the United States.

In accomplishments in the past we salute the station managers, directors, editors, broadcasters, writers and others in radioland for a job well done.

For the future, however, the industry faces a more far reaching challenge.

Domestically this includes a responsibility for creating ever-better ways to serve the informational, intellectual, cultural and spiritual needs of the people.

As a voice of our foreign policy, also, radio will constitute one of our major weapons in the battle for men's minds against the global Communist propaganda machine. As will, it well serve importantly to tell the story of the United States, its ideas and ideals of freedom to the world.

This then is the challenge: First, to live up to the highest standards of programing of the past; and second, to create the new idea and techniques needed to meet the ever greater needs of the future.

TRIBUTE TO J. EDGAR HOOVER

Mr. BRIDGES. Mr. President, few, if any, Government officials in the history of our country have been able to match the outstanding public service record of the Chief of our Federal Bureau of Investigation, Mr. J. Edgar Hoover.

May 10 was the 37th anniversary of Mr. Hoover's appointment as head of our most respected law enforcement agency.

Mr. Hoover has now started on his 38th year in this position with the same vigor, industry, and enthusiasm that marked the first year of his administration.

The exploits and high standards of the FBI under Mr. Hoover's direction are legendary.

We all remember, I believe, the succession of top-name hoodlums—the Dillingers and the Machinegun Kellys—brought to account by the FBI in the twenties and the thirties.

Equally important, the FBI always has helped to alert us to the dangers of communism, while at the same time riding herd on subversive elements in the United States.

I could fill scores of pages of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD by inserting articles, news stories, and editorials lauding Mr. Hoover on his 37th anniversary as FBI director.

However, I believe it will suffice to cite just two of the most outstanding pieces—an editorial from the Washington Daily News, a Scripps-Howard paper, of May 10, and an article by syndicated columnist, Lyle C. Wilson, also from the Washington Daily News of May 10.

I ask unanimous consent, Mr. President, to insert these items in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD at this point.

There being no objection, the items were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE FBI'S 38TH YEAR

Two days after his election last November, President Kennedy announced his decision to keep J. Edgar Hoover as Director of the FBI.

This didn't surprise anybody, but it tells a good deal about the standing of the FBI under Mr. Hoover's management.

The beat G-man this week begins his 38th year on the job. The late Harlan F. Stone, who had just been appointed Attorney General, told Mr. Hoover on May 10, 1924, to take over the FBI and make something of it.

President Kennedy is the sixth President to retain Mr. Hoover. Mr. Kennedy's brother, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, is the 13th head of the Justice Department in the FBI Chief's career.

To all good effects, the anniversary of Mr. Hoover's original appointment is the anniversary of the FBI. When he took charge, the Bureau was in deserved disrepute—it was rife with politics and incompetence. Now it operates in such a manner that no incoming President or Attorney General, whatever his politics, has any doubt about what he is going to do about it—he's going to keep Mr. Hoover in charge.

This Bureau and its Chief has survived 37 years "in a city of politics where the casualty rate runs high among bureau heads," as Don Whitehead observed in his best-selling book, "The FBI Story." It has survived because it has been operated with the strictest discipline, a severe sense of impartiality and an absence of politics.

And it has survived because it has earned an exceptional degree of public confidence—a public confidence which keeps the FBI strong and discourages those who would meddle with it.

A TOAST TO J. EDGAR HOOVER

(By Lyle C. Wilson)

Now is the time for all good men to drink an anniversary toast in wine or water to J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI.

Today is the 37th anniversary of his appointment as FBI Director. That choice was made by the late Harlan Fiske Stone, Attorney General in the Coolidge Cabinet before he was boosted to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Justice Department and its investigative arm had been in ill repute before Justice Stone and Mr. Hoover began in 1924 to figure in the headlines.

William J. Burns was head G-man during the Harding administration and Harry M. Daugherty was Mr. Harding's Attorney General. Mr. Daugherty was head of the so-called Ohio gang, a principal figure in the scandals which degraded the Harding administration. President Coolidge forced Mr. Daugherty out of the Cabinet in 1924, named Justice Stone to succeed him.

One of Justice Stone's first acts was to name 29-year-old J. Edgar Hoover Director of the newly created FBI. Messrs. Stone and Hoover began accomplishing the almost impossible. Their task was to restore public confidence in the Department of Justice. Mr. Daugherty left the Department under charges of corruption growing out of an investigation which, according to the Encyclopedia of American History, "revealed that the Attorney General, acting in concert with members of the Ohio gang, had received payments from violators of the prohibition laws [and] also disclosed that Mr. Daugherty had failed to prosecute for graft in the Veterans Bureau." He was acquitted in 1927 on a conspiracy charge.

Mr. Hoover established high standards for the FBI. He compelled his men and his organization to conform precisely to those standards. Soon, Mr. Hoover became and has remained a legend in his own time. It became standard operating procedure for the Congress and Presidents of the United States to turn to Mr. Hoover and his men when the Nation was troubled with a law enforcement problem of great magnitude and the citizens were uneasy in their beds at night.

That is the way it was when Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnaped and murdered. Congress enacted the Lindbergh kidnap law and stipulated that Mr. Hoover and the to watch TV. Their father[illegible].ve been watching it harder than ever under the impact of new responsibilities.

The Minow-Collins statements also are the only truly logical followthrough on the TV scandals exposed by the Harris subcommittee of the House. On Mr. Minow for the Federal Government and Mr. Collins in his industry monitor job lie responsibility for a change for the better. If there is no Federal responsibility for insuring that, then its right to grant licenses and look into the programing is a sham.

Today the possibly dreamy idealists who really want the regulatory agencies to perform the functions assigned to them are toasting Chairman Minow and wondering what life would be like if his fellow-chairmen followed his example and reread the law creating them.

TV SEEKS OUT WRITERS TRUE TO MEDIOCRITY

(By Ward Cannel)

NEW YORK.—Quiet, everybody. It is that hushed, holy moment again when the TV networks reveal the shows we'll be allowed to see next season. It promises, as usual, to be pretty sad stuff.

But if you'll just follow the grim glass wall that shuts videoland away from living up to its promise and responsibility, you'll see at once how it all gets this way and why it is that it has to be this way.

According to a survey by this reporter of the TV terrain in both Hollywood and New York, the big, unsolved problem plaguing TV is the lack of creative writers—the talent wellspring of all entertainment.

The need is so desperate that the minimum fees of the Writers Guild of America surpass the pay for any other talent.

An hour-long, sponsored TV film script commands $2,200.

An actor with a speaking part, working 3 days, must be paid a minimum of only $225. The director of the show, working 12 days, must be paid a minimum of only $1,560. His first assistant only $410.

"But," says a Writers Guild representative, "a TV writer today can command usually 2 or 2½ times the minimum—upwards of $5,000 for that hour-long script."

Even with the high fees available, producers say, it's tough to find good creative writers. Cy Howard, executive producer of Desilu, says:

"I've got a couple of $2,000-a-week creative writer-producer jobs here that I haven't been able to fill for nearly a year."

Tom McDermott, chief of the "Four Star Playhouse"; says it took him nearly that long to locate a writing team he could use.

Leland Hayward, spectacular producer in both Broadway and Hollywood, wonders openly where all the writing talent is nowadays.

And so forth. And why? Well, it's like this:

There are only about 3,500 writers in the guild (membership is based on your ability to sell scripts to TV). But only about a dozen writers in the guild can command the really big money.

Non-guild writers obviously aren't worth considering or they would have sold enough scripts to become guild members.

Besides, no producer worth his salt in litigation will read a script unless it comes via a reputable agent. The penalty can be a lawsuit by the author charging plagiarism.

But reputable agents in the literary-marketplace of 1961 are mostly big agencies, representing as many big name writers, actors, directors, etc., as they can corner.

"They won't read a script by a new writer," says a nationally known TV critic, "unless they're pressured into it."

Adds one big Hollywood TV producer: "Used to be an agent would read and know what he was reading. Those days are gone. Today nobody wants to develop new writing talent."

The network programing offices tell you to see an agent or a producer if you're a writer.

And, with rising production costs at every turn, few producers will take a chance on a promising—but only promising—new writer.

What is the way out?

"If I were a new writer trying to get into TV today," says Leland Hayward, "I wouldn't know where to begin. Even if I knew what I know."

Spectacular-founder Max Liebman's advice isn't much more helpful:

"If I were a new writer, the first thing I'd do is write something. Something good. Too good to be produced on today's TV. But not good enough to be great.

"Just good enough to show them I could be mediocre."

ORDER FOR ADJOURNMENT TO 12 O'CLOCK NOON TOMORROW

Mr. SPARKMAN. Mr. President, I wish to ask about the time of meeting tomorrow. I hope it will not be earlier than 12 o'clock.

Mr. MANSFIELD. It will be 12 o'clock.

Mr. SPARKMAN. I understand that committees will not be permitted to meet in the afternoon, and we need the time each morning to consider important committee business.

Mr. MANSFIELD. The distinguished minority leader has stated—and I agree with him—that there will be no meetings of Senate committees during the session of the Senate beginning tomorrow.

I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate adjourns this afternoon it adjourn to meet at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

LT. COMDR. VICTOR A. PRATHER, MEDICAL CORPS, U.S. NAVY

Mr. SALTONSTALL. Mr. President, during the past few days we have all watched the splendid accomplishments of the young men who are spearheading the U.S. exploration and conquest of space. With boldness, courage and a sense of dedication that identifies them with the long line of extraordinary men who have led our Nation to greatness, they risk their lives to raise the celestial blinds and enrich mankind with knowledge of what is beyond. Mr. President, I would like to direct your attention to the accomplishments of one of these space pioneers, Lt. Comdr. Victor A. Prather, Medical Corps, U.S. Navy, who, on Friday, May 5, 1960, in company with Comdr. Malcolm D. Ross, U.S. Naval Reserve, set a new world's altitude record of 113,500 feet for manned balloon flight. After descending safely, Dr. Prather became the fatal victim of a tragic accident, falling from the cable of a rescue helicopter and drowning in his restrictive space suit.

Born in Detroit, Victor Prather spent most of his adult life in the service of his country. Entering the Navy as a young man 17 years of age, he served during World War II as an enlisted man. After the war he attended Tufts College and Tufts Medical School in Medford, Massachusetts. There he expressed an interest in space medicine while still an undergraduate. There he met his wife, Virginia Merritt, of Fall River, Mass., a student at Jackson, the girls' college associated with Tufts. In medical school he studied while Mrs. Prather worked as a medical technician at the nearby Massachusetts General Hospital. He then returned to naval service as a medical officer and soon became qualified as a flight surgeon.

Dr. Prather's fine record in Africa and analytical, probing mind caused his assignment to specialized work investigating human survival in the upper atmosphere and in space. Working in the area of physiological telemetery, Dr. Prather made valuable contributions in the development of miniaturized and subminiatured equipment used for gathering and radioing back physiological and psychological data from men and animals in the upper atmosphere and in space. He prepared a number of scientific papers on work accomplished in this area that contributed significantly to existing knowledge.

When the opportunity come for Victor Prather to add to man's knowledge of the effects of prolonged exposure in the upper atmosphere on the human body he eagerly sought it, without regard for the personal hazards involved. In the open gondola of a balloon, protected against the hazards of cosmis radiation and 79 degrees below zero temperature only by their space suits, Commander Ross and Dr. Prather spent nearly 1 hours far above the earth under conditions of continuous stress as they conducted experiments and operated the balloon. The data they gathered will materially add to our understanding of the problems incurred in man's invasion of the upper atmosphere.

Even by his tragic and untimely death Dr. Prather contributed to man's conquest of space. As a result of this unfortunate accident, new procedures are being instituted and equipment modified to insure against reoccurrence. Mr. President, I am confident that the Members of this Body join me in expressing our sympathy to the mother, widow and children of this patriotic young American who gave his life while striving to advance the scientific frontiers of our country and add to mankind's fund of knowledge.

CANCER OF CRIME

Mr. KEATING. Mr. President, the New York Mirror recently published a series of articles by Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan entitled the "Cancer of Crime." This series highlights in powerful way the techniques by which modern crime is outwitting obsolete law enforcement. It contains a strong plea for advancing the tools for fighting crime out of the horse and buggy age.

Too many of us are unaware of the menace of organized crime. We fail to recognize the full threat to our liberty and security posed by the baronies of the underworld. I believe that the continued growth and expansion of criminal activities is a danger to our Nation and our freedom just as is communist subversion.

We have followed for too long the counsel of extremists whose attitudes are shaped either by wishful thinking or an abysmal ignorance of the dangers confronting us. In no other field has the Federal Government been so reluctant to perform its proper role in assisting the states as in the field of law enforcement. I have never been able to understand how the same pressure groups that plead for Federal involvement in almost every local and individual problem can be so strongly opposed to the most modest efforts to mobilize a joint Federal-State counteroffensive against nationwide crime.

Mr. President, this outstanding series in the New York Mirror deserves the attention of everyone interested in the facts about crime, and I therefore ask unanimous consent that it be printed at this point in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the series of articles were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CANCER OF CRIME—MURDER MADE EASY

(EDITOR'S NOTE.—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said it: "Since 1950, crime has increased 69 percent—four times as fast as our expanding population. Today, we find ourselves confronted with the worst era of lawlessness in the Nation's history." In a series of articles beginning today, the New York Mirror explores the rampancy of gangsterism.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

A man can pick up a phone in New York, order a murder in California—and get away with it.

Police might be listening in on a tapped wire. They might hear the caller's identity, and where he'd be having a drink an hour later. They might even arrest him. But he could never be prosecuted.

That's because of conflict among State and national statutes on wire-tapping.

It's one of the ways of the law, which frequently makes it a friend of criminals who drain $22 billion a year from our pocketbooks—a sum equal to all the U.S. income and profits taxes of all the corporations in all the Nation in 1960—almost twice the money spent in all the country's department stores in 1959—$128 for every man, woman, and child.

Crime is a crippling cancer on the economy, the morality and the democracy of the United States. It is organized, it is regimented and it operates, in the opinion of many law enforcement officers, with more efficiency than government.

Greed is its motive; power is its goal, murder its ultimate weapon.

From coast to coast, judges, district attorneys, police officials and lawyers say something must be done. They say there must be a national clearinghouse of criminal information. They say there must be an ever-present spotlight of publicity on master criminals. They say crime must be exterminated lest America be forced to go on bended knee to organized crime and beg for constitutional rights and privileges.

Only the bold say these things out loud. Most say them in private, and add, "Don't quote me."

Few publicly advocate disturbing the status quo, which is the system of agency jealousy and perennial budget battles. It is much like the long rivalry among Army, Navy, and Air Force for who gets the credit.

Crime is a cancer, and few crime doctors are willing to pool their knowledge, their information, their skills, and their money to prevent its spread.

We found one man willing to say for publication what hundreds say anonymously. At New Orleans, U.S. Attorney M. Hepburn Many said:

"We are helpless. Unless there is a spiritual rejuvenation of the people, we are lost."

We found one man who put it in writing—Gerald L. Goettel, former deputy chief of the U.S. Attorney General's special group on organized crime (1958–59). He wrote:

"Something must be done on the national level, for the States will never be able to contain syndicated crime. The solution lies within the U.S. Government.

"Surely we must not permit the road from Apalachin (the New York gathering of gangsters in 1957) to lead to still greater power for the 'invisible government,' which, day by day, is eroding our national wealth, politics, and character."

In the highest places, men change their minds on public policy.

Last year, after serving as chief counsel for the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field, Robert F. Kennedy said:

"• • • our first and most urgent need is for a national crime commission. This commission would serve as a central intelligence agency, a clearinghouse to which each of the 70-odd Federal agencies and the more than 10,000 local law enforcement agencies throughout the country would constantly feed information on the leading gangsters."

Last week, as U.S. Attorney General, Kennedy said:

"I think we are now able to accomplish within the Department of Justice a good number of those things that I thought should be done through a national crime commission."

There are 15 crime commissions in metropolitan areas scattered across the country. They cannot subpena, they cannot prosecute. They can only spotlight.

In Los Angeles, weary of waiting for national action, police have established liaison with 56 departments in 15 States to, as they say, "in a small way promote a better exchange of information" on criminals.

And crime marches on.

Statistics are mountainous. The import of them is that tribute to crime is paid, directly or indirectly—

On every container of milk lifted from a grocer's showcase.

On every loaf of bread.

On every brassiere or blouse or man's suit or child's jumper.

On every package of cigarets or chocolate bar from a coin machine.

On everything, the U.S. Senate Select Committee found last year, that moves to consumers on wheels.

That's the cancer of crime in labor racketeering alone.

Crime has many cancers, multiplying—like the disease itself—on the sinews, the very vitals of the Nation.

Gangsters soared to the rents of the mighty on the millions—and the machine-gun murders—of prohibition. Many of them didn't live beyond 32, which was a ripe old age for a boodlum in those days. But those who survived—and there were some—invested their fortunes after repeal to make more fortunes in—

Illegal gambling—the greatest underworld revenue in the land today, reaping profits calculated by Milton R. Wessel, former special assistant to the U.S. Attorney General, at $9,175 million through play with racetrack bookmakers, policy banks, baseball, football and basketball pools, and slot and pinball machines. Dice game profits are in addition.

Narcotics, a worldwide alliance with sources on both sides of the Mediterranean, in Red China, in Mexico.

Prostitution—less organized than gambling or narcotics or labor racketeering, but so operated that a girl in Dallas in March might be in Kansas City in May.

Bootlegging (who wants 1 million pounds of sugar that disappear annually from New York docks except outlaws who operate illicit stills?)

Money-lending—an unconscionable collection of usurers who lend $5 a week for $6, and number 150,000 in New York City alone.

Who's to blame?

Ten years ago, Sen. ESTES KEFAUVER (Democrat of Tennessee) said:

"We produced this society. It is up to us to trace back the ills within that have culminated in this cancerous growth of crime."

We haven't.

[From the New York Mirror, Mar. 27, 1961]

CANCER OF CRIME—HOW LAWS AID THE LAWLESS

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

The district attorney's investigator warned: "You can't do that," meaning roam in the jungle of gangsterism looking for the cancer of crime on the body of the Nation.

"You can get hurt," he said. "You can get killed. Take a town like Calumet City outside of Chicago. You won't last a half hour on the street."

Crime is so brazen that Walter Buchbinder, chief investigator for the District Attorney's Rackets Bureau in Brooklyn, felt constrained to urge caution.

Today's gansters are ruthless. But they are also cautious. They are cautious because they shun bad publicity. They don't want it any more than a Hollywood star.

Top criminals—known in underworld and overworld alike as the wise guys—learned the hard way the perils; financial perils, that is, of spotlights of their evils.

The U.S. Senate Crime Committee, headed by Senator ESTES KEFAUVER, Democrat, of Tennessee, made them squirm more than 10 years ago at televised hearings in Washington. Other witnesses fidgeted and sweated under prodding by the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor and Management Field, chairmaned by Senator JOHN L. MCCLELLAN, Democrat, of Arkansas.

And the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics—with relentless publicity, with grueling undercover work, with generous rewards for information—is making dope less and less lucrative for organized crime.

Many law enforcement officers believe crime—big crime—can be smothered by publicity. But powerful forces oppose it. Organized law is against publicity without prosecution leading to conviction. Only this month the New York State court of appeals outlawed grand jury presentments—a traditional weapon against crime.

That action favored the criminals, and they encourage it, and more and more seek the cloak of respectability—and secrecy.

In the upper echelons of crime, the machinegun—popular in Chicago, New York and elsewhere during the prohibition heyday of Al Capone and his kind—is today considered a crude instrument of murder, when murder is necessary.

"The killing of any big name has to be approved by a syndicate," Buchbinder said.

But it's done with a .38 or a .45 behind the ear—swift and sure—and, in today's underworld, the concrete overcoat is again in favor for disposal of a body. There are few deep-sea divers among detectives.

Gangsters, like other men, have discovered many ways to cover their tracks.

International cables hummed.

Montreal detectives flew to Geneva. U.S. narcotics agents visited apartment 3F at 118-09 83d Avenue, Kew Gardens.

Mrs. Rebecca Spolan, the landlady, remembered Graziani as an occupant from mid-1957 to early 1958 with his wife and small daughter. Graziani had installed a cedar closet, saying the others were to damp for his clothes.

Back in Geneva, Graziani was released for lack of evidence linking him to the theft of the bonds. He returned to France, where he would be safe from extradition on narcotics charges because of French law.

In Kew Gardens, US. narcotic agents were suspicious but could not come up with anything tangible.

They searched the closet, found nothing.

Then a new personality entered the case—Antranik Paroutian, 35, a Frenchman with a record as a bordello operator in Toulon. He occupied the apartment with the Grazianis and after they left, moving in with Yolande Ecabert, a Swiss citizen introduced to him in New York. They skied together and night-clubbed together and made trips to Canada.

Paroutian and his mistress left but had not been long gone—this was shortly before the first search by narcotics agents—when Mrs. Spolan saw two men place a ladder against the Paroutian window.

"What are you doing?" she called.

"Installing an air conditioner," she was told.

"You are not," she exclaimed. She screamed so loudly the men ran, leaving the ladder behind.

Police came. Narcotics agents returned. They searched the place again. Nothing.

On June 8, 1958, George H. Gaffney, district director of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics, received a tip. (Tips are heavily relied on to arrest the spread of the dope cancer).

A third search of the cedar closet uncovered a concealed door leading to a compartment capable of holding 100 pounds of heroin. There was heroin there, but only 24 grains of it.

It eventually proved enough.

Gaffney's men learned that Graziani had opened a Swiss bank account in 1956, giving Paroutian power of attorney, and that subsequently it was changed to three code accounts known only by numbers: T.W. 1130, 570, 970 D.S., and 67,252 N.T.

In less than a year, $517,900 was deposited in the accounts from New York.

Manhattan Federal authorities acted. An indictment was handed up charging conspiracy between Graziani and Paroutian. But it alleged only conspiracy to transfer money.

In April 1960, Paroutinn was arrested in Beirut, Lebanon, for trying to buy $10,000 worth of morphine. President Eisenhower signed a warrant, and Paroutian was brought to New York.

The legal wheels turned fast. In Brooklyn, Assistant U.S. Attorney Robert S. Kreindler obtained an indictment on the basis of the 24 grains of heroin.

Then the big break came.

Louis de Almeida, a Brazilian lawyer, was arrested here on a charge of trying to sell half a kilogram of cocaine to an undercover agent. He was jailed in the same cell with Paroutian in the Federal House of Detention.

De Almeida, speaking French as well as Portuguese, confided his distress to Paroutian. Paroutian, sensing sympathy, blurted out his story, wanted to know where he might buy cocaine, suggested he soon would be free.

Luck played on the side of the law. De Almeida, questioned later about his own predicament, revealed what Paroutian told him:

That he bought morphine in Lebanon and Turkey for $400 a kilo, smuggled it to [illegible], converted it to heroin in a hide-away laboratory, packed it in 27-kilo lots in secret parts of French cars destined for shipment to the United States, Canada, or Mexico, and sold it for $4,000 a kilo.

The net tightened. Through intervention of the State Department, Swiss bankers were persuaded—for the first and only time—to open a coded record. The Manhattan and Brooklyn indictments were combined.

Paroutian was positive he would beat the case. He had even arranged to post bail of $50,000 and flee New York on a French ship. He reconsidered because he was certain he would be freed.

In Brooklyn Federal Court, de Almeida told his story, the Swiss bank accounts were divulged, and last November 4 Paroutian was fined $20,000 and sentenced to 20 years for conspiracy, a 5-year sentence for possession to run concurrently.

"A disaster has occurred," he wrote his brother in France.

CANCER OF CRIME—HEART OF THE RACKETS: GAMBLING

(Maybe you don't gamble. But you pay the bill—in wages taken out of circulation by the gambler; in food, clothes and cars not bought by the losers; in dividends not earned because an insurance company paid a bond for a bank teller who stole and gambled. The cancer of gambling is discussed in this fifth of a series of articles on organized crime.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

Everybody who makes a $2 bet with a bookie or slips 50 cents to a policy runner feeds the gambling cancer of crime.

The money bet illegally every year is reckoned at a staggering $46.5 billion—more than all expenditures for the national defense in fiscal 1960.

Gambling supports 50,000 master bookies and 400,000 little fellows—and ruins families, like the $7,000 wage earner in Syracuse, N.Y., who couldn't buy enough food for his wife and children—and builds hotels, like the fabulous Flamingo in Las Vegas.

Gambling finances every conceivable kind of racket. A Brooklyn grand jury in 1958 summed up its pollution this way:

"Gambling is the very heartbeat of organized crime both on a local and national scale.

"The public may think of the bookmaker in the corner candy store as an innocent betting commissioner operating a legitimate business. We know otherwise.

"Actually, if you scratch the professional operator of gambling ventures, you find the narcotics peddler, the loan shark, the dice-game operator, the white slaver, the murderer."

Nothing has changed—except more of it.

Milton R. Wessel, who in 1958-59 headed the U.S. Attorney General's Special Group on Organized Crime (until it died of financial starvation imposed by Congress) last week estimated the money churned annually in illegal gambling vats as follows:

Baseball: $13.5 billion.
Football: $12 billion.
Racing: $9 billion.
Basketball: $7 billion.
Policy: $4 billion.
Fights and hockey: $1 billion.

The gross profit is calculated at more than $9 billion. That makes illegal gambling one of the Nation's great industries—for in an average year the entire automobile output of all Detroit's factories has a wholesale value of no more; in 1959, the entire retail sales of furniture and furnishings in the United States were less than $7 billion.

Investigators believe half the $9 billion gross profit is invested by gangsters in bribery for protection, in the purchase of political influence and in making clean sports crooked.

That [illegible] $4.5 billion for crime syndicates to spread in other fields—loan-sharking buying into legitimate enterprise, labor racketeering, prostitution and bootlegging.

Gambling isn't a cancer only on the big cities. It also effects the small, such as Falconer, N.Y., a community of less than 5,000 on the fringe of Buffalo, near the Pennsylvania border.

The New York State Commission of Investigation discovered Falconer supported a bookmaking operation with links to Minneapolis, Detroit, Washington and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Investigations come and investigations go—and gambling continues at the same old stand.

In Syracuse, where the $7,000 wage earner lost $8,000 in 18 months, the boss gambler had been in the same spot for 25 years. In Massachusettas, the State Crime Commission found some gambling establishments hadn't changed addresses for 30 years.

On that phase, the Massachusetts commission said bluntly as long ago as 1957:

"It seems to have been a universal finding by crime survey commissions that organized illegal gambling could not exist within a community without the knowledge and protection of the local police.

"The place to which customers come, such as a horse room, the location of a card or dice game or of pinball machines, is more than apparent; it is obvious.

"The idea that games float to hide from police is more fiction than fact. Gaming operators have told the commission that they move to avoid complaint, not arrest."

The lifeline of organized gambling is quick communication. That means telephone or telegraph.

It is vital in horseracing, and in baseball, football and basketball play.

A bookmaker must learn results fast in racing—for the $2 bettor wants to know whether he won or lost before playing the next race.

There's a nationwide agency that provides the information—the Delaware Sports Service in Wilmington. Through code names it supplies 4,000 to 8,000 clients all over the United States, and some in Canada and Europe. It's all perfectly legal.

Just as important to the baseball, football and basketball bookie is the need to know "the line"—that is, the point spread, for example, betwen Harvard and Yale—and, to all bookies, where to "layoff" heavy bets.

Athletic Publications, Inc., in Minneapolis, supplies "the line" to 8,000 to 10,000 customers a week during peak periods. Lists are mailed out Monday, latest odds are given by phone—again to clients identified by code.

The "layoff" is simple insurance. It starts with the $2 wager. If there are too many on one selection for the little fellow, he goes to a bigger fellow—and so on until a top gambler does business with a national clearinghouse—one at Biloxi, Miss., another near Covington, Ky.

That's the way organized gambling operates—and there's no Federal weapon against it, except a law requiring revenue stamps on gambling devices, and a law taxing gross receipts 10 percent.

Not long ago, U.S. agents raided a "layoff" headquarters in Terre Haute, Ind., where in 3 months $3,363,152 had been bet. Eight men were indicted and convicted—two from Chicago, one from Detroit, two from Las Vegas and three from Indiana.

But there are 50,000 top bookies in the Nation. And one man can carry $400,000 in cash, as Buggsy Siegel did before he was shot to death in 1947 in his Beverly Hills, Calif., love nest—or $200,000 in cash, as Jake Lansky did from Havana's casinos in 1958.

There's more where that came from—more than all the millions prohibition made for mobsters. Some of it today is pressuring to legalize parimutuel betting in the Nation's Item: the phone.

Lines of communication are the most important avenues of criminal operation. But criminals, because of wire-tapping statutes, can use the phone under protection of law. A man in New York who orders a murder in California can't be prosecuted because of Federal law that prohibits listening in, and if somebody should listen in, the evidence would be barred in court. Moreover, the eavesdropper might face trial as a law violator.

Item: meeting places.

The Wise Guys don't have to bother with rooms wired with recording devices by law enforcement agents, thus risking prosecution under State laws. They can—and do—buy a motel and talk without fear.

Item: Hideaway for money.

Swiss banks are an absolute haven. Swiss banks are like other banks—except in one important respect: They conduct their business in secrecy. Transactions are done in code—such as T. W. 1130, with deposits of $200,000, and 470,970 D.S. and 57,252 N.T., totaling $500,000 (of which more later).

Secrecy is one of the weapons of crime that frustrates the crime doctors.

George H. Gaffney, district supervisor of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics in New York City, said it this way:

"We are using horse and buggy methods against jet age criminals. They've got guns and we are fighting with bows and arrows."

Many authorities have said, in these words or others, that organized crime knows where it is going—and organized law doesn't.

Leroy Wike, executive secretary of the International Association of Chiefs of Police in Washington, used strong language:

"Our judicial system is on the side of the criminal. There is little consideration given to the victims of crime. With every court decision, there is an ever-narrowing field in which the police can work."

But there is an ever-widening field in which criminals can work. Many investigators believe that one of the reasons is the lack of coordination of information on the lawless.

A striking example is Meyer Lansky, notorious gambler, who suns in Florida while bus drivers and clerks and stenographers and carpenters battle snow and sleet in New York.

Lansky applied in 1950 to the U.S Department of the Interior for permission to obtain oil and gas leases. In the application he said he was native-born. He isn't, and at that time the Immigration and Naturalization Service was pressing denaturalization and deportation proceedings against him.

The record shows Lansky might have been deported—or at least jailed—if one agency had known what another agency knew at the same time. The statute of limitations expired and Lansky enjoys the full protection of the law.

Most law-enforcement people cry: Give us a clearing house of information.

But other law-enforcement people say many criminal files contain only rumor and hearsay—that such information can't be made available willy-nilly to other law-enforcement people.

"We can't turn over our raw files," said Robert Wick, deputy director of the FBI.

[From the New York Mirror, Mar. 28, 1961]

CANCER OF CRIME—WHY A KILLER CAN ROAM SCOT FREE

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

A raw file is a jigsaw puzzle of crime. It is a collection of scraps of paper with scribbled notes, of rumors, hearsay, of photographs, of facts.

"Sonny" is a raw file in the FBI record room, in the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics, in the Secret Service's dossiers, in the Treasury's Alcohol Tax Unit, in the Rackets Bureaus of the District Attorneys of New York, Brooklyn, and in nobody knows how many local police headquarters.

Put them all together—all the information gathered by all these agencies—and enough evidence would emerge, in the belief of many law-enforcement officers to put Sonny in prison:

For dope peddling.
Or counterfeiting.
Or hijacking.
Or receiving stolen goods.
Or police payoffs.
Or murder.

The data is not put together. Sonny has all the rights and privileges of a law-abiding citizen. He goes every day to his legitimate business front—a long-haul trucking operation.

On this subject, William Hundley, special assistant to the U.S. Attorney General, said:

"Too long have investigative agencies decided what they will turn over to other law enforcers. When they get anything good they first look to see if there is a possibility of a violation within their jurisdiction.

"It takes time, effort, and money to get the big shots, and then the statistics of your accomplishments drop."

In a year's report on crime, Sonny is an infinitesimal percentage. At least one raw file indicates—but can't say with enough conviction—that he

On July 18, 1958, ordered or executed the assassination of his partner in a $50 million nationwide dope ring. The victim was standing on a street corner in Brooklyn. The killer shot him in the head as he talked with his brother-in-law, then creased a bullet across the brother-in-law's mouth to button his lips. The brother-in-law got the message, and hasn't talked since.

On August 27, 1958, ordered or executed the assassination of a Brooklyn bar owner as he was about to step into the lobby of his apartment building. Eleven bullets were pumped into the man's head.

On September 7, 1958, ordered or executed the assassination of a man with a front as a mortician who was trying to spread his underworld wings in Greenwich Village narcotics distribution.

That's what a raw file on Sonny shows.

A raw file is put together by investigators talking to people—talking with money. An investigator takes all the stories he hears—and pays for them, not even knowing if they are true.

A raw file is put together by soliciting the confidence of B-girls, prostitutes, women of lazy morals but sharp memories. Investigators know them as one of the most valuable sources of criminal information.

A raw file is put together by tips from anonymous informers—just plain good citizens (or maybe some of them have a grudge). Some lawmen say they have had more information from Mr. Anonymous than anywhere else.

Sum it up: You take a guy and put him to bed (figuratively) and you wake up with him in the morning; you know every move he makes, and if you have patience, you've got him sooner or later.

This, then, is a raw file (some specifics omitted while, perhaps, the U.S. Department of Justice makes an effort to correlate information against one man)—

Sonny is 42, white, weighs 175 pounds, has black wavy hair and brown eyes. He lives with his wife and three children, two daughters and a son, in Brooklyn. His girl friend, Tina, an office worker, is pregnant.

His hangouts include nightclubs in the Brooklyn-Queens area, many of which he is rumored to have a piece of in secret—also certain union headquarters under investigation as paper locals. He has been questioned in labor extortions.

By trade, Sonny is a baker. He owns his own house in Brooklyn, and other properties jointly with his brother.

He has been questioned in gang killings—two in 1954, one in 1956, and three in 1958.

Brooklyn detectives have been questioning a Garfield, N.J., man whose phone records show calls back and forth between him and Sonny—and also to clubs in which Sonny has an interest.

Sonny and one other were arrested in Providence, R.I., on suspicion of concealing John (Chappie) Mazziotta, prime suspect in the 1952 Arnold Schuster murder.

In regard to the murder at Albert Anastasia in New York's Park Sheraton hotel on October 25, 1957, it is indicated he was concerned in supplying the killers from Providence, R.I.

His name crops up repeatedly in all references to organized crime—from Brooklyn across the country.

Information is that he is a contact man for the mob in relation to numbers rackets, policy and bookmaking, loan sharking, and that he is also the enforcer or strong-arm threat behind the jukebox industry.

His initial earnings are in gambling, and with the proceeds he has been able to widen his sphere of influence.

He owns a piece of a decorating business, a general contracting business, a stevedoring business, a bar and grill.

He was arrested at 18 for stabbing a man. The man refused to sign a complaint. At 21 he was arrested for cutting himself in at 25 cents a pass at a dice game.

And that's the way it goes—for what with full details, would be a page in a newspaper.

In perhaps a dozen places, there is information on Sonny of incriminating character. All together, it might put him behind bars. It hasn't been put together.

CANCER OF CRIME—SMASHING A GLOBAL DOPE RING

(A U.S. Senate Committee on the Judiciary said it: "Heroin smugglers and peddlers are selling murder, robbery, and rape. The real offense is human destruction. In truth and in fact, it is murder on the installment plan." In this fourth of a series on organized crime, the New York Mirror tells how a notorious big timer was trapped.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

A janitor cleaning out a basement locker in a Montreal apartment building discovered $75,000 in stolen bonds, three revolvers, two kilograms of heroin—and a slip of paper bearing a phone number in Kew Gardens, Queens.

That was 3 years ago and 3,000 headaches ago.

The threads of organized crime are as multitudinous as a Persian rug, and they take as long to weave into a pattern for the forces of justice. But the discovery in Montreal ultimately led to the end of the trail for one of the biggest narcotics smugglers ever convicted in New York.

The ingredients were international intrigue.

Diplomatic pressures from Washington borne that pried the lid of secrecy off Swiss bank accounts.

Jail confidences between cellmates.

A Kew Garden landlady's scaring away two wanted carpenters.

Twenty-four grains of heroin (scarcely enough to hold between thumb and forefinger, but 300 to 400 "fixes" by the time sale to addicts).

This cancerous house of crime began tumbling after the theft of $2 million in negotiable bonds from a Montreal bank on January 25, 1958.

On April 3, 1958, Swiss police arrested Gabriel Lucien Graziani, 36, a French Corsican, for trying to sell some of the bonds in Geneva. Five days later, the janitor in Montreal made his find.

terstate commerce. They set up a [illegible]portation system to operate with other groups throughout the country, obtaining sugar and other ingredients.

"The second thing, they obtained a great deal of money during and immediately after the war. They have a great deal of cash available, so when they move into an area, the legitimate businessman can't compete.

"They can pay a greater bonus for placing their jukebox, or their pinball machine, for instance, than the ordinary businessman."

Prohibition was still in its heyday when Al Capone, with prohibition millions, moved into the labor scene in Chicago. That was nearly 40 years ago, long before Capone, who had wriggled out of arrests for everything from misdemeanor to murder, was jailed at Alcatraz, in San Francisco Bay, for income tax fraud.

Virgil W. Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission since 1942, recently told how mobsters gained control of unions in the building trades and threatened contractors with ruin unless big money was paid.

"Sluggings and bombings were commonplace," he said. "During 1922 alone there were at least 14 buildings bombed and 2 policemen killed."

In the 1930's, gangsters put 125,000 members of the International Alliance of Theatrical State Employees in thrall to the underworld by electing a hoodlum as president. Millions of dollars were extorted out of the movie industry from Hollywood to New York.

The cancer infected bartenders' unions and spread to restaurants. A lawyer told the McClellan committee he couldn't hold his job as counsel to the Chicago Restaurant Association because he didn't know any gangsters. The proprietor of one of the city's finest dining rooms testified that every restaurant owner in Chicago lives in fear of underworld terror—such as the gasoline spraying and igniting of one place, with $1,400,000 damage.

Nothing has stopped the poison. The McClellan committee found it among unions of teamsters, bakers, textile workers, butchers—and in garbage collection.

The committee put a searchlight on carting evils in Los Angeles. On the other side of the country, it found:

"The New York garbage collecting industry has been infiltrated and dominated by the basest criminal elements in the country, men whose other profitable enterprises include the docks and numbers rackets and worldwide traffic in dope, and whose copious criminal records include arrests for everything from murder to mayhem, interspersed with felonious assault, extortion, coercion, grand larceny, burglary, and vagrancy."

The Teamsters Union, headed by James R. Hoffa, whose word could stop every truck in the Nation, was a particular target:

"Well-nigh incalculable power over our economy is wielded by this union. The Teamsters assert jurisdiction over every product and commodity in this country which moves on wheels, including milk and other foods, clothing, furniture, appliances, coal, oil, automobiles, steel, lumber, construction materials, and daily newspapers. The Teamsters can, in short, stop the Nation's economic pulse.

"If Hoffa is successful in combating the combined weight of the U.S. Government and public opinion, the cause of decent unionism is lost, and labor-management relations will return to the jungle era."

Gangsters want out of the jungle. The gathering of 58 hoodlums from all over the country at Apalachin, N.Y., on November 14, 1957, demonstrated how.

Of the lot, 16 were engaged in garment manufacturing or trucking, 10 owned grocery stores, 17 operated taverns or restaurants, 9 were in the construction business. Others were interested in coal companies, auto agencies, laundries, and race horses. Some were involved in funeral homes. One was the leader of a band.

All legitimate.

CANCER OF CRIME—WITHOUT WIRETAPPING—WHAT?

(Wiretapping has been called dirty business. But the question has been raised whether narcotics traffic, labor racketeering, extortion and murder aren't dirtier business. In this eighth of a series of articles on organized crime, the New York Mirror explores wiretapping as a weapon against gangsterism.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

The judicial wraps put on wiretapping inspired Brooklyn District Attorney Edward S. Silver to compose an imaginary phone conversation to demonstrate how criminals can thumb their noses at police and prosecutors.

It goes like this:

Peanuts: "Lo, Boss, thisez Peanuts."

The Boss: "Yeah, hello, did the shipment come in OK?"

Peanuts: "Sure thing. Boss, 50 horse."

The Boss: "What do you mean—50 horse? I was expecting 50 kilos of heroin. Give it to me straight."

Peanuts: "Gee, Boss, dats no way to talk on the phone. You warned me y'self. I————."

The Boss: "Listen, dope, that's old stuff. My mouthpiece told me the bulls aren't allowed to stick their snoots in our private business. It's against the law, y'hear? It's dirty business to do such a thing."

Peanuts: "You all right, Boss? You ain't cockeyed or something? Are you hittin' the stuff y'self?"

The Boss: "Look, dope. I'm tellin' ya. Let 'em listen. The Lip tells me and he gets paid to know. The more they listen the better. It's better'n you think. There's some stuff known like the fruit of the poisoned bush, or something. If they grab the stuff after listen'n it's out. They ain't allowed to do such naughty things no more."

Peanuts: "Look. Boss, should I come over? I think you need me."

The Boss: "Forget it, Peanuts.

"I'm fine, great—the boys is all with me—forget it—and say, you get another grand for the job you did yesterday. The D.A. will know his canaries can't eat lead—it's bad for their diet. That's pretty good, what?"

Peanuts: "OK, if ya say so—ya had me worried there for a bit."

The phrase "dirty business" in connection with wiretapping was born in a historic dissent by four justices of the U.S. Supreme Court to a majority decision in 1928 upholding conviction of a bootlegger. The man was found guilty in Federal Court on the basis of eavesdropped evidence obtained in violation of the laws of the State of Washington.

In subsequent rulings the Supreme Court prohibited use of wiretapped evidence in any Federal Court, including when it led to a third person, branding such evidence as "the fruit of the poisoned tree."

New York—and other States—permit wiretapping when law enforcement officers obtain an order from a State Supreme Court justice after swearing to certain suspicions of crime.

But the U.S. Supreme Court in 1957 hobbled the New York law by holding that Congress, in putting radio, telegraph, and telephone under the Federal Communications Commission in 1934, "did not mean to allow State legislation" to say otherwise.

Time has only confused the situation—with the criminal the beneficiary. In 1960 the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York, refusing to bar introduction of wiretap evidence in [illegible] courts, ruled that Federal law makes it a criminal offense to present it.

Senator KENNETH B. KEATING, Republican, of New York, was appalled.

"This decision," he said, "emphasizes the incredible legal situation which now prevails. New York has the most well-balanced carefully safeguarded, up-to-date laws on the subject of wiretapping and other forms of eavesdropping of any State in the Nation.

"Nevertheless, a New York district attorney who acts in full compliance with the requirements of the New York law now must face the risk of Federal prosecution. I cannot conceive of anything more illogical and indefensible."

District Attorney Silver was flabbergasted. He said:

"Unless a legislative change is made, certainly in New York State, and I think it will be true all over the country, we will be witnessing the greatest legal jailbreak that has ever happened.

"I know in my county there are at least 200 defendants that will have to be dismissed in various cases if some change isn't made."

Manhattan District Attorney Frank S. Hogan assessed the decision as a blow.

"Our files are full of cases," he said, "where, but for wiretaps, some of the worst racketeering offenders might well have gone unpunished."

A report last month by the New York State Commission of Investigation summed up testimony by police, prosecutors, and lawyers:

"Law enforcement officials must have the right to intercept telephone messages, with proper restraints * * * to safeguard personal liberties, if they are to cope with dangerous criminal conditions" because "protection of our citizens is being irreparably curtailed."

Time and again law-enforcement people say that communication is the core of the cancer of crime.

George H. Gaffney, district supervisor of the U.S. Bureau of Narcotics in New York, put it this way:

"You must destroy their lines of communications. Either the criminal is going to be denied the use of the phone, or the Government is going to be given use of wiretapping to fight him with his own weapon."

What wiretapping can do was told to the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights by Harold Lipset, an investigator in San Francisco:

Case No. 4023: Parents of a teenage boy found evidence which led them to believe their son was using narcotics. Monitoring and recording phone conversations at this home produced evidence that the parents' fears were justified. The police department was notified. Investigation led to arrest of a narcotics ring.

Case No. 3349: Wiretapping led to exposure of a high school prostitution racket.

The arrest of notorious gambler Harry Gross in Brooklyn in 1950 followed conversation heard on tapped wires, disclosing a bookmaking ring with payoffs topping $20 million a year.

Ten years ago, the late Robert P. Patterson former Federal judge and former Secretary of War, said:

"The underworld of today would rate Jesse James as a small-fry amateur. Crime has become big business. Law-enforcement systems operating along lines good enough for 1851 or 1901 are too slow for the swifter pace of the times we are living in. * * *

"If we are in dead earnest in insisting that organized crime be defeated, we should lose no time in putting this powerful weapon—that is, wiretapping, into the hands of the officers we depend on to do the necessary work."

That was 10 years ago.

CANCER OF CRIME—NEW ORLEANS: WIDE OPEN TOWN

(The definition is that of Aaron M. Kohn, managing director of the Metropolitan Crime Commission of New Orleans: "Protected, unpunished crime, otherwise known as organized crime, has been permitted in our Nation to become the greatest single dollar business, exerting destructive influence on every aspect of our way of life." This is the sixth of a series of articles on that influence.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

"There's no organized crime in New Orleans," the man said.

The man was Alfred A. Theriot, deputy chief of the New Orleans Police Department.

We talked about gambling and New York's notorious Frank Costello, whose skull was creased by a bullet in 1957 to serve notice he was getting too ambitious in his old age, and "Dandy Phil" Kastel, long-time kingpin in Louisiana crime.

We talked about slot machines, which were spotlighted out of underworld popularity by Senator KEFAUVER's Senate Crime Committee in 1951, and pinball machines, which are everywhere in New Orleans and neighboring parishes. We talked about vice.

"No; there's no organized crime here," Theriot said. "Do you want some girls?"

U.S. Attorney M. Hepburn Many, whose jurisdiction embraces New Orleans, observed with weary cynicism:

"The businessman does business with the racketeer, and the racketeer with the businessman, and both are interwoven, and can't be pried apart."

Aaron M. Kohn, who for 10 years has been a voice crying in the wilderness of crime as managing director of the Metropolitan Crime Commission of New Orleans, specified:

"We have the handbook, the lottery, the pinballs, and the slot machines—what's left of them. And we have cops whose entire conversation is about graft and women."

Periodically Kohn transmits to law-enforcement officers information gathered by his investigators on all types of crime—bookmaking, pinball machines, roulette, dice games, prostitution, B-girls.

Last August he reported 109 offenses in 72 places, naming each, to Sheriff John G. Fitzgerald of Jefferson Parish, where the Kefauver committee found widespread crime 10 years ago. Kohn noted:

"Of the 11 places reported to you on June 3, 9 were illegally operating thereafter."

Kohn wrote to Col. Provosty A. Dayries, superintendent of the New Orleans Police Department, that 118 violations were observed in 90 locations, and that of 22 places cited for B-drinking, 21 were named in a letter a month before.

"We again stress the fact that B-drinking is organized crime," Kohn said. "Women are employed by the management of these establishments to use various forms of sexual seduction, many of them indescribable in public print, to induce unwary or foolish males into situations which frequently make them victims of fraud, theft, forgery, or robbery."

Revenue laws make a delicate distinction in the operation of mechanical devices. The city of New Orleans requires a permit showing payment of $10.25; the State of Louisiana, $25; the United States, $10 for amusement and $250 for gambling (which isn't against U.S. law).

Nowhere does a sign proclaim that a pinball machine has a payoff. But claw-type machines are labeled "For amusement only," and customers can grab for hours—and do—and when a prize drops, it's behind [redacted]-locked chute.

Pinball machines are less frustrating. Say a chap's playing in a barroom. He inserts a nickel, then he can risk maybe $5 or $10 more in coins to increase the odds—and if he hits, lights flash, bells ring, and there's enough commotion so the bartender knows something's happened. He winks, the player wanders off, returns for a drink, and the bartender passes him a 10-spot, or a 20, or a 50, and says:

"Here's that dough I owe you."

Who's to say it's a gambling payoff?

Peter Hand, a bookmaker who served 8 years in the Louisiana Legislature and acknowledged his gambling ties with Costello and Kastel, made a startlingly frank disclosure about payoff to legislators during a TV interview on July 14, 1959.

"They give it the name of 'expense money,'" he said, "but I think 98 percent of them will take this so-called expense money or whatever you want to call it.

"If you're not an attorney, it's a bribe. If you are an attorney, it's expense money or something of that sort."

Hand talked as if he were describing doughnut sales.

Question. Were you paid or given expense money to be for or against some legislation?

Answer. Absolutely, lots of times.

Question. Did you account for it?

Answer. Yes sir.

Question. Then that is the thing to do, that is correct—it is not wrong to take it, it's wrong not to—

Answer. Pay Federal income tax on it.

Question. Mr. Hand, if I as a citizen want to have certain legislation passed, how do I go about approaching a member of the legislature in a way which would best assure passage of a bill?

Answer. Well, get yourself one that—well, get someone who knows the legislators, and, if he's a good man and got pretty good connections up there (Baton Rouge), he's going to tell you right off the bat, "Now this is going to cost you something, because you know those boys up there has got to live"—and from then on you and him get together.

Question. How much would you say as a minimum it would cost to get a bill through?

Answer. Well, it depends upon how large the bill is, and for what big concern and things like that. It may cost you from $500 up.

Question. You make it sound as though—you said 98 percent of them take this, as you put it, "expense money." Don't you feel that we have any honest legislators at all up there, Mr. Hand?

Answer. As far as I'm concerned, it's very few. I didn't come across—against any of them, and I served for 8 years up there.

Hand is a gambler, and he knows gambling, and this is how the interview went:

Question. Is it possible to operate a handbook or an illegal gambling game without the consent of the authorities?

Answer. Absolutely not.

Question. How long could you stay in business?

Answer. About 20 minutes. You see, today the juke box operators sent word down the line to all the saloonkeepers to "buy a Federal stamp and you will not be molested by the police." So that shows collusion between the city hall and the gamblers.

Question. Do you think—is all gambling big business or can the small businessman operate a little, operate just a little game or something?

Answer. Oh, yes, sir. It all depends on what he operates. You can take $300 and get in a handbook and become a millionaire in 4 or 5 years, make a big large living in the first year.

Yes; make a big large living on the miseries of such men as the Brooklyn taxi driver who owed $11,000 to bookies, and was t to sell his cab and pay or get a bullet the back, and chose life to death—and w on relief.

CANCER OF CRIME—HOW THE LABOR RACK WORK

(The judgment is that of Kings Cou Judge Samuel S. Leibowitz: "Racketeers h adopted a cloak of respectability that is ha to pierce. They are using unions as a bla jack. When they have trouble, they s send for a killer as you would send fo carpenter or a plumber." In this seven of a series on organized crime, the New Y Mirror canvasses labor racketeering.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

How does a labor racket start?

Like this, in simplest terms:

Two sales organizations compete for bu ness, whether it's doughnuts, tulips, t penny nails, or terra cotta.

The rivalry is keen. People fight. N are bloodied. Both sides suffer, and so their sales.

Along comes what the underworld kn as a wise guy, a brain. He steps in mediator, a peacemaker with a plan.

"Form an association," he says. "You t this side of the street, and you take th side. Everybody will be happy, and each pay me a pittance as membership and I'll see that nobody treads on anyb else's toes."

Fine. There's peace among the employ Then the wise guy turns to the employ

At a workshop on organized crime c ducted last fall by the International A of Chiefs of Police in Washington, C James E. Hamilton, commander of the i telligence unit of the Los Angeles Police D partment, told about a labor racketeer w took a pick-and-shovel job to organize dit diggers on a years-long sewer project.

This wise guy coaxed 11,000 laborers i a union, each of them paying $4 a month dues, and influenced the appointment o business agent.

"A nice little income," Hamilton s adding:

"How you can expect honest administ tion of a union like that is pretty hard understand, because everyone having n thing to do with funds must come from t ranks of the union, and the laborer to is just not capable of handling funds of t magnitude.

"We found all kinds of derelictions—f kickbacks to personal loans out of un funds. The setup is such that they h no proper administrator to administer th funds.

"So the kickback. Nothing illegal. A all, if I arrange for 10 of these fellows to a job, why can't I get $1.50 a day?"

CANCER OF CRIME—TIME FOR SHOWDOWN WITH THE MOBS

(Senator KENNETH B. KEATING, Republican, of New York, said it: "There have been enough studies and expores. The time for counterattack is long overdue. Crime is at war with America. It is high time we declare war on crime." The New York Mirror discusses how it might be done in this final article of a series on organized crime.)

(By Harry Singer and Gerald Duncan)

What will kill organized crime?

Not sporadic drives. Not hit-and-run tactics. Not the imprisonment of an Al Capone. Not a raid on top level gang meetings, such as that at Apalachin, N.Y., in 1957.

Myles J. Ambrose, as assistant for law enforcement to the Secretary of the Treasury, told the 66th annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

"Enforcement efforts often have been directed at cutting the weeds rather than destroying the roots.

"Almost every syndicated criminal in the United States has at one time or another been prosecuted and convicted for a criminal act. On only rare occasions has the organization he headed been destroyed.

"Invariably, able lieutenants have sprung up to assume the reins * * * Time after time these groups have survived massive onslaughts of public exposure, investigation and prosecution, but they nevertheless had the capacity to 'pick up the chips' and start again."

Powerful voices have been raised to make the Federal Government a mighty force against the underworld. Among them was President Kennedy's when he was a member of the U.S. Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field:

The hearings demonstrated beyond a doubt that local law enforcement officers for various reasons were incapable of dealing with this enemy.

"It seems to me that because of the nationwide aspects of this problem, a separate Federal agency should be established or an appropriate existing agency be expanded or modified to act as an intelligence gathering agency on organized criminal activities."

The cry has reverberated across the land for a national crime commission or a clearing house of criminal information, or both, as scalpels to excise the cancer of crime.

Capt. James E. Hamilton, commander of the intelligence unit of the Los Angeles Police Department, told a crime workshop organized by the International Association of Chiefs of Police:

"As far as I am concerned, I am for a national crime commission, for a special section on organized crime. * * * I am for a bucket brigade if it will do the job. * * *

"Regardless of all we say about the exchange of information and cooperation, the definite lack has been on a Federal level in furnishing local departments information as to the movement of national figures."

Milton R. Wessel, who in 1958–59 headed the short-lived U.S. Attorney General's Special Group on Organized Crime, told the police panel:

"I submit that statistics showing steady increase in major crimes are incontestable proof that the situation is beyond the control of local police."

In Washington, J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, composed a rebuttal:

"America's compact network of State and local law enforcement agencies traditionally has been the Nation's first line of defense against crime."

Hoover viewed change warily:

"No profession in our country has been so beset by outside theorists and pressure groups as law enforcement. This has led to such an extent today that we members of the law enforcement profession are well advised to be extremely skeptical of many alleged 'friends.'

"I refer particularly to those persons—some in an earnest desire for a remedy to the crime problem, and others blinded by the urge of 'empire building'—who have advanced such potentially dangerous so-called solutions as Federal crime commissions, national clearinghouses and special prosecuting teams to cover the United States."

Hoover calculates the cost of crime at $22 billion a year. He has reckoned its increase since 1950 at 69 percent—a rate four times as fast as the population expansion.

To meet the challenge, Senator ESTES KEFAUVER, Democrat, of Tennessee, a crime fighter since the 1940's, introduced a bill in the Senate last February 2 cosponsored by 27 other Senators, both Democrats and Republicans. Representative EMANUEL CELLER, Democrat, of New York, filed an identical measure in the House.

The legislation, as described by KEFAUVER, would create a national commission on interstate crime to "keep abreast of the activities of organized crime, coordinate the efforts of the 70-odd Federal agencies, lend assistance to State and local law enforcement agencies by serving as a criminal intelligence clearinghouse, and report to Congress on its findings."

There was no rush to enact the proposal into law.

On February 27 Senator KEFAUVER said:

"We are still trying to work out something that will satisfy Mr. Hoover."

Last week, Richard B. Ogilvie, who was in charge of Wessel's midwestern office, said in Chicago:

"Hoover was very cool to the whole idea of the Attorney Generals' special group. He ordered that the FBI files, containing the very information we needed on organized crime, were to be closed to us.

"Criticizing Hoover is a dangerous thing for anyone to do.

"But honesty compels me to say that some of Hoover's ideas are sadly behind the times. The FBI is still organized to fight a crime pattern of the twenties and thirties. It is not set up to do battle with the criminal syndicate—the organized conspiracy that drains $22 billion a year from the United States."

As far back as 1930, the late Representative Loring M. Black, Jr., Democratic, of New York, proposed "a national clearinghouse where those entrusted with law enforcement may swap information on individual criminals of all kinds."

In 1951 Senator KEFAUVER urged a national commission to act as "a nationwide clearinghouse for all the crime committees, volunteer, State and local" to supply continuous information on gangsters.

A high police source in Los Angeles said the other day: "We would like to have the U.S. Government work with and not independently of local law enforcement. The problem is catching the criminal, not who catches him."

Not everybody sees it that way—which keeps the criminal happy, fat and a fester on the face of the Nation.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD VOTE IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Mr. KEATING. Mr. President, I note with pleasure that the President has just recommended that 18-year-olds be permitted to vote in the District of Columbia. I have always supported the 18-year-old vote and am the author of a pending resolution in the Senate to amend the Constitution to give the privilege to 18-year-olds throughout the Nation. With the growth of the mass media and the expansion of America's educational system, 18-year-olds, more than ever before, are in a position to think about and reach intelligent decisions on public issues.

The District of Columbia should have a model election law, on which other States can draw for needed improvements in their own election codes. Few States now permit persons under 21 to vote. I am hopeful that the District of Columbia will follow this precedent and that in doing so, the Congress will stimulate the adoption of similar measures on the part of other States.

Furthermore, Mr. President, I urge that the President give serious consideration to supporting a constitutional amendment on the 18-year-old vote as did President Eisenhower. This is one of the best and most direct ways in which we can make better citizens out of our Nation's youth.

The Constitutional Amendments Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee soon plans comprehensive hearings on constitutional amendments relating to electoral reforms. The amendment on the 18-year-old vote is pending before this subcommittee. As a member of the subcommittee, I intend to do everything I can to have this subject fully aired and fully discussed in our hearings.

Mr. President, the strength and vitality of American democracy has always been dependent upon the participation of citizens in the processes of Government. America's 18-year-olds can and do think for themselves. We must permit them to play an active role in democracy. Nothing makes a man mature like trust and responsibility. We must give our young people the right to grow up.

ESTABLISHMENT OF FEDERAL SEASHORE RECREATION AREAS

Mr. ANDERSON. Mr. President, on Sunday, May 7, the New York Times published an editorial declaring that the time has arrived for the establishment of Federal seashore recreation areas at Cape Cod; Point Reyes, in California; and Padre Island, just off the shore of Texas.

I ask unanimous consent that the editorial, entitled "Three Needed National Parks," be printed at this point in my remarks, because the editor of the Times has very briefly and effectively stated the arguments for early action.

There being no objection, the editorial was ordered to be printed in the RECORD as follows:

[From the New York Times, May 7, 1961]

THREE NEEDED NATIONAL PARKS

Now that hearings have been held by committees of both House and Senate, there is reason for further delay by Congress in passing the bills to establish new national seashore parks at Cape Cod; Padre Island in Texas; and Point Reyes, in California.

In his conservation message to Congress February 23, President Kennedy specifically named these three areas. Secretary of the Interior Udall has given them vigorous backing. The recent hearings in Washington disclosed overwhelming and nationwide public support. The opposition has dwindled to local minorities made up mostly of landowners still angling for a better price when they sell to the Park Service and would-be developers who are trying to shrink the size of the proposed parks so they can have additional, adjacent acreages to exploit.

Each of these areas has its own natural splendor; Cape Cod, with its great Nauset Beach windswept and surfswept by the North Atlantic, Padre Island, in its setting of shallow, subtropical seas; Point Reyes, with its backdrop of white cliffs and scenic California hills. Each is uniquely worth saving unspoiled for future Americans.

To delay can only increase the cost of the lands that have to be bought by the Park Service at the risk of losing some of them permanently. At this very moment the bulldozers are scraping out a subdivision in the heart of the Point Reyes peninsula. Texas developers who envisage a new Miami Beach on Padre Island are trying to force a compromise that would leave to their devices an additional 20 miles, and the widest and best parts, of the long, wild barrier beach. Commercial and residential developments continue to whittle away at Cape Cod. The speculation that is always touched off by plans for public acquisition is driving land values skyward.

In working out this kind of legislation, politicians often try to placate or accommodate every last segment of local interest. There comes a time when the few remaining dissenters who will never quit grabbing for the extra concession, simply must be overridden in the public interest. At Cape Cod, Padre Island, and Point Reyes that time has arrived.

Mr. ANDERSON. Mr. President, real estate developers are moving into the areas. Costs will inevitably skyrocket if there is delay. There is increasing pressure and need for reservation of shoreline areas for our citizens. Each of the three sites named—Cape Cod, Point Reyes, and Padre Island—is an outstanding area of unique natural beauty which makes it a proper site for Federal acquisition.

It is the intention to have bills establishing all three of these areas before the Senate this year. Hearings have been concluded by the Subcommittee on Public Lands of the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, of which the distinguished senior Senator from Nevada [Mr. BIBLE] is the chairman. They will be taken up in executive session very soon and, I believe, reported favorably. The subcommittee has done excellent work in reducing areas of difference and opposition to a minimum so that the bills may be passed.

The creation of these three seashore areas will, I hope, be only the beginning of a program to assure the Nation adequate outdoor recreational facilities.

In addition to these bills, the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs is considering a general bill on shoreline preservation. The bill will seek to initiate careful studies of additional Federal seashore areas, to have the Forest Service survey shorelines on ocean fronts, lakes, and rivers in the national forests, and to encourage the State governments to undertake shoreline preservation programs.

It is our hope that when the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission reports next January on our outdoor recreation needs in the years ahead, we shall have made at least a modest start toward the goals they will set.

OUTBREAK OF CRIME IN WASHINGTON, D.C.

Mr. BIBLE. Mr. President, Washington, D.C., has been struck in the last 10 days with an outbreak of crime which has focused attention on law enforcement generally in this Nation's Capital City.

The upward crime trend has been a constant one in recent years, although this city has not been alone in this regard compared with other major cities of the country.

One major deterrent to the criminal element would be to have more policemen on the streets day and night each and every day. Congress can discharge its responsibility as the legislative body of this city by appropriating funds to permit a 3,000-man force—a goal sought for some years by the police department here.

I join the call made by the distinguished junior Senator from West Virginia [Mr. BYRD], who advocates more funds. Although the financial picture in the city of Washington has much to be hoped for, I reiterate a pledge I made several years ago—that the city of Washington deserves and should have a 3,000-man police force.

District officials this year are seeking funds for 118 more men, so as to bring the force to 2,832 men. I join with the Senator from West Virginia in urging Congress to face up to its responsibility in this important field. I hope Congress will appropriate sufficient funds to insure a 3,000-man Department, so as to cope with the rising crime rate.

I can report that today the Metropolitan Police Force reached its full authorized strength of 2,714 men. This means that a recruiting drive, which has been under the leadership of Chief Robert Murray for almost a year, has been successful. Now we must take the next step to the 3,000-man goal.

More policemen patrolling the streets in our residential and business areas will certainly go a long way toward putting the criminal element on notice that violence will not be tolerated.

As chairman of the Legislative Committee on the District of Columbia, I believe the Senate is entitled to know what the facts are and what steps are being taken to cope with this alarming problem.

Mr. President, I inform the Members of the Senate that I have today extended an invitation to the 15-member Law Enforcement Council of the District of Columbia to meet jointly with the members of the Committee on the District of Columbia on the coming Friday morning, May 19, at 10 o'clock, in the committee rooms, to discuss means and methods to cope not only with the latest crime surge but also with the increasing crime rate over the past year.

I do not believe there is an overnight answer; neither is it my desire or intent to dramatize a situation which is bad enough in its own right. However, I believe the Law Enforcement Council, comprised of the President of the Board of Commissioners, Chiefs of the Metropolitan and U.S. Park Police, and other law enforcement officers and representatives of the District courts, can make a real contribution. This Council was established under an act of Congress in 1953 to make a continuing study and appraisal of crime and law enforcement here. The Law Enforcement Council, comprised of men who cope day in and day out with crime, should provide a broader base through their knowledge and experience in arriving at an overall approach to this problem. I hope the Council may implement its recommendations made to Congress earlier this year and provide a priority basis for action.

Crime cannot be curtailed on a piecemeal basis any more in this city than in any other major metropolitan center. However, if Congress can assist local officials, then we must do our part to make this a city where men, women, and children can once again walk the streets of their Nation's capital city without fear. No stone should be left unturned to control criminal elements here, and notice must be served on the offenders that their actions will not be tolerated on any level of law enforcement.

Washington, D.C., as a symbol of the advantages of American freedom and ideals, must lead, rather than follow, as a model for effective yet proprietous law enforcement.

DESIGNATION OF INAUGURATION DAY AS A NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Mr. HART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD a representative group of letters, among the many which have been forwarded to me following introduction of the proposal (S. 863) calling for Inauguration Day to be designated a national holiday. Some of these letters were in response to an inquiry made by Mr. William Pardridge, of the District of Columbia, who is doing background on an article for a national magazine on this subject. He asked a selected group of school superintendents their reaction to releasing schoolchildren in observance of such a holiday. As Senators read these letters, they will find thoughtful reaction. All agree with the importance of the holiday. Most feel, and I think properly, that the present and future resources of television make it possible for the schools to develop suitable programs for observance of this important event, similar to the programs now developed for Lincoln's Birthday, without releasing the children from school. Designation of Inauguration Day as a national holiday would provide the formal setting within which our schools could plan such programs.

I hope my colleagues will read these letters and will be persuaded to support the bill S. 863.

There being no objection, the letters were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

New Superior California Product Breaks a European Monopoly

EXTENSION OF REMARKS
OF

HON. THOMAS H. KUCHEL

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

Tuesday, May 16, 1961

Mr. KUCHEL. Mr. President, California is justly proud of her great and historic vineyards and of her preeminent wine industry. We produce 92 percent of all the grapes and 85 percent of all the wines produced and consumed in our country. And now the College of Agriculture of the University of California has been able, through science, to improve the quality of the production of our vintners, and to produce a gourmet treasure.

A few weeks ago, at the World Trade Center in San Francisco, I made some comments on the new Premier Semillon, a new California wine, created by the joint efforts of the university and one of our great California wineries. I ask consent that those comments appear in the Appendix of the RECORD.

There being no objection, the address was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

REMARKS BY U.S. SENATOR THOMAS H. KUCHEL, OF CALIFORNIA, MARCH 6, 1961, SAN FRANCISCO

Mr. Feldman, Dr. Amerine, Dr. Nelson, Mr. Nightingale, ladies and gentlemen, today California produces 92 percent of all the grapes and 85 percent of all the wine produced and consumed in the United States As for jobs—a category of which all of us are particularly conscious—our vineyards and wineries employ, if seasonal workers are included, approximately 111,000 persons.

Those figures are not new to many of you. I iterate them to remind you that the accomplishment we honor today is part of something vital and important to our vital and important State. California and its wine industry have prospered together for almost 20 decades. It behooves all of us to do all in our power to strengthen that mutual prosperity in the decade of the sixties—and the decades to come.

The mutuality of California and its wine industry is due primarily to three causes.

The first is appreciation and utilization and, perhaps, I might add, improvement, of European wine-making know-how. Rather than trying to start from scratch, California's early vintners transplanted to the New World not only the cuttings but also the practices of the great Old World wine makers. And, incidentally, they included Armenians and Hungarians and Germans as well as Spaniards and Italians and Frenchmen. Charles Wetmore, who founded the Cresta Blanca Winery, which helped develop and bottle the great new wine we have just tasted, was a prominent enologist of his day who was commissioned by his fellow vintners in the early 1880's to sail to Europe and buy for them the finest European cuttings. Dr. Nelson and Mr. Nightingale used modern temperature and humidity controls to induce the noble mold to grow, but the Semillon grapes on which they induced it were hand-picked from vines born 80 years ago in France.

The second major reason for the growth of our great wine industry is appreciation and utilization of intelligently controlled research. California vintners have not merely followed their ancestors. Led by the progressive college of agriculture of our great State university, they have tried constantly to improve the quality and yield of their grapes, and the purity as well as the taste of their wines. When the vineyards of Europe were threatened by the dread pest of phylloxera near the end of the 19th century, American roots were exported to France and Germany. Today; in one of the most interesting examples of cultural exchange the world has ever seen, the great vineyards of both Europe and California are stocked identically with American roots on to which European cuttings have been grafted. All three of the wines just tasted—the traditional California semillon—the world-famous standard of excellence, Chateau d'Yquem—and our precedent-breaking new Premier Semillon—were pressed from grapes grown from European cuttings grafted to American rootstock.

Finally, California's wine industry was driven forward by the vigor and daring of our free-enterprise system. It took courage and confidence 80 years ago to nurture helpless vine seedlings when banking, shipping, and railroading were the accepted, safe-and-sane occupations for growth investment. And it took courage and confidence 5 years ago for Cresta Blanca to underwrite an experiment in applied science from which no immediate returns could possibly be foreseen.

There is, then, a heritage behind Premier Semillon—not only the obvious, European-rooted heritage of fine winemaking, but also the specific heritage of California's wine history. And that heritage and that history, I believe, are more important for what they portend than for what they have accomplished. This is nearly always true of a vigorous civilization such as ours, and it should be true: The future magnetizes the present, and overshadows the past. Only by growing can we remain a healthy social order, and only by looking ahead can we grow.

This is particularly true of an accomplishment like that represented by Cresta Blanca Premier Semillon. Its importance today lies in its promise for tomorrow. Certainly, no one is going to get rich on the 1,300 bottles a year that Mr. Nightingale is now producing and Mr. Feldman is now rationing like tickets to the Giants' opener next month.

It is a magnificent fact that production of California wine as represented by shipments last year set an alltime record of—I may as well be precise about this: 129,355,394.06 gallons. That's the official Wine Institute figure, and I plan to ask Roy Taylor who bought that six-hundredths of a gallon. That total is 3.92 percent higher than the 1959 figure, which was itself a record.

Two subsidiary facts directly related to the product being introduced today are, if anything, even more impressive.

Shipments of California table wine ha burgeoned much more than shipments all wine. Since 1952, total shipments California wine have increased a little mo than 11 percent, while shipments of tab wine have risen a whopping 55 percent. every year since 1952, table-wine shipmen have been higher than the previous year

Even more encouraging, Californi premium table wines are doing best of Nobody publishes premium-wine as di tinct from popular-priced-wine figures. b I have been able to learn that sales of pre ium wines from 1953 through 1959 increas more than 46 percent. The correspondi figure for all California table wines is arou 25 percent, so premium wines are surgi ahead at nearly double the rate of all ta wines.

We can enjoy this pleasant picture, the That segment of the California wine bu ness which is doing best is the most c tually important, the most promising a the most profitable segment—the segme encompassing premium table wines.

And that is the segment to which new wine honored here today belongs, a which, I am convinced, it will materia bolster.

I wouldn't dare try to improve on the scriptions of Premier Semillon presented eloquently by Dr. Amerine, Dr. Nelson, Nightingale and Mr. Feldman, but I wou like to point out that this superior n California product in effect has broken European monopoly of one of the gourm treasures of the world. With one or t minor exceptions, Premier Semillon rep sents the development in and by Californ of the only European wine type not p viously produced successfully outside Europe. It demolishes one of the few maining bastions of European winemak superiority.

From our viewpoint, the elimination European exclusiveness in the production botrytised wine is simultaneously an eli ination of just about the only unfi setting in the bracelet of great Califor premium wines.

Until the university and the Cresta Bla winemasters applied their genius to problem, the comfortably dry California d and pleasantly cool nights in which glory, prevented us from also enjoying wine of our own enriched by the noble m To urburden ourselves from the patron of the lovers of Chateau d'Yquem and other famous botrytised wines of France Germany, we had to offset the perfection our climate. That is quite an assignm I salute the responsible gentlemen for complishing it, and I trust it will be complished for this purpose only.

I have waited throughout this program one of my predecessors to tell the beautifi ironic story of an earlier conquest. I d know whether they saved it for me or did do their homework, but here it is.

Among the cuttings Charles Wetm brought back from Europe on the trip which I have alluded were some from world famous Chateau d'Yquem vine which Wetmore planted in his new acre the Livermore Valley. The cuttings grew vines, and in 1889 Wetmore entered a C fornia white table wine made from gra grown on those vines in the wine judg of the great Paris Exposition. As I was t the story, the upstart entry from an known winery in the unknown wine country of California was a laughing matter throughout Paris. On the day of the announcement of the winner, a single shrouded bottle stood on a long table. The shroud was removed, revealing—as the Grand Prix Gold Medal winner—Cresta Blanca's Livermore Valley entry.

To the chagrined audience of Parisiennes, the Marquis de Lur-Saluces, the owner of Chateau d'Yquem, gallantly made one of the great statements of wine history.

"The daughter has excelled the mother," the Marquis said of Wetmore's wine.

I have no intention of competing with a deceased Marquis who cannot fight back, but I cannot help suggesting—after tasting a vintage Chateau d'Yquem and our new Premier Semillon—that this great California winery has done it again.

In closing, thank you very much for allowing me to take part in this delightful ceremony.

J. Edgar Hoover: A Look at the Record

OF
HON. H. ALLEN SMITH
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, May 16, 1961

Mr. SMITH of California. Mr. Speaker, in marking the 37th anniversary of J. Edgar Hoover's outstanding service to his fellow Americans, I would like to include in the RECORD today an editorial from the Milwaukee Sentinel, May 8, 1961, which, as the writer says, speaks for itself.

WASHINGTON PARADE—37-YEAR RECORD TELLS G-MAN STORY

(By David Sentner)

America's No. 1 G-man—J. Edgar Hoover—marks his 37th anniversary this week as the head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Let the record speak for itself.

Here are some highlights in the FBI's history since Hoover took over as its Director on May 10, 1924:

July 1924: FBI Identification Division founded to serve as national repository for fingerprinting identifying data.

November 1932: FBI laboratory founded.

September 1933: Trapped at hideout in Tennessee, George "Machinegun" Kelly gave FBI agents a nickname when he shouted, "Don't shoot, G-men," and meekly surrendered.

July 1934: FBI agents killed John Dillinger, notorious shoot-from-the-hip bank robber outside a Chicago theater.

July 1935: FBI National Academy founded.

May 1936: FBI Director Hoover personally led squad of agents in apprehension of notorious Alvin Karpis at New Orleans, ringing down curtain on Barker-Karpis gang—one of the most vicious gangs of the "terrible thirties."

June 1941: FBI agents rounded up Frederick J. Duquesne and other members of German spy ring. Duquesne and 32 espionage associates convicted and sentenced to terms exceeding 300 years.

June 1942: Eight Nazi saboteurs who landed on coasts of Florida and Long Island from German submarine arrested by G-men. Not a single act of enemy-directed sabotage was committed in United States during World War II.

October 1949: Eleven national leaders of Communist Party convicted under Smith Act on FBI evidence. Scores of more party leaders to be convicted through later years.

March 1950: Klaus Fuchs, identified as atomic spy on basis of information gathered by FBI, sentenced in Britain to 14 years imprisonment.

June 1953: Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, atomic spies, convicted in 1951, were executed. They were identified and arrested as Soviet agents by FBI.

January 1956: After 6 years of intensive investigation, FBI agents in Massachusetts arrested six men on charges of participating in $2,775,000 robbery of Brinks, Inc., on January 17, 1950. Five other men also named as members of Brink's gang.

October 1958: Master spy Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel, one of most highly trained espionage agents in services of Soviet Union, convicted and sentenced to 30 years imprisonment. He was identified and traced to New York hotel by FBI agents. Abel found to possess latest tools of Soviet espionage, including shortwave radios, code books, microfilm and such hollow objects as coins, flashlight batteries, hardware and jewelry.

February 1959: In war on organized crime and racketeering, FBI scored major breakthrough with arrests of group of New Jersey men on charges of jury-fixing. Jury-fixing occurred in 1956 Federal income tax evasion trial of Abner "Longie" Zwillman, reputed boss of New Jersey underworld and prohibition era bootleg baron. Less than 2 weeks after FBI agents took men into custody, Zwillman committed suicide. Three of those arrested pleaded guilty.

February 1961: Melvin Davis Rees, Jr., Maryland musician and sex criminal, convicted of brutal kidnap-murders of Mildred Jackson and her 6-year-old daughter, Susan Ann. Intensive 18-month FBI investigation established that Rees was responsible for abduction of these two victims in Virginia and transporting them into Maryland where they were murdered and buried. Bodies of Mrs. Jackson's husband and infant daughter, who disappeared on same night as Mildred and Susan Ann Jackson were found in shallow grave near Fredericksburg, Va.

The County Official—A Composite Picture

HON. ALEXANDER WILEY
OF WISCONSIN
IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

Tuesday, May 16, 1961

Mr. WILEY. Mr. President, across the Nation we as a people are being served by an army of dedicated, loyal, competent, but largely unheralded, individual: our county officials.

At a government level close to the people, these officers represent a real key to progress in the community.

All too often, however, the outstanding service of this public-spirited corps is either overlooked or not given due recognition.

In a political system, of, by, and for the people, it is extremely important: First, that we elect, or appoint, highly qualified and dedicated officials to such posts; second, that we provide them the opportunity and facilities to do a good job; and third, that we give them due recognition for outstanding service.

Recently, the County Officer, official publication of the National Association of County Officials, published a splendid article to better acquaint us with the ability, dedication and service of our county officials.

I ask unanimous consent to have this article printed in the Appendix of the RECORD.

There being no objection, the article was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

THE COUNTY OFFICIAL—RESULTS OF A COUNTY OFFICER QUESTIONNAIRE

The county official—what sort of a man is he?

If the term were used to include the full range of public employees on the payroll of the 3,042 American counties, there would be some 668,000 of him (or her), 568,000 of whom are classified as full time. This is an army of workers surpassing in size that of any corporation in the Nation, and growing faster than any other level of government.

It is not with the whole army that we are concerned here, however, but only its leaders, and more precisely, the leaders of National Association of County Officials. It is the elected or appointed officials in policy-making or managerial positions who are eligible for National Association of County Officials membership.

From this group, the County Officer recently polled a representative cross section, chosen from the officers and directors of the association, from committee chairmen, from officers, directors and paid executives of State associations of county officials. More than 50 percent responded to the questionnaire, and out of the answers has emerged the first full, composite picture of the American county official as he is today.

TWO GROUPS OF OFFICIALS

Broadly speaking, the county official breaks down into two groups, the elected (two-thirds), and appointed (one-third). If he is an elected official, his title is likely to be county supervisor, commissioner, chosen freeholder, councilman, parish juror, judge, clerk of the court, or treasurer.

If he is an appointed official, his title is probably county manager, county executive, planning director, county engineer.

Having established who he is and how he got there, let's break him down further, dissect him thoroughly on the basis of information he supplied about himself.

THE COMPOSITE STUDY

The composite county official today is 52 years old and married. He has been in the public service for 16½ years (half of his adult life), and a member of NACO for 8½ years.

By occupation, the elected official is a small businessman—insurance, real estate, or retailing—a farmer or rancher, with a small number from the teaching profession. In contrast to the public concept of the local politician, only a small percentage of those reporting are lawyers. If he is an appointed public official, chances are his only occupation has been public service.

If he has been, as most were, a small businessman, farmer, or rancher, he has learned the value of prudent spending or he would not have survived in private business. He carries this natural fiscal conservatism and thriftiness into his conduct of public affairs. He is likely to insist on brand names he is familiar with, from dealers that he knows.

HE IS CLOSE TO HIS PEOPLE

He is likely to consider the public coffers as a public trust, and he guards it accordingly, because he is closer to the people he serves than most other public officials. The money that he raises, appropriates, and is entrusted with, comes from the homes, the real estate, the tangible worldly goods of his friends, neighbors, and churchmen.

3. Believing that Communists could be motivated by humanitarian motives, we made it possible at Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam for communism to extend its dominion over eastern Europe and the millions of China, in the belief we could enlist Soviet cooperation in creation of a new world order.

3. We witnessed the ringing down of an iron curtain over helpless peoples of the captive nations, who would have throttled their Communist enemies, had we been prepared to assure them the benefit of our liberty and justice, for which we had just fought the greatest war in history.

4. We can learn of our rejection of the warning of Churchill, in his 1946 Fulton, Mo., speech that Communist promises and treaties are scraps of paper.

5. We can observe desperate efforts to deter further Communist aggression by a ring of bases and worldwide subsidies.

6. We can even find Americans describing these bases, as "increasing cold war tensions," forgetting that they were installed only for defense, and after the aggressive intent of the enemy became brutally obvious.

7. We can find organized theft of our nuclear and defense secrets by the most highly developed spy organization in peacetime history.

8. We can find our people complacently oblivious to the stark reality of their peril—traditionally devoted to life, liberty, and pursuit of happiness; but so intent upon pursuing happiness that loss of liberty and even life seems imminent.

9. We find ourselves, after bitter disillusionment, still equating the enemy's prime propaganda weapon, "peaceful coexistence," with an expression of a sincere desire to abandon the icon of his fanatic devotion to world revolution, and this so avidly that we have developed the distressing habit of referring to the second greatest butcher of all history by the affectionate appellation of "Nikita."

We must, by a dynamic awakening, as a chain reaction, where the spirit of each will pierce the air conditioned shell of complacency of all, produce a new determination:

1. A determination that our religion will be revitalized as an impenetrable roadblock against the further advance of Godless communism. That we will meet the challenge of our unholy enemy that he is fighting a holy war (Khrushchev, Jan. 17, 1961).

2. A determination that we will know, meet and vanquish this enemy in every field of human endeavor in which he chooses to challenge us; and will select new fields of competition in which we are more adapt than he.

3 A determination to know, appreciate and perpetuate, as the last bastion of Christian civilization, this great country of ours; making an all out effort our first order of business, and relentlessly wiping out those eroding weaknesses with which we no longer can afford to live, particularly the following:

(a) Snobbery which has been classed as the tendency to spend money we don't have to impress people we don't like, and certainly furnishes high octane fuel for expanding the class warfare upon which our enemy thrives.

(b) Glorification of crime in our press, TV, radio, magazines, and movies, which not only impose bad thought habits upon the subconscious minds of our people, especially youth, but steals precious time that should be spent in study of our biggest problem—survival. Consider the time and space that could be made available if no crime were publicized within a radius of more than 100 miles from where it happened.

(c) Sophistication: Where it has made us apologists for Americanism; and replace it with a new birth of simple patriotism based upon sincere gratitude for the God-given privilege of being Americans. Recognizing t... this is the only nation that seem... have outgrown a spirit of nationalism, we must foster a return to fundamentals that can be epitomized by the pledging of our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor upon the altar of our country.

(d) Graft, corruption, inefficiency in our Government—recognizing that the governmental system of our enemy is staffed by scientists, experts and devoted Communists, we must consider the recent warning "concepts and patterns of a more secure past no longer fit present reality," and recognize that only the best in government can meet the competition we face.

4. A determination to reestablish discipline in our homes, schools, and daily life. The discipline of force employed by our enemy can be met by our discipline of faith only if our people, especially our youth, are trained to voluntarily and cheerfully do the right thing in the right place, at the right time, the classical concept of discipline for the American serviceman. We need a new fad. With our marvelous mass communications media, could we not convince our youngsters that it would be "sharp" to say to elders "Yes, sir" and "No, sir," rather than "Uh, huh" and "Hunh, unh" and "Yeah," as an expression of respect for age and authority, of self-respect, and of the new determinism of which he is a part.

5. A determination simply to go to work; a columnist has recently said, "This is the era of the great 'goof off,' the age of the job half done. We have plumbers that won't 'plumb,' executives that won't 'execute,' businessmen that won't attend to business and workmen that won't work." Either America is going to work or a stronger civilization will put us to work.

In conclusion, the challenge of New Frontiers is gone, with only a faint echo remaining in the gunsmoke of western movies and TV; but we face a new and more demanding challenge, into which our enemy has preceded us, the stratosphere and outer space itself, that can be conquered by the same determinism that will insure our survival.

Our President has well stated, "Let every nation know, whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty."

He cannot do it alone.

Waterways Tolls

OF
HON. ROBERT R. BARRY
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 16, 1961

Mr. BARRY. Mr. Speaker, identical bills—S. 78, BEALL, of Maryland; H.R. 2963, VAN ZANDT, of Pennsylvania—have been introduced in the two Houses of the Congress which would create a commission empowered to assess tolls against users of improved national inland waterways. These charges would be designed to recover capital investment in existing waterways, costs of future improvement and current operating costs. An initial charge of about 2 mills per ton-mile is contemplated. These bills, now in the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committees of the House and Senate, would impose tolls for the first time upon the users of national waterways. Heretofore the general taxpayer has paid for the costs of maintaining our national inland waterways. This legislation proposes that the users should be assessed something to contribute toward the maintenance of the waterways they use. Naturally the waterway users are opposed to the imposition of any tolls.

I have been asked by the National Waterways Conference, which represents the inland and intracoastal waterway users of the country, to place in the RECORD an article from the March issue of Rivers and Harbors, which expresses their views. It contains a recital of various proposals which would impose a user charge on the Nation's waterways and describes the opposition to the legislation.

Since this is a vital matter to an important section of our transportation industry, a thorough examination and complete knowledge of the effects of the proposals should be in hand before any action is taken by the Congress. Consequently I felt it to be in the interest of the Congress and of the Nation that the point of view of the National Waterways Conference be put in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD:

NO TIME FOR TOLLS

Ask your Congressman, any Congressman, in fact, how he feels just now about a piece of legislation that would further blight depressed areas and put the cost of essential goods and services still further beyond the reach of millions of consumers. After he recovers from the shock, he is apt to be delighted with your question. It's one he can answer with no equivocation whatsoever.

Tell your neighbor you're ringing doorbells to line up support for legislation that will junk some of the Nation's most valuable resources and open the doors even wider to lower cost imports from abroad. He may, as you request, write his Congressman—but he will probably suggest you be hauled up for interrogation by the Un-American Activities Committee.

Yet, ask either your Congressman or your neighbor about bills that would impose tolls on users of federally improved waterways and you may find considerable support for such an idea. Reason—neither Congressmen nor neighbors have been untouched by this year's all-out sky's-the-limit campaign for user charges.

CAN'T KEEP TABS WITHOUT A SCORE CARD

This year there are four separate and distinct toll proposals, all being widely publicized. In order of probable potential for immediate devastation, they are:

(1) Identical bills in the House and Senate (introduced by Representative JAMES E VAN ZANDT, of Pennsylvania, and Senator J. GLENN BEALL, of Maryland) which would create an Inland Navigation Commission empowered to assess tolls against users of improved inland waterways. Levies would be designed to recover (a) capital expenditures on all existing waterway projects, (b) capital costs of future improvements; and (c) operating and maintenance costs. An initial charge of about 2 mills per ton-mile is contemplated.

(2) The Department of Commerce report on "Federal Transportation Policy and Program" recommended (in March of 1960) tolls to recover Federal costs of new projects, plus operating and maintenance charges. This proposal advocates a fuel tax which, according to reliable estimates using data supplied by the U.S. Engineers, would amount to about 40 cents per gallon. Currently, diesel fuel is about 10 cents per gallon.

amount of elderly housing [illegible]ity) one mortgage banker's efforts reach fruition with the opening of Friendsview Manor, a 126-unit, high rise, nonprofit project. First such FHA-insured 231 project to be completed in Oregon, outside of Metropolitan Portland, Friendsview Manor represents the successful culmination of many, many months' hard work and effort by the sponsoring group's mortgagee representative, State Finance Co. in nearby Salem. It shows it can be done—and, certainly, it makes an interesting case study.

Currently, State Finance has three other projects on the boards, for a total of 6½ million, with each in a different stage of planning. Friendsview Manor, however, was the firm's first experience with this type of project.

"It all began," recalls Vice President Ernest H. Miller, "approximately 3 years ago, when a group sponsored by the Friends Church of Oregon decided to construct a retirement home at Newberg, the site of the Quaker-sponsored George Fox College and the rather informally recognized center of Friends Church activities in the Northwest area.

"The project had been under development for a considerable period of time and had had a rather large amount of publicity. Following the announcement of the creation of FHA section 231, we contacted the sponsors," says Miller. "We described the provisions of the new section to them and we were appointed their contact representative with FHA and their financing agency for the completion of the project."

From their experience with the Quakers and the Friendsview Manor project, and from discussions with numerous later sponsors, Miller and his firm learned a great deal about the problems associated with the promotion of projects of this type.

One of the first—and possibly one of the most important—points to be reckoned with, according to Miller, is that of the 100 percent maximum loan ratio based on the FHA-estimated replacement cost when construction is new, or on the FHA-estimated value when it is a case of rehabilitating existing construction. Theoretically, this is true. A nonprofit group can borrow out at 100 percent, but there is a catch.

"While FHA does have available a 100 percent loan," Miller points out, "the loan is not necessarily 100 percent of the cost of the project—and, most certainly, it is not 100 percent of all expenses involved in its promotion, construction and completion. We have found," she emphasizes, "that only the most Spartan-like project is likely to have even a nearly 100 percent loan and that as the quality of the living units is enhanced, the amount of equity required by FHA increases."

This aspect of 100 percent mortgage insured financing, while it might very well be the heart of the whole 231 program, does not—as some sponsor's agents would make it seem—practically eliminate equity requirements altogether. It does not, in a word, pay the bills.

Sponsors also encounter unsuspected cash requirements, not only in the form of the demanded equity, but in the very large amount of FNMA fees which, until just now, have amounted to 2½ percent of the amount of the mortgage and have now been reduced to 1½ percent of the mortgage amount. Also to be considered is a 2 percent operating capital deposit and the large amount of cash required for furnishings not included or allowable under the mortgage.

This all means, of course, that the sponsor of a $1-million project will find that it has an actual nonrecoverable cash requirement of somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000 to $150,000. Most of the sponsors are people of religious affiliation and with limited business experience, and the prospect of having to provide this substantial block of cash often turns out to be an extremely discouraging factor.

Admittedly, in projects of this type, the profit potential for the mortgage banker is not great. But, incentive or not, this is work which private enterprise is going to have to do—and be prepared, if necessary, to take a smaller profit in so doing.

Strategy for Survival

OF
HON. WALTER H. JUDD OF MINNESOTA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, May 15, 1961

Mr. JUDD. Mr. Speaker, under leave to extend my remarks in the RECORD, I include the following forthright analysis of the perils in which our country stands and a realistic prescription for us to follow. It was written by Gen. Clyde J. Watts, retired, now practicing law in Oklahoma City. If Americans would only read such a document and face up to the realities of the situations into which our drift and Communist guile have led us, we would not be unprepared for the defeats we have sustained and the worse ones still to come unless we quickly arouse ourselves and rally all the will and resources of the whole Nation. The article follows:

STRATEGY FOR SURVIVAL

(By Gen Clyde J. Watts)

We are at war. A space age type of war, a protracted conflict in which our enemy has promised a materialistic god * * * his all powerful state * * * our utter annihilation.

In this all-out war, we are making less than a halfhearted effort.

We sporadically demand of our scientists and military the security they are powerless to provide, because it is not their war * * * it is our war * * * a personal war made more sinister and more protracted by our inability to comprehend its objectives, its strategies, its tactics, or even our enemy, who has been charting its course behind barriers of land, sea, and air that have lulled us into a sense of false security.

With the present compression of these barriers from days and miles into minutes and seconds (Oklahoma is now as close to Moscow as Berlin to Paris in 1940), we begin to recognize this enemy * * * powerful, brutal, determined, arrogant in his military might and scientific accomplishment, contemptuous in his cloak of invincibility.

Through the mist of his propaganda, he becomes more obvious; from his initial pronouncement of global objectives:

"We shall first dominate eastern Europe, then the masses of Asia. Finally, we shall encircle the United States, as the last bastion of capitalism. We shall not have to fight. It will fall like an overripe fruit into our waiting hands" (Lenin, 1918).

down to his confident boasting of present accomplishment.

"Victory is now in sight" (Khrushchev, January 1961).

It may be later than we know; but it is also earlier than they think. The weakness of power-mad dictators has ever been to underestimate the latent forces of freedom. Our survival is still within reach, but the time to reach is desperately short.

Our first reluctant awakening must comprehend the nature of the war our enemy fight—psychological, political, social, economic, industrial, scientific, military—and must include the concept that the non-military phase, though lacking the horror is the more deadly, for it will set up the military phase as a brief but foregone conclusion, a violent, but final, climax.

We must understand that the terrain this unconventional warfare transcends land, sea, and air, involves a fourth and new dimension—the mind of all mankind.

We must next study our enemy, his objectives, his strategies, his tactics, as he has been studying us for 40 years; and, with stakes of life or death, we must recognize that our enemy:

1. Has warned that "War to the hilt between communism and capitalism is inevitable and that the democracies, stupid and decadent, will rejoice to cooperate their own destruction * * * in return for phony peace overtures."

2. Has through the means of a world revolution, pledged his all to accomplish Communist utopia after bloody elimination of capitalist opposition.

3. Has mounted a steadily accelerating offensive, to push us into a nuclear corner where we must choose between surrender world destruction.

4. Has sold us his concept of peaceful coexistence, with implied promise of easing cold war tensions, which he alone controls concealing that his concept of peace means only that we will not seriously challenge his goals.

5. Has used the hope of peace itself as an implement of psychological war.

6. Has built up, with Western aid, a colossus 1 billion slaves; a Frankenstein that challenges our very survival.

7. Has extended communism over two fifths of the land surface of the earth and is reaching for one-third more, including the Carribbean nations to form the boundary of a new Communist lake.

8. Has organized and supports a hard core Communist conspiracy in the United States of America with awesome capabilities, as evidenced by the success of Communist organized, engineered and financed student riots against the House Committee on Un-American Activities, in San Francisco last May (see J. Edgar Hoover report, "Communist Target—Youth").

Finally we must study ourselves, recognizing that we are constantly being weighed in the balance of protracted war, that we change overnight from cold to hot, if ever when we are found wanting. We must evaluate our strength and weakness; and rescue to mobilize our vast resources for the awesome conflict, before shifting of the balance of power past the point of no return.

What can we do? If our Government cannot meet the threat, if our leaders be not aware of the stark reality of our peril, how can we? We can. We must. We shall.

We must recognize that our Government is us; and our leaders simply mirror the composite thought and motivation of the people.

We must reject the old truism that the most significant fact of history is man's refusal to learn from history; and avidly do our homework to learn what has produced our present dilemma. This will reveal:

1. In March 1942, our President, expressing the sentiments of the vast majority of his people, wrote to Churchill:

"By the time you receive this, you will have learned of my conference with Litvinov and I expect a reply from Stalin shortly. * * * I think I can personally handle Stalin better than either your foreign office or my State Department. Stalin hates all of your people. He thinks he likes me better and I hope he will continue to do so."

DATE: May 25, 1961

FROM : N. P. CALLAHAN

SUBJECT: THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD

The Congressional Record for Wednesday, May 24, 1961, has been reviewed and the following items contained therein have been noted for your attention.

SENATE

Pages 8119-8123. Senator Javits, (R) New York, introduced, for himself and Senators Douglas, (D) Illinois, and Clark, (D) Pennsylvania, S. Con. Res. 25, concerning the enforcement in certain States of the Constitution and laws for the protection of individual rights. Mr. Javits requested immediate consideration of this resolution, objection was made and the resolution was then ordered to lie over for one day under the rule. Later, unanimous consent agreement was made that the Senate would consider this resolution on Thursday, May 25th with limited debate, if vote not reached resolution will be placed on calendar. Mr. Javits included sundry articles and other data in connection with his remarks on this resolution. Included was a telegram from Attorney General Kennedy to Governor Patterson of Alabama. References to the FBI, in connection with investigation of recent incidents in Montgomery, Alabama, set forth in this telegram have been noted.

Pages 8144-8146. Senator Stennis, (D) Mississippi, introduced for himself and several other Senators a bill (S. 1955) to amend title 18, United States Code, to proscribe travel in interstate or foreign commerce for purposes of inciting to riot, or committing other unlawful acts. Mr. Stennis stated "this statute is intended to cover all cases anywhere, in any area of the United States, of the type of the so-called freedom riders, or any other group, whose mission and purposes tend to incite riot." A copy of this bill has been obtained for review.

Page 8212. The Senate received the following Executive nominations: Edward A. Heslep, of California, and George E. O'Brien, of California, to be U. S. marshals. Frank W. Wilson, of Tennessee, to be a U. S. district judge.

Memorandum to the Director
Re: The Congressional Record

SENATE - continued

Adjournment: Until Thursday, May 25, 1961, at 9:55 a. m.

HOUSE

Pages 8250-8251. Congressman Hosmer, (R) California, spoke concerning the proposed meeting between President Kennedy and Khrushchev. He comments on the Russian attitude and information concerning the United States as compared to that of the United States to Russia. Mr. Hosmer stated "Khrushchev and his advisers have access to complete and detailed information about America and Americans gleaned from our public press and from infiltrators, sympathizers or fuzzy thinkers in every important area of our society. It is illogical to assume that the FBI has them all under control."

Pages 8252-8255. Congressman Fisher, (D) Texas, spoke concerning the attack by the publication "Overseas Weekly" against Major General Edwin A. Walker, former commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany. The Overseas Weekly criticized General Walker for methods used in training personnel concerning the perils posed by the Communist conspiracy. The Overseas Weekly described this program as a John Birch Society indoctrination plan. Mr. Fisher stated "Moreover, Overseas Weekly in its desperation failed to mention the fact that the Birch book was but one of a number of anti-Communist publications made available to the troops. About other publications so distributed were 'The Masters of Deceit,' by J. Edgar Hoover; - - -." He went on to state "Surely General Walker's military career is not to be jeopardized now by unfounded and insignificant charges made by a highly questionable get-rich-quick tabloid publication—the notorious Overseas Weekly."

Adjournment: Until Thursday, May 25, 1961, at 12 noon.

Page A3697. Congressman Roudebush, (R) Indiana, extended his remarks concerning efforts of the Communist Party to infiltrate youth groups. He stated "in testimony just released by the House Appropriations Committee, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has warned that infiltration of youth organizations is one of the major objectives of the Communist Party today. - - - Mr. Hoover testified that he saw a very healthy sign in the fact that some young people are beginning to realize that communism is not all it has been portrayed to be. We must make this more than a sign. We must make it a fact known to all young Americans."

APPENDIX - continued

Pages A3718-A3719. Congressman Findley, (R) Illinois, extended his remarks to include an editorial which appeared in the Christian Century of May 17, 1961, entitled "Freedom of the Press." Mr. Findley stated "nothing is more essential to freedom than a free press. It is one of the first things seized by a panicky or totalitarian ruler, and its control is a clue to the kind of government that will follow." The editorial points out that President Kennedy should not complain when the press gives the American people information if he is not ready to ask Congress to declare a state of danger. The editorial advises that there should be no complaint if the information includes "judgments on the decisions and deeds of President Kennedy and the CIA. (What a serious mistake it would be for the President to appoint his brother, now the Attorney General, to succeed Allen Dulles as CIA head. Yet this is being discussed in the highest administration circles, according to reports which may be trial balloons.)" great trading nations, our competitors in the free world market, either from their governments or from private enterprise.

Perhaps the most important provision of this bill is the specific authority it extends to the Export-Import Bank to add new kinds of coverage, including export credit guarantees against both commercial and political risks in both short- and medium-term transactions.

The bill contains a number of other provisions which seek to expand and accelerate export promotion services on a broad front. First, to achieve improved coordination of Government programs, it establishes an inter-agency Council for Export Promotion.

Second, it authorizes and directs the Department of State to undertake market surveys and other commercial research in foreign countries and disseminate information gained thereby to American businesses. It would also allow the Department of State to engage in institutional advertising for American exports, general and specific, in foreign media and, in cooperation with the Department of Commerce, to set up U.S. trade information centers at permanent and temporary trade fairs in other countries.

Third, the bill would authorize and direct the Department of Commerce to expand export services in its field offices and increase the number of these offices. This Department is also called upon to insert export promotion advertising in American media and to set up permanent trade centers abroad for the exhibition of U.S. goods.

Fourth, the bill would establish in the Small Business Administration a new division, the Foreign Trade Division, to render explicit services to the small businessman newly entering or considering the entry of foreign markets.

Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill, as I suggested earlier, is to provide a coordinated and augmented program of Government action to assist U.S. manufacturers and businessmen to recognize and develop export markets. I hope that it will receive prompt consideration.

THE NEED FOR EXPANDED SUGAR PRODUCTION FOR AMERICAN FARMERS

(Mrs. MAY (at the request of Mr. ARENDS) was granted permission to extend her remarks in the body of the RECORD and to include extraneous matter.)

Mrs. MAY. Mr. Speaker, on Monday of this week I introduced H.R. 7223, to extend the Sugar Act for 5 years and to establish new basic domestic quotas from which our American farmers could vastly increase sugar production.

My bill is based on proposal Z which has met with general acceptance in many segments of the domestic sugar industry including new grower areas of the State of Washington.

While this legislation is not complete in every respect, it can serve as a vehicle in consideration of the many controversial aspects of the entire sugar production problem. As an example, the matter of foreign quotas is still to be worked out, and other matters of interest and concern to the domestic industry may need further attention.

The bill would extend the law to December 31, 1966, and would establish new basic quotas on the basis of a consumption estimate level of 9,600,000 tons, the anticipated actual consumption for 1962.

New basic quotas for domestic areas, under terms of the legislation, are as follows:

Area	Short tons, raw value
Domestic beet sugar	2,600,000
Mainland cane sugar	850,000
Hawaii	1,150,000
Puerto Rico	1,200,000
Virgin Islands	15,000

This bill would allocate to domestic areas 75 percent of the national consumption growth over the 9,600,000-ton consumption estimate level, reserving 25 percent for foreign countries. The first 525,000 tons of the domestic share of growth would be divided 75 percent to domestic beet and 25 percent to mainland cane.

Regarding acreage for new growers, whenever restrictive proportionate shares are in effect for the domestic beet sugar area, 75 percent of the permitted acreage in excess of 1 million acres (plus the acreage utilized by new growers under this provision in prior years) will be made available to new producers of sugar beets to the extent that facilities for processing are available. This provision is calculated to provide for the entry of new growers to the extent that processing facilities, under the quotas anticipated may become available, and at the same time to protect both the present growers and future new growers. A new grower in 1 year becomes in effect an old grower the next year and the acreage he utilizes is added to the 1 million-acre base.

Mr. Speaker, I withheld introduction of specific legislation until testimony of new and old sugarbeet growers in the recent 2-day House Agriculture Committee hearing was completed and could be analyzed. It is clear from committee testimony that American farmers have a right to expect that Congress will allow them to produce more of America's sugar supply. The testimony is overwhelmingly in favor of taking care of our American farmers first, before we look elsewhere for our supplies of sugar. This valued cash crop will do much to raise farm income, will ease the taxpayer burden, will assure a stable supply of sugar in the Nation, and will stimulate the entire American economy.

No foreign nation can be expected to lose respect for America for taking care of our own people before we turn to them for additional sugar needs. The longer we delay in passage of a new and long-term Sugar Act the longer it will be before factories can be constructed to process the potential sugar crop.

I have asked the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee to request from the Department of Agriculture its views on H.R. 7223, and I am hopeful that the departmental report will be forthcoming as soon as possible so that the administration position regarding an increase in the domestic production of sugar will be clear and there will be no doubt about the administration's willingness to allow American farmers to help themselves and their Nation.

NOTORIOUS OVERSEAS WEEKLY ATTACKS ANTICOMMUNIST PROBLUE AMERICANISM PROGRAM OF GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER

The SPEAKER. Under previous order of the House, the gentleman from Texas [Mr. FISHER] is recognized for 30 minutes.

Mr. FISHER. Mr. Speaker, the recent attack upon Major General Edwin A. Walker, formerly commander of our 24th Infantry Division in Germany, by the publication Overseas Weekly, has naturally aroused much interest. It has given rise to many inquiries concerning the allegations directed at General Walker, and in turn has caused many of us to probe into the activities and the motives of the general's accuser, the Overseas Weekly.

Today I wish to discuss the character and validity of the charges, and the character and quality of the accuser. Because of the publicity of the incident and the importance of the issue, it is felt that the public should be as fully informed as possible regarding the facts in the case.

From inquiries and documented evidence, I am convinced the charges are unfounded and actually constitute a bold and brazen attempt by a salacious tabloid newspaper to smear one of our most respected combat officers.

WHO IS GENERAL WALKER?

To begin with, who is Major General Walker? He was born in Center Point, Kerr County, Tex., 50 years ago. His mother and a brother still reside there. He graduated from West Point in 1931. He has to his credit a distinguished combat record. The general commanded the 2d Division Artillery at Heartbreak Ridge in some of the hardest fighting against the Communists in Korea, when it fired a record of 22,000 rounds every 24 hours for 14 days. And he served with distinction at Anzio and Cassino in World War II.

General Walker's awards include the Silver Star, the Bronze Star with an oak leaf cluster, the French Croix de Guerre, the Combat Infantryman's Badge and the Legion of Merit.

He served as commander of the Arkansas Military District in 1957, during the Little Rock incident, and in October of 1959 was assigned to the command of the 24th Division.

Aside from his military record, General Walker is known for his militant opposition to communism. He is a firm and outspoken exponent of Americanism. He is a student of history and an authority on the devious workings and objectives of the Communist conspiracy. The General senses an obligation to inculcate his troops with patriotism and with an understanding of their mission in the service, and also an understanding of the perils posed by the Communist conspiracy.

It will be recalled that many of the defections in the Korean war were traceable to lack of indoctrination of the troops in Americanism and the aims and objectives of the Reds. It was the general's zeal in attempting to prevent that condition among the troops in the 24th Division that led to the career assassination attempt against him by the Overseas Weekly.

In addition, General Walker is known for his desire to surround the GIs under his command with a climate of morality and clean living. Many of the troops are away from their home environments for the first time, and General Walker has shown a keen awareness of this fact in his efforts to provide for them the protection that every father and mother would want them to have.

OVERSEAS WEEKLY PROTESTS

In his active program in pursuance of these objectives, General Walker seems to have run into a conflict with the notorious Overseas Weekly, a tabloid that is published and sold chiefly on our military bases in Europe.

The basis for the attack by the Weekly seems to have stemmed from the undertaking of an Americanism program by General Walker among his troops, in connection with which he featured an exposure of the techniques and goals of communism.

Last October General Walker initiated what was known as the pro-blue program. Its purpose was to carry out the objectives to which I have already referred. The program was in accord with Army regulations and within the scope of official directives. It appears to have been consistent with regulations and directives from the Department of the Army, from USAREUR, and from the 7th Army in Germany which prompted it.

The propriety of initiating this Americanism program has wide support. The need and justification for it was cited in a speech by Mr. Frank Barnett, director of research, the Richardson Foundation, Inc., before the officer students of the Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, a few weeks ago, later placed in the March issue of "Military Review"—official Army magazine.

After discussing the cold war and Communist goals, Mr. Barnett stated:

For all these reasons, it is clear that the U.S. military—with its disciplined organization, training methods, and civilian contacts through ROTC, Reserves, and industry—can and must help others to wage nonmilitary warfare * * *. The free world needs guidance from its own professional students of strategy, tactics, and conflict.

The Army has recently published a position paper on cold war intelligence, Classified Army Regulation 515–1, titled, "Collateral Activities, Army Cold War Activities (U)," dated March 29, 1961. This AR defines troop information objectives and actions to be achieved in instructing American troops in cold war principles. It appears that the subject matter, methods, techniques, and precepts contained in AR 515–1 closely parallel those propounded by Mr. Barnett in his address to the Command and General Staff College. And this regulation very strongly reinforces the principles contained in the 24th Infantry Division pro-blue program.

THE PRO-BLUE PROGRAM

The pro-blue program simply teaches the soldier his American citizenship and it outlines the scope of communism and how it operates against the United States.

Maj. Arch E. Roberts drafted the original plan. I have sought and obtained information from him regarding it. In a recent letter to me he stated:

By way of introduction let me say that as Special Project Officer, 24th Infantry Division I, at the direction of Gen. Edwin A. Walker, then 24th Infantry Division Commander, prepared the division citizenship-in-service program and the subsequent, and enlarged, division pro-blue program which has come to be an issue of some note in Europe and in the United States.

A copy of the original draft was sent to me and I have examined it in detail. Most of it appears to have been incorporated in the final version. Excerpts from the official directives which established the 24th Division pro-blue program, follows:

II. OBJECTIVES

1. Communism.

(a) External: To orient military personnel and their dependents in the scope of world communism by studying the philosophy, objectives and imperialistic expansion of communism following World War II.

(b) Internal: To educate military personnel and their dependents in the technique of Communist infiltration, subversion and propaganda in influencing legal governments, seizing power, then ruling through brutality and fear.

(c) Military: To instruct military personnel and their dependents in the recognition of overt and covert Communist methodology in their attempt to subvert military morale, espirit, prestige and leadership.

2. American Citizenship.

(a) Origins of American culture: To appraise military personnel and their dependents of their personal stake in American political philosophy, the American concept of individual rights and freedoms, and the demand for individual belief, sacrifice and honor.

(b) The American military moral heritage: To motivate military personnel and their dependents in adherence to American moral forces and the precepts of individual dignity, the preciousness of every human soul, and the obligations of the conscientious citizen to his God, to his country, and to himself.

(c) Politics, U.S.A.: To inform military personnel and their dependents of the power of the American citizen as a unique political force, to study the structure of local, State and national political organizations, to review methods of assessing issues and candidates, to examine the techniques of Socialist Communist action, and to note how the American citizen can exert his power in the fight for freedom.

(d) Morale and mission: To indoctrinate military personnel in those aspects of body, mind, and spirit which have a material bearing on morale and mission in the 24th Infantry Division, to examine physiological and psychological factors which affect individual, unit, and division efficiency, i.e., morbidity, serious incidents, and court-martial, to create aggressive, disciplined, and spiritually motivated fighters for freedom.

The directive then outlines the mechanics of putting the pro-blue program into effect. This includes group instruction, the orientation of better communication, improved German-American relations, and the use of such publication as Taro Leaf, the division's paper, Army Times, Stars and Stripes, AFN Munich and other media available through Army public information channels.

OVERSEAS WEEKLY AND JOHN BIRCH SOCIETY

While this highly laudible program was in effect and apparently functioning successfully it was suddenly attacked by the Overseas Weekly. Thanks to the fertility of its imagination, the weekly decided the pro-blue program was nothing but a John Birch Society indoctrination plan. News stories to that effect were wired and radioed back to the States. In the April 16, 1961, issue of the Weekly there appeared an article headlined "Military Channels Used To Push Birch Ideas." The article follows:

AUGSBURG.—For the past year the 24th Infantry Division has been exposed to a propaganda barrage on the philosophy of the controversial John Birch Society. The principles of the ultraconservative, self-styled anti-Communist society have been published to the 13,000 men and 10,000 dependents of the division by its special warfare office which directs the pro-blue program.

The special warfare office and the pro-blue campaign were established by the division commander, Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker at a meeting last October 15.

Following the publication of that story General Walker was ordered by President Kennedy transferred from his post of Division Commander of the 24th Infantry Division in Germany to the U.S. Army Headquarters in Heidelberg, and an investigation of the charges was ordered. That investigation is presently being conducted by Lt. Gen. Frederic J. Brown, acting inspector general.

In the report on the incident reaching New York papers it was said that General Walker had instituted a special troop-indoctrination program using materials and publications of the John Birch Society. In reporting on General Walker's relief from command the New York Times on April 18 included the following:

In its report last week, "The Overseas Weekly" said that a "special warfare office" had been established within the division last October to conduct a "pro-blue" campaign. It said that the campaign was designed, in the General's words, to present "a positive approach toward the defeat of open Communist subversion of the American way of life." The name of the Birch Society's basic book of principles is the Blue Book.

Thus, Overseas Weekly very cleverly by innuendo attempted to leave the impression that the pro-blue program was, somehow, affiliated with the John Birch Society which uses a blue book.

In its attempt to prove its point, the Weekly, according to a story which appeared in the April 14 issue of the New York Herald Tribune, stated that "copies of a book by the society's founder, Robert Welch, Jr., 'The Life of John Birch,' have been distributed to all company and battery day rooms in the division."

This is more of the Weekly's [illegible]ndo. The fact is that the book on the life of John Birch has nothing whatever to do with the John Birch Society. It is simply the story of the murder of an American officer by Chinese Communists at the end of World War II. Moreover, Overseas Weekly in its desperation failed to mention the fact that the Birch book was but one of a number of anti-Communist publications made available to the troops. About other publications so distributed were "The Masters of Deceit," by J. Edgar Hoover; "A Guide to Anti-Communist Action," by Anthony T. Bouscaren; "The Techniques of Soviet Propaganda," prepared by the Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. Senate; "Techniques of Communism," by Louis F. Budenz; "In Every War But One," by Eugene Kinhead; "The Pentagon Case," by Col. Victor J. Fox; and "The Story of Mary Liu," by Richard Hunter.

In addition, I am informed that recently the authoritative speech entitled "A Proposal for Political Warfare," by Frank Barnett, to which I have already referred, was distributed to the troops.

If, as Overseas Weekly contends, the distribution of this material, and the discussion of the political philosophy contained in them, constitutes the promotion of the John Birch Society aims; and if, as the Weekly further contends, the 24th Division "pro-blue" program is engaged in the dissemination of the society's basic principles, then it would appear that every one in the service should investigate the principles and techniques of the John Birch Society since they appear to parallel the political philosophy, and the instructions, disseminated by official military authorities since the end of World War II.

When asked about the Weekly charges, General Walker on April 14 stated that the "pro-blue" program was "not associated or affiliated with any organization or society. It is designed to develop the understanding of American military and civil heritage, and the tactics and objectives of those enemies who would destroy us."

Major Roberts, who as projects officer for the 24th Division drafted the "pro-blue" program, says at that time he had never even heard of the John Birch Society. Major Roberts reports that in a meeting with General Walker last October while the program was being formulated, the general stated that he did not care what the men and officers called this new program, just so they understood that it was to be anti-Red. Walker then noted that it would be alright with him if, to emphasize the anti-Red concept, they identified it in their minds as "pro-blue." It may be noted that the Navy and Air Force each have blue books used in their personnel training.

MOTIVES OF OVERSEAS WEEKLY

It thus appearing that there is no relationship between the "pro-blue" program and the John Birch Society, the question arises: What was the motive behind the attack launched against General Walker by the Overseas Weekly? One motive may be found in a paragraph carried in the New York Her[illegible] Tribune of April 17, which reads:

General Walker and the Overseas Weekly have been feuding since the general banned one of the newspaper's reporters from the 24th Division installations.

That story referred to action taken against a reporter on the Overseas Weekly by the name of Siegfried Naujocks. The latter, who continues as a Weekly reporter, is a native of Danzig, Poland, and is now in Germany on a German passport. I understand he once worked in the propaganda ministry of the Nazis but was later shipped to the Eastern Front.

Naujocks was caught in the act of seeking a pipeline into the command headquarters for the purpose of obtaining information which he meant to use to smear General Walker, and after admitting his guilt he was barred from further use of the bases under Walker's command.

That incident seems to have hurt the feelings of the chief owner and publisher of the Overseas Weekly, a Mrs. Marion von Rospach. And a little later she came out with the charges against General Walker who had expelled her ace reporter.

QUESTIONABLE REPUTATION OF OVERSEAS WEEKLY

Mr. Speaker, the fact that the Rospach charges are apparently spurious and phony gives rise to a question of the character and policies of the Overseas Weekly. A recent Army Times editorial on the Walker case contains this comment:

We don't think much of the Overseas Weekly. Called the Oversexed Weekly by the troops, it has been termed "subversive to the command"—by an admitted adherent of General Walker—"since it carries news calculated to destroy unit loyalty, smear noncommissioned leaders, and assist anti-American forces in their campaign to disunite NATO by portraying the American soldier as rowdy, disorderly, dishonest, and immoral."

General Walker himself, who should be in a position to know whereof he speaks, has described the Weekly as immoral, unscrupulous, incompetent, and destructive.

Lt. Gen. Charles I. Bolte, commanding general of the Army in Europe in 1953, banned the Overseas Weekly as unfit for American servicemen.

General Bolte has recently said that Mrs. von Rospach visited him in Heidelberg, Germany, with her lawyers, and that he agreed to reinstate the paper if it were cleaned up.

From looking at some of the issues of the tabloid it is easy for one to understand General Bolte's concern and why he would not allow the paper on military installations until a promise was made that it would be "cleaned up." Leads to stories in the paper often carried on the front page are lurid. "Model Won't Rest on Her Laurels," is an example. The first and last pages usually feature a large photo of a nearly-nude.

Another issue carried a full story on publication of Ladies Directory, listing "play-for-pay gals" by name and address in the Soho district in London, hinged on a court proceeding which occurred after issuance of the directory.

Still another provides the readers with information that one Martha Watts had written a 235 page book on "The Men in My Life," published in London, including the news that its author had been convicted 400 times for soliciting as a prostitute. Another carried a story on the British strippers in the Soho district, with explicit details as to clubs, extent of stripping, and the like.

A prominent story from Oversea's London correspondent contains a three-column headline, "Under-Counter Gal Book Center of United Kingdom Controversy."

These are but a few of hundreds of examples that could be cited to illustrate the chief characteristics of the Overseas Weekly. I would not contend that Mrs. von Rospach is not within her legal rights in publishing what she does. I do not know. My purpose is to illustrate the type of paper she chooses to publish. Apparently it sells because I understand she has made a lot of money out of this enterprise.

Many complain that the paper overemphasizes derelictions of GI's, and by following a consistent policy in that regard the effect is to place all troops in a generally bad light in the eyes of Europeans. Crime, sex, and debauchery are prominently portrayed. "Bamberg Citizens Groaning About New GI Incidents," one typical headline proclaims. Another says "Bamberg Madam Took Advantage of Girls, GI's."

It is this type of publication that is credited with causing one of our great combat soldiers, General Walker, to be relieved of his command. Surely this mistake will be rectified as a result of the investigation of Overseas Weekly's charges. Today of all times we need to reward rather than penalize those who preach patriotism and who expose the evils of our mortal enemy—communism. From all evidence available it would seem that the "pro-blue" program, or something very similar to it, should be adopted as a model for use in all our military installations all over the world. And General Walker should be given appropriate official recognition for having initiated it.

OVERSEAS WEEKLY SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

There appears to be ample reason why the Department of Defense should initiate an investigation of Overseas Weekly and its publishers. It is widely alleged that the paper is having an adverse effect upon our position in the NATO setup, and tends to have a demoralizing effect on the troops who read its issues over a period of time. Editorial motivations should be carefully studied and evaluated. Such an investigation could determine more accurately the question of whether this or any other similar publication should have official accreditation to do business on Government bases.

Mr. Speaker, the Walker case involves serious business—very serious business. Here is involved a man whose reputation as a combat leader was earned on the field of battle in the midst of hot warfare. This man's heroic achievements have earned for him the plaudits and recognition of a grateful Nation.

Surely General Walker's military career is not to be jeopardized now by unfounded and insignificant charges made by a highly questionable get-rich-quick tabloid publication—the notorious Overseas Weekly.

PROPOSED SPECIAL HOUSE COMMITTEE ON CAPTIVE NATIONS

The SPEAKER. Under previous order of the House, the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. DERWINSKI] is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. DERWINSKI. Mr. Speaker, next week President Kennedy will face Soviet Dictator Khrushchev at a summit conference. All Americans fervently desire the President to speak from a position of strength and firmness. We, as Members of the House, want President Kennedy to know that he carries the hopes of America and the entire free world, and he certainly has the support of Congress as he attempts to develop an effective foreign policy against Soviet financed and directed worldwide Communist activity.

We realize as observers of recent history and students of Soviet Russian diplomatic history that the so-called summit conferences, starting with President Roosevelt's meetings with Stalin at Tehran and Yalta, continuing with President Truman's meeting with Stalin at Potsdam, on through President Eisenhower's meetings with Khrushchev, have resulted in the United States being outmaneuvered diplomatically if for no other reason than we have trusted the Communist rulers while they see fit to break every pledge and commitment that they give. This cannot happen again. That is why I call to the attention of the President the fact that the House of Representatives is ready, willing, and able to cooperate with him to generate for this country a sustained foreign policy counteroffensive against the hypocrisy of the Soviet Union and its illegitimate empire.

I certainly hope that in the preliminary negotiations and preparations for this meeting we have not already made concessions or are about to make concessions that will be used to the advantage of the Soviets in world affairs. Only an inferior nation makes concessions at a conference. A nation such as the United States, honest and fearless in its conduct of international relations, need not be blackmailed or coerced into any improper concessions to the sinister forces that oppose us throughout the world.

My purpose, Mr. Speaker, in addressing the House this afternoon, is to call to the attention of all the Members the willingness and determination of the Republican Members of the House to strengthen the hand of the President, to strengthen the officials of our State Department, and to strengthen the position of our Ambassador to the United Nations by cooperating in the creation of the Special House Committee on Captive Nations. Many of the Members recall, I am sure, the previous occasions when I have addressed myself to the formation of this committee. Our distinguished colleague from Pennsylvania [Mr. FLOOD], has addressed you on the same subject on numerous instances. The very fact that the House in this bipartisan spirit has discussed and is processing the creation of this committee should invigorate any faint hearts that may beat in our State Department ranks. The House Rules Committee has before it various resolutions authorizing this Special Committee on Captive Nations. It is my hope that we would move as swiftly as possible in authorizing this committee so that its merits, practicality and usefulness to our President, State Department and United Nations Ambassador may be realized at the earliest possible time.

Mr. Speaker, at this point in the RECORD, I wish to insert a statement of policy that was approved by the House Republican Policy Committee yesterday in support of my resolution to create a Special House Committee on Captive Nations:

STATEMENT OF POLICY OF HOUSE REPUBLICAN POLICY COMMITTEE

The Republican policy committee of the House of Representatives urges the adoption of House Resolution 267 providing for the creation of a bipartisan congressional committee to be known as the Special Committee on the Captive Nations.

1. The primary issue of our times is the struggle between atheistic, totalitarian, imperialist Communist slavery and the libertarian governments of the free world.

2. The nature of this struggle is primarily psycho-political and the Soviet Union depends heavily upon propaganda as it wages its campaign of subversion and aggression. This propaganda is based upon the demonstrably false promise that world communism seeks to liberate the peoples of developing nations from colonialism and imperialism.

3. This fallacious promise can be effectively countered by the assembling and forthright utilization of all the truths and facts pertaining to the enslaved condition of Albania, Armenia, Azerbaijan, Bulgaria, mainland China, Cossackia, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Estonia, Georgia, Hungary, Idel-Ural, Latvia, Lithuania, North Korea, North Vietnam, Poland, Rumania, Tibet, Turkestan, Ukraine, White Ruthenia, and other subjugated nations.

4. The Soviet Union has displayed to all the world its profound fear of growing free world knowledge of and interest in its brutal suppression of the people of these captive nations.

5. The captive nations constitute a primary deterrent against a hot global war and further overt aggression by the Soviet and Chinese Reds as well as a positive means for the advancement of world freedom in this psycho-political struggle.

6. The President and the Department of State will draw needed strength in this struggle from a continuing expose of Soviet imperialism.

I wish to point out that the following Republican House Members have introduced similar resolutions: Mr. AYRES, Mr. BOW, Mr. BRUCE, Mrs. CHURCH, Mr. COLLIER, Mr. CONTE, Mr. CORBETT, Mr. CUNNINGHAM, Mrs. DWYER, Mr. HALPERN, Mr. MILLER of New York, Mr. SCRANTON, Mr. SIBAL, and Mr. WALLHAUSER.

In the last few months, I have been in communication with organizations representing various nationality groups in the United States who maintain an interest in the captive peoples behind the Iron Curtain. They are all in basic agreement that this committee would be a practical, helpful instrument of the House and assure us of their ability and willingness to cooperate in the work of the committee.

We are all in agreement, I trust, that the House should do all within its power to expose the Soviet hypocrisy of which I speak. The colonial Union of Soviet Socialist Republics should receive the scrutiny of peoples of the free world and this committee, as I have indicated on so many occasions, would be ideally equipped to put the spotlight on this circumstance, with the facts and information that could be obtained.

Mr. Speaker, we are all aware of the propaganda statements of the Soviet Union exaggerating the political, economic and social problems here in the United States. They seek to portray the United States in a most untruthful light deliberately exaggerating the problems which we acknowledge are ours and are working steadily to overcome.

The Soviet Union is the greatest prison camp the world has ever seen. The Russian people themselves are prisoners of their own government. Actually, they belong to the Government. Their government does not truly serve them. There is discrimination in the Soviet Union against minority racial groups. There is discrimination by the Soviet Union against the Moslem, Christian and Hebrew religions. There is discrimination in the Soviet Union against minority nationalities. There is naturally not only discrimination but complete deprival of human rights for anyone disagreeing with Communist ideology.

Mr. SCRANTON. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. DERWINSKI. I yield.

Mr. SCRANTON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to compliment the gentleman on bringing this matter to the attention of the House, particularly at this time. We all remember that some 2 years ago when the Congress of the United States passed a resolution establishing Captive Nations Week that it made a very profound impression on the Kremlin and on Mr. Khrushchev himself who was exposed to our merriment at the time he came over here on his famous tour of the United States. I think it is equally true that at this particular moment just previous to our President's making his trip to Europe and meeting with Mr. Khrushchev that the Congress should again take unto themselves the opportunity of making this very profound commitment by establishing the Captive Nations Committee so it will be very clear not only to Mr. Khrushchev but also to all the peoples behind the Iron Curtain that this Nation and this body are as interested as ever in them and in their ultimate freedom. Again I compliment the gentleman on bringing it to us at this time. I sincerely hope the House of Representatives will pass the resolution indicative of this and establish the Captive Nations Committee.

RE: THE FLORIDA COALITION OF PATRIOTIC SOCIETIES
WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA
INTERNAL SECURITY - SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

A source at West Palm Beach, Florida, advised on March 4, 1963, that the above-captioned organization headed by Mr. ROBERT C. KIME, a Palm Beach, Florida attorney, whose wife, MARJORIE NILES KIME, is the editor of the organization's Bulletin, sponsored a joint speech at the George Washington Hotel, West Palm Beach, Florida, by Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS and General EDWIN A. WALKER on March 1, 1963. The appearance of HARGIS and WALKER was in turn under the sponsorship of the Christian Crusade, Tulsa, Oklahoma, who are touring several states in a project known as "Operation Midnight Ride."

Dr. HARGIS spoke initially to the group of approximately one thousand persons, outlining the tour which will touch about thirty cities; purpose of it is to awaken people to the Communist threat, and the present administration's lax attitude. HARGIS attacked a local reporter and was very critical of the Liberal Press for omitting truths stating he wanted fair presentation by news media and that the Conservatives should press for States Rights and a fair press. The public should listen to CARL MC INTYRE, PAUL HARVEY, FULTON LEWIS, JR., and the John Birch Society, all of whom are for States Rights, and religious freedoms. He stated America's only hope for the future is militant action in getting rid of Communism in Cuba. HARGIS made reference to a recent speech by JOHN EDGAR HOOVER concerning the internal strength of the Communist Party, stated Communism is not interested in Negroes and that the Government should outlaw the Communist Party, treat them as traitors, ship them all out of the country. He mentioned that the Supreme Court's action has destroyed the Smith Act which is a law and that the Attorney General ROBERT KENNEDY has not prosecuted any Communist because it would be too difficult and he should, therefore, resign. HARGIS pointed out a principal objective of the Communist Party is to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities and brought out a vote in Congress this past week as illustration.

RE: THE FLORIDA COALITION
WEST PALM BEACH, FLORIDA

HARGIS recommended that to become better informed, the public should get on mailing lists of the Christian Crusade, the Florida Coalition of Patriotic Societies, the Daily Congressional Record, write to their Congressmen, get into precinct politics and vote.

General WALKER spoke second and attempted to justify his attempt to politically indoctrinate his troops in Europe and to keep from being suppressed, he resigned his $17,000 yearly retirement to champion the cause of Americanism. He stated the military is not informed on the Cuban situation and that the members of Congress are not representing the people of this country. WALKER claimed that the United States Military are being subverted to United Nations policies and that control of the United States Military is being integrated with the UN Forces. WALKER stated that the Supreme Court ruling on teaching of religion in the public schools is a UN policy for One Worldism and Godless. He added that the United States soldiers overseas are better representatives than any other Governmental Agency, specifically the State Department and Foreign Service. WALKER claimed that the Peace Corp are being trained by Communists within our own country, that we are losing the war in Viet Nam with casualties being kept from the public and that our Government is turning Socialistic. WALKER stated that the New Frontier strangles the military, controls the military politically, that the UN is a Communist Front and desires that the United States military be placed under UN control.

General WALKER mentioned briefly the Oxford, Mississippi situation and that he went there only as an observer and did not agitate. He remarked that if the Government had any such evidence of his actions, BOBBY KENNEDY would have let him rot in jail. WALKER stated that the United States went into Mississippi to suppress States Rights and not because of a Negro situation and that the people will rally around to his way of thinking comes the next election and that he was a political prisoner of the United States Government.

Hargis Launches Tirade Against Paper, Reporter

I've Been Mad All Day – Crusader

By EDITH RAYNIE
Palm Beach Post Staff

Christian Crusader Billy James Hargis whipped a crowd of about 1,000 into repeated applause Friday night with a finger-jabbing, rip-roaring attack on this reporter, and newspapers in general.

Supposedly appearing to speak on homefront communism, Hargis spent 25 minutes of his hour in a vocal assault on "your local newspaper and that woman sitting here in the front row."

"We never get fair reporting in newspapers," Hargis shouted. "But I have never heard a more loaded question than she asked at our press conference this morning and [illegible]

Hargis failed to explain the "misquote," and a few minutes later, roared: "I haven't read her story in this afternoon's paper, and I don't intend to. I wouldn't spend the nickel to buy it."

"They never tell what we say," he hollered, waving his arms and pounding the rostrum. "They tell how we take up donations, and sell books, and pass the ice-cream buckets for money . . . but they don't tell what we say."

"I'm sick and tired of this lopsided, unfair, biased, liberal reporting," he yelled, wiping his sweating face with a handkerchief.

The 250-pound Christian Crusader pointed his finger at this reporter to emphasize each word, and roared:

"I've been mad all day, and just waiting for this night. What she did is just like waving a red flag before a bull."

The crowd applauded and several yelled: "That's telling her, Billy!"

"This area is just like the rest of the country. . . filled with liberal newspapers who won't tell you what we say. Well, we're gonna start our own newspaper, I can tell you that."

"And for your information, lady, every word I'm saying is being recorded on a tape recorder for a permanent record."

It was. . . until the last 15 minutes of Hargis' speech when the tape recorder was cut off for the financial appeal to the audience.

Persons attending the rally paid a dollar admission to get in; bought books and pamphlets, and then wrote checks on blanks provided by the Hargis group, put them in envelopes, and dropped them in what the Christian Crusader called "ice cream buckets."

At one point in Hargis' speech, the crowd gave him a standing ovation. This reporter was taking notes and did not rise, and several voices in the middle rows yelled:

"What's the matter with that d. . . . reporter? Can't she stand up?"

Hargis said the only publication "worth reading in this country is the Congressional Record. It will do you more good than all the newspapers and magazines put together."

Walker, billed as chief speaker, of the night, sat on the platform with a half smile on his face while Hargis spoke, and while the hefty speaker joked with the crowd as the money collection was taking place.

Walker finally took the speakers stand at 9:17, when Hargis said "Now we'll sit right down for Gen. Walker's little speech."

The ex-Army officer told the crowd that "one newspaper, like here, I'm sure, said I am attacking the military forces of this country."

He did not identify the paper, or refer to it further in his speech to the crowd at the Hotel George Washington.

The Hargis attack on this reporter was triggered by a morning press conference that came to an abrupt end, almost before it began, with the following question:

"Gen. Walker, you led federal troops in the Little Rock, Ark., integration crisis, you were charged with leading student riots at the University of Mississippi. There are reports you will go to Alabama when integration is tried there. If so, which side will you be on this time?"

Gen. Walker's answer: "I went to Mississippi because of Cuba, and I came to Florida because of Cuba. If I go to Alabama, it will be because of Cuba, and I hope you print that in your paper."

Gen. Walker, in his speech, said the U. S. is headed for a welfare state and for state control.

When the federal government begins attacking state sovereignty, liquidation of government by the people is underway, he said.

"We are trapped in a two-party system that does not truly represent us," Walker added.

Hargis and Walker, sponsored by the Christian Crusade and Friends of Walker, appeared in West Palm Beach last night in the second show of a 17-state tour aimed at national and international communism.

No accounting of the money taken in at last night's rally was announced. Hargis said anybody could get an audit of the Christian Crusade financial structure by writing and asking for it.

At a late hour Gen. Walker was still speaking, and The Palm Beach Post deadline cut off any further coverage of his talk.

An article in the Tampa Times, Tampa, Florida, issue February 20, 1963, advised that General Edwin A. Walker and Evangelist Billy James Hargis will speak in Tampa, Florida, sometime early in March.

The article indicated that Hargis had announced that he and General Walker, described in the article as a controversial figure in last Fall's riots at Oxford, Mississippi, have joined forces "to expose the mechanisms and threats of communism internally," and will make a cross-country speaking tour, which is to begin in Miami on February 27, 1963.

The tour, called "Operation: Midnight Ride," will see Walker and Hargis keeping one-night speaking dates in twenty-seven cities, ending five weeks later in Los Angeles, according to the article.

Hargis said the title of the tour was inspired by Paul Revere's famed ride.

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 24, 1963 that Reverend Oren Fenton Potito, National Organizer of the National States Rights Party, has stated that General Edwin A. Walker is visiting him, Potito, in St. Petersburg at the present time. Source said Potito indicated that Walker is expected to remain in St. Petersburg until approximately March 1, 1963, also that Walker is to make a speech at Tampa, Florida.

III. Status of Pending Integration Suits

The "Tampa Tribune", Tampa, Florida, issue March 28, 1963, advised that JAMES A. HAMMOND, self-employed electrical contractor, and HAZEL LOUISE GIBSON, high school teacher, two Tampa Negroes, had on March 27, 1963 filed a suit in the United States District Court, Tampa, seeking to integrate the University of Tampa.

The article advised that defendents in the case were shown as the University; CARL D. BROREIN, Chairman of the Board of Trustees; the individual members of the Board; University President DAVID M. DELO; JAMES W. COVINGTON, Dean of the Evening Division of the University; and WILLIS J. DUNN, Director of Admissions and Registrar.

Plaintiffs charged in their Petition that they were prevented from enrollment in evening division courses "solely on the basis of race". The suit alleges the University is not a private institution, that it depends on Governmental support, further alleging that the University has received substantial economical support in the past from the city of Tampa, Hillsborough County, as well as the State and Federal Government, since its establishment in 1930.

IV. General Racial Conditions

Lee County

ROBERT KREAGER, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Fort Myers, Florida, stated on February 27, 1963 that the Florida Council on Human Relations had then recently held a meeting at Fort Myers, same attended by a "mixed" group of ten white persons and seven Negroes. Among matters discussed at this meeting was the problem of removal of discriminatory signs (on basis of color) on the rest room doors of the Lee County Building. A "Statement of Purpose", text of which was made available to those present, advised "The Florida Council on Human Relations is helping our state to meet the change in a thoughtful and constructive manner. Using the tools of education, mediation and consultation,it provides vital assistance and background for orderly transition into a productive future by increasing the levels of understanding and friendship among the peoples of differing races, creeds, colors and other variations of background".

Manatee County

Lieutenant Governor PAUL B. JOHNSON, JR., State of Mississippi, described as a "segregation leader", spoke to a "fair-sized crowd" at the Municipal Auditorium, Bradenton, Florida on the evening of March 8, 1963, according to an article appearing in the "Bradenton Herald", Bradenton, Florida, issue March 9, 1963. The meeting was sponsored by the Manatee County Citizens Council, according to the article, and JOHNSON's speech was principally an anti-KENNEDY administration one. The article said Lieutenant Governor JOHNSON was accompanied to Bradenton by LOUIS W. HOLLIS of Jackson, Mississippi, National Executive Director of The Citizens Council.

A second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on March 20, 1963 that a regular meeting of the Manatee County Citizens Council was held at Bradenton on March 16, 1963, 41 persons being in attendance.

On March 18, 1963, a public meeting was held at the American Legion Building, Sarasota, Florida, same being co-sponsored by the Manatee County Citizens Council and the American Legion at Sarasota, according to source. KARL BAARSLAG, Commander of the Sarasota American Legion Post, spoke to approximately 100 persons present concerning the basic concepts of communism and its inroads into the United States.

Source said the Citizens Council was not mentioned at the March, 1963 meeting, however, JAMES LAWRENCE HARRISON, JR. of Bradenton, Florida appeared to be the organizer of the said meeting, and HARRISON was heard to state that more meetings would follow and that a Sarasota Chapter of the Citizens Council would be organized.

Relative to JAMES LAWRENCE HARRISON, JR., it is to be noted that an article in "The News", Sarasota, Florida, issue

November 14, 1962, called attention to the fact that the Manatee County Citizens Council meeting held at Bradenton, Florida on November 13, 1962 was sponsored by certain individuals in Sarasota County who have been associated with the Ku Klux Klan, including JAMES HARRISON, JR.

A third source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, stated on January 14, 1963 that HARRISON was in attendance at a state officers meeting of the United Florida Ku Klux Klan held at Orlando, Florida on January 13, 1963, at which time he reported to the klan concerning activities of the Manatee County Citizens Council.

Pinellas County

An article in the "St. Petersburg Times", St. Petersburg, Florida, issue March 11, 1963, called attention to the fact that ISAIAH WILLIAMS, Negro attorney, was one of two candidates for St. Petersburg councilman nominated in the District 5 primary election on March 5, 1963. It was pointed out, however, that WILLIAMS received most of his votes in Precinct 61 of District 5, which has a heavy Negro population; also that if WILLIAMS were to receive all of the Negro votes in District 5 on election day (March 19, 1963), he would still need an estimated 14,866 "white votes" to win the council seat.

The St. Petersburg Youth Council of the NAACP sponsored a mass meeting at 4 P.M., March 10, 1963, at the New Hope Missionary Baptist Church, according to an article in the "St. Petersburg Times", said date. ROBERT W. SAUNDERS, Field Secretary, NAACP, was to be the main speaker, according to the article.

Miscellaneous

An article in "The Tampa Times", issue March 5, 1963, advised that former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, described as "center of controversy during the recent riots at the University of Mississippi", spoke before 1,000 people at McKay Auditorium, Tampa, on the evening of March 4, 1963 "delivering an attack against the KENNEDY administration". The article said WALKER's appearance in Tampa is one of 30 speaking engagements on a nation-wide tour labeled "Operation-Midnight Ride", and that he spoke in Miami, West Palm Beach and Orlando, Florida before coming to Tampa, and was to speak at Jacksonville, Florida on March 6, 1963 before leaving the state.

"The Tampa Times, Tampa, Florida, issue March 5, 1963, indicated that Reverend BILLY/HARGIS shared the platform with WALKER, leading the program with a "polished denunciation of the communist conspiracy in the world and more particularly in the United States".

Local newspapers in the Tampa, Florida area carried articles during mid-March, 1963 concerning the 11th Annual Southeastern Regional Conference of the NAACP which was held at Tampa within a four day period from March 14 to March 17, 1963. The States of Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Mississippi and Florida were represented at the Conference, according to the articles, with more than 200 branches of the NAACP being represented with delegates. The theme of the Tampa Conference was "Full Emancipation Now".

An article in the "St. Petersburg Times", issue March 14, 1963, indicated that afternoon workshops were scheduled during the Conference, the following topics and sub-topics being discussed:

"Civil Rights Progress and Needs in the Emancipation Centennial Year."

A. Current Status of the Negro in the Political Life of the South.

B. Trends in Voter Registration Among Negroes.

C. Negroes in Elected Offices in the South.

D. Attitudes of State and Municipal Officials Toward Minority Group Needs.

"Key Problems Facing Negroes in the South at the Beginning of the Second Century of Emancipation".

RACIAL SITUATION

A. Overcoming the Barrier of Tokenism in School Integration.

B. Improving the Extent of Job Opportunities for Negro Youth.

C. The Challenge of Making Public Accomodations Available to All.

"Distinctive Contributions That Can Be Made By Religious Groups in Completing the Task of Emancipation".

A. Inter-Faith Cooperation in the Area of Racial Justice.

B. Mobilizing the Economic Resources of the Negro Community in Defense of Basic Rights.

C. Motivating Negro Youth to Prepare for New Opportunities.

D. Supporting the NAACP Centennial; Financial and Membership Crusades in the Churches.

On the evening of March 16, 1963, the NAACP held an awards dinner in the gymnasium of the Howard W. Blake Senior High School. Awards were presented to JAMES MEREDITH, first Negro student admitted to the University of Mississippi; HARVEY GANTT, who broke the racial barrier at Clemson College; CHARLENE HUNTER and HAMILTON HOLMES, both students at the University of Georgia, as well as GEORGE ALLEN, first Negro student to finish law school at the University of Georgia. The Harry T. Moore Memorial Trophy was presented to the state having the highest percentage of increased membership during 1962, said award being given in honor of a Florida NAACP leader who was slain because of his efforts against racial segregation.

A fourth source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, stated on March 21, 1963 that delegates at the Southeastern Regional Conference decided that Negro voter registration is the most important issue for the NAACP to push in states represented at the Conference, therefore, much emphasis will be given to increasing the number of Negroes registered to vote during coming months.

Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Because of my utmost admiration and respect for the integrity and efficiency of you and your organization, I am writing to find out the credibility of the enclosed articles published by the Southern States Industrial Council, 1103-1111 Stahlman Building, Nashville 3, Tennessee. These are thermo-fax copies of the two inside pages of their bulletin of March 15, 1963, which is published semi-monthly. I am also interested in knowing if the publisher of this material is a reliable source of information.

In addition, I would also appreciate a report on the loyalty and integrity of the following named men:

General Edwin A. Walker
4011 Turtle Creek Blvd.
Dallas, Texas

Billy James Harris
Christian Crusade
Tulsa 2, Oklahoma

These two men held a public meeting in our City Auditorium earlier this month. I had another engagement and was unable to attend the meeting, but my parents and sister did go and hear Messrs. Walker and Harris. My family were disturbed by what was said. Some of the statements made seemed to be along the same line as that of the enclosed articles from the Southern States Industrial Council.

As a loyal citizen of this country, I am concerned in learning the truth about these matters and will appreciate hearing from you.

Gratefully yours,

Character: RACIAL MATTERS

Synopsis: Klavern #335, West Columbia, S. C., continues to be the only active Klavern of ASCK in EDSC with average of 7-9 at monthly meetings. A cross was burned on leased property on 6/10/63 at West Columbia, S. C., and one on 6/28/63 at Eastover, S. C., followed by a short motorcade in Eastover, which attracted little attention. Little has been said about the Majority Citizens League. At a state meeting of ASCK on 7/7/63, members approved joining the National KKK with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. A social outing was held in Orangeburg, S. C., sponsored by members of ASCK in Orangeburg on 6/14/63. Klaverns at Charleston and N. Charleston still inactive, but attempts being encouraged to recruit members there.

The above information was furnished by SV T-1 on March 21, 1963, April 10, 1963, April 25, 1963, May 7, 1963, May 16, 1963, June 5, 1963, June 17, 1963, July 5, 1963, July 18, 1963.

5. FINANCES

SV T-1 advised he has no further information concerning the balance in the Klavern treasury.

6. Activities of Klavern

SV T-1 advised on March 21, 1963, that at a meeting on March 11, 1963, they just had a round table discussion of the over-all lack of interest in the organization.

Those present were urged to attend the public rally at the Municipal Auditorium in Greenville, S. C., on March 12, 1963, where General EDWIN C. WALKER and Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS, a preacher from Tulsa, Oklahoma, were having a program on the dangers of Communism.

Informant advised on March 21, 1963, that at a meeting on March 18, 1963, [redacted] gave a talk on the rally held in Greenville, S. C., on March 12, 1963, by General WALKER and Rev. HARGIS. He said that both gave very good talks on the dangers of Communism. 7C

[redacted] claimed that about 2000 persons were present and cards were passed out inside the meeting for membership in the Majority Citizens League. 7C

SV T-1 advised on April 10, 1963, that at a meeting on March 25, 1963, [redacted] gave a short talk on the objectives of the Majority Citizens League but did not indicate any plans for that organization. 7C

He advised on April 10, 1963, that at a meeting on April 1, 1963, [redacted] did most of the talking and discussed the Majority Citizens League. He claimed he had received an inquiry from West Virginia concerning this organization. No plans were made concerning the Majority Citizens League. 7C

The proposition of changing the location and character of the meeting place was again discussed with one of those who had previously proposed it suggesting a location and also suggesting that the place be made, in effect, a social club and more or less of a gambling house. None of the other members present were in favor of it, and the former Exalted Cyclops expressed himself as definitely against it. It was not expected that anything further would be heard about this.

commented the state headquarters of ASCK does not seem to be doing much, but he intends to keep the Lancaster Klavern going even if the state headquarters quits. There was some comment about the article in the Greenville newspaper on February 20, 1963, about MCL being a front for ASCK. This article had been mentioned and partially quoted in the Columbia newspapers.

Report: 3/6/63

Informant stated that as of that date 20 individuals in Lancaster and vicinity were known to be dues-paid members of MCL. All but one of these are known to him to be present members of the Lancaster Klavern of ASCK, and the other one has been a member in the past but is not a dues-paid member for 1963 of ASCK.

[redacted] 7D

Two of the members told about the public meeting in Greenville on March 12, 1963, that had been addressed by General WALKER and Reverend BILLY JAMES HARGIS. They said the speakers had been against policies of the National Administration in foreign affairs and as to integration policies.

[redacted] 7D

No formal meeting was held, and the time was devoted to discussion of a barbecue to be held at the next Klavern meeting on April 28, 1963.

L. Laurens, South Carolina, Klavern 802

On February 11, 1963, T-9 stated this Klavern has not been reactivated. He is in close contact with former active members of the Klavern, and there is no indication any group is organizing at present in Laurens County.

On February 12, 1963, T-5 stated there is no Klavern in Laurens County and no indication of efforts to reorganize the old one or to set up a new one.

On February 12, 1963, T-2 said there is no indication any Klavern now exists in Laurens County, and he believes it will remain inactive.

M. Newberry, South Carolina, Klavern 790

The following information was furnished by T-2 on the dates indicated:

This meeting consisted of a showing of the film, "The Birth of a Nation," which was stated to belong to ROBERT HODGES, State Secretary of ASCK.

APPENDIX

ASSOCIATION OF CAROLINA KLANS (ACK)

A source advised on September 2, 1950, that the Association of Carolina Klans (ACK) was composed of groups formerly members of the Association of Georgia Klans (AGK) and although ACK severed all connections with AGK on November 14, 1949, the ideals, purposes, and policies of the two organizations remained identical. ACK became defunct after conviction and imprisonment of its highest official and other members in 1952.

AGK has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

CITIZENS COUNCIL OF GREENVILLE, SOUTH CAROLINA
RACIAL MATTERS

On March 9, 1963, [redacted] Greenville News, Greenville, South Carolina, daily newspaper, advised that Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS and GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER were scheduled to speak at the Greenville Memorial Auditorium at 7:30 p.m., March 12, 1963, which was one of a series of speaking engagements they were undertaking under the title of "Operation Midnight Ride." He said the speakings were apparently sponsored by the Christian Crusade, but that the auditorium was rented by Elmer Rumminger, Publicity Director at Bob Jones University; James Ryerson, Manager of Radio Station WMUU, which station is owned and operated by Bob Jones University; and Robert Harrison, who is listed as "Host" at Bob Jones University. He said it was his information that the Greenville Citizens Council had sent out letters to its members and mailing lists sponsoring this speaking, but said he did not know whether they were actually sponsoring it or merely using this opportunity to further their own interests.

He advised that the officers of the Greenville Citizens Council include William Lowndes of Southern Weaving Company, President; F. A. Lawton of Lawton Lumber Company, Secretary; and Dr. Thomas Parker, a member of the Greenville City Council, possibly a Vice-President; and said they are all responsible local citizens of good character and reputation, and are of considerable local prominence. He said that because [redacted] editorials in reference to the peaceful admission of Harvey Gantt, Negro, to Clemson College, [redacted] claiming that he has advocated the integration of Clemson College. He said this position is not true because he has at no time advocated the integration of Clemson College, but has only advocated and worked with State and College Officials in trying to keep the integration forced on the college by the Courts peaceful, and to avoid the situation which arose at the University of Mississippi. He said that while he has no knowledge that [redacted] are members of the John Birch Society, their approach to the communist problem is similar to that of the John Birch Society in that they denounce everyone who does not concur with their beliefs as being opposed to their beliefs because of communist inclinations. 1/ TD

On March 12, 1963, [redacted] advised that as a result of an editorial [redacted] printed in the Greenville News on Sunday March 10, 1963, entitled, "Caution in Order at Meeting" in which [redacted] exposed the interest being taken in the speeches of Dr. Hargis and General Walker by the Majority Citizens League, a front organization of the Association of South Carolina Klans, he received a letter from [redacted] in which he was critical of [redacted] editorial. 1/ TD

On March 12, 1963, [redacted] advised that on March 12, 1963, [redacted] Greenville, South Carolina, had informed him that following publicity which had been given to HARRY and BONARO OVERSTREET being invited to speak at a Church Youth Conference on March 22 and 23, 1963, and at a rally of the Baptist Student Union on night of March 23, 1963, [redacted] had been one of a number of local citizens who had telephoned him protesting the invitations extended to the Overstreets stating he did so on the grounds that the Overstreets had previously been exposed as belonging to communist front organizations. [redacted] said that he now recalls that about a year or more ago when the John Birch Society was receiving publicity locally about the organization of a chapter in Greenville, he recalls that [redacted] made 1/ TD

the statement that he was a member of the original John Birch Society chapter somewhere in Massachusetts. He further advised that he has received information that [redacted] has confided to certain persons that he will not be [redacted] in order that he can devote his entire time to anti-communist activities. 7D

On March 16, 1963, [redacted] advised that as a result of the article written by J. Hunter Stokes in the Greenville News on December 13, 1963, with regard to the speeches of Dr. Hargis and General Walker at the Memorial Auditorium on the night of March 12, 1963, he received a critical letter [redacted] 7D

ASSOCIATION OF SOUTH CAROLINA KLANS
KNIGHTS OF THE KU KLUX KLAN (ASCK)

A source advised on September 24, 1956, that the Association of South Carolina Klans (ASCK) was organized in the Fall of 1955 and is patterned after the Association of Carolina Klans (ACK). This source said ASCK is a new organization and not a rebirth of ACK, although all high-ranking officials of ASCK had been members of ACK. The source stated announced purposes of this organization are to promote white supremacy and combat integration of the races; however, the use of violence is disavowed.

A second source advised on September 2, 1950, that ACK was composed of groups formerly members of the Association of Georgia Klans (AGK) and although ACK severed all connections with AGK on November 14, 1949, the ideals, purposes and policies of the two organizations remained identical. ACK became defunct after conviction and imprisonment of its highest official and other members in 1952.

A third source advised on April 16, 1962, that ASCK continues to operate for the purpose of promoting white supremacy and combating integration by peaceful means by public speaking and propaganda.

This third source said that ASCK, using the name Majority Citizens League of South Carolina, published a monthly newspaper, "Southland Standard," from August through December, 1961, and dropped it due to lack of financial support.

AGK has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Dr. Hargis, Gen. Walker Blast Press

Several Targets Hit In 'Operation Midnight Ride'

By J. HUNTER STOKES

The "Operation Midnight Ride" of Evangelist Dr. Billy James Hargis and former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker moved here last night with another flow of bitter words that continued the scathing attack of the two speakers against targets they have battered before.

An audience Dr. Hargis estimated at some 2,000, but, which appeared to others to be close to 1,200, sat through a three-hour marathon of speaking at Memorial Auditorium.

Dr. Hargis spoke an hour. The "principal speaker," Gen. Walker, talked for an hour and 45 minutes. Contributions were taken at the door and during an interval between speeches with many of the audience donating.

DENUNCIATION RENEWED

The National Council of Churches, both political parties and their leaders; the press, in general, and numerous individuals in particular came in for renewed denunciation by the speakers.

They were introduced by Dr. Bob Jones Jr., president of Bob Jones University, who explained they were here under auspices of the advisory board of the Christian Crusade.

Organizations and individuals assailed all are playing into the hands of the Communists either unwittingly or by choice, the speakers charged.

"We commit sin when we support the National Council of Churches," Dr. Hargis declared talking of a campaign against the House Committee On Un-American Activities. He detailed charges that the council is fostering communism with an exchange of clergy, professors and students.

BOTH HIT HIGH COURT

Both hit the Supreme Court, saying it is "not the law of the land."

Dr. Hargis declared that use of federal troops at the University of Mississippi was not primarily to bring about integration "but to intimidate the governors of other states." He declared it a "vote-getting measure" of the Kennedys to curry Negro favors.

Gen. Walker flayed the "distortion" of the news by national media and said, among other things, it is "out to destroy the military."

He flayed the "liberals," declared himself out of either political party and declared "you can't be a Kennedy liberal and be a Christian."

ARGUES WITH CAMERAMAN

Both speakers had brushes with local and state press representatives, although Dr. Hargis said during the contribution-intermission period they had "made friends here" with news media.

News - Piedmont photographer James G. Wilson, on assignment at the auditorium to make pictures of the rally, was making pictures from the side of the stage, as is the custom in any event at the auditorium. (He was not using flash bulbs).

Gen. Walker was seated on the back of the platform and motioned to Mr. Wilson to come over nearer to him, and according to Mr. Wilson he went behind the stage and approached Gen. Walker, who told him that he had made enough pictures. Mr. Wilson told him that he was trying to get various facial expressions as Dr. Hargis was talking. Finally, Gen Walker told Wilson to "get out."

About 10 or 15 minutes later, Dr. Hargis called down a photographer from WIS-TV in Columbia and told him to cut his camera lights off and get it out of the eyes of the people. This photographer was attempting to get a crowd reaction.

Gen. Walker later went back stage and had "strong words" with the television photographer, according to Mr. Wilson.

Gen. Walker said he has "watched the deterioration of administration leaders" in the United States "for 30 years" as a military man.

"I resigned the service to be free," he declared and said, "I refuse to lead soldiers under the United Nations flag."

"The United Nations, the Supreme Court of the United States and the international conspiracy (of communism) have joined against the kingdom of God," he also charged.

ATTACKS ON INDIVIDUALS

Both speakers leveled attacks on individuals, calling many by name.

Dr. Hargis said Negro leader Martin Luther King is "in the business of social agitation and is doing good at it." He said the National Association for Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) "never has been for Colored people." It is led by Whites and is made up mostly of Whites, according to him.

HITS LIBERAL PRESS

He scored the "liberal press" for "not revealing" the Communist menace to the public. The "whole facts" are not to be gained from reading Time magazine, Life, Look or Newsweek, he declared, and he put the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting System in the same category.

ENCLOSURE

Dr. Hargis said the "whole story" could be had from U. S. News and World Report. He recommended the American Opinion magazine published by the John Birch Society, the Dan Smoot Report and the Christian Crusade magazine, and put news commentators Fulton Lewis Jr. and Paul Harvey on his list of approved broadcasters. He also named WMUU, the Bob Jones University station, for local honorable mention.

"No other man in America has given more" than Gen. Walker, he declared in presenting his successor to the audience.

TRADE AGAINST PRESS

Gen. Walker launched almost immediately after he began with a tirade against the "federally-managed" press and "distortions" of news by national media, then turned his guns on national policy.

He said "the President and his administration are not the government of the United States, only the temporary administrators and the more temporary, the better." He added "they will be temporary unless they become a dynasty."

HITS "LITTLE BOBBY"

He leveled personal attacks against "little Bobby," Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who he said ought to be called "Gen Attorney General." He declared Ralph Bunche, a Negro and U. N. under secretary for special political affairs, "ought to be thrown in jail."

Derisively, Gen. Walker referred to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara as the "Edsel builder."

THURMOND PRAISED

In a favorable light, he held U. S. Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, who he said had "proved muzzling" of the military and called him a "great patriot."

Charging duplicity in national policy, he said men of the 24th Infantry Division he commanded in Germany were sent to fight "our friend, Moise Tshombe," premier of Katanga province in the Congo, an "anti-Communist," and kept others to face the Communists in Europe.

Going back to his attack on news media, he declared they are "well-infiltrated" with Communists and said "sometimes we can get more truth out of Khrushchev."

He said there is "a witch hunt going on in the military service" now, and while talking of military affairs accused former Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower with muzzling, along with President Kennedy.

Concluding with comments on the University of Mississippi integration, said he saw "destruction of state soverignity." He said he got out of jail later by "force of public opinion."

The crowd broke in a number of times throughout each of the speeches with applause and some yells of support on certain points. Some waved American and Confederate flags at times.

Gen. Walker, Hargis As They Spoke

Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker and Dr. Billy James Hargis are shown as they addressed a Greenville audience in Memorial Auditorium last night. The photos are among those which News-Piedmont photographer James G. Wilson took; Gen. Walker told him at one point while Wilson was photographing Hargis, he had taken enough pictures. General Walker is at top.

Walker Criticizes JFK, Supreme Court, Press

By JAMES W. THOMPSON

Former U. S. Army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker of Dallas, Tex., visiting Greenville on a nationwide Christian Crusade to fight communism, lashed out with sharp criticism yesterday at President Kennedy's administration in its handling of the Mississippi school integration case and the touchy Cuban situation. He hit also the U. S. Supreme Court and the press media of the country.

Gen. Walker made his remarks at a press conference at Bob Jones University, attended by newspaper, radio and television representatives.

ACCOMPANIED BY HARGIS

He was accompanied by evangelist Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Okla., director of the Christian Crusade anti-Communist organization, who explained that he and Gen. Walker started their "Midnight Ride Operation" tour Feb. 27 and will speak in 28 cities in 18 states before the tour closes April 3.

Both will be speakers in a public appearance today in a two-hour program at Greenville Memorial Auditorium that will begin at 7:30 p.m. Admission will be a $1 donation at the door.

In reply to a question, Gen. Walker, against whom a federal grand jury in Mississippi refused to return an indictment in connection with the Oxford, Miss., school trouble, commented that "I am hoping to see Kennedy out of the White House in 1964."

He went on to say that he would like to see a man of national stature in the presidential office.

Who?

"I have several qualified men in mind but I won't name them. I do not want Rockefeller in the office."

In further criticism of the Kennedy administration, Gen. Walker, a rapidly-speaking man, who had information from typed notes before him during the conference, said, "The Bay of Pigs invasion was never intended to be a success." He did not elaborate.

He declared that "The Constitution of the United States is the basic document for which the armed forces fight, every soldier from general to private. It is the legal authority for our armed forces. This is the constitution Kennedy wants to destroy."

He declared that Earl Warren (U. S. Supreme Court chief justice) and the rest of the court "are imposters."

He continued: "There is no law of the court. The court makes only decisions."

THURMOND PRAISED

On newspaper misquoting, Gen. Walker said, "I have been misquoted several times . . ." He read a newspaper release which he said was in connection with a recent interview in Jacksonville and remarked that "it was not true and entirely out of context."

Gen. Walker praised U. S. Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and described him as a great patriot.

"Sen. Thurmond has led the fight in Congress — all by himself—over the Cuban situation," he said. "This patriot has proved that the military was censored and muzzled."

In answer to a direct question on this subject, Gen. Walker said, "Why not take Cuba just the way Khrushchev took it. I have several times challenged the commander-in-chief of the armed forces (President Kennedy) to take some divisions and planes from Ft. Bragg and eliminate that scourge in Cuba."

SUBJECT: EVANGELIST BILLY JAMES HARGIS;
FORMER MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN WALKER;
OPERATION: MIDNIGHT RIDE

Attached is an editorial delivered over radio and TV by Taft Broadcasting Company of Cincinnati. It is quite in line with the comments of newsmen of Columbus, Ohio.

In a nutshell, HARGIS and WALKER have been conducting an anti-Communist crusade. Everyone who attends, even news people, must pay a dollar. Newsmen are limited to one question each. WALKER allegedly becomes infuriated at more than one question. Tape recorders are not allowed for general people.

A newsman from a TV station at Columbus pointed out that General WALKER has been allegedly participating in evangelical work with the churches and inquired as to what church WALKER belonged to. WALKER'S response was a violent shove. The question was repeated. The second response was another shove.

HARGIS and WALKER are doing a splendid job of alienating the media from whatever objectives HARGIS and WALKER espouse.

MANAGED PRESS CONFERENCE ....Friday March 22, 1963

Former army Major General Ed n Walker and Evangelist Billy James Hargis, came to Cincinnati last Monday on their nationwide tour called 'Operatio Midnight Ride'. Walker and Hargis appeared at Emery Auditorium to discuss the national and international aspects of Communism.

Earlier in the day the two held a sort of press conference. We say sort of' because it was not the kind of press conference to which Cincinnati news men are accustomed.

Each of us was handed a press kit containing biographies of the two men and other information. The top page was entitled 'Press Rules and Information'.

The rules included specifications as to how much consecutive filming TV stations could do at the actual meeting, how much audio taping radio stations could do, and where recording equipment had to be located -- backstage, as a matter of fact, where, presumably, members of 'Operation Midnight Ride' could keep an eye on the free press at work.

At one point, Walker went into a long dissertation on the dangers of managed news, claiming that Americans have been deprived of the truth about such Cold War hot spots as Laos, Vietnam, and Cuba, and that managed news

Source One, who has furnished reliable information in the past, reported that during February, 1963, the Denver Branch, Socialist Workers Party (SWP), made plans to organize various groups in Denver to picket the proposed public meeting to be held in Denver, Colorado, on March 26, 1963, at which time former Major General Edwin A. Walker and the Reverend Billy James Hargis would speak at a rally on the question of Communism.

Source One further reported that during the month of March meetings were held in the home of Mary Walter, Secretary, Denver Chapter, Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC), at which time plans were formulated and finalized for the picketing of the meeting.

Source Two, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on March 26, 1963, that the Denver Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) received instructions from the national office to picket the Walker-Hargis meeting.

Source Three, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on March 26, 1963, that a press release was issued by the Committee Against Undemocratic Action reporting that a number of Denver organizations and individuals would carry out a peaceful picket of the meeting promoted by "Operation Midnight Ride" at East Denver High School featuring Hargis and Walker. The press release reported that the following groups would participate in the picketing:

Committee for Non-Violent Action.
C.U. (Colorado University) Ad Hoc Committee to Picket Hargis and Walker, Democratic Action Committee of Boulder.
Denver Young Peoples Socialist League.
Fair Play for Cuba Committee,
Socialist Workers Party.

The release reported that several other organizations are picketing on an entirely independent basis, including the Student Peace Union at Denver University and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The "Colorado Daily" newspaper, published by the students at the University of Colorado, reported on March 21, 1963, that a group was being formed to picket the Walker-Hargis meeting and would operate under the auspices of the Denver Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Source Four, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on March 26, 1963, that CORE issued a press release on March 26, 1963, reporting that it was protesting the participation of Colorado citizens in supporting the Walker-Hargis rally. CORE reported that the racist position of the speakers is proof enough that the rally was truly "un-American."

Source Four reported that during the period of 6:30 to 8:30 P.M. on the evening of March 26, 1963, approximately 200 pickets carrying signs picketed in front of the East Denver High School in Denver, Colorado. Source reported that approximately 1,200 individuals attended the rally in the auditorium of East Denver High School. Source reported that the picketing was peaceful; however, there was considerable chanting by the pickets of the words "Meredith, yes; Walker, no."

EDWIN A. WALKER;
BILLY JAMES HARGIS

The March 27, 1963, issue of the "Rocky Mountain News" reports that Denver was described by Hargis and Walker as a hotbed of Communist activity. Hargis said that this was the first time that they had been picketed by any organizations other than the NAACP and CORE. Hargis said that the pickets intentionally or unintentionally are marching to the call of Khrushchev. He asked the audience [illegible] of the some 2,000 conservative groups, naming specifically the John Birch Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and Americanism committees of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. //

Concerning the NAACP, Hargis said that it was not what it tries to tell people it is; that it is not for the colored people, and the vast majority of the colored people reject it.

Hargis stated that the people of the United States are showing resentment of Bobby Kennedy's failure to enforce the Communist Registration Act.

Edwin Walker is reported to have said that the State Department is selling a propaganda line and there is every reason to believe it has lost confidence in conventional warfare as a means of defense as indicated by the ease with which Khrushchev moved into Cuba.

Walker is quoted to have said that Eisenhower sent troops to Little Rock, and Kennedy sent them to Oxford. Both Presidents ran to the Summit any time Khrushchev called. Walker said that he expected the next Summit would be in Havana, where one by-product would be building up Castro so he can make his second speech on the floor of our Congress. //

Concerning Cuba, Walker said that what he would do about Cuba would be to take it the way Khrushchev did. He said the 82nd Airborne Division and those Cubans who want to go back ought to descend on Cuba and liquidate this scourge.//

EDWIN A. WALKER;
BILLY JAMES HARGIS

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE (FPCC)
DENVER CHAPTER

A source advised on December 15, 1960, that a meeting was held at the headquarters of the Denver Branch, Socialist Workers Party (SWP), on December 10, 1960, for the purpose of establishing a Denver Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee. HOWARD WALLACE acted as chairman and an organizing committee was appointed.

HOWARD WALLACE has been identified by a source as a member of the Denver Branch, SWP.

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

A source, on May 9, 1961, advised that on May 5, 1961, the Denver Chapter, FPCC, was formed with the following elected officers:

HARRY KAUFMAN NIER, Jr., Chairman
T. E. "DUKE" ROBERTSON, Jr., Secretary
NORMAN HODGETT, Treasurer

NORMAN HODGETT has been identified by a source as a member of the Denver Branch, SWP.

The Denver Chapter, FPCC, has publicly announced as its purpose to help bring to light the truth about Cuba. It has indicated the FPCC is virtually the sole organized source of critical dissent from American-Cuban policy in the United States. Announced aims of FPCC are to end the ban imposed by the U. S. Government on travel to Cuba, to present those aspects of events in Cuba which the press in this country ignores, and to work toward re-establishment of diplomatic relations and travel between the United States and Cuba.

A source advised in April, 1962, that the Denver Chapter, FPCC, had almost ceased to exist at that time, but in June, 1962, stated that at a meeting of the Denver Branch, SWP, HOWARD WALLACE proposed to reactivate the Denver Chapter, FPCC. Source advised that subsequently on June 15, 1962, a meeting of the Denver Chapter, FPCC, was held and plans formulated to place an advertisement in a Denver newspaper concerning the travel ban to Cuba.

I. BACKGROUND

A characterization of Students for Civil Liberties (SCL) appears in the appendix attached hereto.

Organization and Purpose

As of May, 1963, SCL continued to be composed mostly of Reed College students of progressive and radical political opinions. SCL was first organized during December, 1961, and existed on an ad hoc basis until a meeting on September 26, 1962, when SCL endeavored to become an active action group. SCL is not sponsored nor affiliated with the Reed College administration. The principal field of endeavor of SCL has been to work actively to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA).

Committees

As of May, 1963, there continued to be five committees within SCL that were set up at the September 26, 1962, meeting which are as follows:

1. The House Committee on Un-American Activities
2. The McCarran Act
3. [illegible]
4. [illegible]
5. [illegible] Communist

[illegible] 5/17/63

On Thursday evening, February 21, 1963, a debate on the HCUA, allegedly sponsored by the Reed College Student Union, was held on the Reed College campus, Portland, Oregon. [redacted] said that this debate was actually arranged by SCL but SCL did not want to use their name in connection with this debate.

There were four participants in the debate, namely Mr. LEROY SKOUSEN, a Portland attorney, and Mr. ROBERT ROWLAND of Columbia Christian College who took the side of the HCUA and told of its needs, and two Reed College professors, RICHARD JONES and HUGO BEDAU, who spoke against the HCUA. There were approximately 200 students present.

HUGO BEDAU spoke against the HCUA, describing the Committee as a witch-hunting device utilized against communists who have been out of the CP for some time.

ROBERT ROWLAND spoke in favor of the HCUA, stating that the Committee was not a witch-hunting device, pointing out that the hearings are public and the HCUA is a demonstration that ours is a free society. ROWLAND covered the history of the HCUA up to the present time, citing the accomplishments and legislative measures that evolved from the Committee to combat the communist menace. The audience was very partisan against HCUA and hooted and howled when SKOUSEN and ROWLAND spoke in favor of HCUA.

RICHARD JONES pointed out what he called the fallacies of the HCUA and stated that the Committee persecutes innocent people. JONES said that the Committee did call communists before it, but they were former communists who had been out of the Party for five, ten and twenty years. JONES advocated the use of the First and Fifth Amendments against the HCUA. This comment by JONES received a long ovation approving his comments.

SKOUSEN said the Fifth Amendment is a method used for the communists to hide from the HCUA. SKOUSEN told of communists attempting to subvert students in schools. The audience jeered at SKOUSEN's comments. PETER BERGEL addressed a question to SKOUSEN, which in substance was, why, if there are only 6,000 communists in the United States, is there great danger from so small a number and why do you persecute these people.

The whole feeling of the crowd which consisted largely of students and professors from Reed College were strongly against the HCUA.

PD T-1, 2/22/63

"The Quest," a Reed College student weekly newspaper, Volume 52, Number 20, on page 5, issue dated March 4, 1963, contained an article entitled "Successful Reed Union Debate: Lions vs Christians Over HUAC" by PETER BERGEL, which is as follows:

"Thursday evening, Feb. 18, saw one of the year's most successful Reed Unions. Speaking to the subject, 'Resolved: the House Un-American Activities Committee Should be Abolished' were professors Richard Jones and Hugo Bedau, in favor, and Mr. Robert Rowland of Columbia Christian College and Mr. Leroy Skousen, a former FBI agent, against.

"The evening's debate was opened by Bedau who began by informing the assemblage that he was certainly a communist dupe since he had, in 1945, entered a three months subscription to a sports magazine which later turned out to be called 'Soviet Russia Today.' He pointed out that while it is certainly unfair to blame HUAC for some of the legislative abortions which have been performed in the name of security, such as the McCarthy 'regime,' HUAC is a symbol of the same sort of activity and certainly does not work to prevent its recurrence.

"Alluding to William Buckley's book, The Committee and its Critics, Bedau classed himself among the 10% of all committee critics who may be classed as the 'purist minority.' He said that these people favor the second of two general methods of criticizing the committee, that is, objection not on the grounds that factual evidence shows that HUAC is not doing its job or is doing it badly, or even on the grounds that HUAC runs contrary to the First Amendment, but because civil liberties just are not in bad enough shape to need it, and even if they are, the whole question ought to be taken out of the political arena and placed on a strictly legal basis.

"Rowland began by outlining the three basic methods which committee critics have adopted to fight the Committee, to wit: 1) brutality -- kill people who rat on the stand, 2) propaganda - criticize the committee, and 3) infiltrate 'respectable' organizations -- create dupes and sway the organizations' purposes toward achievement of communist goals.

"He then pointed to HUAC's achievements: 1) interrogation of 3000 witnesses, 2) exposure of thousands of proved communists, 3) conviction of many men in high government office, and 4) having had some part in the passage of 129 statutes since its inception in 1945.

"Richard Jones pointed out the great need for investigating committees in Congress. They have been used since 1792 to do the research necessary to the passage of laws and to check up on the efficiency of the executive branch of the government. However he expressed great concern over the question of whether any investigating committee should report its findings in such a way that they produce a frame of mind in the general public which is propitious to the passage of the legislation which the committee favors.

"He charged HUAC with having the sole function of harrassing its unfriendly witnesses and exposing them to unwanted and undeserving publicity. He pointed out that HUAC has spent more money, time, and energy with this function than any of the other House committees have done with all their functions. Even if this sort of thing has to be done, he concluded, it is like using a 'sledge hammer to kill an ant.'

"LeRoy Skousen emphasized throughout his speech that to remain free, Americans must have knowledge, they must know what is going on, they must be aware of the facts, they must have insight into political affairs, they must know their enemy, they ... do you see what he meant? In his experience with the FBI he found that if someone like Bedau had inadvertently subscribed to a communist magazine, the FBI did not care, they just wanted to know the facts. He said that he had always found HUAC extremely fair and that such was also the conclusion of the American Bar Association which has conducted a study of this in response to charges by the American Civil Liberties Union.

"He claimed that HUAC is vital to modern America because if we don't control our internal security problem, we will become slaves like the Cubans. (!) (?)

"A round of questions followed in which the following were prominent:

"Jones: If the Committee is really trying to get information, why do they repeat hearings in publigh which they have conducted previously in private?

"Skousen: Americans want to know! if they don't know they'll lose their freedom.

"Rowland: Do you, Dr. Jones, really consider the First Amendment an absolute, because if it really is, then HUAC can smear anyone it wants.

"Jones: Libel laws take care of that. The First Amendment is an absolute.

"Bedau: I note that most of HUAC's recommendations to Congress especially those which have been incorporated into extant legislation, have nothing to do with the investigations.

"Skousen: The Committee has to investigate to know.

"Some interesting isolated statements:

"Skousen: Why should anyone take the Fifth, except if they are guilty?

"Bedau: HUAC reports are indexed by names, not facts.

"Jones: Libel laws take care of therefore it is OK to question witnesses about their pasts; after all, when a professor applies to Reed for a job, the college wants to know about his history: where he got his training, his degree, etc.

"Rowland: We learn from history, to know about the conspiracy to enslave them."

On May 16, 1963, [redacted] Portland Police Department, advised that he received a telephone call from an individual identifying himself only as a Reed College student who stated that a group from Reed College and Portland State College were going to demonstrate by handing out leaflets at the Portland Civic Auditorium on the evening of May 16, 1963, in protest against the so-called anti-communist rally at which BILLY JAMES HARGIS and former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER were appearing.

From approximately 7:15 to 8:15 p.m. on the evening of May 16, 1963, approximately 22 persons, mostly students, participated in a protest picket demonstration in and around the Portland Civic Auditorium, 1520 S. W. Third Avenue, Portland, Oregon, in protest to the appearances of BILLY JAMES HARGIS and former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER who spoke out strongly against communism, warning of the communist menace in the United States and the world. [redacted] was the organizer of this protest picket demonstration and participated in it, as well as [redacted] Reed College students, and [redacted] Portland State College student. After the demonstration, [redacted] and some of the students returned to Reed College.

On May 20, 1963, the local SWP took part in a picket line in front of the Radisson Hotel in downtown Minneapolis, Minnesota. The pickets were in protest to the appearance of Major General EDWIN WALKER and Reverend BILLY HARGIS who were at that time on a speaking tour. The reason for this picket was to protest against speeches that both men were making against integration and communism in America. This source identified twelve SWP members participating in this picket event including ADRIAN LUOMA.

The Pine Bluff Klavern is still trying to set up a public rally on May 24, 1963, at Oakland Tavern Oakland Park, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, and is still trying to get Governor BARNETT of Mississippi as the main speaker. [redacted] hopes 7D to have the results of whether BARNETT will be the speaker on his return trip from Montgomery, Alabama. If BARNETT or another outstanding segregation leader cannot be obtained as the main speaker for the rally on May 24, 1963, then the Pine Bluff Klavern members will urge all to attend a rally being held at Robinson Memorial Auditorium, Little Rock, Arkansas, Friday, May 24, 1963, at 7:45 P.M. This rally is publicized by handbills as "Operation Alert" and the speakers for the rally will be General EDWIN A. WALKER and Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

[redacted] TD

In an effort to discourage white people from trading at restaurants and lunch counters that serve Negroes, the Pine Bluff Klavern plans to have a number of small cards printed on which such questions as "Does this store serve Negroes?", etc., printed thereon, and then these cards will be freely distributed and placed by Klan members along the counters and among the merchandise in the different businesses.

There has been no indication that any Klan members from the Pine Bluff, Arkansas, area have gone to the area of Birmingham, Alabama, or intend to go to the area of Birmingham, Alabama.

At the monthly May state meeting of the Association of Arkansas Klans of Ku Klux Klan, held in Pine Bluff, Arkansas, May 19, 1963, there were visitors from Ruston, Louisiana and Atlanta, Texas. The visitors from Ruston, Louisiana [redacted] to Pine Bluff, Arkansas [redacted]

ASSOCIATION OF [illegible]
KLANS OF KU KLUX KLAN
CURRENT ACTIVITIES
MAY 22, 1963

Tentative plans were announced for a rally of Klan members to be held in the general area of Atlanta, Texas, on June 16, 1963. The next state meeting is tentatively planned to be on that date and Klan members are to meet at 12:00 Noon at United States Post Office, Texarkana, Arkansas, and then proceed to the area of Atlanta, Texas. These are tentative plans only, and the plan appears to be to have a big rally to overcome another rally planned by the Negroes on June 19, 1963 [illegible] Emancipation day. At this rally in the area of Atlanta, Texas, tentative plans call for passing out handbills and literature and possibly burning crosses.

A member of the Little Rock Klavern brought a large number of one page leaflet announcing the rally "Operation Alert" where General Edwin A. Walker and Dr. Billy James Hargis are featured. May 24, 1963, Robinson Memorial Auditorium, Little Rock, Arkansas. These leaflets were given to members to be distributed in the Texarkana and Pine Bluff areas. As there were not enough leaflets available, [redacted] was placed in charge of getting additional leaflets advertising the Walker-Hargis rally, and these will then be distributed widely in the Pine Bluff area.

The rally the Pine Bluff Klavern originally planned May 24, 1963, at Oakland Tavern, Oakland Park, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, has been called off as the Klavern was unable to obtain Governor of Alabama or Mississippi as the speaker. The members of the Pine Bluff Klavern will now attend the Walker-Hargis rally in Little Rock on May 24 and will distribute handbills and encourage others to attend.

There was some discussion about slingshots and possible use of them, and a member of the Texarkana Klavern indicated he would check with a small manufacturer at Texarkana to see what the cost would be for obtaining a number of slingshots.

Four members of the Pine Bluff Klavern distributed cards in the downtown area of Pine Bluff on Saturday, May 18, 1963, at such places as F. W. Woolworth and Walgreen Drug Store. These cards were about the size of a business card and on one side the following was printed.

"White people should patronize White Merchants Do you?" "National Patriots League".

On the other side, there were three questions as follows:

"Do you want to promote integration?" "Does this store promote integration?" "Do you know what integration means?"

The National Patriots League is a front name that the Pine Bluff Klavern uses.

The Pine Bluff Klavern members have discussed the possibility of using oil of mustard on white people who sit next to Negroes and eat with Negroes at the white lunch counters, but no plans have been made regarding this, and there was only discussion. This has been discussed before the members of the Pine Bluff Klavern, but no activity in this regard has taken place.

NATURE OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

Pine Bluff on May 19, 1963, and nine members of the Pine Bluff Klavern were present at this state meeting. There were members present from Little Rock, Arkadelphia, Texarkana, and visitors from Atlanta, Texas and Ruston, Louisiana. At this meeting, it was decided that [redacted] would be in charge of getting some handbills printed to advertise the "Operation Alert" rally at which General EDWIN A. WALKER and Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS would be the speakers, Friday, May 24, 1963, Robinson Memorial Auditorium, 7:45 PM, Little Rock, Arkansas. 7D

The Pine Bluff Klavern had planned a large rally to be held at Pine Bluff on May 24, 1963, at which the Governor of Mississippi was to be the speaker, but inasmuch as the Governor of Mississippi could not be obtained and no other outstanding speaker could be obtained, this rally was called off and the Pine Bluff Klavern encouraged their members and others to attend the rally in Little Rock on May 24, 1963.

On June 12, 1963, some White teenagers were arrested by the Pine Bluff Police Department for whipping a Negro boy in Oakland Park. Oakland Park was formerly an all White park in Pine Bluff and was integrated by the Negroes on June 12, 1963. Members of the Pine Bluff Klavern went to the city jail on the night of June 12, 1963, and posted bond for two or three of these boys. [redacted]

RACIAL SITUATION IN LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS

The Arkansas Gazette, a Little Rock daily newspeper, on May 24, 1963, carried an ad, including a photograph of former General EDWIN A. WALKER, announcing the "Walker-Hargis Rally" at the Little Rock Municipal Auditorium on the evening of May 24, 1963. The ad said, "Hear the inside story of Little Rock in 1957", and that WALKER would speak on "The Choice Before Us - U. S. or U. N.". Dr. BILLY JAMES HARGIS (Tulsa, Oklahoma evangelist operating under the name "Christian Crusade") was slated to speak on "The Increasing War Against God".

On May 25 and 26, 1963, Little Rock newspapers, the Arkansas Gazette and the Arkansas Democrat, carried reports of the Walker-Hargis Rally attended by an estimated 750 people. The speeches made were primarily anti-Communistic in nature. WALKER said he had been on the wrong side when he was in Little Rock in 1957, referring to the fact that he commanded the troops used during the integration of Little Rock's Central High School. The news story included the appearance of ROBERT MEDLOCK, Administrative aide to Arkansas Governor FAUBUS who spoke briefly and said he was "glad WALKER returned to Little Rock as a civilian rather than as the commandant of Fort Central High School".

A confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past furnished the following information on May 28, 1963:

The Walker-Hargis Rally was attended by leaders and members of racial extremists groups such as the Capital Citizens Council, Association of Arkansas Klans of the Ku Klux Klan, and the National States Rights Party. Members of the two first named groups assisted in the publicity for the rally and acted as ushers. At the close of the meeting, representatives of the National States Rights Party handed out application forms for membership in their organization.

On May 28, 1963, [redacted] 7D Arkansas State Police, Little Rock, Arkansas, furnished the following information:

L. C. BATES, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Little Rock, Arkansas, sometime after 1:30 P.M., on May 28, 1963, entered the cafeteria located in the basement of the Arkansas Capitol building and requested to be served lunch. He was advised the steam table was closed and that the lunch period was over. BATES left and went to the Governor's Office and asked to see the Governor immediately. He was asked to be seated and wait until the Governor finished a conference. BATES refused to wait, left, and went to the office of Mr. KELLY BRYANT, Secretary of State, who is the custodian of the Capitol building and grounds. BATES was advised Mr. BRYANT would be free in a little while. BATES refused to wait.

On May 29, 1963, the Arkansas Gazette carried a news story captioned "Bates Barred; Warns City of Protests". This news story stated that BATES had been refused service at the cafeteria in the Capitol. BATES was quoted as saying that the NAACP would take action to end racial discrimination in the Capitol. BATES also said that the NAACP had asked the city of Little Rock and would ask the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce to take measures to end all segregation at business houses in Little Rock.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY
(NSRP)

On November 26, 1957, a source advised that the United White Party (UWP) was organized at a convention held in Knoxville, Tennessee, on November 10, 1957. An article in the November 26, 1957, issue of the "Greenville Piedmont," a newspaper of Greenville, South Carolina, reported "the recent formation of a new political party to be known as the United White Party." According to the article, the party was formed at a recently held meeting in Knoxville, Tennessee, at which many klansmen were represented. The UWP was reported as being opposed to all "race mixing organizations and individuals."

The July, 1958, issue of "The Thunderbolt," self-described as the "official Racial Nationalist Organ of the National States Rights Party" (NSRP) reported that rank and file "States Righters" had merged with the UWP under "the banner of the National States Rights Party," with national offices at Post Office Box 251, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

In November, 1958 a source advised that the NSRP is composed of past members of klan-type organizations and notorious anti-Semites.

Issue Number 19, dated June, 1960, "The Thunderbolt," announced the address of the headquarters of the NSRP had been changed from Jeffersonville, Indiana, to Post Office Box 783, Birmingham, Alabama.

On June 17, 1960, a source advised that Edward R. Fields, the Information Director of the NSRP, is the individual who "runs the NSRP."

"The Thunderbolt" continues to publish articles attacking Negroes and persons of the Jewish faith.

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past has advised that General WALKER has been invited, and has agreed to appear, in Los Angeles, on November 18, 1961, in connection with an "Indignation Rally" to be held under the sponsorship of RUHL SAMPLES, described by source as having conducted a series of Anti-Communist forums in the Hollywood High School Auditorium during the past months. General WALKER's appearance is expected to coincide with the presence in Los Angeles of the President of the United States.

The "Indignation Rally" at which General WALKER will appear or furnish a specially taped speech, was scheduled for the Freedom Forum of the Congregational Church, Los Angeles, but is being moved to the Hollywood High School Auditorium, approximate 2,000 capacity, for larger attendance. SAMPLES estimates a potential 10,000 may appear at such a rally; and consideration is being given to having a march in conjunction with the appearance of WALKER between the Hollywood High School and the Palladium, a Hollywood dance hall, about ten blocks distance, with appropriate placards furnished by the Samples Forum.

Our Los Angeles Office advised that General Edwin A. Walker would be a speaker at a "Symposium on Freedom" November 18, 1961, at Hollywood High School, Los Angeles, California. This Symposium has been termed an "Indignation Rally." The group in attendance at the Hollywood High School will march from the high school to the Hollywood Palladium and will picket the Palladium while President Kennedy is making his address on November 18, 1961. There will be from 2,000 to 10,000 persons present at the Palladium.

My dear Mr. O'Donnell:

I advised you on November 13, 1961, that General Edwin A. Walker has been invited to appear in Los Angeles, California, on November 13, 1961, in connection with an "Indignation Rally" in the Hollywood High School Auditorium. The following additional information may be of interest to you.

The "Los Angeles Times" on November 14, 1961, reported rallies protesting United States aid to Yugoslavia and communist countries have been scheduled this week and will culminate in a mass demonstration in front of the Hollywood Palladium where President Kennedy will appear. These rallies were reportedly organized by the National Indignation Convention of Dallas or "through local affiliates." A demonstration was planned for November 14, 1961, in front of the Federal Building, Los Angeles, demanding curtailment of supplies to communist countries. Other rallies were planned at San Gabriel Civic Auditorium on November 15 and Long Beach Municipal Auditorium on November 16. The Long Beach group will join others at the Hollywood Palladium on November 13 to urge President Kennedy to block jet plane shipments to Yugoslavia. Major Harry Knickerbocker, Jr., Texas Air National Guard, who protested United States training Yugoslav pilots, was scheduled to speak at most of the rallies. He is to be joined by Rear Admiral Chester C. Ward at the Long Beach rally.

Honorable P. Kenneth O'Donnell

The files of this Bureau disclose the National Indignation Convention of Dallas was held from October 14, 1961, to October 21, 1961, at the Dallas Auditorium, Dallas, Texas, to protest the training of Yugoslav airmen at Perrin Air Force Base. Admiral Chester Ward has been described as the Judge Advocate of the United States Navy who voluntarily retired from the Navy in August, 1960. Since his retirement he has been lecturing throughout the country at various seminars and meetings on communism. In his lectures he has been critical of the present administration. For example, according to the April 16, 1961, issue of the "Pittsburgh Press," Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in a speech sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh on April 16, 1961, Ward stated "Some of the advisers now surrounding the President have philosophies regarding foreign affairs that would chill the typical American." His speech developed the themes that United States foreign policy since World War II has played into Soviet hands; the United States is militarily incapable of surviving surprise Russian attacks; and negotiations with the Russians for disarmament are, in fact, "appeasements." No additional pertinent information is contained in the files of this Bureau concerning Major Knickerbocker.

This information is being furnished to the Attorney General.

Sincerely yours,

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on July 29, 1963, that he had developed the following information from [redacted] 7D

[redacted] stated the fifth annual conference of the Christian Crusade is scheduled for August 2 through 4, 1963, at the Skirvin Hotel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Some of the speakers will include General Edwin Walker, Billie James Hargis, Robert Welch, Tom Anderson, Major General Racey Jordan and others. [redacted] stated the conference will be one of the largest of its kind and will include patriots from all sections of the country. One purpose of the conference will be to discuss policy and strategy for patriots to take home regarding the August 28 march on Washington. 7D

[redacted] predicted many patriots will go to Washington and there is a good possibility of violence. He advised that plans are being formulated for the patriots to stay in Maryland and Virginia prior to the 28th of August in order to avoid detection and search by authorities. [redacted] stated that most of the patriots would enter Washington on the morning of the 28th and many would be armed. 7D

[redacted] related that due to illness in his family he was not planning to attend the conference in Oklahoma City. 7D

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

The August 5, 1963, edition of "The Daily Oklahoman", an established newspaper published in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, contained an article entitled "New President Wanted; Gen. Walker Hits At Mike, Bellmon"

The article, in essence, states as follows:

Former Major General Edwin A. Walker charged Friday in Oklahoma City that Senator Mike Monroney "Wouldn't know a Communist if he were eating breakfast with him."

The criticism came during an informal press conference held by speakers attending the fifth annual Christian Crusade at the Skirvin Tower Hotel in Oklahoma City.

Walker's remark brought laughter from other speakers present, including Billy James Hargis, crusade director, retired Major George Racey Jordan, president of the Toronto Gold Market, Limited, and Brigadier General Richard B. Moran, retired, Kerrville, Texas.

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, was not present.

With respect to Governor Bellmon, Walker said the entire group of Christian Crusade participants present was glad Bellmon was elected. Walker added "But he (the governor) said the other day the John Birch Society is leading the attack against Goldwater." He said the governor had better do his homework.

With respect to supporting a presidential candidate, the speakers declined to name a man, indicating their emphasis was not on a man but on a cause.

Billy James Hargis said he believed the racial unrest was being instigated and exploited by Communists. He suggested leaders on both sides should sit down at the local level and negotiate, without any international or federal intervention.

Walker said that Communists are the inspiration behind "all racial disorder, all racial riots, in all disorder, and breakdowns, all riots" from Africa to Mississippi to Laos.

He said the planned mass Negro march in Washington, D.C., is "Mr. Kennedy's march, led by the administration against the Congress."

The article also contains a statement by Jordan warning that Russia is now on a "gold ruble" standard, seeking to replace the U. S. dollar as the world's monetary measuring stick. He said "the quickest way to wreck this country is to break the financial integrity of the dollar."

Also present at the conference was Luis V. Manrara, Miami, Florida, president of The Truth About Cuba Committee, Inc.

This article states that approximately 1,000 persons are expected to attend its sessions, which end Sunday, August 4, 1963.

Bates Barred; Warns City Of Protests

The cafeteria in the basement of the state Capitol refused to serve L. C. Bates, field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, yesterday and Bates announced that the NAACP would take action soon to end racial discrimination at the Capitol.

And while announcing this intention, Bates disclosed that the NAACP had asked the City of Little Rock, and would ask the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, to take measures to end all segregation at business houses in Little Rock.

Both aims will be accomplished by demonstrations if it becomes necessary, Bates said.

Bates and other NAACP officials had talked previously to Governor Faubus and other state officials about desegregating the cafeteria but nothing came of it.

Bates said that he and Dr. Jerry D. Jewell, president of the Little Rock Branch of the NAACP, had talked in mid-April to City Manager Ancil M. Douthit and Mayor Byron R. Morse about the desegregation of business houses. There was some disagreement on what the Negroes asked of the city.

Douthit said he understood that they wanted the city to take action to force desegregation on all business houses that had a city privilege license. He said that this was "beyond the realm of possibility" because the city had no authority to require integration or segregation at the business houses.

Bates said that all the Negroes wanted was for the city to take the initiative in getting "the business structure" together to see if a plan of desegregation couldn't be worked out.

Bates and Dr. Jewell said that they were told that their requests would be taken up with the City Manger Board and they would be contacted later. They said that they hasn't been contacted.

ear Mr. Hoover: 1 May

This communication is being written on behalf of General Edwin A. Walker, USA who recently has been relieved of his post in Germany with the 24th Infantry Division - BECAUSE of his views being closely allied with the John Birch Society. No doubt the Birch Society did for Gen. Walker as it has done e in serving a many fold purpose - as it has reaffirmed my faith in thi country and the principles in which it was conceived - far different fro the conception of communism; it has opened my eyes to subversion and conspiracy nd the multiplicity and complex methods of communist strategy; it has made me cutely aware of my obligation as a citizen to be more conscientiously interested n governmental affairs of federal, state and township; it has made me more deter- ined to do everything I can to preserve, protect and defend this land - grounded the beginning, on rock and it certainly has given my life more direction and st but not least, it has strengthened my attitude towards religion. Our milli- y might and overseas positions exist for no other reason other than that of rnational communism and yet, because Gen. Walker defended our country and sincerely to create an understanding of purpose of being and that of being ned overseas, where at least everything on the surface would indicate no roblem and makes one wonder why we are there in the first place - most l of the services have NO real, well grounded, tangible, concrete e of our position today and the communist ways and means of domination he few can control so many. Yes, I would say Gen. Walker tried to nse of loyalty, love and devotion to our country but there are so n the pie today, each wanting a section, certain parties couldn't mptation to degrade and discredit this outspoken and loyal country- Is being slowly BLACKBALLED from the Army.

Re Bonn letter to Bureau, 6-19-61.

The Daily Press Review of the American Embassy U. S. Information Service, Office of Press Attache, Bonn, contained in the No. 118, Part 2, issue of 6-28-61, the information that East German newspaper "BZ Am Abend" had stated in an article on that date that "high-ranking U. S. officers use their occupiers' position in West Germany in order to spread clear Nazi propaganda throughout their units and among the population." In this connection, the paper made particular mention of Maj. Gen. EDWIN A. WALKER, who is a member of the "John-Birch-Society" and who until recently was commander of the 24th U. S. infantry division stationed in Augsburg-Heidelberg. The paper explained the Nazi spirit of the Birch Society and said that its pamphlets were distributed and lectures were arranged in the district under the authority of the 24th Inf. Div.

The foregoing is for your information.

Political Activity

The principal political activity of the NSRP at Montgomery, Alabama, during the fall of 1962 was campaigning for the candidacy of CHESTER ROBINSON for U.S. House of Representatives running on the ticket of the NSRP. (MO T-4, October 25, 1962, and MO T-3, November 2, 1962) U

Retired U.S. Navy Admiral JOHN G. CROMMELIN was a candidate for the office of Mayor of the City of Montgomery in March, 1963. The NSRP at Montgomery supported Admiral CROMMELIN in his candidacy. (MO T-3, February 6, 1963) U

MO T-2 recalled on April 25, 1963 that Admiral CROMMELIN made a very poor showing in his race for the position of Mayor in the election which was held on March 18, 1963 at Montgomery. MO T-2 also recalled that CHESTER ROBINSON received a relatively small number of votes in the elections in November, 1962 when he ran for the U.S. House of Representatives. U

Potential for Violence

At the meeting of the NSRP at Montgomery on November 5, 1962, [redacted] of "The Thunderbolt", official publication of the NSRP, stated that he and [redacted] went to Missouri to picket the lunacy hearing of General EDWIN A. WALKER at Springfield, Missouri. (MO T-2, November 9, 1962) U 7D

The April 25, 1963 issue of the Alabama Journal, in articles on Page 1 and Page 10, related that seventeen persons were arrested on the morning of April 25, 1963 when they attempted to conduct a picketing demonstration against the visits of Attorney General ROBERT F. KENNEDY to Governor GEORGE WALLACE at the State Capitol Building. MO T-2, upon examining these news accounts, observed that among those arrested were JERRY DUTTON and JAMES K. WARNER, both giving Birmingham, Alabama, addresses. MO T-2 states that DUTTON and WARNER were close associates of NSRP James Warner Information Director EDWARD R. FIELDS. These news articles also related that Retired U.S. Navy Admiral JOHN C. CROMMELIN appeared to be the leader of the group of demonstrators but that he was not arrested inasmuch as he did not carry a picket sign and desisted from his part in the demonstration when police insisted that he do so. 4

Literature

Distributed at a recent meeting of the NSRP at Montgomery was a petition to the Congress of the United States "to restore prayer in the schools and curb the power of the Supreme Court". Although obviously distributed by the NSRP, this petition bears the name "National Christian Congressional Committee" and the address P. O. Box 10924, St. Petersburg 33, Florida. (MO T-2, October 20, 1962) 4

As of late October, 1962 the NSRP Chapter at Montgomery was distributing leaflets in which the readers were urged to fire their Negro employees. (MO 1-3, November 2, 1962) 4

The November 20, 1962 edition of the Alabama Journal, a daily newspaper published at Montgomery, Alabama, carries an article on Page 1D captioned "Righters Charge Betrayal". The article states that the National States Rights Party passed a resolution accusing Attorney General Elect RICHMOND FLOWERS and Lieutenant Governor Elect JAMES ALLEN of betraying "the peoples trust in office". This article states that the NSRP resolution accuses these officials of having "an outspoken stand for integration in schools in Alabama". The article states that J. CHESTER ROBINSON, Chairman of the NSRP, said that the resolution of that organization referred to a speech of Attorney General Elect RICHMOND FLOWERS at Andalusia, Alabama, recently. 4

The article explains that FLOWERS in a speech to the Covington County Fraternal Order of Police at Andalusia made the statement that it would be up to the Police Officers to shield the good name of the state from mob action in the event of a racial crisis in the state. U

At the special public meeting of the NSRP on the night of January 7, 1963 at Montgomery, a leaflet was distributed captioned "Jews in Positions of Great Power". This leaflet lists the names and positions of approximately 75 persons, indicating that they are all Jews and indicating that they hold positions of great authority in the government of the United States. This leaflet bears the label "Christian Nationalist Crusade, P. O. Box 27895, Los Angeles 27, California". (MO T-2, January 11, 1963) U

At a meeting of the NSRP at Montgomery on March 25, 1963, a leaflet was distributed bearing the caption "Join NSRP - Start 1963 Off Right". This leaflet urges the reader to join the NSRP and "be a proud member of America's largest third party". This leaflet also lists a number of publications and other articles which are recommended to the reader. Among the publications and articles recommended are the following:

"Know Your Enemy - 45 Pictures of Communist Jews, only fifty cents (by Major R. H. WILLIAMS)"

"Anti-Defamation League and Its Use in the World Communist Offensive (also by Major ROBERT H. WILLIAMS)"

"Jewish Ritual Murder, Long Supressed and Banned, Rare - Our members financed the printing of 2,000 copies"

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY

On November 26, 1957, a source advised that the United White Party (UWP) was organized at a convention held in Knoxville, Tennessee, on November 10, 1957. An article in the November 26, 1957, issue of the "Greenville Piedmont," a newspaper of Greenville, South Carolina, reported "the recent formation of a new political party to be known as the United White Party." According to the article, the party was formed at a recently held meeting in Knoxville, Tennessee, at which many klansmen were represented. The UWP was reported as being opposed to all "race mixing organizations and individuals."

The July, 1958, issue of "The Thunderbolt," self-described as the "official Racial Nationalist Organ of the National States Rights Party" (NSRP) reported that rank and file "States Righters" had merged with the UWP under "the banner of the National States Rights Party," with national offices at Post Office Box 251, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

In November, 1958 a source advised that the NSRP is composed of past members of klan-type organizations and notorious anti-Semites.

Issue Number 19, dated June, 1960, "The Thunderbolt," announced the address of the headquarters of the NSRP had been changed from Jeffersonville, Indiana, to Post Office Box 783, Birmingham, Alabama.

On June 17, 1960, a source advised that Edward R. Fields, the Information Director of the NSRP, is the individual who "runs the NSRP."

"The Thunderbolt" continues to publish articles attacking Negroes and persons of the Jewish faith.

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

A source which has furnished reliable information in the past has advised that General WALKER has been invited, and has agreed to appear, in Los Angeles, on November 18, 1961, in connection with an "Indignation Rally" to be held under the sponsorship of RUHL SAMPLES, described by source as having conducted a series of Anti-Communist forums in the Hollywood High School Auditorium during the past months. General WALKER's appearance is expected to coincide with the presence in Los Angeles of the President of the United States.

The "Indignation Rally" at which General WALKER will appear or furnish a specially taped speech, was scheduled for the Freedom Forum of the Congregational Church, Los Angeles, but is being moved to the Hollywood High School Auditorium, approximate 2,000 capacity, for larger attendance. SAMPLES estimates a potential 10,000 may appear at such a rally; and consideration is being given to having a march in conjunction with the appearance of WALKER between the Hollywood High School and the Palladium, a Hollywood dance hall, about ten blocks distance, with appropriate placards furnished by the Samples Forum.

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER
INFORMATION CONCERNING

I thought you would be interested in the following information which was received from a source who has furnished reliable information in the past and who has requested that his identity be concealed.

General Edwin A. Walker has been invited and has agreed to appear in Los Angeles, California, on November 18, 1961, in connection with an "Indignation Rally" to be held under the sponsorship of Ruhl Samples, described by the source as having conducted a series of anticommunist forums in the Hollywood, California, High School Auditorium during the past months. General Walker's appearance is expected to coincide with the presence of President Kennedy in the Los Angeles area. The "Indignation Rally" is scheduled to be held in the Hollywood High School Auditorium. Instead of a personal appearance, General Walker may furnish a specially taped speech for this affair.

Honorable P. Kenneth O'Donnell
Special Assistant to the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. O'Donnell:

I advised you on November 13, 1961, that General Edwin A. Walker has been invited to appear in Los Angeles, California, on November 13, 1961, in connection with an "Indignation Rally" in the Hollywood High School Auditorium. The following additional information may be of interest to you.

The "Los Angeles Times" on November 14, 1961, reported rallies protesting United States aid to Yugoslavia and communist countries have been scheduled this week and will culminate in a mass demonstration in front of the Hollywood Palladium where President Kennedy will appear. These rallies were reportedly organized by the National Indignation Convention of Dallas or "through local affiliates." A demonstration was planned for November 14, 1961, in front of the Federal Building, Los Angeles, demanding curtailment of supplies to communist countries. Other rallies were planned at San Gabriel Civic Auditorium on November 15 and Long Beach Municipal Auditorium on November 16. The Long Beach group will join others at the Hollywood Palladium on November 13 to urge President Kennedy to block jet plane shipments to Yugoslavia. Major Harry Knickerbocker, Jr., Texas Air National Guard, who protested United States training Yugoslav pilots, was scheduled to speak at most of the rallies. He is to be joined by Rear Admiral Chester C. [illegible] at the Long Beach rally.

The files of this Bureau disclose the National Indignation Convention of Dallas was held from October 14, 1961, to October 21, 1961, at the Dallas Auditorium, Dallas, Texas, to protest the training of Yugoslav airmen at Perrin Air Force Base. Admiral Chester Ward has been described as the Judge Advocate of the United States Navy who voluntarily retired from the Navy in August, 1960. Since his retirement he has been lecturing throughout the country at various seminars and meetings on communism. In his lectures he has been critical of the present administration. For example, according to the April 16, 1961, issue of the "Pittsburgh Press," Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, in a speech sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Pittsburgh on April 16, 1961, Ward stated "Some of the advisers now surrounding the President have philosophies regarding foreign affairs that would chill the typical American." His speech developed the themes that United States foreign policy since World War II has played into Soviet hands; the United States is militarily incapable of surviving surprise Russian attacks; and negotiations with the Russians for disarmament are, in fact, "appeasements." No additional pertinent information is contained in the files of this Bureau concerning Major Knickerbocker.

This information is being furnished to the Attorney General.

Sincerely yours,

Re: March on Washington,
August 28, 1963

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on July 29, 1963, that he had developed the following information from [redacted] 7D

[redacted] stated the fifth annual conference of the Christian Crusade is scheduled for August 2 through 4, 1963, at the Skirvin Hotel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. Some of the speakers will include General Edwin Walker, Billie James Hargis, Robert Welch, Tom Anderson, Major General Racey Jordan and others. [redacted] stated the conference will be one of the largest of its kind and will include patriots from all sections of the country. One purpose of the conference will be to discuss policy and strategy for patriots to take home regarding the August 28 march on Washington. 7D

[redacted] predicted many patriots will go to Washington and there is a good possibility of violence. He advised that plans are being formulated for the patriots to stay in Maryland and Virginia prior to the 28th of August in order to avoid detection and search by authorities. [redacted] stated that most of the patriots would enter Washington on the morning of the 28th and many would be armed. 7D

[redacted] related that due to illness in his family he was not planning to attend the conference in Oklahoma City. 7D

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

The August 5, 1963, edition of "The Daily Oklahoman", an established newspaper published in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, contained an article entitled "New President Wanted; Gen. Walker Hits At Mike, Bellmon"

The article, in essence, states as follows:

Former Major General Edwin A. Walker charged Friday in Oklahoma City that Senator Mike Monroney "Wouldn't know a Communist if he were eating breakfast with him."

The criticism came during an informal press conference held by speakers attending the fifth annual Christian Crusade at the Skirvin Tower Hotel in Oklahoma City.

Walker's remark brought laughter from other speakers present, including Billy James Hargis, crusade director, retired Major George Racey Jordan, president of the Toronto Gold Market, Limited, and Brigadier General Richard B. Moran, retired, Kerrville, Texas.

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, was not present.

With respect to Governor Bellmon, Walker said the entire group of Christian Crusade participants present was glad Bellmon was elected. Walker added "But he (the governor) said the other day the John Birch Society is leading the attack against Goldwater." He said the governor had better do his homework.

With respect to supporting a presidential candidate, the speakers declined to name a man, indicating their emphasis was not on a man but on a cause.

Billy James Hargis said he believed the racial unrest was being instigated and exploited by Communists. He suggested leaders on both sides should sit down at the local level and negotiate, without any international or federal intervention.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

NEW PRESIDENT WANTED

Gen. Walker Hits At Mike, Bellmon

Sen. Mike Monroney "wouldn't know a Communist if he were eating breakfast with him," former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker charged Friday in Oklahoma City.

The criticism came during an informal press conference held by speakers attending the fifth annual Christian Crusade at the Skirvin Tower Hotel.

Walker's remark brought laughter from other speakers present, including Billy James Hargis, crusade director; retired Maj. George Racey Jordan, president of the Toronto Gold Market, Ltd., and Brig. Gen. Richard B. Moran, retired, Kerrville, Texas.

Not present was the Crusade's keynote speaker, Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, whose plane was delayed in Tulsa.

Gov. Bellmon also drew Walker's attack though Walker said the "entire group" of Christian Crusade participants present was glad Bellmon was elected.

"But he (the governor) said the other day the John Birch Society is leading the attack against Goldwater.

"I think your governor had better do his homework," Walker added.

Asked if there were a presidential candidate the Crusade would support, speakers declined to name a man.

"Our emphasis is on a cause, not a man," Hargis said. "We don't like dictators and we don't like to put all our hopes on one man."

Walker said he would be for "the best American."

Dr. Charles Poling, Arizona minister who said he is a long-time friend of Barry Goldwater, said there was "no one here who is enough to name a candidate now."

Getting a new president would solve the nation's racial troubles, Walker said, calling Kennedy's proposed civil rights bill a "social rights" bill.

Hargis said he believed the racial unrest was being instigated and exploited by Communists.

"Leaders on both sides should sit down at the local level and negotiate, without any international or federal intervention," he suggested.

Discussing Communists, Walker said they are the inspiration behind "all racial disorder, all racial riots, in all disorder, all breakdowns, all riots" from Africa to Mississippi to Laos.

He said the planned mass Negro march in Washington, D. C., is "Mr. Kennedy's march, led by the administration against the Congress."

Jordan, who said he witnessed the shipping of uranium and U. S. currency engraving plates to Russia during World War II, warned that Russia now is on a "gold ruble" standard, seeking to replace the U. S. dollar as the world's monetary measuring stick.

"Fiscal alcoholics and compulsive spenders in Washington" are responsible for intentionally taking the purchasing power of the dollar down, he said.

"They want to turn this into a one-world set-up under the United Nations," he said.

"The quickest way to wreck this country is to break the financial integrity of the dollar," Jordan said.

Also present at Friday's conference was Luis V. Manrara, Miami, Fla., president of The Truth About Cuba Committee, Inc.

The Crusade is expected to draw about 1,000 persons during its sessions which end Sunday.

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

The August 3, 1963, edition of "The Daily Oklahoman", a daily newspaper published at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, reflected an article entitled, "Big Government Ripped by Welch".

The article stated, in part, the following:

"The greatest tragedy of the 20th century is the increase of 'swollen over-extended' government everywhere, Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, said Friday night in Oklahoma City. Speaking to 500 persons attending his keynote address of the Christian Crusade, Welch called 'this tragedy' greater than the Communist menace.

" 'Even when composed of honest and intelligent individuals, government combines and increases the stupidity of men. And for a government, the stupid action, stupid course, is almost always the easiest and safest course,' he said.

"When asked if the John Birchers supported a particular candidate for the 1964 presidential election, Welch said the society has 'no position ever in regard to politics.' He indicated a majority of the society probably would back a conservative candidate.

Concerning the nation's racial upheavel, Welch said, "We have a very strong position in that we take absolutely no position. This matter should be left up to local communities to handle.... the federal government has no right to say what local groups should do.

"In summing up his 90-minute talk, Welch was applauded when he said as stupid as people can be, 'none of us anywhere can begin to touch governments when it comes to stupidity. It is the tendency to increasing, swollen, over-extended government that constitutes the greatest tragedy of the 20th century.' Welch said the world's people - except for the communists - 'who, if they are truly communists can't be thought of as human beings in any consideration of humanitarian qualities' - are nearly alike."

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

The August 3, 1963, edition of the "Oklahoma City Times", a daily newspaper published at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, reflected an article entitled, "Birch Society Founder Talks Here".

The article stated, in part, the following:

The first meeting of the Fifth Annual Christian Crusade national convention was held at the Skirvin Tower Hotel in Oklahoma City on Friday night, August 2nd. Over 30 states were represented at the first night of the convention, with Texas having the largest out-of-state delegation.

"Charles Weber, a local radio pastor, gave a scripture reading followed by a sermon denouncing the United States welfare and foreign aid program...."

Following the prayer, Billy James Hargis, Tulsa, Oklahoma, minister, read off the program.

Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, was introduced as the keynote speaker.

"Welch strung together nearly 20 stories of experiences he has had in his childhood and his travels, with the intent of concluding that 'there's nothing as stupid as government when it comes to stupidity.' Applause was brief, but quick, on that comment.....

The August 4, 1963, edition of "The Sunday Oklahoman", a Sunday newspaper published at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, reflected an article entitled, "Crusader Rips Church Group".

The article stated, in part, the following:

"The National Council of Churches and America's participation in a test ban treaty came under attack Saturday by speakers at the Christian Crusade, underway in Oklahoma City. Also assailed were the United Nations, both political parties, and the nation's news media. A Cuban exile leader challenged the Organization of American States (OAS) to send armed forces into Cuba, and another speaker former Major General Edwin Walker, was hailed with calls of 'Walker for President'.

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

"Luis V. Manrara, Miami, Florida, said the OAS has the 'right and obligation' to eradicate Communism from this hemisphere. It is the legal, moral and military answer, he said, and member nations have the power 'to intervene with armed forces in Cuba, collectively or unilaterally.'

B. APPROX

"A 26-year-old Wisconsin minister, Reverend David Noebel, Madison, discussed 'The Liberal Papers', a collection of 12 essays edited by James Roosevelt and authored by persons working in or with the Kennedy administration. He said the suggestion in the book for America's foreign and domestic policies closely follow a list of Communist goals. 'These ideas are being used by the Kennedy administration,' Noebel said.....

"Dr. Charles S. Poling, Wickenburg, Arizona, retired Presbyterian minister, accused most ministers in the United States of having 'greater devotion to the National Council of Churches than they do in God. The National Council has become the most deeply-entrenched, well organized socialist political party America has ever known,' he said....

"A retired general...told the crowd the Soviet Union will not honor the recent test ban treaty any longer than the treaty can be used to its own advantage. Brigadier General (Retired) Richard B. Moran, Kerrville, Texas, said of 52 treaties Russia has entered into with the United States, the Soviets have broken 50 of them.

"Former Major General Walker hit the test ban treaty, politics, and the press. 'Why must there be a test ban treaty?' he asked. 'We never agreed with anybody to arm in the first place. This is incredible. This reason is treason,' he said.

"Sounding like a candidate for political office, Walker hit at the Republican and Democratic parties, claiming they both have 'no choice' platforms.

" 'The platform to vote for is the one of the man against the UN,' he said. 'If you're not for him, you're not voting for survival...survival is the basic issue.'

"Walker said he's a member of one party, 'the people's party of America, and I'm sure 75 percent of the people are in it, too.'

" ' What am I doing?' Walker asked, 'I'm propagandizing and agitating.' As the crowd began to applaud, he asked, 'Do you like it?' and was met with an ovation and scattered cries of 'Walker for President'."

The August 5, 1963, edition of "The Daily Oklahoman" reflects that FULTON LEWIS, JR. was a speaker at the Sunday meeting of the Christian Crusade in Oklahoma City. The article quoted Lewis as stating the conservatives, "split into little groups", should unite to "substitute a new president in the White House." He told conservatives to "get rid of schism, nit-picking, disagreements on little tiny details and fancy theories (and) get behind a candidate or principle which has the courage to break the Kennedy family hierarchy."

The article relates that about 550 persons in the Skirvin Tower attending the convention heard Lewis blast civil service and foreign service programs, claiming the Kennedy administration keeps the federal payroll big for vote-getting purposes.

The article reflects LEWIS endorsed Senator Barry Goldwater for President and depicted President Kennedy as a "pleasant, superficial playboy who has no more business being president than I have being God."

LEWIS was quoted as saying that to fight the international Communist conspiracy, the average person "can vote against Mr. Kennedy for re-election."

This article indicated that the Christian Crusade ended its three-day session on the night of August 4, 1963.

On August 2, 1963, a source who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised he attended the opening meeting of the Christian Crusade held at the Skirvin Hotel, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, that date. Source stated that former Major General Edwin A. Walker addressed the meeting and the nature of his remarks were to the effect that the Christian Crusade should devote itself to fighting communism and that he deplored the integration crises which he described as being completely communist dominated and inspired and further referred to the entire matter as communist propaganda.

The source advised that General Walker bitterly attacked the Director of the FBI, stating that the Director failed to speak out concerning the fact that integration matters were communist inspired and in a rambling manner, according to source, Walker claimed the Director of the FBI failed to state the true circumstances and communist connections of those persons surrounding Reverend Martin Luther King. The source advised that at this point Reverend Billy James Hargis, one of the founders and director of the Christian Crusade, immediately arose and stated he wished to correct the statements of General Walker about the Director of the FBI and stated the Director had been muzzled by Attorney General Robert Kennedy. Source stated that Walker then continued to criticize the Director of the FBI by stating the Director should not have stood behind Attorney General Kennedy and permitted the Attorney General to speak out for him but should have "spoken out" and spoke of this as an instance of political control of the Director exercized by the Kennedy administration. The source advised General Walker was asked specifically what the Director of the FBI should have done and Walker was unable to answer. Walker was asked what the group hoped to accomplish in Oklahoma City and he replied to the effect that he and the Christian Crusade intended to fight the Kennedys wherever they could. Walker referred frequently to his leadership in oposition to the NAACP and Walker was asked if he had been at Oxford, Mississippi. Walker replied that he had definitely been there and it was the source's opinion from personal observation that Walker considers himself the leader of all groups against integration and "glories in his experiences at Oxford."

Source advised that some reference was made to the March on Washington and Walker was asked if he would go to Washington. According to source Walker replied, "I will go where the spirit moves me. Wait and see." Source said it was his impression that Walker has the definite intention of being in Washington on August 28, 1963. The source advised that it was his impression that Walker is definitely and seriously a mental case and described the opening meeting of the Christian Crusade as follows...."It is hard to imagine I had attended a meeting at the Skirvin Hotel in Oklahoma City. I thought I was in a lunatic asylum."

CHRISTIAN CRUSADE

On August 5, 1963, the source advised he had attended all sessions of the convention of the Christian Crusade which ended on the evening of August 4, 1963. He stated he spent a substantial amount of time at these meetings around former Major General Edwin A. Walker in an attempt to assess General Walker as best he could. He stated that in the presence of reporters and photographers Walker appeared unstable. However, when addressing the convention body he was very lucid and appeared quite normal. The source advised he received no indication from any of the many persons with whom he was in contact that anyone at this convention was organizing any group to attend the March on Washington. He specifically stated there was no indication anyone discussed carrying weapons at any time. Source advised that it was his impression General Walker will probably be in Washington on August 28, 1963, as Walker indicated he would like to witness how troops would be used to 'suppress freedom". Walker indicated he learned a lesson at Oxford, Mississippi, and will do nothing to incite a riot. Walker stated the Army should be used to repel "the Negro attack on Washington". Source concluded by stating that the main theme of most speakers at the convention was "hate Kennedy".

WFO reported on 8/4/63 that GEORGE LINCOLN ROCKWELL, Commander of the American Nazi Party, announced that a prominent figure of national renown who took part in the riots of the University of Mississippi, would join the American Nazi Party in their counter demonstrations on 8/28/63.

In view of the planned march on Austin, Texas, State Capitol, to take place on 8/28/63, which demonstration is being held to coincide with and in sympathy with captioned march on Washington, it is not anticipated that very many individuals from Texas will go to Washington in view of the savings in time and money a trip to Austin would permit.

Enclosed herewith to the Bureau are eight copies, and to WFO two copies, of a letterhead memorandum suitable for dissemination. Copy also furnished locally to INTC, Dallas.

RE: MARCH ON WASHINGTON
August 28, 1963

The "Hartford Times", a daily evening newspaper printed at Hartford, Connecticut, under date of August 15, 1963, page 35, reflected an article headed, "Labor Council Donates to Civil Rights March". Instant story reflects Labor Council donated $1,500 to help underwrite transportation costs of Connecticut participants in the August 28, 1963 "March on Washington for Freedom and Jobs".

The donation was presented to the organizers of the State Delegation in Bridgeport, Connecticut, by JOHN DRISCOLL, President of the Council, at a luncheon in that city on Wednesday, August 14, 1963. The article indicated that another $500 is to be forthcoming.

The article stated that 1,000 State residents headed by former baseball star JACKIE ROBINSON of Stamford, Connecticut, are expected to make the train trip, and that ten chartered buses will be on stand-by if needed.

The "Hartford Courant", a daily and Sunday newspaper printed at Hartford, Connecticut, carried a story dated August 16, 1963, on page 24, titled, "General Walker Says March on Capitol May Be Resisted". The story continues by stating that arch-conservatist EDWIN A. WALKER, at a conference Thursday in Avon, Connecticut, indicated there may be opposition in the streets of the nations capitol when civil rights demonstrators gather August 28, 1963. WALKER did not say whether he is involved in organizing opposition to the March on Washington, but said he "had friends all over the nation and people were rallying behind United States Senator STROM THURMOND".

WALKER said that, "Three main problems" facing the country are the nuclear test ban treaty, the KENNEDY administration's civil rights program, and the March on Washington.

WILBUR SMITH, Vice President, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) of Hartford, Connecticut, advised on August 16, 1963, that he had no figures on the exact number of people coming to Washington August 28, 1963, but of those he knows who plan to attend, none are believed by him to be violent or radical in their thinking. SMITH stated that people from all over the State are expected to board the training leaving Hartford, August 28, 1963, for Washington.

Former Major General Edwin A. Walker

Information has been received that former Major General Edwin A. Walker of the U. S. Army may attend the March.

Klan Groups

A racial source has advised that Robert Shelton, Imperial Wizard of the United Klans of America, Inc., has indicated his intention to be present at the March on Washington and create agitation.

All offices have been instructed to alert their informants and sources concerning the possible participation of Klan and hate groups in the March and the reported plans of the above groups are being followed closely. Pertinent information concerning the possibility of such groups participating has been furnished local authorities. (For details see page 15.)

Military Planning:

Pursuant to instruction of the President to the Army Chief of Staff, plans have been formulated for the use of 4,000 combat troops, including one Marine Battalion, to be present in an alert status to take action should a disorder occur. An additional 25,000 combat ready troops will be available if needed at Army posts on the outskirts of Washington. (For details see page 17.)

Police Preparation:

The police department will be at its full strength of 2,850. Of this number, 2,000 uniformed officers will be used to actually police the demonstration. Five hundred civilian reserve officers will be used in outlying precincts. National Guard will be used in conjunction with uniformed police officers patrolling in Army jeeps carrying cards identifying them as police units. Detention facilities in the U. S. District Court Building and Precinct One will be used to house any persons arrested.

The National Office of the March on Washington has appointed 2,000 marshals among the demonstrators to handle self-policing. (For details see page 17.)

Emergency Medical Care Plans:

Twenty-two clinics will be set up on an emergency basis in public buildings and first aid tents in the vicinity of the demonstration Each clinic will be staffed by a minimum of two physicians, four nurses and reception personnel. In addition, forty American Red Cross ambulances will be available and hospitals will be prepared to go on a national disaster plan. Medical care will be under the direction of Dr. Frederick Heath who has held this same position in past inaugural parades. (For details see page 20.)

Government Leave Policies:

In public announcements the Civil Service Commission has urged supervisors to grant annual leave wherever possible to lessen the expected traffic congestion. (For details see page 21.)

Closing of Local Businesses:

Although bank officials have urged a bank holiday and local businessmen have also suggested closing their establishments in view of the traffic congestion, there has been no official action with respect to the wholesale closing of business enterprises on 8/28/63 thus far. (For details see page 21.)

Specific assignments have been made to observe the activities of George Lincoln Rockwell and the ANP, Major General Walker and any other members of Klan or hate groups who may appear, as well as members of the Communist Party, Nation of Islam or other subversive organizations.

KLAN AND HATE GROUPS:

All offices have alerted informants and/or sources of information on Klan and hate groups so we will be promptly advised of any counter-demonstrations which have been planned.

AMERICAN NAZI PARTY

George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi Party, was denied a permit to parade on the day of the demonstration. He has advised police authorities that he intends to have a "meeting" at dawn at the Washington Monument on August 28, 1963. Rockwell has advised that he will leave if asked prior to the March on Washington demonstration, which is scheduled to commence at 10:00 a.m., that his followers will not wear their Nazi uniforms and that he will willingly conform to Metropolitan Police Department commands. The Metropolitan Police Department is fully aware of the possibility that Rockwell may engage in speech making and attempt to provoke violence and will be ready to quell any action of this type.

FORMER MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN WALKER

A source who covered the convention of the Christian Crusade, August 2 - 4, 1963, Oklahoma City, at which General Walker spoke was of the impression that Walker might be present in Washington on August 28, 1963. The source quoted Walker when asked whether he would attend the March on Washington as stating "I will go where the spirit moves me." Accordingly, our Dallas Division, through discreet contact with sources, is following General Walker's plans and to date there has been no confirmation indicating he plans to be present at the demonstration.

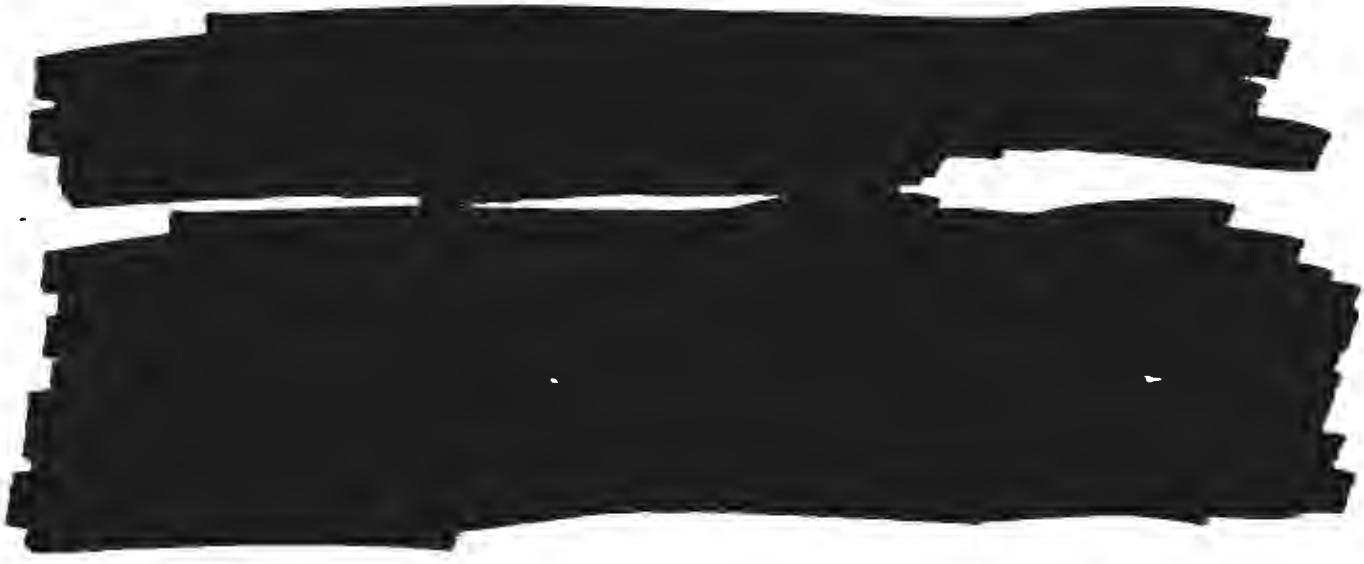
WASHINGTON FIELD OFFICE COVERAGE OF THE DEMONSTRATION:



Specific Agent assignments have been made to observe the activities of George Lincoln Rockwell and members of his American Nazi Party (ANP) and Major General Edwin A. Walker should he appear. Agent personnel will be alert to observe the presence and activities of any known members of the Ku Klux Klan or hate groups as well as members of the Communist Party, the Nation of Islam, or other subversive organizations. A special surveillance squad has been set up to handle any physical surveillances that may be found necessary.

Liaison Agents will remain in personal contact with the officials of the Metropolitan Police Department (MPD) and the U. S. Park Police throughout the day. In addition, liaison Agents will be in personal contact during the entire period with Reverend Walter E. Fauntroy and Julius W. Hobson, members of the District of Columbia Coordinating Committee, who are actively involved in handling the demonstration for the racial groups. Close liaison will also be maintained with the military authorities.

Mobile units will be stationed by WFO on the perimeter of the demonstration area to be in a position for dispatching to any area where trouble might erupt enabling prompt coverage of any such incident. These units will be deployed as the need occurs.

During the interview of Mrs. HARRY LE ROY, Rural Route 2, Roseville, Ohio, the odor of beer was noted on her breath. Mrs. LE ROY said she had been drinking some beer, but was not intoxicated. She said she has never been treated in a hospital except for child birth. During interview, she referred to many pages of notes which she had made during her efforts to break the supposed coded message from DEAN. She referred several times to the fact that this information was very secretive, that she could not trust anyone, and that she had not even told her husband about her decoding activities. She also relayed to the interviewing agent a feeling of self-pity in that her time was almost completely occupied in caring for her elderly father since the death of her mother.

Investigative period includes date prior to referenced report of December 2, 1963, as results not received in time to be included.

INFORMANTS:

[redacted]

Shortly after EUGENE's arrival in Columbus, Ohio, she learned from him that a week prior to his arrival, he had interviewed former Major General EDWIN WALKER. EUGENE subsequently endeavored to sell this interview to Texas the Columbus Dispatch, Columbus, Ohio, but was unsuccessful. She further stated that EUGENE and former Major General EDWIN WALKER have corresponded with one another.

She also learned that EUGENE O'DOHERTY was previously engaged in Irish Republican Army Revolutionary activities in Ireland and England. In this regard, he was a writer and organizer in this movement and has had some articles published in an Irish newspaper.

Mrs. O'DOHERTY further described EUGENE O'DOHERTY as a man of extreme rightist political views. He considers any person with views to the left of his views to be a Communist. She has previously heard EUGENE describe President JOHN F. KENNEDY as inept and a Communist. She described EUGENE O'DOHERTY as possessing extremely anti-Negro, anti-Semitic views.

She recalled that shortly after EUGENE arrived in Columbus, Ohio, he said he hoped that President KENNEDY would never go to Texas because sentiment there was very strong against him. Because of this strong feeling against President KENNEDY in Texas, EUGENE feared that should he visit Texas, an attempt might be made on his life. He also made the statement that if President KENNEDY ever visited Ireland, persons there might attempt to assassinate him.

She learned from EUGENE that both GLADYS CORSER and JACK PAYTON are members of the John Birch Society. EUGENE O'DOHERTY and JACK PAYTON have recently exchanged correspondence, and they have also made several long-distance telephone calls to each other. She explained that it was her opinion and belief that this correspondence and the telephone calls were with regard to PAYTON's attempting to have EUGENE come to Texas over the Christmas Holidays of 1963, and do some photographic work for him.

INVESTIGATION MADE AT: Dallas, Texas	PERIOD COVERED: 12/2/63 to 12/5/63
INVESTIGATION MADE BY: ATSAIC Leon I. Gopadze

DETAILS

SYNOPSIS

The note written in Russian and recovered from the Russian book entitled "Book of Helpful Instructions" was translated and traced to Lee Harvey Oswald. Marina Oswald was questioned about the note and statement obtained. She was also questioned concerning other matters pertaining to the case.

DETAILS OF INVESTIGATION

Reference is made to M/R of ATSAIC Gopadze dated 12-3-63. Further reference is made to office memorandum of 12-3-63.

On 12-2-63 the reporting agent, with SA Kunkel, proceeded to the Martin residence where Marina Oswald was questioned by the reporting agent as to whether she knew anything about telegrams allegedly sent and received by Lee Oswald prior to his death. She stated that she has no knowledge of any telegrams sent or received by her husband. She was also questioned about Lee Oswald's rooming house where he registered under the assumed name and about placing a phone call to this place as related by Mrs. Ruth Paine. Marina Oswald stated that when Lee Oswald did not show up over the weekend (believed to be November 16 and 17, 1963) she asked Ruth Paine to telephone the rooming house and upon contacting the house, Ruth Paine was told that they had no one by the name of Lee Oswald. According to Marina Oswald, when her husband telephoned her the following day from his place of employment, she (Marina) asked him why he gave her a telephone number where he was not known and he stated that it was none of her business. Marina Oswald also stated that they had a quarrel over the telephone and when Lee showed up on Thursday evening (November 21, 1963) he more or less indicated that his arrival was to patch up the quarrel. Marina Oswald was also asked the reason she moved, for about a week, when they lived at 602 Elsbeth Street and she stated that it happened before Thanksgiving Day of 1962 when her husband beat her up and that she moved, first to stay with a friend by the name of Anna Weller, and then with Anna May, whose addresses she did not know. Both women are Russians and she has met them through Mr. Peter P. Gregory. Further questioning of Marina Oswald was discontinued due to the arrival of FBI Agents Wallace Heistman and Anatole Bogoslov. Agent Bogoslov spoke Russian and acted as translator between Agent Heistman and Marina Oswald.

Upon return of the reporting agent to the office, he was given two Russian books to examine, which were entitled "Our Child" and "Book of Helpful Instructions" and other items written in Russian which were received the same day from the Irving Police Department, Irving, Texas. There were two letters written in Russian by Ruth Paine concerning various offers received by her for Marina Oswald to live and work, post cards, and one unsigned page taken from a writing pad, written in pencil, giving various instructions concerning a post office box, disposition of the writer's personal belongings, about the paid bills, his possible apprehension and where he could be located in the event of his arrest. In view of the contents of the note and indication that the note was written by Lee Oswald prior to his assassination of the President, Marina Oswald was interviewed over the telephone by the reporting agent at her place of residence but she disclaimed any knowledge of such note. The note was constructed in very poor Russian and many words were misspelled which were hard to understand. Translation of this note was furnished to Chief with office memorandum of the reporting agent dated 12-3-63, together with the statement later obtained from Marina Oswald in her own handwriting. In the evening of the same day, Ruth Paine was interviewed by the reporting agent and SA Brady regarding the above-mentioned note as set forth in the M/R of SA Brady dated 12-3-63.

Dallas, Texas

On December 3, 1963 the reporting agent, with SA Brady, proceeded to the Martins' residence where Marina Oswald was questioned about the note between 11:30 A.M. and 12:30 P.M. Marina Oswald immediately stated that she did not want to talk about the note over the telephone the previous evening but that the note has nothing to do with the assassination of the President. She went on to say that the note was written by her husband, Lee Oswald, prior to his attempted assassination of former General Walker, the head of the Fascist organization in the United States who lived in Dallas, Texas, when they lived on Neeley Street in Dallas; that the note, together with a post office key, was left on a dresser of their bedroom and after reading the note she was afraid that her husband was planning to do something dreadful due to his hatred toward the Fascist organizations and their beliefs. She also stated that when her husband returned home late that night he was very nervous and finally told her that he shot Walker with his rifle and that it was best for everybody that he got rid of him. She further stated that when the following day they learned from radios and newspapers that the rifle shot fired by an unknown person missed Walker, she decided to keep the note as a threat against her husband so that he would not repeat the same thing again, which he promised not to do. She also stated that [illegible] her husband and, further, on account of their child. However, she [illegible] if the shot had taken it's mark, she would have reported the matter to the police. She also stated that prior to the shooting, her husband was seen drawing all kinds of maps, etc. which he did not do prior to shooting the President. Statement concerning the Walker incident was obtained from Marina Oswald in her own handwriting. She requested that the matter not be reported to the police but that, if asked by the FBI, she would tell them everything.

On December 4, 1963, the reporting agent interviewed Marina Oswald as to whether she knew of any place or of a rifle range where her husband could do some practicing with a rifle, and whether she ever saw her husband taking the rifle out of the house. She said that she never saw Lee going out or coming in to the house with the rifle and that he never mentioned to her doing any practice with a rifle. She also said that every time he came home over the weekend he either would call, requesting Mrs. Paine to pick him up at the bus point, or he would request Mrs. Paine to take him to the bus point to return to Dallas. Marina Oswald was asked again about a school where her husband took his typing lessons and she again stated that she did not know the name of the school, its location and suggested that Mr. George A. Bouhe, be contacted as she believed that Mr. Bouhe attended the same school many years ago. At the time of interview with Marina Oswald, Jim Martin arrived at the house with a man who was introduced as Attorney John M. Thorne, with offices at 302 West College Street, Grand Prairie, Texas, telephone number AN 2-2600. Prior to this date, Mr. Martin indicated that, in view of legal matters involving money received by Marina Oswald, establishing funds and various offers, he was contemplating the hiring of a lawyer and that Mr. Thorne agreed to act in such capacity.

The reporting agent acted only in the capacity of interpreter between Marina Oswald, Mr. Martin and Mr. Thorne who were making arrangements to establish a bank account, to find a business manager who would represent Marina as an agent, to deal with various offers received, and will be received, by her in the future. Apparently Marina Oswald is satisfied with her life with the Martins and trusts Mr. Martin implicitly. Therefore, she agreed that Mr. Martin will represent her in the business capacity, as her manager.

At the conclusion of the above-mentioned interview, the reporting agent and SA Brady returned to the office before the arrival of FBI agents Heistman and Bogoslov.

By checking the telephone directory, it was ascertained that George A. Bouhe resides at 4740 Homer, Dallas, Texas, phone number TAylor 7-2238. Mr Bouhe was interviewed over the telephone by the reporting agent about the night school that Lee Oswald may have attended and he stated that in all possibility Lee attended the Crozier Technical School, located on Bryan Street in Dallas, as he recommended the night school to Marina Oswald to learn the English language.

Upon return of the reporting agent to his hotel, a message was received to telephone Mr. Martin at his residence. An effort was made to talk to Mr. Martin but SA James Johnson advised that Mr. Martin was not in, that he was conferring with his lawyer and that he wanted totalk to the reporting agent about newspaper reporters who are requesting a personal interview with Marina Oswald. At the time of placing the call to the Martin residence, Inspector Tom Kelley was in the room and the above information was related to him. Inspector Kelley requested to advise Mr. Martin in the event of his call to the reporting agent to tell him not to agree on any conferences between Marina Oswald and the newspapermen, or any other people, until such conference will be approved by either this Service or by the FBI. Later, when Mr. Martin telephoned the reporting agent at his room concerning the matter, he was advised of Inspector Kelley's request and he said that he would try to convince the newspapermen to postpone the interview until he would allow it.

On December 5, 1963, SA Seale made inquiry at the Crozier Technical School, 2218 Bryan Street, Dallas, Texas. This was done in an effort to determine if Lee H. Oswald had ever attended this school. Mr. Troy C. Bond, Principal, produced a registration form which reflected that Lee H. Oswald registered here on January 28, 1963.

The application form further reflected that Oswald took a typing course; that he attended classes each week from 6:15 P.M. to 7:15 P.M. Mr. Bond stated that Oswald attended classes on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of each week. The application form indicated that Oswald dropped out of school on April 8, 1963; however, Mr. Bond stated that it is possible that Oswald had stopped attending classes prior to this date.

Mr. Bond stated that this registration card is the only existing record of Oswald's attendance at this school. He said that, since Oswald did not desire high school credit for the typing course, all the other records of his attendance were destroyed.

Neither Mr. Bond, Mrs. Gladys Yoakum, Oswald's typing teacher, nor Mrs. Juanita Richey, who registered Oswald, were able to recall him personally.

A copy of Oswald's registration card is attached to the original of this report.

TYPE OF CASE	STATUS	TITLE OR CAPTION
Protective Research	Continued	Assassination of President Kennedy Marina Oswald
INVESTIGATION MADE AT: Dallas, Texas	PERIOD COVERED: 12/6/63
INVESTIGATION MADE BY: ATSAIC Leon I. Gopadze

DETAILS

SYNOPSIS

Marina Oswald states that her husband had no other means of transportation but by a bus or walking. She also states that Mrs. Marguerite Oswald had information concerning the attempted assassination of former General Walker.

DETAILS OF INVESTIGATION

Reference is made to M/R of ATSAIC Gopadze dated 12-5-63.

In order to ascertain the mode of transportation used by Lee Oswald during his stay in Dallas and its vicinity, and because of reports that he had been seen practicing a rifle at the Sports Dome Gun Range, Grand Prairie, Texas (M/R of SA Kunkel dated December 3 and 4, 1963), Marina Oswald was interviewed by the reporting agent on 12-6-63 at the Martin residence. She stated that she is positive that her husband had no car nor ever borrowed one from anybody. They were too poor to buy one and he was too independent to be obligated to anyone by borrowing anything from them. According to Marina Oswald, whenever they needed transportation to move from place to place they were helped by either Ruth Paine or Elena Hall and that when they moved from the apartment on Elsbeth Street to the apartment on Neeley Street they moved their own belongings as the apartments were only a few blocks apart. Texas

As set forth in the M/R of SA Kunkel, Lee Oswald has been identified as being at a rifle range on October 29 and 30, 1963 and on November 2 and 16, 1963. By furnishing Marina Oswald with a calendar and also by calling her attention to a notation found in Lee Oswald's address book, the name of FBI Agent James P. Hosty, his phone number, his address and the date of November 1, 1963, she stated that this notation was made by her husband the same day (November 1, 1963) when she and Ruth Paine advised him that two FBI agents were at their house asking for him. Her husband arrived at the house about an hour after the agents departure. She said she would like to correct her previous statement concerning the visit of two agents either on November 3 or 4, 1963, as previously reported, as she is sure now the visit was on November 1, 1963.

Marina Oswald went on to say that her husband was with them over the weekend of November 2 and 3, 1963, that he did not go any place, that the following weekend, November 9 and 10, he also spent with them, and that it was the weekend of November 16 and 17 when he did not show up at their house. Marina Oswald further said that she did not think her husband had the rifle any place but Mrs. Paine's garage as she or Mrs. Paine would have seen him with the rifle during the weekends. According to Marina Oswald, she saw the rifle in the garage about three weeks prior to November 22nd and she thinks that the rifle was taken out of the garage by her husband in the morning of the assassination of the President.

Marina Oswald was further questioned concerning the attempted assassination of former General Walker by her husband on April 10, 1963, and whether any one else knew beside herself about this act. She stated that the day of her husband's arrest and after she and her mother-in-law returned to the Paine's from visiting Lee Oswald at the City Jail, she told her mother-in-law that she thought Lee was responsible for shooting the President as he previously unsuccessfully tried to kill General Walker with his rifle. That was the same day when Mrs. Oswald, Sr., told her to destroy Lee's pictures in her album showing him standing with the rifle. Marina Oswald further stated that her husband twice saw the TV showing of a moving picture depicting a plot to kill a Cuban dictator with a bomb where the plotters had to dig a tunnel and that Lee did not like the picture as he said that was the way they did in the old days. She also thought Lee saw a TV showing of a movie where an attempt was made to kill a President at the railroad station with a rifle, from a house, but she was not sure about it. The way Marina Oswald was describing the later picture, it leaves very little doubt that this picture is entitled "Suddenly" starring Frank Sinatra.

Marina Oswald also was asked for assistance in transcribing various names, words and addresses written in Russian by her husband in his small notebook, reproduced pages of which were furnished this Service by the FBI. Nothing was found there of interest to this Service except various names of their friends while they were living in Russia, their addresses, and telephone numbers, various names of Government offices, Russian calendar, proper pronunciation of Russian words, items to be obtained for Marina's departure from Russia and a hand-drawn map of the Kremlin and its vicinity.

Miss ANA SILVEIRA, age 18, 1309 Brickell Avenue, Miami, Florida, a member of the Directorio Revolucionario Estudiantil (DRE - Student's Revolutionary Directorate or Student's Directorate of Cuba), advised that she had gone to Dallas, Texas, from Miami, Florida, for an open meeting of the DRE in that city, held on October 13, 1963. She stated that on October 13, 1963 a meeting for Spanish speaking persons was held at about 1 PM in the Dreyfus Club, Dallas, and she estimated about 70 persons attended this meeting.

She said a second meeting was held at 8 PM, October 13, 1963 in a conference room over a bank in a shopping center at Dallas, and this meeting was for English speaking persons, and she estimated about 30 attended. She stated that these meetings had previously been advertised at Dallas in order to give the interested public an opportunity to hear discussion by DRE members of the Cuban situation.

Miss SILVEIRA stated at the meeting on the evening of October 13, 1963 a sheet of paper was passed among those in attendance and those who were interested in receiving the bi-weekly English language publication THE CUBAN REPORT, which is composed by the DRE in Miami, were requested to furnish their name and address. She stated she also made note of the names of those individuals present who made contributions to the DRE at the meeting.

Miss SILVEIRA stated she had the list at the office of the DRE in Miami, and she was relatively certain that the name of LEE HARVEY OSWALD was not included in the list. She further stated she has seen many

Date November 25, 1963

RAYMOND FRANKLIN KRYSTINIK, Research Engineer, Bell Helicopter Research Laboratory, 3006 Avenue E East, stated that he had been employed by Bell Helicopter since 1960 and presently resides at 2121 Crossway, Arlington, Texas. He stated that he had been born August 31, 1932, at Caldwell, Texas, and graduated from Texas A & M University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in aeronautical engineering in June, 1960. He gave the following information:

Since 1960 at Bell Helicopter, KRYSTINIK has worked in the same office with MICHAEL PAINE, also a research engineer. In addition to working together, KRYSTINIK stated he and PAINE are good friends. He stated that in conversation with PAINE, he heard that PAINE's estranged wife has taken into her home a Russian girl, the wife of a man named LEE OSWALD.

Approximately one month ago, exact date now unrecalled to KRYSTINIK other than it was the day after ADLAI STEVENSON, Ambassador to the United Nations, spoke in Dallas, KRYSTINIK and his wife accompanied MICHAEL PAINE to Southern Methodist University in Dallas, where they attended a meeting of the American Civil Liberties Union in one of the campus buildings, the name of which is unknown to KRYSTINIK. This meeting began at approximately 8:00 p.m., and there were approximately forty people present. KRYSTINIK cannot remember exactly the name of the presiding officer but believes the individual presiding was a man named PEMBERTON. When KRYSTINIK and his wife and PAINE entered the room, they sat down next to an individual whom PAINE introduced as LEE OSWALD. KRYSTINIK said that OSWALD was dressed in a beige colored windbreaker type jacket and did not wear a necktie. KRYSTINIK stated that this was the same man whom he has seen during the last two days on television who was accused of the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

The meeting lasted approximately two hours and most of the time was taken up by the showing of a documentary film which portrayed a "smear" campaign reportedly waged against a political candidate in a recent election in the Pacific Northwest. KRYSTINIK does not recall the name of this candidate nor the exact office he was seeking. The theme of the film was that the political candidate's wife was an ex-Communist and this fact was used against him personally by political opponents, and this resulted in his being defeated for the office he was seeking. After the film, there was a question and answer period, and the presiding officer made reference to the fact that Ambassador STEVENSON had been struck on the head by a sign poster at a meeting in Dallas the day before. LEE OSWALD jumped to his feet and interjected himself into the discussion by stating that General EDWIN WALKER was responsible for the trouble at the STEVENSON meeting and stated emphatically that General WALKER was both anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic.

KRYSTINIK, a member of the Roman Catholic faith, followed OSWALD from the room when the meeting adjourned at approximately 10:00 p.m. and began questioning him in general about the anti-Catholic allegation against General WALKER. The discussion between them became rather heated, and OSWALD told KRYSTINIK that KRYSTINIK was a "petty capitalist." This apparently arose because OSWALD had learned that KRYSTINIK had a home wood-working workshop where he manufactures birdhouses and occasionally employs three men in the manufacture of these birdhouses. OSWALD told KRYSTINIK that he was exploiting his workers. KRYSTINIK asked OSWALD about his political belief, and OSWALD stated that he was a "Marxist." KRYSTINIK then asked, "Does that mean you are a Communist?" OSWALD then said, "All right, if you want to call me that, that is what I am, I am a Communist."

KRYSTINIK then asked what OSWALD thought of the administration of President KENNEDY, and OSWALD said, "They are doing a good job as far as civil rights are concerned."

Shortly after this statement, KRYSTINIK and his wife, CHARLOTTE EWILY, left the campus of Southern Methodist University and drove to the downtown business district of Dallas. KRYSTINIK stated that he and his wife have been married ten years and that neither of them drink alcohol or smoke and they had never during their married lives been to a nightclub. He stated, however, that night he and his wife went to the Carousel Night Club in Dallas to see the floor show and at that time he saw an individual, apparently the club manager, whom he saw later on television identified as JACK RUBY, the man who shot LEE OSWALD. KRYSTINIK and his wife had no conversation with RUBY or any other club employee while in the club. KRYSTINIK said that he did not see LEE OSWALD in the club, and as far as he knew, OSWALD had stayed behind in the vicinity of the campus of Southern Methodist University after the meeting adjourned.

KRYSTINIK said that he is not a member of the American Civil Liberties Union, and this is the first meeting he has ever attended. He stated that MICHAEL PAINE might possibly be a member of this group and might be able to identify other individuals who attended the meeting.

After the meeting, KRYSTINIK discussed LEE OSWALD on several occasions with PAINE, and in all conversations expressed to PAINE his strong dislike for OSWALD. PAINE told KRYSTINIK that OSWALD was generally considered by his associates to be obnoxious and that nine out of ten people would dislike him personally. KRYSTINIK said that PAINE comes from a Quaker background in Pennsylvania, presently attends a Unitarian Church, and KRYSTINIK received the definite impression that PAINE felt sorry for OSWALD and was trying to convert him.

During one of these conversations, PAINE told KRYSTINIK that things might be looking up for LEE OSWALD because he had been able to get a job at the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas, and it looked like he might be able to contribute to the support of his wife.

On November 22, 1963, the day of the Presidential assassination, KRYSTINIK and PAINE were in the office of the Bell Helicopter Company laboratory when they heard the news that the President had been shot. There was some discussion about the exact location of where the shooting had occurred, so they looked it up on the Dallas city map. PAINE said with surprise, "That is right next to the Texas School Book Depository building." KRYSTINIK then said, "Well, isn't that where LEE OSWALD works?" PAINE said, "Yes, but he does not even own a gun."

Later on in another broadcast, KRYSTINIK and PAINE heard that OSWALD had been arrested after shooting a Dallas police officer.

RAYMOND FRANKLIN KRYSTINIK, Research Engineer, Bell Helicopter Research Laboratory, 3006 Avenue E East, stated that he had been employed by Bell Helicopter since 1960 and presently resides at 2121 Greenway, Arlington, Texas. He stated that he had been born August 31, 1932, at Caldwell, Texas, and graduated from Texas A & M University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in aeronautical engineering in June, 1960. He gave the following information:

Since 1960 at Bell Helicopter, KRYSTINIK has worked in the same office with MICHAEL PAINE, also a research engineer. In addition to working together, KRYSTINIK stated he and PAINE are good friends. He stated that in conversation with PAINE, he heard that PAINE's estranged wife has taken into her home a Russian girl, the wife of a man named LEE OSWALD.

Approximately one month ago, exact date now unrecalled to KRYSTINIK other than it was the day after ADLAI STEVENSON, Ambassador to the United Nations, spoke in Dallas, KRYSTINIK and his wife accompanied MICHAEL PAINE to Southern Methodist University in Dallas, where they attended a meeting of the American Civil Liberties Union in one of the campus buildings, the name of which is unknown to KRYSTINIK. This meeting began at approximately 8:00 p.m., and there were approximately forty people present. KRYSTINIK cannot remember exactly the name of the presiding officer but believes the individual presiding was a man named PEMBERTON. When KRYSTINIK and his wife and PAINE entered the room, they sat down next to an individual whom PAINE introduced as LEE OSWALD. KRYSTINIK said that OSWALD was dressed in a beige colored windbreaker type jacket and did not wear a necktie. MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at 11611 Farrar Street.

The English translation of a letter originally written in Russian was read to her. The letter was re-translated into the Russian language as it was read by SA BOGUSLAV. This English translation had been furnished to the FBI Office at Dallas by the U. S. Secret Service. Upon the reading of the letter, MARINA stated immediately it was a letter written in the original by LEE OSWALD in the Russian language. She stated she had found the original letter in a room at the former OSWALD address on Neeley Street in Dallas. She related the incident concerning this letter as follows:

One night during the spring while she and OSWALD were in residence at the Neeley Street address, she became worried about OSWALD because he had not returned to their home very late in the evening. She said OSWALD had informed her that he was going to a typewriting class at the Dallas Evening School that evening. When he had not returned by 10:00 o'clock, she went into a room in which he kept his personal things and in this room she noticed a letter hand-written in the Russian language. This is the letter which is referred to above. She stated the letter gave her certain instructions concerning a Post Office box and other family matters and appeared to be a farewell letter.

She advised that about midnight that night, OSWALD came rushing into the house in a very agitated and excited state and his face was very pale. As soon as he entered the house, he turned on the radio. Later, he laid down on the bed and MARINA again noticed how very pale he was. She asked him what was wrong and he confessed to her that he had tried to kill General WALKER by shooting at him with a rifle but didn't know whether he had hit him or not. He said he wanted to find out on the radio whether or not he had hit him. MARINA said she became angry with OSWALD for shooting at General WALKER and he replied to her that General WALKER was the leader of the fascist organization here and it was best to remove him. MARINA said she was quite relieved when she found out that OSWALD had missed General WALKER with the rifle bullet. She said she and OSWALD were listening to the radio reports about the rifle shot at General WALKER and OSWALD was translating the reports for her.

She stated OSWALD did not have the rifle with him when he returned to the house. She also advised that OSWALD to her knowledge did not take the rifle with him when he left the house that evening. She stated she thought OSWALD had used the same rifle he had at the house on Neeley Street and at the PAINE house.

She said that the following evening she talked to OSWALD about the attempted assassination of General WALKER again. OSWALD told her that he had hidden the rifle which he used to shoot at General WALKER in some bushes or in the ground she did not remember which.

MARINA advised that she told OSWALD she was going to keep the letter written in Russian by OSWALD, which was evidently a farewell letter, in order that she could use it against him if he ever had another "crazy" scheme. She said that if OSWALD started to do anything like this, that she would go to the police with the letter. She also made OSWALD promise that he would never do anything like this again.

She advised that for a period of about a month before this attempt on WALKER's life, OSWALD had been very agitated and had closed himself in his room for long periods of time while he wrote and read. She said that it was evident that he had been thinking about the assassination attempt for some period of time. She said OSWALD did not mention General WALKER in her presence before the night of the attempted assassination. She said they did not speak of the incident again after the second night following the assassination attem

She said that she had insisted that they move from Dallas to another city because she felt that if they moved OSWALD would be less likely to repeat such a deed.

MARINA asked OSWALD how he had arrived at the WALKER house on the night of the attempted assassination.

He said he had gone there on foot. He said that after he fired the rifle, he ran away and that he could run very fast. He said the police thought the would-be assassin had an automobile. He came home on the bus.

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at 11611 Farrar Street.

She stated OSWALD at the time he confessed to the attempted assassination of General WALKER was employed at a printing type company in Dallas. She does not remember the name of the company. OSWALD was also attending a typewriting class at the Dallas evening school for either two or three nights a week. On the nights that he went to typewriting class, MARINA recalls she had supper about 6:00 following which OSWALD would leave the house about 7:00 in the evening and go to class. He would generally return to the house about 9:00. During this period they were living at the Neeley Street address. Texas

Edwin A. Walker

On the evening that OSWALD attempted to assassinate General WALKER, OSWALD came home at the usual time as best as she can remember, and on that evening he said that he was going to his typewriting class. OSWALD left at the usual time as best as she can remember. OSWALD when he came home from work that evening did not bring anything home with him. When he left supposedly for his typewriting class, he did not have a rifle or anything else with him.

She recalls he was wearing when he left the house that evening a white shirt and black or gray business type suit. She is not sure whether or not he wore a tie.

She stated OSWALD had not mentioned anything to her about General WALKER before his confession that he had tried to kill General WALKER. She said that she did not even know of General WALKER's existence before this confession.

MARINA was asked if she could now state when the photograph she had taken of OSWALD showing him in a pose with a rifle in his hand, a newspaper in his hand and a pistol at his belt was taken in relation to the time of the attempt on General WALKER's life. She said that she can recall that she took the picture about the same general time as the attempt on General WALKER's life, that is within a few weeks. She cannot recall whether or not the photograph was taken before the attempt on General WALKER's life or after.

She recalled that she asked OSWALD the evening following the attempt on General WALKER's life if General WALKER had a family. She was very pleased to find out that he had neither a wife nor children.

MARINA said she believes the rifle used by OSWALD in his attempt to kill General WALKER is the same rifle she had seen at the Neeley house and the rifle he had wrapped in the blanket at the garage at the Paine house. She cannot recall ever hearing OSWALD state that he was going to fire the rifle in practice or that he had fired it in practice. She said that the only time she knows that he fired the rifle was the time he confessed that he had tried to kill General WALKER by shooting at him with a rifle. She said the only time that she believes he could have practiced firing the rifle would have been when he was supposed to have been attending evening typewriting class.

She recalls he was wearing when he left the house that evening a white shirt and black or gray business type suit. She is not sure whether or not he wore a tie.

She stated OSWALD had not mentioned anything to her about General WALKER before his confession that he had tried to kill General WALKER. She said that she did not even know of General WALKER's existence before this confession.

MARINA was asked if she could now state when the photograph she had taken of OSWALD showing him in a pose with a rifle in his hand, a newspaper in his hand and a pistol at his belt was taken in relation to the time of the attempt on General WALKER's life. She said that she can recall that she took the picture about the same general time as the attempt on General WALKER's life, that is within a few weeks. She cannot recall whether or not the photograph was taken before the attempt on General WALKER's life or after.

She recalled that she asked OSWALD the evening following the attempt on General WALKER's life if General WALKER had a family. She was very pleased to find out that he had neither a wife nor children.

MARINA said she believes the rifle used by OSWALD in his attempt to kill General WALKER is the same rifle she had seen at the Neeley house and the rifle he had wrapped in the blanket at the garage at the Paine house. She cannot recall ever hearing OSWALD state that he was going to fire the rifle in practice or that he had fired it in practice. She said that the only time she knows that he fired the rifle was the time he confessed that he had tried to kill General WALKER by shooting at him with a rifle. She said the only time that she believes he could have practiced firing the rifle would have been when he was supposed to have been attending evening typewriting class.

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at 11611 Farrar Street.

MARINA advised that on the evening of November 21, 1963 which was the evening that OSWALD had spent at the Paine house with her, he did not seem to be particularly excited or agitated like he was for the long period of time before he had attempted to assassinate General WALKER.

She said OSWALD had calmed down considerably after the attempt at WALKER's life and she thought that he would not be involved in any political activity again until he became involved in passing out throw-aways in New Orleans on the Cuban situation. She said, however, that she was glad that he was merely passing out pamphlets because this was like play compared to trying to assassinate General WALKER.

She stated that on November 22, 1963, which was the day of the President KENNEDY motorcade in Dallas, she and Mrs. PAINE were looking at the motorcade on television at the PAINE residence. She said while they were looking at the motorcade, it was announced on television that the President had been shot. She said that Mrs. PAINE was translating the announcements for her. She asked Mrs. PAINE who had shot the President. Mrs. PAINE said that she did not know, that it had not been announced. When Mrs. PAINE said that an announcement had been made on television that the shots at the President had supposedly come from the Texas School Book Depository building, the thought immediately entered her mind: "Did my crazy one do it?", referring to OSWALD. When this thought entered her mind she immediately went into the garage at the PAINE house, as she remembered that that was where OSWALD kept his rifle wrapped up in the blanket. She went to where the rifle was kept and saw that the blanket was in its usual place and it appeared that the rifle was in it as the blanket had the same shape as before. Then she thought to herself that maybe there was another "crazy one" in Dallas. She said that when the police came to the PAINE house to take her, MARINA, to the police station, she was - almost in a state of collapse and hoped that OSWALD was merely a suspect in the matter.

She said it was amazing how one man could leave so many unhappy people and that it had all been caused through foolishness. MARINA mentioned the President's widow and the Dallas policeman's widow.

She said that there had been many quarrels and scenes between her and OSWALD which developed because she would scream at him to try to convince him to try to amount to something. She said that she had tried for a long time to convince OSWALD that he was not a stupid man and that if he turned his attention to other things, he could amount to something.

She admitted that OSWALD had on several occasions struck her during these arguments.

She said that she had thought of going back to Russia but was afraid that if she went back to Russia, that somehow OSWALD would get her child. She said OSWALD loved the child. MARINA told OSWALD that if there was to be a divorce, that she would take the child. OSWALD told her that he would not let her take the child. MARINA said it was amazing the contrast shown here between his love for his child and his foolishness in other ways. She said that he had the potential to be a good man, but probably because of poor environment and inattention on the part of his mother, he had turned out bad.

Concerning the rifle, MARINA said that she thought that the rifle used by OSWALD in the attempt to assassinate General WALKER was the same that he had on Neeley Street and in the garage at the PAINE residence, where it was wrapped up in the blanket which she has previously described.

MARINA was asked if she could recall quarreling with OSWALD on occasion at the Neeley Street residence in the presence of another male individual. She said she could recall no such incident. She said, in fact, she could not recall any male visitors that they had when they lived on Neeley Street. She said the only man who came to see them when they lived on Neeley Street was GEORGE DeMOHRENSCHILDT who came with his wife on JUNE's birthday and brought her a big toy. She said also that the owner of the house on Neeley Street and the owner's wife visited them once to see how they were getting along.

Captain O. A. JONES of the Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, furnished the file to me for review concerning the investigation of a shooting which allegedly occurred on April 10, 1963 at 9:00 P.M. at the home of General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. This file reflected that at 9:10 P.M. on April 10, 1963, a call was received by the Dallas Police Department from General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas.

WALKER complained to the police that he was sitting at his desk doing some paper work around 9:00 P.M. on April 10, 1963. He stated he was in the northwest room in his house on the lower floor, when he heard what sounded like a firecracker explode over his head. WALKER saw a hole in the wall to the left of where he was sitting.

Investigation by the Dallas Police Department reflected that a spent bullet was found in the next room which was believed to have entered the window on the west side of the room after passing through the wooden frame of the window, passing by WALKER's head and going completely through the wall. WALKER was hit in the right arm between the elbow and wrist by what was believed to be slivers of the bullet, wood, or pieces of glass. WALKER, realizing what had happened, ran upstairs and got his pistol, and called the police.

This file further reflects that one KIRK COLEMAN of 4338 Newton Street, Dallas, Texas, stated that he was sitting in the back room of his home and heard what sounded like a shot from a shotgun. He stated he ran outside and pulled himself up over the fence in the rear yard, and as he looked toward a church parking lot nearby, he saw some unknown white male speed down the driveway toward Turtle Creek Boulevard either in a 1949 or 1950 Ford sedan.

This file reflects that another witness allegedly saw two men sitting in an automobile about 30 minutes prior to the time of the shooting some distance away from General WALKER's house.

This file further reflects that all leads were investigated by the Dallas Police Department as they were received without results.

Captain JONES stated that one WILLIAM MacEWAN DUFF, white, male, approximately 32 years old, came to General WALKER's home in early December, 1962 and pretended to be an immigrant from Scotland. According to JONES, DUFF stated that he was interested in the type of work the General was doing and wanted to help him just for a place to stay. According to JONES, DUFF stated that he had only been in the Dallas area at the time for about two weeks and kept mentioning that he had to study all of the time in order to obtain his American citizenship papers. JONES stated that DUFF was a pathological liar, lazy, and would not work. He stated in March, 1963, DUFF was asked to leave the WALKER residence.

Captain JONES stated that DUFF was brought to the Dallas Police Department and given a polygraph examination, from which the Dallas Police Department came to the conclusion that DUFF was not involved with the shooting incident at General WALKER's home.

Captain JONES stated that there have been no other suspects other than DUFF and that the Dallas Police Department has been more or less at a dead end. He stated that it is difficult to investigate any type of matter where General WALKER is involved since WALKER apparently does not know the truth from fiction and leads the police up many blind alleys.

Lieutenant E. L. CUNNINGHAM stated that no suspects have been developed in the WALKER shooting incident which occurred allegedly at 9:00 P.M., April 10, 1963 at the General WALKER home at 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. He stated the only possible suspect was WILLIAM MacEWAN DUFF who had resided at the WALKER home, and that DUFF was eliminated as a suspect after he had been given a polygraph examination at the Dallas Police Department. He stated that DUFF had resided in General WALKER's home from September, 1962 to March of 1963, and that there were really no allegations or information concerning DUFF as a suspect other than because of his laziness he had been ordered to move out of the home by General WALKER.

CUNNINGHAM states that he had never heard of LEE HARVEY OSWALD until November 22, 1963 at the time of the assassination of President JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY.

RUSSELL ROSS FARRELL, Commander, United States Navy Reserve (Retired), 1327 Diamond Street, Pacific Beach, California, advised that he was a medically-retired Commander, U. S. Navy Reserve, who had been a legal officer in various commands in the Dallas and San Diego areas over the past 15 years. After his retirement, he said that he had become active in an anti-communist movement sponsored by the Copley Press in San Diego, a chain of newspapers in the Southwest, in which connection he held anti-communist meetings and showed the movie "Operation Abolition" before various groups.

He advised on November 27, 1963, that he had become convinced during this latter association that the persons of "far right" persuasion who were associated in this endeavor were so strongly anti-KENNEDY and anti-administration in their views, that he now actually believes it possible that they had had a hand in the assassination of KENNEDY and the murder of OSWALD. He stated he had heard conversations and seen correspondence from such persons as Major General WALKER, Retired Chief of Staff; Admiral RADFORD; H. L. HUNT, prominent Dallas millionaire who publishes "Lifeline", an anti-communist publication; JAMES COPLEY of the Copley Press; and others, that convinced him that these persons were so violently anti-administration as to be capable of anything.

When the assassination occurred, FARRELL watched the television coverage continuously and became emotionally aroused, especially when RUBY killed OSWALD. He states he knew RUBY when he was legal officer in Dallas in 1948 and was involved in one investigation of the beating of several members of a bomber crew in RUBY'S club during a disturbance. Dallas policemen were involved, and FARRELL believes RUBY has had influence with the Dallas Police Department for years, since he hired off-duty police as bouncers in his clubs. He dug out a copy of some signed statements taken from the flyers concerning the incident. Neither RUBY nor any policemen are named in the statements, although the fracas did occur at "Abe's Colony Club". One officer is referred to as Badge Number 302. Other officers are mentioned as having participated in the beating, but are not named.

Father NAGY stated that CSALA disappeared on Saturday, October 26, 1963, from the Rectory, and he has not seen him since.

Subsequently, Father NAGY stated that through confidential information he learned that CSALA received an airmail letter postmarked at Vienna, Austria, November 6, 1963, and that this letter was addressed to CSALA at 2613 Swiss Avenue in Dallas, and had the return address of Doctor VERA LIGETY, Wien 19, Heleigedstetustrase 82 14, Austria. Through confidential information Father NAGY stated that the person writing to CSALA did not appear to be his mother, at least not from the tenor of the letter. Several questions were asked him about what he was doing in Texas, and if he sent some money send it to the same place, place not mentioned, and that the writer appeared to be telling him about someone that both knew, possibly a friend, and CSALA was asked the question if he had seen or not seen him. This person was referred to in the letter as AA, but Father NAGY explained that AA did not mean anything in Hungarian but that it appeared to be a sign designating someone.

Father NAGY further stated that his secretary, Mrs. EUGENIA WALKER, also saw CSALA and that she could not understand him when he spoke English. Mrs. WALKER was also interviewed, but she could not furnish any additional information concerning the above matter.

The following is a description of JOSEF CSALA as furnished by Father NAGY and Mrs. WALKER:

ROBERT BENJAMIN HUGHES, Jr. was located at the Allright Parking Lot in the 300 block of North Austin, Dallas, and furnished the following information:

He resides at 2622 Kinsey, Dallas, with his mother, MONETTA HUGHES. He was in the U. S. Army from January, 1958, to December, 1960, receiving an honorable discharge, Army Serial No. RA 18476986. On leaving the service he was employed for two months by Hardware Mutual Insurance in Dallas and then by the Union News Company, also Dallas, from April to June of 1961. He has worked since August of 1961 for the Allright Systems, Inc., Wilson Building, Dallas, as a parking lot attendant. HUGHES admitted making statements to various people after the assassination of President KENNEDY to the effect that that assassination was just the beginning. He explained these statements by saying that he believed the Communists were beginning a reign of terror and that being anti-Communist he was interested in doing anything that would fight Communism. As part of his activities, he had contributed money to the Christian Crusade headed by BILLY JAMES HARGISS, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and had worked for General EDWIN WALKER during his campaign for Governor in Texas in 1962. Since the election campaign he has passed out additional literature, anti-Communist in nature, put out by General WALKER. During the interview, he expressed the opinion that ADLAI STEVENSON, U. S. Representative to the United Nations, had left the officer protecting him on his recent visit to Dallas and mixed with the crowd in the hopes that an incident would occur which would "make Dallas look bad". He feels that the shooting of President KENNEDY might be another incident designed to bring trouble to Dallas. When specifically questioned re this statement, HUGHES advised that this was a personal opinion he had, not based on any facts in his possession or any information he had obtained from any particular person or source.

He said he was not acquainted with LEE HARVEY OSWALD or JACK RUBY; to his knowledge he had never met them and knew of no connection between them and had no information whatsoever re the assassination of President KENNEDY.

HUGHES furnished the following description of himself:

The following investigation was conducted by SA BENJAMIN O. KEUTZER:

AT FORT WORTH, TEXAS

On November 22, 1963, Mrs. MILDRED STRAGELL, 3424 Livingston, advised that she has been attempting to telephonically contact Attorney General ROBERT KENNEDY, Washington, D. C., in order that she may advise him she suspects General EDWIN WALKER of Dallas, Texas, as being not only involved but the "ring leader" of the group or part of a group who assassinated President KENNEDY. She states she further wanted to advise Attorney General ROBERT KENNEDY of her deep sympathy extended toward the family.

She states she has no definite suspicions regarding the assassin and has no definite grounds on which to suspect General WALKER. She states she had no suspects prior to the shooting.

Mr. RUEBEN GINSBERG, Attorney-at-law, 1603 Kirby Building, advised that Mr. GEORGE BALLMAN, American Jewish Committee, Institute of Human Relations, had given the Dallas FBI Office most of the information he had concerning the advertisement which had appeared in the "Dallas Morning News" of November 22, 1963. This ad was signed by BERNARD WEISSMAN, purporting to represent The American Fact Finding Committee, as Chairman.

He said that he had received information from informants to the effect that Colonel MAYO, who is head of the local Civil Defense in Dallas, Texas, had seen the advertisement which had appeared in the "Dallas Morning News" before it was published in that newspaper. Mr. GINSBERG declined to identify his informants but said that he is convinced that the persons responsible for placing the ad in the newspaper used the name of a young Jewish boy who had just come to Dallas and that it was his belief that The American Fact Finding Committee was a name only and there was no such organization. He said he would not divulge the name of his informants and that this was a surmise on his part but that he understood that the people connected with the National Indignation Convention in Dallas, which had protested Yugoslav officer training in the United States, people connected with General EDWIN WALKER, and the John Birch Society were responsible for raising the funds for the full page ad in the "Dallas Morning News." He said that he surmised that some of the officials of the "Dallas Morning News" had read and approved the publication of this advertisement when it was submitted to that newspaper. He also surmised that the ad had no actual connection with the assassination of President KENNEDY, nor did it pertain to the murder of OSWALD by JACK RUBY.

Mr. GINSBERG, who is a former law partner of U. S. Attorney BAREFOOT SANDERS, advised that RONNIE DUGGER, a reporter is currently serving as a correspondent for the "Washington Post" and was going to write an article concerning the placing of this advertisement in the "Dallas Morning News."

Mr. GINSBERG stated that BERNARD WEISSMAN had left Dallas and he did not know his whereabouts. He believed that the advertisement was the result of an atmosphere created in Dallas, giving respectability to persons who believed in the extreme right. STANLEY GOLAND, 8641 Harding Avenue, Skokie, Ill telephone Orchard 4-7321, telephonically advised that he has been in the habit of listening to Radio Station WEAW, Evanston, Illinois, between 7:45 and 8:15 A.M. daily when the 20th Century Reformation Hour is broadcast. This pre-recorded broadcast by the Reverend CARL MC INTYRE (phonetic) who is head of the Bible Presbyterian Church, Collingswood, New Jersey, is presumably a religious program but actually has taken on a more political theme. During the course of recent programs the Reverend MC INTYRE has brought up the fact that on December 3, 1963, the National Council of Churches was to hold a meeting in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and the principal speaker was to be the late President KENNEDY. The Reverend MC INTYRE was during his broadcast critical of the National Council of Churches saying that it was a Communist infiltrated organization and suggested the organizing of a protest rally to be held at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, featuring the main speaker as General WALKER whom Mr. GOLAND described as an extreme "rightest". Edwin A

Mr. GOLAND stated that he furnished the above information as background which led up to the fact that in the past two or three weeks on one occasion the Reverend MC INTYRE mentioned that perhaps something would happen that would prevent President KENNEDY from attending the meeting of the National Council of Churches on December 3, 1963. He recalled that the Reverend MC INTYRE suggested that perhaps President KENNEDY would not be able to make this meeting for one reason or another. Texas

In conclusion Mr. GOLAND stated that since hearing about the assassination of President KENNEDY he now wondered if the Reverend MC INTYRE's remarks about President KENNEDY not being able to make this meeting were just chance remarks or whether he might have had either a premonition of President KENNEDY's assassination or if he

Major E. K. TARTIN, United States Air Force, 3011 Yorkshire Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, telephone number 932-3585, attached to Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, as student for doctorate degree, officially connected with the Air Force Institute of Technology, Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, advised that he had kept clippings related to General EDWIN A. WALKER in view of WALKER's former connection with the United States Army and his subsequent resignation. He stated that in reviewing these clippings, namely Cleveland "Press" article of April 12, 1963, and Cleveland "Plain Dealer" article of April 13, 1963, he noted that on the night of April 10, 1963, at 9:00 p.m., an attempt was made to assassinate General EDWIN A. WALKER in his home in Dallas, Texas, by unknown persons using a high powered rifle. Major TARTIN advised that WALKER was wounded in the arm, and he stated that the article mentioned a teenage neighbor had observed three cars speeding away from in front of WALKER's house in different directions immediately after the report of the rifle aroused the neighborhood.

Major TARTIN remarked that he had read LEE HARVEY OSWALD received the rifle used to assassinate President KENNEDY in Dallas, Texas, on March 20, 1963, which was approximately 21 days before the assassination attempt on WALKER. He advised that he was furnishing this information because of the coincidence in the receipt of the rifle by OSWALD and the attempt on General WALKER's life and in view of the fact that three automobiles were observed speeding away from the scene of the assassination

Title:	LEE HARVEY OSWALD
Character:	INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

Synopsis:

AMOS LEE EUINS, age 14, states saw white man, whom he cannot identify, in window of Texas School Book Depository (TSBD) with rifle after first shot and observed this man fire second and third shots and what he believes may have been fourth shot. ARNOLD LOUIS ROWLAND states he saw man with a rifle in the southwest corner (shots fired from southeast corner) of sixth floor of TSBD at about 12:15 P.M., 11/22/63. (This was approximately 15 minutes before shooting). Investigation as to source of sling on assassination weapon indicates it may be home-made sling from luggage straps or guitar straps. Efforts made to trace OSWALD's source of 6.5 mm Mannlicher-Carcano cartridges, negative. Several reports received that OSWALD was target practicing with rifle before assassination, but such reports thus far not substantiated. Examination of sixth floor of TSBD on 11/22/63, reveals southwest corner (not corner from which shots fired) was practically vacant and windows in this corner easily accessible. Analysis made of markings on Esso City Map of Dallas found in room of OSWALD at 1026 North Beckley, Dallas, Texas. No clock or register for employees to sign on duty maintained for warehouse employees at TSBD. FBI Laboratory examination of President KENNEDY's clothing worn at time of assassination revealed minute traces of copper on the fabrics surrounding the holes in the back of the coat and shirt. Evidence bullets submitted have been determined to be clad with copper metal. Translation of undated letter written in Russian language, found by wife of OSWALD on night of 4/10/63, and left at residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE where MARINA OSWALD residing at time of assassination, turned over to Dallas FBI Office by U. S. Secret Service and upon translation, reflected writer anticipated becoming involved in some difficulty. Writer of this letter identified as being

OSWALD through handwriting comparison. Examination of bullet from residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER (fired at him 4-10-63) determined to have been fired from a barrel rifle with four lands and grooves, right twist, and rifles of the type used in the assassination are among those which produce general rifling impressions such as were found on this bullet, but not possible to determine whether or not bullet fired from assassination weapon. Cartridge cases recovered at places where OSWALD alleged to have practiced with rifle examined and none identified as having been fired from ~~examination~~ assassination rifle. Letter dated 11-10-63 but postmarked at Havana, Cuba, 11-28-63, addressed to OSWALD at Dallas and signed "PETER" suggests acquaintanceship of writer and OSWALD and makes apparent oblique reference to assassination. Individuals at Downtown Lincoln-Mercury, Dallas, on reinterview, state OSWALD test drove new Comet approximately two weeks before assassination. Investigation concerning allegations of OSWALD and JACK L. RUBY (charged with murder of OSWALD) acquaintanceship not substantiated. MICHAEL and RUTH PAINE (lady with whom OSWALD's wife living at time of assassination), advised RUBY unknown to them and to their knowledge unknown to OSWALD. Former co-employee (1962-63) at Dallas claims OSWALD stated "There is more freedom in Soviet Russia than there is in America under capitalism." Also allegedly discussed microdots and possible use in espionage operations. One JAMES MURPHY allegedly appeared at employment office, Statler-Hilton Hotel, Dallas, at same time OSWALD sought employment there. MURPHY left job at that hotel 11-26-63 ostensibly to live with sister, JEAN MURPHY, 1309 Bourbon Street, New Orleans. On 10-4-63, OSWALD referred by Jobco Employment Agency to the DeVilbiss Company, Dallas, but not hired. Comments of former neighbors who knew OSWALD as a youngster include descriptions such as "a lone wolf," "vicious and high-tempered," "quiet and reserved," "a boy who did not like disciplin OSWALD's brother and half-brother more favorably described by neighbors. Wife of OSWALD spent some time in early November, 1962 with Mr. and Mrs. GARY TAYLOR, son-in-law of GEORGE DeMOHRENSCHILDT, while OSWALD stayed at YMCA, Dallas. OSWALD attended LILY B. CLAYTON School, Fort Worth (1-27-47), first grade; transferred to GEORGE CLARK Elementary School, Fort Worth, 3-19-48; Arlington Heights Elementary School, Fort Worth, 9-8-48 to 6-3-49; Ridglea Elementary School, 9-7-49 to 5-29-52; Arlington Heights High School, 9-5-56 to 9-28-56, when he withdrew to enlist in U. S. Marine Corps. Summary of residences, schools attended and employments, together with schedule of OSWALD's income between 6-13-62 and 11-22-63, prepared. Addresses for OSWALD's mother, 1950 to 1963, obtained. ILYA MAMANTOV of Dallas advises learned OSWALD and wife attended party of Russian speaking persons in University Park, Dallas, early 1963 at which time they met Mrs. MICHAEL (RUTH) PAINE. MAMANTOV alleges Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE DeMOHRENSCHILDT have been good friends of OSWALD and wife and states he suspects DeMOHRENSCHILDT of being a Communist. IGOR VOSHININ describes Mrs. DeMOHRENSCHILDT as half-Russian and half-French, born and reared in China, and Mr. DeMOHRENSCHILDT as a member of a group called "Bohemian Club" and further described them as "a group of 'free thinkers' in Dallas." VOSHININ could not tell if either Mr. or Mrs. DeMOHRENSCHILDT were pro-Soviet. The DeMOHRENSCHILDTs claim they met OSWALD in summer, 1962. They state PETER GREGORY, a Fort Worth engineer, first discovered Mrs. MARINA OSWALD and mentioned her plight to Mr. and Mrs. MAX CLARK (DeMOHRENSCHILDT's attorney), and to GEORGE BOUHE, a philanthropist, and latter two asked DeMOHRENSCHILDTs to help MARINA. The DeMOHRENSCHILDTs claim they last saw OSWALD early in 1963 and comment that general impression of OSWALD in Dallas was one of distaste and fear due to his brutality toward wife and mental instability. SAMUEL B. BALLEN, Chairman of the Board of Highplains Natural Gas Company and Electrical Log Services, Incorporated, Dallas, interviewed OSWALD approximately January, 1963 at which time OSWALD alleged he had received training in photography in Russia. CLIFFORD M. SHASTEEN, barber, 1321 South Story Street, Irving, Texas, advised that on several occasions in past two or three months, OSWALD entered shop in company of a fourteen-year-old boy who once mentioned "We will only be free when everyone has the same, when everyone is equal." Selective Service card in name ALEK JAMES HIDELL alleged fictitious. Association with Dallas Civil Liberties Union indicated. Contents of OSWALD's address book reflected. Interviews with wife MARINA include her statements that in her opinion no deal between OSWALD and Russians to furnish information in return for permission to leave Russia; denies she made any arrangements with Russians to perform assignments in U. S.; she possesses no data re transportation of rifle by OSWALD from New Orleans to Dallas; denies OSWALD had homosexual tendencies; states GEORGE DeMOHRENSCHILDT is a humanitarian who is often accused of being a Communist due to his objective views, but in her opinion, not a Communist. States OSWALD was somewhat afraid of DeMOHRENSCHILDT who was big in stature and talked loudly. States OSWALD listened to him but did not believe DeMOHRENSCHILDT would ever have influenced OSWALD to do anything bad. She remarked DeMOHRENSCHILDT jokingly mentioned to OSWALD several days after General WALKER assassination attempt "How is it that you missed General WALKER?" after which OSWALD visibly blanched and looked at MARINA as though she might have told DeMOHRENSCHILDT about OSWALD's confession of his attempt to kill General WALKER. OSWALD changed conversation and nothing more said in that regard. Anonymous allegation that OSWALD attended Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) meeting in Philadelphia in summer of 1963, not substantiated by investigation. Investigation relative to OSWALD's travel to Mexico conducted.

JOE LORIA, 4239 Oak Lawn, Dallas, Texas, advised as follows.

He had known an individual named "SCOTTIE" who had frequented his lunch room several months ago. He did not know SCOTTIE's true name but knew him to have been engaged to one WANDELL REBE WHITLEY, daughter of Mrs. LEE WHITLEY, 346 Classen, Dallas. SCOTTIE had told him he had worked for General WALKER as a chauffeur and had lived at his residence. He had built himself up as an important person but LORIA, who says he is interested in police work, judged SCOTTIE to be a "con man" and warned Mrs. WHITLEY that she should check into this man. As a result the above mentioned engagement was broken. In connection with the possible association between SCOTTIE and LEE HARVEY OSWALD, LORIA said that about seven or eight months ago SCOTTIE had been in his restaurant and in his company was an individual who he believed to be LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He based this identity on a photograph of OSWALD he had seen in the Dallas newspapers and he could recall only the one time that he thought he had seen OSWALD and SCOTTIE together. LORIA recognized the fact he serves many customers daily but said he would "bet money" it was OSWALD who was with SCOTTIE.

A review of the Dallas file concerning WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF indicated the following.

In January of 1963, information was received that WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF had met one FRANCES BERNARD, 5201 Willis, on a bus in Los Angeles and had married her three weeks later. BERNARD had had the marriage annulled shortly thereafter, after she had called a brother of DUFF at 7614 E. Glenden Way, Alhambra, California, at which time she was notified he was formerly married and was "no good."

On December 11, 1963, Lt. ELMO CUNNINGHAM, Dallas Police Department, advised as follows:

His file on WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, born November 4, 1931, indicated he had been given a polygraph examination in connection with the assault on General EDWIN WALKER and had been absolved from having had any part in this assault. He had been interested in the activities of DUFF as he believed him to be a con man and check passer. However, he had no warrant on DUFF. DUFF's room mate was listed as CHARLES HOLLOWAY, 5420 Lewis Avenue, Dallas. He had received an anonymous call several months ago informing him DUFF had gone to Oklahoma City. CUNNINGHAM telephonically contacted FRANCES BERNARD whom he had previously interviewed and she advised she had no information regarding DUFF.

1 Date 11/29/63

Mrs. C. L. CONNELL, 6949 Lake Shore Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised she has been a voluntary assistant to the Catholic Cuban Relief Committee of Dallas, Texas, for approximately the past year. She stated one of her Cuban refugee acquaintances, SYLVIA ODIO, 1815 A West Davis Street, Dallas, advised her telephonically on November 28, 1963, that she knew LEE HARVEY OSWALD, and that he had made some talks to small groups of Cuban refugees in Dallas in the past. ODIO stated she personally considered OSWALD brilliant and clever, and that he had captivated the groups to whom he spoke. ODIO further reported to CONNELL during this conversation that a call had been made in recent months by a Cuban associate of hers to an unknown source in New Orleans, Louisiana, requesting information on LEE HARVEY OSWALD. ODIO volunteered that information was in turn received from the New Orleans source to the effect that OSWALD was considered by that source in New Orleans to be a "double agent". The source stated OSWALD was probably trying to infiltrate the Dallas Cuban refugee group, and that he should not be trusted.

CONNELL knew of no connection between JACK RUBY and LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

CONNELL voiced the opinion that General EDWIN A. WALKER and Colonel (FNU) CASTER, a close acquaintance of WALKER, have been trying to arouse the feelings of the Cuban refugees, in Dallas, against the KENNEDY administration. She based this statement upon information furnished her by various Cubans to the effect that WALKER and CASTER made speeches before Cuban groups in recent months in the Dallas area in opposition to the KENNEDY administration policies.

CONNELL further advised she met a man some months ago through SYLVIA ODIO, who was introducted as Mr. (FNU) MARTIN from Uruguay and whom ODIO stated had tried to obtain guns for the Cuban people in their contemplated overthrow of CASTRO sometime ago. CONNELL stated she was suspicious of MARTIN since he claimed to be an airplane engineer, while at the same time ODIO stated he operated a washateria in Dallas. CONNELL further stated MARTIN apparently traveled out of the United States a great deal and was referred to by his Latin associates always as "Mr. Martin". CONNELL stated she has not seen or heard anything of MARTIN in recent months from her contacts with Cuban refugees.

She said none of their friends or even her relatives had been told of their desire to go to America. She said she had not even told her aunt. When they returned from Moscow in July, 1961, OSWALD told no one of his efforts to return to the United States. MARINA, who had taken three days off from work, told her aunt and certain of her friends that she had made application of American authorities to go to the United States. She said she had been criticized in pharmaceutical union meetings for her action. She said certain strong Communist friends had tried to convince her to remain in Russia. She said some of these people threatened to expose her to the newspaper. She said she wanted to experience life in another country and was adamant in her decision to go to America. She told the people who threatened her that she did not care. She said jokingly that when asked who her husband was, she would reply that he was an espionage agent. She said certain adult acquaintances of hers were actually afraid they would be officially criticized by the government for MARINA's action in attempting to leave Russia. She stated there were some of her girl friends who were jealous of her because they would like to travel too and they were particularly fond of the American clothes.

After they had obtained permission to leave Russia and were in Moscow making the final preparations, she had changed what rubles they had saved into U. S. dollars. She said this was necessary because dollars being international currency could be used on their trip from Russia through Poland and Europe to Amsterdam. She said they could not have used rubles on this trip.

MARINA advised of an occasion on their trip when they were in Poland and gave a Pole a U. S. dollar, and he in turn gave them enough Polish money to purchase food for a long while. She said the American dollar was much valued in eastern Europe.

She said OSWALD had told her on one occasion after their marriage that he had been offered Russian citizenship, but he had refused it. She said OSWALD did not tell her why he had refused it, but she believes he had refused because everything in Russia had not turned out as he had expected it. OSWALD never told her who had made this offer of citizenship to him or when or where it had been offered him.

She said OSWALD had received an official permit to purchase a rifle in Russia, and he had done so. She recalls only one occasion when he went hunting. On this occasion several people at the plant where he worked took a bus to a forest nearby for a hunting trip. He went on this trip but was unsuccessful in bagging any game.

OSWALD did not to her knowledge attend any specialized school for training in radio or photography. She said he was very inept in basic electronics and could not even fix a broken iron. He did not have any secret writing equipment nor microscopes.

MARINA said she had made no deals with Russian authorities to perform assignments in the United States, and she said OSWALD had made no deals with Russian authorities to her knowledge to perform such assignments in the United States.

MARINA said PAVEL GOLOVACHOV had been a fellow worker of OSWALD's at the television and radio factory. She did not like him at first but later he became quite a friend of the family. GOLOVACHOV at the present time is attending the Technical Institute in Minsk, where he is studying electronics. He is a very able student. GOLOVACHOV's father is a Russian Air Force General and has been twice decorated for bravery.

MARINA stated she had taken a vacation with an aunt who lived in Kharkov, Russia, after she was married. This aunt, who lives in Kharkov, is named POLINA VASILIEVNA MIKHAILOVA. She said this aunt's son (her cousin) might have been in love with her.

In view of the apparent farewell note OSWALD left for MARINA on the occasion of his confessed attempt to assassinate General WALKER, MARINA was asked if she knew whether OSWALD had left any such note for her on November 21 or 22, 1963. She said that if any such note had been left by OSWALD that she did not know about it. She said she had been shocked when she discovered the police had found her husband's wedding ring when they searched the PAINE residence on November 22, 1963.

FD-302 (Rev. 3-3-59) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at 11611 Farrar Street.

MARINA was again questioned concerning the events surrounding the attempted assassination of General WALKER by OSWALD. She said OSWALD had confessed to her on the night of the attempted assassination that he had attempted to kill General WALKER by shooting at him with a rifle. On the following evening after the attempted assassination, they again discussed that event. OSWALD told her he had originally gone to the WALKER house three days or more prior to the night of the assassination attempt. He had gone on that prior evening to the WALKER house to shoot General WALKER but had changed his mind. While he was in the vicinity of the WALKER home or while on a bus en route there, or in some manner, OSWALD had heard there was to be a gathering at a nearby church to the WALKER house and he had postponed his assassination attempt until this evening of the gathering at the church because he wanted more people around when he attempted the assassination. It was for this reason he chose the night that he did.

OSWALD did not say what he had done with the rifle on his first trip to the WALKER home to commit the assassination. She said that she did not see OSWALD with his rifle or any other weapon either before or after that first trip. She repeated OSWALD had not had a rifle or any other weapon with him when he left the house on the night that he fired the shot at General WALKER.

MARINA said she had asked OSWALD when he returned home on the night of the attempted assassination what he had done with the rifle because she was worried lest he had left it somewhere where it would be found. OSWALD said he had buried the rifle in the ground far from the actual spot of the shooting. He then mentioned a field and the fact that the field was near a railroad track. She said

OSWALD had remarked there had been a number of people around on the evening of the shooting. OSWALD did not say and she did not ask him what he had done with the rifle after the first evening when he went to shoot at WALKER but had changed his mind.

She recalls OSWALD returned to the NEELEY Street home with the rifle wrapped in a raincoat on the Sunday following the night of the assassination attempt.

MARINA said that a few days after the assassination attempt, GEORGE DE MOHRENSCHILDT was in their home at Neeley Street and made a joking remark to OSWALD to the effect, "How is it that you missed General WALKER?" (He referred to the rifle shot which had been fired at General WALKER but had missed him.) When GEORGE DE MOHRENSCHILDT asked OSWALD this, the latter visibly paled and looked at MARINA as if she might have told DE MOHRENSCHILDT about his confession that he had tried to kill WALKER. The OSWALDs changed the subject of conversation immediately, and nothing more was said about the WALKER incident to her recollection. MARINA said she did not know if OSWALD had spoken to GEORGE DE MOHRENSCHILDT of his dislike for General WALKER. She does not know why DE MOHRENSCHILDT made this remark other than that he had said it for a joke.

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at 11611 Farrar Street.

MARINA recalled other particulars relating to the evening during which she found what she considered to be a farewell note from OSWALD, following which OSWALD had entered the house and made a confession that he had tried to assassinate General WALKER. She said that on the evening in question, OSWALD had departed from the house on Neeley Street ostensibly to attend his typewriting class. He usually returned about nine o'clock from these classes. On this evening when he had not returned by ten o'clock, she became worried. She said intuition led her to the room where OSWALD kept certain personal effects and in this room on a small end table she found the farewell note and on the same table was a key to the mailbox. She stated when she read this note, "her hair stood on end." She could not understand what OSWALD meant by his reference to being taken prisoner. In her mind there was a definite connection between the note and OSWALD's tardiness in returning home. She did not know what to do or to whom to go as she did not speak English. She walked around the apartment, bathed her daughter JUNE, and waited. She does not now recall exactly what she did with the note on the evening of the attempted WALKER assassination but recalls that sometime later she put the note in her cook book, and it stayed there until later found by investigators. There is no doubt in her mind that the author of the note is OSWALD.

Address Book of LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Located in the address book belonging to LEE HARVEY OSWALD on page 3, was the handwritten name which was determined to be WALKER, with telephone number LA. 1-4115.

A review of the local crisscross for Dallas, Texas reflects LA. 1-4115 to be registered to EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek, Dallas, Texas.

Page 7 of the aforementioned address book of LEE HARVEY OSWALD contained phone number RI. 2-6519 as the home phone number of Mrs. M. OSWALD. Local crisscross reflects RI. 2-6519 to be registered to Contractors Iron and Steel, 2720 Sylvan, Dallas, Texas. It is to be noted that LI. 2-6519 was the home phone number of Mrs. M. FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date 1-10-64

CLYDE J. WATTS, Attorney, 219 Couch Drive, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, furnished the following information:

He is a long-time personal friend of EDWIN A. WALKER, Dallas, Texas, former General of the United States Army. He is presently acting as legal counsel for WALKER.

In the Spring of 1963, shortly after someone shot at WALKER in his home in Dallas, Texas, WATTS hired two private investigators in Oklahoma City to go to Dallas and attempt to ascertain the identity of the person who had shot at WALKER. These investigators were BILL KEESTER, former member of the Oklahoma City Police Department, and CLIFF ROBERTS, former Oklahoma State Narcotics Bureau Agent.

During the investigation conducted by KEESTER and ROBERTS, information was received that one BILL DUFF, a Scotsman, who was at the time employed by WALKER or WALKER's staff, had allegedly admitted he was the person who had shot at WALKER. KEESTER and ROBERTS made contact with BILL DUFF without disclosing their true identity or capacity as private detectives, and offered DUFF $5,000.00 to shoot WALKER. DUFF was interested in the proposition and discussed with KEESTER and ROBERTS a plan to shoot WALKER. A tape recording was made of the discussion and this recording, along with the results of the investigation by KEESTER and ROBERTS, was turned over to the Dallas Police Department. At no time did DUFF ever admit to KEESTER and ROBERTS that he was the person who had previously attempted to shoot WALKER. At the time KEESTER and ROBERTS were in contact with BILL DUFF he resided at 5420 Lewis Street, Dallas, Texas.

WATTS stated he has read in the public press that LEE HARVEY OSWALD's wife has reportedly stated OSWALD was the person who had shot at WALKER and, therefore, he considers there is possibly some connection between BILL DUFF and LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

The following individuals advised IC EUGENE T. ADAMS, on January 13, 1964, that a check of the records of their respective organizations failed to disclose information concerning WILLIAM McEWAN DUFF, also known as William McEwayn McDuff, Bill Duff, "Scottie," "Scotty":

DELBERT WILSON, Director, Central Files Section, Drivers License Bureau, Oklahoma Department of Public Safety, 410 N. Walnut, Street;

KENNETH HUBBART, Identification Records, Oklahoma County Sheriff's Office;

JEAN WEBB, Records Clerk, Oklahoma City Police Department;

Mrs. ERMA DIVAN, Secretary, Oklahoma City Retailers Association, 514 West Sheridan Avenue.

On January 17, 1964, Mr. J. B. PRICE, Manager, Oklahoma State Employment Office, 101 Northeast 6th Street, Oklahoma City, advised that a check of his files reflect no record of DUFF having applied for employment through this office.

On January 17, 1964, Mr. HENRY J. MACMILLAN, Manager, Oklahoma State Employment Office, (Industrial Office) 325 N.W., 3rd Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised his records reflect no information pertaining to DUFF.

FD-302 (Rev. 1-25-60) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

CLIFF ROBERTS, Investigator, Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation, 410 N. Walnut, furnished the following information:

In the Spring of 1963, ROBERTS was working as a private investigator in partnership with BILL KEESTER, a former member of the Oklahoma City Police Department. ROBERTS and KEESTER had done some insurance work for the law firm of CLYDE J. WATTS, who is one of the attorneys representing former General EDWIN WALKER, in Dallas, Texas.

A short time after the attempted shooting of General WALKER in the Spring of 1963, WATTS hired ROBERTS and KEESTER to go to Dallas to investigate the shooting incident. BILL DUFF, a former employee of General WALKER, had been developed as a suspect in this shooting and had been questioned by the Dallas Police Department. DUFF had been alleged to have remarked to some one that he was the person who shot WALKER. General WALKER was convinced that DUFF was guilty of the shooting and instructed ROBERTS and KEESTER to attempt to prove DUFF's guilt. ROBERTS and KEESTER were convinced that DUFF had nothing to do with the shooting but to satisfy WALKER they worked on the case for a period of about nine days.

ROBERTS and KEESTER made contact with DUFF in an undercover capacity and indicated to him they were working on a plan to shoot WALKER. They offered DUFF $5,000.00, to participate in this shooting and DUFF indicated he was willing to participate. During the discussions with DUFF relative to this plan DUFF never made any admissions reflecting he was guilty of the previous shooting attempt. DUFF would pretend to have some knowledge of the previous shooting, but ROBERTS considered this was merely an act on DUFF's part to impress ROBERTS and KEESTER.

ROBERTS considered DUFF to be a complete phoney in every respect and was convinced DUFF went along with ROBERTS and KEESTER merely in an attempt to get some money out of them.

ROBERTS and KEESTER made a tape recording of their last discussion with DUFF concerning the plan to shoot WALKER, and turned this recording over to the Dallas Police Department.

ROBERTS has not seen or heard from DUFF since the investigation in Dallas in the Spring of 1963, and has no knowledge of his present whereabouts. He stated DUFF probably learned from the Dallas Police Department subsequent to the investigation that ROBERTS and KEESTER were private investigators and he has no reason to believe DUFF will ever attempt to contact either of them. ROBERTS continues to maintain contact with BILL KEESTER and knows that KEESTER has no knowledge of DUFF's current whereabouts.

ROBERTS advised he has no information indicating DUFF was acquainted with LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

OC 105-783

On January 20, 1964, Sergeant ALTON McDANIEL, U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 621 North Robinson, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised his records reflect WILLIAM M. DUFF, born November 4, 1931, Grangemouth, Scotland, enlisted as a Private in the U. S. Army at Oklahoma City, on August 6, 1963, and was assigned Service Number RA 18 678 666. McDANIEL stated DUFF was sent to Ft. Polk, Louisiana for basic training, but since basic training lasts for only 60 days, he would now be assigned to some other base in the United States or abroad.

McDANIEL advised DUFF listed his permanent address as c/o ANNIE DUFF, Mother, 1900 McNab, Long Beach, California.

There is enclosed for the Bureau and Dallas one copy of a news letter dated 11/22/63 at Dallas, Texas, written by HILAIRE DU BERRIER.

For the information of the Dallas Office, DU BERRIER is the subject of Bureau case file 61-10904 and the case entitled "HILAIRE DU BERRIER, aka; IS - FRANCE; RA - FRANCE." He is a political writer, who makes his living by lecturing and writing news letters.

On 1/20/64, DU BERRIER contacted the NYO and advised that he was mailing on that date a news letter which he wrote from the home of General WALKER, in Dallas, Texas, on the night of the assassination of President KENNEDY. This letter was received on 1/22/64. In the letter, he underlined a portion, "A man driving a blue Mercury stopped before the Walker residence, ran up on the lawn and threw the American flag to the ground.

On 1/22/64, he telephonically contacted the NYO and gave the following story:

press a story by JEAN CAMBELL carried an almost identical story, setting forth that sometime prior to the shooting a MRS. WHITWORTH, of Irving, Texas, recalled that a blue and white Mercury sedan, 1958 or 1959 model, parked at her store and a man resembling OSWALD, with his wife and two children, entered her store and asked if she could put a telescopic sight on a rifle. She advised him that she did not have the facilities to perform this but directed him to a place that could do it for him. DU BERRIER also pointed out that it is quite possible that the owner of the Mercury that went to Irving, Texas, is probably the individual mentioned in the enclosed newsletter. DU BERRIER then suggested that the owner in all probability is of the extreme left wing political persuasion. He could offer nothing further in this regard other than that he suggested that the car mentioned in the European articles and the car that pulled up to the WALKER residence, mentioned in the news letter, might possibly have been a two-tone Mercury rather than solid blue, with the top being blue and the body being white or cream-colored.

DU BERRIER stated that he is going on a nationwide lecture tour and that he can be contacted through the American Opinion Lecture Bureau, Brookfield, Massachusetts. The individual handling his bookings and who would most likely know his itinerary is one DOUGLAS MORSE, of that lecture bureau.

The above is being forwarded to Dallas for their information. From past experience with DU BERRIER, it is quite possible that in his lecture tour he would readily be quoted as saying that he has furnished valuable information to the FBI in regard to the shooting of President KENNEDY.

THE FOLLOWING LETTER FROM OUR EUROPEAN CORRESPONDENT IS FOR YOUR PRIVATE INFORMATION

Dallas, Texas
The night of November 22, 1963

TO THE ECONOMIC COUNCIL

Your correspondent was in Dallas the day the President was killed. There had been much discussion among conservatives prior to the President's visit, but none of a violent nature. Stated simply: the President was not popular among an opposition that was growing. Dallas authorities were determined to impose a surface picture of mass support. White House publicity men had been hard at work for weeks in advance, and a flow of statements from the police department and the sheriff's office, literally, warned those opposed to the President and his policies that any expressions of opinion contrary to the official would receive harsh treatment.

Under such conditions there was resentment, but, again, this resentment was against the suppression of America's right to free speech and it was never violent. An airplane towed a banner above the President's motorcade in Houston proclaiming, "Co-existence is treason". There were reports that a sky-writer had been hired to write, "CUBA?" above the motorcade in Dallas. In neither city was the enthusiasm shown that the press would have us believe.

On November 21, the day before the President's arrival in Dallas, piles of hand-bills started appearing on the tops of automobiles to blow off in the streets when cars were started. Each bore a front-and-profile convict-type picture of John F. Kennedy and the words, "WANTED FOR TREASON". Seven charges followed. A large sign appeared at Love Field when the President arrived bearing the words, "HELP JFK STAMP OUT DEMOCRACY".

The litterbug ordnance would have been used against hand-bill distributors had they been caught. Police were desperately searching for legal means of muzzling every one. Such was the climate of the city into which the President ventured on a visit that was obviously political.

The moment the shooting of the President was announced and without waiting for tangible information, a concentrated attack on known conservatives started. A good percentage of the telephoners were women. The first to come into General Walker's residence was a woman shouting, "We'll get you, you bastards!" Vicious insults and threats continued through the day. A man driving a blue Mercury stopped before the Walker residence, ran up on the lawn and threw the American flag to the ground.

There is no doubt that had it been established that any non-leftwinger did the shooting, extreme leftists, and with no hindrence from the authorities, would have used it as a pretext to get their enemies.

The first foreign comment to be heard over Dallas TV was Moscow's report that t[h]e assassination "was undoubtedly the work of the extreme Right". A deliberate attempt appears to have been made to circulate that version in Europe.

When it was learned that a "Fair Deal for Cuba Committee" member, a former Marine who had tried to take out nationalization papers in Russia, had been arrested as a suspect, no Dallas conservative received a phone call of apology from those who had telephoned threats and insults earlier in the day.

Towards evening Dallas TV watchers were given a view of Boston leftwinger, Gordon Hall, earnestly playing down the responsibility of the faction from which the assassin actually came and exploiting the tragedy as ammunition against the Right. Urged Mr. Hall, our officials must not disregard organizations just because they are small and do not seem to be dangerous. A plea that the authorities crack down on the four-fifths of the political spectrum of which Mr. Hall disapproves followed, though these were almost in disapproving of the deed. It would appear, from the sympathetic ear Mr. Hall was given by his interviewer and all indications in Dallas as this is written, that the criminal assassination of President Kennedy will be twisted around to serve the ends of the camp that produced the slayer.

A significant fact emerges from the still-confused and tragic event in Dallas: It is the capacity and eagerness for violence of the American extreme left, not simply the segment that produced gunman Oswald, but the militant Left in general. Here the true threat to America becomes more and more evident. Yet, though Dallas police manned the city and did all but declare the community under martial law, none of the prowling cars that passed and repassed and appeared to be "casing" the homes of [illegible] subversives as General Walker through the afternoon and night was stopped for questioning. Police protection there was none. In effect, if subversives cared to seize the favorable moment of emotion for action they were, literally told to go ahead.

Hilaire du Berrier

NOTE: Gen. Walker was out of the State all week.

FD-302 (Rev. 1-25-60) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, U. S. Army Serial number RA 18 678 666, is assigned to Battery D, 1st Training Battalion, USATC-FA, Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He was interviewed at the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Sill, where he is patient in surgery for a double hernia operation. He underwent an operation on January 21, 1964, and is scheduled for another operation in about a week. DUFF stated that following his release from the hospital he will return to active duty with his assigned unit and will join with a new training cycle. Upon the completion of his training he expects to be transferred overseas, as he has volunteered for such an assignment.

At the outset of the interview, DUFF was informed of the identity of the interviewing Agent, and was told he did not have to make any statement and, that any statement he did make might be used against him in a court of law. He was also told he had the right to talk with an attorney at any time. He related as follows:

He was born November 4, 1931 at Grangemount, Sterlingshire, Scotland. His mother and most of his relatives have been in the United States for a number of years, living in Monterey Park, California. He came to the United States in May, 1957, and went directly to Monterey Park. In California he worked as a supply man for the Pacific Tele phone Company and then for the Parker Seal Company in East Los Angeles.

He was a member of the British Army, the "Argyles," from 1949 to 1952. This was an infantry unit. He worked a number of years for the British National Railroad as an engine driver.

In November, 1962, he left California and went to Dallas, Texas. The reason for this was that he followed a girl there, and at the time he intended to marry her. He said this was an impulsive act as he had known the girl only two days at the time. After getting to Dallas, however, the marriage deal did not go through, but he stayed on in Dallas.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency. It and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

The newspapers at the time were full of news and pictures of General WALKER and of his activities, he said, and he felt that perhaps he might be able to get a job with the General as his "Batman." He said he went to the General's and just walked up and knocked on the door, and as a result of his inquiry he was hired by General WALKER. He stayed there in the WALKER house, living in an upstairs room, working for General WALKER from November, 1962 to about April, 1963.

DUFF said he left the employ of General WALKER because of "friction" between himself and several women of the office staff. He said when the General was away he, DUFF, was supposed to have the time off; however, the women on the staff became very demanding of him, telling him to make them coffee and tea and expecting him to work for them, and he finally had enough of it and left.

Following this, he went to work for GEORGE BIRNIE, who owns the Birnie Bow Company on the North Central Expressway in Dallas. He obtained living quarters in an apartment he shared with one "CHUCK" HOLLOWAY, who worked in a drug store. He said he met CHUCK in a bar where they both used to hang out. DUFF claimed not to remember the address of the apartment he shared with CHUCK, or the name and address of the store where the latter worked.

In August, 1963, he left Dallas and went to Oklahoma City. This move was sparked by an advertisement he read in the papers stating truck drivers were needed and could make good money in Oklahoma City; however, when he arrived there he found it was necessary to own your own truck to obtain the work. He thereupon enlisted in the U. S. Army and was sent to Fort Polk, Louisiana, for his basic training.

He recalled that he was in the clothing issue warehouse at Fort Polk obtaining an issue of clothing when someone told him that the President of the United States had just been shot. Along with many others, he ran to a radio and heard the news.

On December 20, 1963, DUFF left Fort Polk and came to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, arriving on the same date. He has been here ever since.

DL 100-10461

DUFF said he has seen many pictures of LEE HARVEY OSWALD in the newspapers and is positive he never saw this person. He claims he has a very good memory for faces, although not for names. He said many visitors, some of them "queer people," came to the General WALKER residence while he was working there, and he is quite sure none of the persons he saw there could have been OSWALD. He stated he has absolutely no information concerning OSWALD.

Concerning JACK RUBY, DUFF stated he has seen many photos of this man in the newspapers and again, he is positive he has never seen RUBY at any place and he has no information about him. He said he was never in RUBY's night club and knows nothing about him.

DUFF said that in about July, 1963, he was investigated and interviewed by Detectives of the Dallas Police Department in connection with the attempted shooting of General WALKER. He said he took a lie detector examination and was "completely cleared" as a result. At the time he was interviewed, he said he gave the Dallas Officers complete information as to all his friends, addresses, activities, etc.

DUFF stated he had no information concerning the attempted shooting of General WALKER, or the assassination of President KENNEDY.

Memorandum

TO : Mr. W. C. Sullivan

DATE: 2/2/64

FROM : W. A. Branigan

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD
IS - R - CUBA

In connection with our interviews of Marina Oswald, wife of Lee Harvey Oswald, we have been exhibiting to her copies of photographs which were furnished the Bureau by the Dallas police as a result of its search of Oswald's residence at 1026 Beckley Street, Dallas, and at the Paine residence, Irving, Texas.

During our interview with Marina Oswald on 1/31/64 she identified four photographs which she felt depicted a residence possibly that of General Edwin Walker in Dallas. Marina Oswald stated she never saw Walker's house and could not recognize it from photographs. However, she stated Lee Oswald had told her he had taken a photograph of the Walker house and therefore she felt the instant four photographs of a residence might be those of Walker's home.

Two Dallas Agents, through visual observation, determined that two of the photographs identified by Marina Oswald as possibly being those of the Walker residence are actually photographs of Walker's home.

Copies of all photographs displayed to Marina Oswald by Dallas on 1/31/64 along with a memorandum setting forth identifying data furnished by Marina Oswald concerning each picture shown her were furnished the President's Commission by Inspector Malley, Sunday, February 2, 1964.

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished a written report on January 22, 1964, to SA GARRETT P. FLEMING concerning a Communist Party meeting held on December 4, 1963. The report reflected as follows: On December 4, 1963 a Communist Party meeting on the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Affairs was held at the residence of EARL DURHAM. DURHAM gave a lecture concerning the Party's viewpoint on the assassination of President KENNEDY. DURHAM stated that there is more to it than meets the eye and there are many questions which have to be answered. DURHAM questioned, "Who really murdered President KENNEDY?" He mentioned that the people in Dallas say that LEE OSWALD did it; however, it must be kept in mind that Dallas is one of the strongholds of the "Ultra-right". DURHAM also stated that it has to be accurate as to why an individual by the name of RUBY was able to wander about the Dallas Police Department without being questioned.

Also, why was the Dallas Police Department able to hold OSWALD for two days without counsel? DURHAM added that OSWALD maintained his composure until the end. DURHAM also questioned, "What did OSWALD know that the police department was afraid of?"

DURHAM added that the original plan seemed to be to pin the matter on the Ultra-right but blame was quickly changed to the Ultra-left.

DURHAM stated that within two hours after OSWALD's arrest, they were able to come up with a television taped interview by OSWALD making it appear just as if everything was all set. DURHAM stated that there is one hope that the full story might be told since he did not believe BOBBY KENNEDY would hold still for a whitewash.

On January 27, 1964, a written report was furnished by [redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, to SOLOMON S. FISHNER, concerning a meeting of the Industrial Club Chairmen, Illinois Communist Party, held on December 5, 1963, at 2057 West Garfield Boulevard, Chicago.

This report contained the following information:

GUS HALL spoke concerning the assassination of former President KENNEDY. He pointed out that the State Board had recently met and carefully analyzed reasons and causes of this assassination.

GUS HALL stated that the CP does not condone such activities and will fight against any force whose motives are to assassinate heads of state. Such action is a "black eye" to the United States in the eyes of other countries throughout the world. Each Party member should read GUS HALL's statement on the assassination of President KENNEDY. HALL gives a clear picture of the Party position on such a matter and which position points out that the Party is opposed violently to any act of this nature. The Party's position is to work for unification of the country and to support the programs of the new president and to fight and oppose any part of the president's program which is contrary to the beliefs of the Party.

GREEN stated that the Board is of the opinion that OSWALD was guilty of firing the shot that killed President KENNEDY. OSWALD was not the murderer but was merely the paid assassin to do this job. He was paid by a group from the ultra-right like HUNT, the oil millionaire, and General WALKER. This group actually did the planning of the assassination and to make their plans a success they had to find a "nut" like OSWALD to carry out the deed.

OSWALD at one time attempted to join anti-CASTRO forces for the purpose of invading Cuba. These forces refused to admit OSWALD because they felt that he was of the opposite political belief and sent to them by the 'Reds' to upset the plans of their invasion forces.

Sometime after being refused admittance to this anti-CASTRO group, OSWALD was distributing leaflets in New Orleans in the name of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). Investigation reflects that OSWALD was never a member of the FPCC in New Orleans.

After being arrested for distributing FPCC leaflets in New Orleans, OSWALD returned to Dallas and it is interesting to note that there is no FPCC Committee in Dallas.

GREEN stated that the question which comes to his mind is why was OSWALD seen in a night club owned by RUBY on several occasions. There is some speculation that RUBY is a go-between man who carried the messages to OSWALD which were handed by the big "slick" who were actually responsible for the President's assassination. GREEN stated that possibly OSWALD was killed because there were indications that he was going to cooperate with the Dallas Police and because of this RUBY was given the assignment of murdering him.

Some claim has been made that OSWALD shot at General WALKER some time ago. GREEN stated that he doesn't know the facts even though the statement was made by OSWALD's wife that OSWALD admitted attempting to kill WALKER. GREEN stated that if OSWALD had shot at WALKER probably WALKER would not be around today. If he did shoot at WALKER he probably did not know WALKER's position with the ultra-right group. GREEN stated that if OSWALD attempted to kill WALKER he was certain that OSWALD did so as the result of being offered a sum of money.

GIL stated that he wanted it clear in the minds of all Party members that the Party had nothing whatsoever to do with the President's assassination and would not condone such action. It is the feeling of the Party that the individuals guilty of this act should be found and brought to justice.

GREEN stated that the Government Committee looking into this matter should push to make certain that every single lead on the matter is investigated in order to determine the cause of the assassination as well as those in the conspiracy.

GREEN stated that the Soviet Union made its position clear through a statement by KHRUSHCHEV. The Soviet Union also turned over to the United States a complete file they maintained on OSWALD reflecting his entire activities while he was in Russia. This file even reflected OSWALD's efforts to become a Soviet citizen, which efforts were denied by the Soviet Government. This file also reflects that OSWALD attempted to commit suicide on one occasion by cutting his wrists. This all points to the fact that the CP in the United States had nothing whatsoever to do with the assassination.

NATE inquired as to who the group was who attempted to have WALKER killed. He also asked who was to pay for the assassination of the president. GIL stated that he feels that the people who plotted to have WALKER murdered were probably from the right and the group within the ultra-right had felt that WALKER had gone too far in his activities. They probably made such a move thinking that if WALKER was eliminated this group could control the right factions in both parties.

GIL stated that the conspiracy to assassinate President KENNEDY was a broad thing and got support from all groups of the ultra-right.

Someone indicated that it was their understanding that BERNARD WEISSMAN, head of the American Fact Finding Committee, wrote an article criticizing KENNEDY prior to the assassination. It is understood that WEISSMAN has now left Dallas and no one knows why.

DETAILS: IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

[illegible] FANNING, Executive Editor "Chicago Daily News", has previously advised that on November 2, 1963, four men were [illegible] arrested in Chicago, Illinois, and charged with [illegible] in Dallas, Texas. One of these individuals, according to FANNING's source, was believed to be the subject OSWALD.

SAC MARVIN W. JOHNSON has periodically maintained contact with Mr. FANNING in an effort to determine FANNING's source for this story. On January 27, 1964, Mr. FANNING advised SAC JOHNSON that he had looked into the matter thoroughly and there was absolutely no truth whatsoever in the story. He stated he could not tell Mr. JOHNSON exactly how the story originated.

On January 7, 1964, THOMAS VALLE appeared before Judge GORDON B. NASH, Room 46, Municipal Court, Chicago, Illinois, charged with "Unlawful Use of Weapon". VALLE had been arrested on November 2, 1963, for a traffic violation, at which time arresting officers observed a hunting knife lying on the floor in front of VALLE's car. During the interrogation of VALLE by the arresting officers, VALLE revealed he was very [illegible] Cuban situation. On the date of trial, VALLE, through his attorney, PETER GEORGES, entered a plea of not guilty. His attorney submitted a motion to suppress the statement on the ground that the weapon in question was found in an illegal search of VALLE's vehicle. During the course of testimony by the arresting officer PETER SCHURIA, SCHURIA first stated that the weapon was observed on the passenger side of the front seat. VALLE in testifying on his behalf stated that he maintained this weapon for protection purposes and kept the weapon on the floor in front of his seat. Judge NASH denied the motion to suppress the evidence. On the conclusion of hearing evidence Judge NASH found THOMAS VALLE guilty of the charge of Unlawful Use of Weapons, and levied a $5.00 suspended fine on the traffic violation. At this time Judge NASH granted a motion for a hearing on the sentence and set the date for sentencing as January 28, 1964. VALLE was released on a $[illegible] bond.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

On February 10, 1964, Mrs. Ruth Paine, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, furnished a representative of the FBI the following information:

From an examination of a photograph of her calendar for 1963, previously made available to the FBI, she was able to place her visit with Marina Oswald as being on April 11, 1963, due to the notation on the date of April 10 of Marina's name spelled in Russian, followed by an arrow to April 11, 1963, indicating to Mrs. Paine that the eleventh was the date she and Marina visited and that either the notation was originally put down by her on the wrong date, or that a tentative date for their visit was changed to a day later.

She advised that she does not recall Marina being nervous on April 11, 1963, and does not recall anything indicating that Marina was aware of any action by her husband Lee Oswald such as firing a shot at General Edwin A. Walker. Marina definitely did not discuss such an occurrence or the purchase of a rifle by Lee Oswald, on this date, or at any other time, with Mrs. Paine.

Mrs. Paine examined a photograph of her calendar for the month of March, 1963, and identified two notations at the top of the page as being entries made by her. One is a five-pointed star followed by "LHO purchase of rifle" and the other in the left-hand corner reads "OCT 23". The first indicates that Lee Harvey Oswald purchased a rifle, and the matching star on the date of March 20 indicates that this was the date of purchase. Mrs. Paine stated that she made this notation after the assassination and after she heard on television the statement that the rifle used to shoot President John F. Kennedy was purchased by Oswald on March 20, 1963. Mrs. Paine then went back to her calendar and put the notation on the calendar to determine where it fitted in her acquaintanceship with Lee and Marina Oswald. The word "Marina" was already in the block for March 20, 1963, having been entered by Mrs. Paine in March, 1963, denoting a date on which she saw Marina Oswald.

Mrs. Paine cannot recall the significance of the entry reading "OCT 23" but believes it relates to the other entry reading "LHO purchase of rifle". She recalls that she thought about differentiating between the note put on the calendar after November 22, 1963, and the notes which were placed on the calendar in March, 1963, and now believes that she erroneously put "OCT 23" instead of "NOV 23" provided November 23, 1963, is the night that the information concerning the date Oswald purchased the rifle was released on news telecasts. She advised that it seems to her that it had been after November 23, 1963, that this information was released on television but that she might have been mistaken in this recollection, recalling now that November 22 and 23, 1963, were filled with many events.

Two photographs of Albert Osborne, also known as John Howard Bowen, were shown to Mrs. Paine and she advised that she has never seen this person before and has never heard either name to the best of her recollection.

On September 23, 1963, Mrs. Paine and Marina Oswald left New Orleans, Louisiana, in Mrs. Paine's station wagon taking with them many of the personal possessions of Marina and Lee Oswald. Lee Oswald loaded the station wagon and remained in New Orleans.

On arriving at the Paine residence in Irving, Texas, on September 24, 1963, Mrs. Paine and Marina Oswald unloaded the station wagon placing the Oswald possessions in the attached garage at the Paine residence. There were two duffle bags which were too heavy for them to remove. They left these in the station wagon and Michael Paine, husband of Ruth Paine, moved them into the garage at a later time.

Sometime in October, 1963, after Lee Oswald had arrived in Dallas, Texas, and about the time he went to work for the Texas School Book Depository, Mrs. Paine first recalls seeing a package consisting of something in a green and rusty-brown camping-type blanket. This package was about forty-eight inches in length and about eight or nine inches in diameter. It was tied in three or four places with string so that it would not come unwrapped and was tucked in at the ends. When she first recalls it, this package was lying on the floor of the Paine garage near the workbench and band saw which was against the west wall in the garage. The package was lying flat on the floor and Mrs. Paine did not pick it up.

Mrs. Paine cannot definitely account for this package being in her garage but it is her opinion that it was probably with the household goods of the Oswald's which she brought from New Orleans in her station wagon. She does not believe that she handled this package and does not recall seeing it at the time of the move. She is rather definite that she did not pick up such a package and put it in her garage and if this package was in her station wagon, she believes that either Marina Oswald moved it into the garage or that it was in one of the duffle bags which were too heavy for her and Marina to move. She stated that there is a possibility that Lee Oswald might have brought the package into her garage after returning to Dallas in the early October, 1963, but if this were true, she does not know where he could have stored it prior to this time and knows that he did not bring this package with him when he first came out to the Paine residence after returning to Dallas.

Mrs. Paine advised that at no time did she ever have a discussion with Marina Oswald about Lee Oswald owning a gun, in fact, she recalls that on the afternoon of November 22, 1963, when officers of the Dallas Police Department and Dallas County Sheriff's Office contacted her at her home, they asked if Lee Oswald owned a gun. She told them no, but that most of Oswald's possessions were in her garage. By this time, they had moved into the garage area and Mrs. Paine translated the question about the gun in Russian to Marina Oswald, at which time Marina indicated that Oswald did own a gun. This was the first time that Mrs. Paine had heard anything about Oswald having a gun. Marina then indicated the blanket-wrapped package described above as having the package containing Lee Oswald's gun. At this point, Mrs. Paine was standing on this package in her garage. She moved off of it and the police picked the package up noting it was limp and contained no gun. The package was not unwrapped at the Paine residence but was taken by the police as evidence.

On February 10, 1964, Eddie Barker, News Editor, KRLD-TV, advised a representative of the FBI that he personally recalls that the date March 20, 1963, was the date Lee Harvey Oswald ordered the rifle used in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy as released in a news conference by Chief of Police Jesse E. Curry, Dallas Police Department, in the early evening of November 23, 1963, and that this information was broadcast on KRLD-TV within a few minutes. Mr. Barker also stated that he recalls hearing this same information and the date March 20, 1963, as the date Oswald ordered the rifle, broadcast on KRLD-Radio around 7:30 or 8:00 PM, November 23, 1963.

On February 10, 1963, an examination of the file copies of editions of the "Dallas Times Herald", Dallas, Texas, by a representative of the FBI reflected the following paragraph in a front-page story of the Sunday, November 24, 1963, edition:

"Chief Curry said the FBI had compared the handwriting on the order of a rifle (dated last March 20) with that of the man accused of murdering the President".

This story indicates the information was furnished by Chief of Police Jesse E. Curry, Dallas Police Department, in the final press conference of the night of Saturday, November 23, 1963.

Dallas has determined that certain photographs seized by the Dallas Police Department during search of subject's residence and the Paine residence were taken of General Edwin A. Walker's residence, and it is recommended that Laboratory attempt to determine whether these photographs were made with subject's cameras.

In interview on 1-31-64, Marina Oswald stated subject told her that he had once photographed General Walker's residence in Dallas, Texas. Although she stated she had never seen the Walker residence or any photographs which subject may have made of that residence, she suggested the possibility that certain photographs seized by the Dallas Police Department might be of the Walker residence.

Agents of the Dallas Office have observed Walker's residence and have determined that Item 14, photograph 1, and Item 369 are photographs taken of the rear of General Walker's residence. No definite conclusion could be reached regarding Item No. 7, photograph 2.

These three photographs are enclosed.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the FBI Laboratory examine these photographs and attempt to ascertain whether they were made with either of subject's two cameras, both of which are currently in possession of the Laboratory (Laboratory Item No. 378).

In the memorandum from Mr. W. A. Branigan to Mr. W. C. Sullivan dated February 3, 1964, the Laboratory was requested to examine photographs of General Edwin A. Walker's residence that were seized by the Dallas Police Department during search of subject's residence and the Paine residence, for the purpose of determining whether or not these photographs were taken with one of Oswald's cameras. The only photographs available for such a comparison are copies of the original photographic prints since the original pictures were previously delivered to the Commission and have been retained by them.

The identification of a photograph with a camera is based on the characteristics of the edges of the picture area. The negative is normally needed to make such a comparison unless this edge shows in the prints. The negatives of the photographs of Walker's house were not recovered with the photographs and therefore, a comparison of Oswald's camera with the negatives could not be made. Although the copies of the photographs available for examination are quite lacking in detail, there is no evidence of the edge characteristics in these prints. Since it is normal to mask out the edge of the picture area when making prints, it is highly unlikely that examination of the original prints retained by the Commission would show any edge characteristics not visible in the copies. When the original photographs are returned from the Commission, they will be examined for any characteristics of value.

The Domestic Intelligence Division may wish to consider having Dallas determine whether or not the original negatives can be located for comparison with Oswald's cameras.

RECOMMENDATION: That this memorandum be furnished to the Domestic Intelligence Division and the General Investigative Division for their information.

Reurairtel 2-1-64 forwarding copies of photographs exhibited to Marina Oswald on 1-31-64.

Your particular attention is directed to photographs identified as Item 14, P-1 and Item 369 which Marina Oswald indicated might be photographs taken of General Walker's residence by Lee Harvey Oswald. Agents of your office corroborated that these two photographs are those of the rear entrance to General Walker's residence. Bureau desires to ascertain if these two photographs taken of General Walker's residence were taken by Oswald with one of the cameras that belonged to him which are now maintained as evidence in this case by the FBI Laboratory. The copies of such photographs do not contain sufficient detail to enable the Laboratory to arrive at a positive conclusion in this regard. In your next interview with Marina Oswald you should determine if she possesses any negatives of photographs taken by Lee Harvey Oswald and, in particular, negatives of these two photographs. If she does have such material, please obtain it and forward it to the Bureau for additional Laboratory examination.

In regard to the photographs forwarded to the Bureau by your office as enclosures to reairtel, please advise if you desire these photographs returned to your office.

NOTE: Dallas exhibited a number of photographs to Marina Oswald 1-31-64 for identification by her if possible. She picked out two as possibly being those of General Walker's residence and this was Synopsis: Identity of individual resembling OSWALD depicted in several magazine and newspaper photographs as standing in doorway on the left at Texas School Book Depository (TSBD) at time of assassination established as BILLY NOLAN LOVELADY, employee of TSBD. Additional assassination witnesses interviewed who heard shots but did not observe window at TSBD from which shots fired. Movie camera of ORVILLE O. NIX used by him in taking pictures of Presidential motorcade obtained for examination by FBI Laboratory. RICHARD RANDOLPH CARR reinterviewed to clarify alleged statement attributed to him that OSWALD had not assassinated President KENNEDY and he furnished signed statement that any statements made by him to this effect were merely expressions of his opinions. Additional efforts to trace ammunition and sling for assassination weapon negative. No general registration law pertaining to firearms in state of Texas and city of Dallas uses statutes of state with respect to sale, acquisition and registration of all types of firearms. Three 35 mm. slides depicting arrest of OSWALD at Texas Theater obtained. Two Russian language postcards and two photographs of unknown buildings found in Russian language book at residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE, Irving, Texas, obtained. Significance of "no admittance" sign found in search at PAINE residence unknown to Mrs. PAINE. Two cameras taken in search identified as Cuera-2, serial number 627250, and Stereo Realist, serial number A60979. Minox light meter also taken in search.

(Synopsis Continued)

Mrs. PAINE made available Minox III camera, serial number 27259, belonging to her husband. Mr. and Mrs. PAINE after viewing photographs state Stereo Realist camera and Minox light meter appeared to be property of MICHAEL PAINE. Mrs. PAINE unable to recall significance of "OCT 23" notation appearing on March page of calendar made available by her. States she made notation on March page of calendar concerning OSWALD's purchase of rifle after assassination when she learned he had purchased rifle March 20, 1963. States she and MARINA OSWALD had never had discussion about OSWALD having rifle. Typewriter specimens taken from Mrs. PAINE's Smith-Corona portable typewriter, serial number 4A 303942. FBI Laboratory examination of additional evidence fails to reflect any information indicating possible use in espionage. Articles of clothing belonging to OSWALD made available by his brother, ROBERT, examined. Two letters from Russia dated 9/9/63, and 10/28/63, written in English, addressed to OSWALD, obtained from Dallas PD. ALBERT GUY BOGARD advised he was positive he made demonstration ride of an automobile to an individual he believed to be OSWALD on 11/9/63, and states he is sure of date because car demonstrated available for his use only on that date. Previous interviews of Mrs. PAINE have indicated OSWALD did not leave PAINE residence for period of time long enough for him to have taken demonstration ride on 11/9/63. Two individuals positively identified photograph of OSWALD as person leaving area where Dallas Police officer J. D. TIPPIT was shot. Toll calls charged to BL 3-1628, Irving, Texas, reflect only one call between this number and CR 5-5211, Arlington, Texas, during period 11/22-26/63, and this call was 11/22/63. LONNIE HUDKINS, reporter for the Houston Post, in Dallas latter part December, 1963, endeavoring to obtain information indicating OSWALD was informant of U. S. Government. HUDKINS's article appearing in Houston Post, 1/1/64, quoted in part in "The Nation" magazine article. Mrs. RUTH PAINE states she gave OSWALD name and office telephone number of SA JAMES P. HOSTY, JR., on 11/1/63, but did not give license number of automobile driven by SA HOSTY. She states license number could easily have been observed by MARINA OSWALD from her bedroom. officers during search of PAINE residence as money belonged to MARINA OSWALD and represented savings. WILLIAM W. TURNER alleges in "Saga" magazine article that he was in Dallas on 11/22/63, few hours after assassination. Three Dallas Police officers quoted by him in article do not recall dates they were interviewed by TURNER, or specific details or their remarks to him. One such officer denies making statements attributed to him in the article to the effect the sniper was obviously a stranger. Numerous allegations indicating activities of OSWALD disproved. Additional allegations of acquaintanceship between OSWALD and JACK L. RUBY received and investigation concerning same fails to reflect any such association or acquaintanceship existed. Additional investigation to determine residence of subject during period 10/19-11/3/62, conducted with negative results. Subject determined to have been employed during this period at Dallas. All available clothing of OSWALD obtained from ROBERT OSWALD, brother. Additional data contained in subject's address book reflects name of SA JAMES P. HOSTY under date of 11/1/63. MARINA OSWALD identified handwriting in rough draft letter reflecting OSWALD had been in Mexico City as appearing to be OSWALD's, but denied seeing letter previously. MARINA stated she did not know subject intended to make trip to Mexico in September-October, 1963, nor did she know he had taken such a trip. MARINA stated she and subject owned two cameras; one a Russian camera purchased by subject in Minsk, September, 1961, and the other a U. S. made camera owned by subject prior to his entry into USMC. She identified photograph of two cameras seized in search of PAINE residence as appearing to be the two cameras she and OSWALD owned. Numerous photographs found in personal effects of subject exhibited to MARINA and identifications made on many. Two photographs believed by her to be of General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence in Dallas and physical observation by Agents determined this appears to be true. Mrs. PAINE states that on 11/10/63, she observed letter in English obviously written by subject reflecting he had been in Mexico City recently. She stated she never heard subject say anything about having been to Mexico and MARINA OSWALD never said anything to indicate she was aware of subject's trip to Mexico. This letter reflects information indicating OSWALD in contact with Russian Embassy in Mexico City.

P

He stated that no one with OSWALD's financial standing could go to and leave Russia after having married a Russian woman as easily as OSWALD had done. MAMANTOV stated he believed OSWALD had been sent to different schools while in Russia, including an "underground conspiracy school", in order that he could leave Russia as easily as he did. He described OSWALD as an agent waiting for an assignment in America after he had left Russia.

When queried concerning the benefit the Communists would derive from the assassination of former General WALKER, MAMANTOV stated that the assassination of WALKER, if they had succeeded, would have eliminated one more speaker against Communism. MAMANTOV stated that WALKER had spoken all over the United States, and was considered as an "unwilling element" by the Communists.

When asked about the developments arising from the assassination, MAMANTOV replied that the United States should henceforth be more careful in its political accusations, and careful as to the people they trust. It was his opinion that the assassination would bring the American people more closely together.

On February 1, 1964, physical observation of the rear of the residence at 4011 Turtle Creek was made by SAs IVAN D. LEE and W. JAMES WOOD. It was noted that the rear of this residence appeared to be identical with photograph Item # 369 and photograph 1 of Item # 14.

Photographs were taken of the rear of the residence at 4011 Turtle Creek for comparison with Item # 369 and photograph 1, Item # 14.

Previous investigation by the Dallas Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has ascertained that Major-General EDWIN A. WALKER (Retired), U. S. Army, resides at the residence located at 4011 Turtle Creek, Dallas, Texas.

Physical observation indicates the building in photograph # 5 of Item # 1 is not a photograph of the WALKER residence. It cannot be determined that photograph # 5 of Item # 6, or photograph # 1 of Item 70, which are scenes of a railroad track, are scenes near the WALKER residence.

Special Agent in Charge

In addition to that, the Justice Department said it is not true. This time, I am willing to accept their version of the facts.

Yes sir.

(Question from audience -inaudible).

OSWALD shot General WALKER. Well, that's an interesting one also. Oh, what about, I'm sorry. What about the charge that OSWALD shot at General WALKER? I talked with JOHN THORN (phonetic), who was the Secret Service appointed attorney for MARINA OSWALD about three weeks ago in Dallas. I had lunch with him and with MARINA's business agent, JIM MARTIN, both of Grand Prairie, Texas. At that time, THORN (phonetic) told me he talked to MARINA OSWALD thoroughly about that. There was a leak in the paper. I asked him how it got there. He said he didn't know. He discussed that thoroughly with MARINA. MARINA, when questioned by him, stated that LEE had never told her that he had shot at General WALKER. That was about three weeks before the testimony, and about six weeks after the assassination. In addition to this, this is a, you know, we're talking about an expert marksman, I mean there is no question, no one else in the world could have done this firing. The experts agree. In terms of the assassination, and the wounding of the Governor, here we have a man who, with WALKER in the window, sitting still, not moving, lit up by a bright lamp, was able to miss him by over ten yards, according to report in a French newspaper, does not sound like the same. Also, there was a 30 caliber bullet then. Now we're told it is a 6.5 Italian carbine.

Yes sir.

(Question from audience - inaudible).

Where do we? Where do I go? Oh, I'm glad you asked that question. I didn't plant him. He is no relative of mine. We're putting together citizens committees of inquiry in every city of this country. We have one functioning the national office will function here, at this time, in New York City, and what we're gonna do is, we're gonna continue to raise the issues in this case. There are any number of ways of bringing this before the courts, I believe. We're exploring a number of those now. What we need now is as much help as we can get in every respect, and if you are, if you are sincerely interested in this case to the point where you, you would like to contribute your services, some time kindly, maybe you will find cards or something around here to fill out and leave them someplace in the auditorium.

Yes, in the back.

(Question from audience - inaudible).

Do I believe OSWALD was innocent? Well, I start out with the presumption that anyone charged with a crime is innocent unless he has been proven guilty. I don't--- There are about 180,000,000 people in this country, I don't know what they were all doing on November 22, but I will tell you this, I started out with this case with just the approach that I told you about this moment. Since that time, a study of all the documents, discussions with the witnesses, has led me to the conclusion that in all probability, LEE HARVEY OSWALD was in no way connected with the assassination.

Yes sir.

(Question from audience - inaudible).

Without any information, I'd be moving to the area of speculation and conjecture. So, I'd rather not. No, I'm sorry. I'm not answering it anyway, so--.

Another question?

(Question from audience - inaudible).

At this point, ROBERSON was advised that it was a violation of Section 1001, Title 18, USC, to make a false statement to a material fact. He was then told he did not have to make a statement, and any statement he made could be used in court against him and no promises could be made to him and he had the right to secure the services of an attorney.

ROBERSON was then asked as to whether he could not be mistaken in some of the comments contained in his notebook and he insisted that what he had said was true and correct, and that under no circumstances did he want to retract anything. The comments listed above from his notebook were read to him and he was questioned concerning each and he alleged what he had said was true.

ROBERSON said he had been arrested in Dallas by Police Officer TIPPIT on July 10, 1963, on a State Warrant issued at Selmer, Tennessee, charging him with taking his daughter from Tennessee to Texas without permission of the mother. He said when he was arrested, "they advised him if he knew Jack Ruby that possibly Ruby would let him have money to make bond."

ROBERSON was questioned as to who they were and he could only state that it was the police officers. He claimed he had seen JACK RUBY a time or two and that he was told that RUBY could take steps to see that he was released from jail. He said he was held a few days and then released.

ROBERSON was questioned as to how he could have seen General WALKER at his home sitting at a desk. He said in explaining this that the lights were on and the window was open and that he could see General WALKER. He was then questioned as to why he had not immediately reported this matter to authorities and he said he had written a letter to the FBI concerning his knowledge of General WALKER and the alleged attempted shooting of General WALKER, and that he had not mailed his letter to the FBI but that instead he had given it to some Internal Revenue Agent at Dallas, Texas and asked this Internal Revenue Agent to mail it to the FBI.

ROBERSON insisted that he did not actually know that OSWALD had fired at General WALKER.

ROBERSON was then questioned as to who could prove his comments in his notebook other than himself. He said said actually nobody could prove them and he doubted whether his wife would admit that she had gone to the Western Union Office with him as alleged in his notes.

ROBERSON then stated that he was glad the notebook contents were not being published in Selmer, even though what he said was true.

The following description was obtained by observation and inquiry:

Synopsis: REVEREND FOWLER, Duluth, Minnesota, attended an anti-communist meeting at Shreveport, Louisiana, 2/17 to 2/21/64 and learned from some of those in attendance, which included General EDWIN WALKER and Dr. FERNANDO PENABAZ, that LEE HARVEY OSWALD shot at and deliberately missed General WALKER and that the assassination of President KENNEDY arose from an agreement between President KENNEDY and Premier KHRUSHCHEV, involving the elimination of FIDEL CASTRO. CASTRO reportedly learned of this agreement and made his own plans for the elimination of President KENNEDY. OSWALD reportedly made a trip to Mexico prior to President KENNEDY's assassination and returned to the United States with $10,000.00 and the assignment of shooting President KENNEDY. OSWALD was later shot by JACK RUBY because he did not follow the escape plan after the shooting of President KENNEDY and to prevent him from revealing the assassination plot. REVEREND FOWLER was also told that OSWALD and RUBY were two of six members of a communist cell active in Dallas, Texas.

DETAILS: AT DULUTH, MINNESOTA

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

On February 23, 1964, Special Agent MALFORD O. ELD learned that Reverend FREDERICK CURTIS FOWLER, Presbyterian Church, Duluth, Minnesota, during a speech at his church on the same date had played a tape recording of a debate between LEE HARVEY OSWALD and CARLOS BRINGUIERE at New Orleans, Louisiana, regarding the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

-- See appendix page for characterization of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

During this speech, Reverend FOWLER stated LEE HARVEY OSWALD shot at and deliberately missed General EDWIN WALKER and that the assassination of President KENNEDY arose from an agreement between President KENNEDY and Premier KHRUSHCHEV involving the elimination of FIDEL CASTRO. Reverend FOWLER also made the statement that LEE OSWALD had made a trip to Mexico before President KENNEDY's assassination and had returned to the United States with $10,000 and the job of assassinating President KENNEDY. Reverend FOWLER said after the shooting of President KENNEDY, OSWALD did not follow the escape plan and because of this and to prevent him from revealing the assassination plot, he was shot by JACK RUBY.

On February 26, 1964, Reverend FOWLER advised Special Agent MALFORD O. ELD as follows:

The tape recording of a debate between LEE HARVEY OSWALD and CARLOS BRINGUIERE, which he played during his speech on February 23, 1964, had been obtained by him from the Christi Crusade, Tulsa, Oklahoma. The moderator of the tape recorded debate was BILLY JAMES HARGIS, Publisher of the "Weekly Crusade Tulsa, Oklahoma. Reverend FOWLER stated HARGIS was not the ori moderator. HARGIS' voice has been dubbed in to replace the original moderator, whose identity is not known to Reverend FOW

Reverend FOWLER related that he attended an Anti-Communist Faculty Meeting in Shreveport, Louisiana from Februar 17-21, 1964. Representatives from twenty-five states attended, among these were General EDWIN WALKER, BILLY JAMES HARGIS and Dr. FERNANDO PENABAZ, a newspaper reporter for the "Fort Lauder News", Fort Lauderdale, Florida.

One night during this four day meeting, these individuals and Reverend FOWLER spent several hours in General WALKER's room discussing various matters, which included the assassination of President KENNEDY. During this discussion, General WALKER stated LEE OSWALD had shot at him and deliberately missed as part of a prearranged plan by the Communists. He stated the Communists felt that if he, WALKER, a conservative, were also shot at, this would make his shooting and that of President KENNEDY appear as the work of a crank. Reverend FOWLER stated Dr. PENABAZ was in complete agreement with General WALKER's theory in this regard.

Reverend FOWLER stated that during the four day meeting in Shreveport, Louisiana, he had been told by Dr. PENABAZ that the assassination of President KENNEDY arose from an agreement between President KENNEDY and Premier KHRUSHCHEV for the elimination of FIDEL CASTRO with the provision that Cuba would remain Communistic. CASTRO reportedly learned of this agreement and then made his own plans for the elimination of President KENNEDY. Reverend FOWLER stated Dr. PENABAZ also informed him that LEE OSWALD went to Cuba before the shooting of President KENNEDY and returned to the United States with $10,000 and the assignment of shooting President KENNEDY.

Reverend FOWLER stated information pertaining to the agreement between Premier KHRUSHCHEV and President KENNEDY and LEE OSWALD's trip to Cuba and his return to the United States with $10,000 has appeared in an article in "National Review", a publication out of New York City. Reverend FOWLER stated the "National Review" article indicated that a "New York Times" reporter had obtained, from a very good source, the story about OSWALD's trip to Mexico and his subsequent return to the United States with $10,000. The reporter reportedly had called the story in to the "New York Times" and it was prepared for publication but was then mysteriously withheld and was never published. Reverend FOWLER stated he did not learn the reason for the withholding of this article.

Reverend FOWLER stated that OSWALD, on his return from Cuba, was accompanied by one QUENTIN PINO, a Cuban or Mexican who now resides in Texas, who was to take OSWALD to Cuba after the assassination.

After shooting President KENNEDY, OSWALD was to follow an escape plan which called for him to wear a jacket of a particular color and after the shooting he was to take a taxicab to a location near the home of JACK RUBY. Then while walking toward RUBY's home he was to be picked up by a representative of PINO and then be taken to Cuba. Reverend FOWLER stated he had been informed by Dr. PENABAZ that OSWALD did not wear a jacket of the prescribed color and therefore was not picked up by Pino's representative. OSWALD then panicked and when stopped by a policeman he shot the policeman and thereafter, JACK RUBY killed OSWALD for not following the escape plan and to prevent him from revealing the assassination plot.

Reverend FOWLER also stated the garage mechanic who furnished information regarding OSWALD entering the Dallas, Texas, theater after the assassination has since been mysteriously killed.

Reverend FOWLER stated that Dr. PENABAZ informed him he had received his information regarding the agreement between Premier KHRUSHCHEV and President KENNEDY, CASTRO's reaction and the trip by LEE OSWALD to Mexico and Cuba, and his subsequent return to the United States with $10,000 in the company of QUENTIN PINO from one of his good friends in Cuba.

Reverend FOWLER stated that during conversations in General WALKER's room in Shreveport, Louisiana, General WALKER informed the group that LEE OSWALD and JACK RUBY were two of six members of a Communist Cell which was active in Dallas, Texas, at the time of President KENNEDY's assassination. Reverend FOWLER stated he was unable to recall definitely if QUENTIN PINO was also named as one of the six members.

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening In Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. Charles A. Santos-Buch identified himself and Robert Taber as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and Taber obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the aforementioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. However, during the past year this source observed there has been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that today their influence is negligible.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that the National Headquarters of the FPCC is located in Room 329 at 799 Broadway, New York City. According to this source, the position of National Office Director was created in the Fall of 1962 and was filled by Vincent "Ted" Lee, who now formulates FPCC policy. This source observed Lee has followed a course of entertaining and accepting the cooperation of many other organizations including the CP and the SWP when he has felt it would be to his personal benefit as well as the FPCC's. However, Lee has indicated to this source he has no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. Lee feels the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations, but not support the Cuban revolution per se.

The CP and the SWP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

1 Date 2/11/64

Mrs. RUTH PAINE, 2515 West 5th Street, furnished the following information:

From an examination of a photograph of her calendar for 1963, previously made available to the FBI, she was able to place her visit with MARINA OSWALD as being on April 11, 1963, due to the notation on date of April 10 of MARINA's name spelled in Russian, followed by an arrow to April 11, 1963, indicating to Mrs. PAINE that the 11th was the date she and MARINA visited and that either the notation was originally put down by her on the wrong date, or that a tentative date for their visit was changed to a day later.

She advised that she does not recall MARINA being nervous on April 11, 1963, and does not recall anything indicating that MARINA was aware of any action by her husband, LEE OSWALD, such as firing a shot at General EDWIN A. WALKER. MARINA definitely did not discuss such an occurrence, or the purchase of a rifle by LEE HARVEY OSWALD, on this date, or at any other time, with Mrs. PAINE.

Mrs. PAINE examined a photograph of her calendar for the month of March, 1963, and identified two notations at the top of the page as being entries made by her. One is a five pointed star followed by "LHO purchase of rifle" and the other in the left hand corner reads "OCT 23". The first indicates that LEE HARVEY OSWALD purchased a rifle, and the matching star on date of March 20 indicates that this was the date of purchase. Mrs. PAINE stated that she made this notation after the assassination and after she heard on television the statement that the rifle used to shoot President JOHN F. KENNEDY was purchased by OSWALD on March 20, 1963. Mrs. PAINE then went back to her calendar and put the notation on the calendar to determine where it fitted in her acquaintanceship with LEE and MARINA OSWALD. The word "MARINA" was already in the block for March 20, 1963, having been entered by Mrs. PAINE in March, 1963, denoting a date on which she saw MARINA OSWALD.

On February 7, 1964, Mr. KENNETH SMART, City Editor, "Dallas Times Herald," a Dallas daily newspaper, furnished the following described letter signed "MR. Z" to SA ARTHUR E. CARTER:

TEXAS

An Air Mail letter postmarked February 6, 1964, at Long Island City, New York, addressed to "Times Herald, Dallas, Texas, Exclusive for City Editor," which contained a carbon copy of a typewritten (all caps) letter. This letter is quoted as follows:

"IVE GOT TO TELL YOU THE FACTS IN BACK OF THE SHOOTING OF OSWALD.

"HERES HOW IT STARTED. WORD OF OSWALD TAKING POT-SHOTS AT GENERAL WALKER GOT BACK TO CUBA. HERE SAID CASTRO IS A GOOD BOY AND HE HATES THOSE RIGHTIST BASTARDS. CUBAN REDS WERE GETTING EDGY AS AS REPORTS OF RIGHTIST NUMBERS AND ACTIVITIES GREW STRONGER AND STRONGER. POLLS EVEN GAVE GOLDWATER AN EDGE OVER KENNEDY. SOME THING HAD TO BE DONE TO REVERSE THIS TREND OR ANOTHER INVASION WOULD KNOCK THE REDS OUT OF CUBA.

"SO THEY SENT SOME BOYS TO TALK TO OSWALD. TWO OF THESE GUYS WERE NOT CUBANS. THE ASSASSINATION JOB WAS SET UP. OSWALD WAS EAGER. NOW HE COULD BECOME THE BIG SHOT HE WANTED TO BE, IN CUBA AND SOMEWHERE ELSE. HE WAS TOLD HE HAD TO MAKE A CLEAN GETAWAY FROM THE BUILDING WHERE THE SHOTS WERE FIRED. THEN HE WOULD BE TAKEN CARE OF. TO HIM THAT MEANT A TRIP TO HAVANA. SURE HE WOULD BE TAKEN CARE OF. OSWALD WAS NOT TO LIVE AFTER HIS WORK WAS DONE. WITH HIM BUMPED OUT, NO EVIDENCE WOULD CONNECT THE PLOTTERS WITH THE KILLING.

"WHY KILL KENNEDY? THE BOYS HAD NOTHING AGAINST JFK. HE JUST HAPPENED TO BE OPPORTUNITY. HE WAS A CONVENIENT WAY OF DOING A NECESSARY JOB, HIS KILLING WOULD KILL THE DANGER TO COMRADE CASTRO BY WIPING OUT THE RIGHTISTS, THE BIRCHERS, THE CHRISTIAN CRUSADERS AND THE OTHER ANTI-REDS THAT WERE GROWING IN STRENGTH. THE MURDER WOULD BE PINNED ON THEM.

WARREN REYNOLDS, part owner, Johnny Renolds Used Car Lot, 500 East Jefferson Boulevard, who was previously interviewed by FBI Agents on January 21, 1964, telephonically advised as follows:

After being interviewed by FBI Agents on January 21, 1964, concerning his having observed certain activities immediately after the shooting of Dallas police officer J. D. TIPPIT on November 22, 1963, he (REYNOLDS) was shot on the night of January 23, 1964.

REYNOLDS stated that he was contacting the FBI to determine if the FBI investigation had determined anything that would indicate that his being shot was connected in any way with the OSWALD case.

Mr. REYNOLDS was asked if he had any such information to indicate such was the case and he stated he did not, but wanted to advise the FBI that on the afternoon of March 2, 1964, General EDWIN A. WALKER had telephonically contacted him at his place of business, at which time General WALKER read an article from some Boston newspaper to him. According to REYNOLDS, this newspaper article was written by BOB CONSIDINE and indicated that it was unusual that REYNOLDS had been shot because he had "fingered" OSWALD. REYNOLDS stated that actually he did not "finger" OSWALD.

REYNOLDS stated that General WALKER asked REYNOLDS if he would come to see General WALKER because General WALKER did not want to talk on the telephone. REYNOLDS stated that he does not know whether he will contact General WALKER or not, but that in the event he does he will advise the FBI of the results of such contact.

REYNOLDS added that in connection with his having been shot, that a man known only as "DAGO" had been picked up by the Dallas Police Department as a suspect in the

A physical check of the railroad right-of-way of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad from the downtown area of Dallas to approximately four miles north of General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, failed to locate a field or open area where a person could target practice with either a rifle or pistol. It was noted that the entire route is composed of residential and commercial buildings to a close proximity of the railroad tracks.

This check also encompassed a three or four-mile radius of the railroad which would include the Love Field area.

On February 13, 1964 the Dallas Times Herald newspaper carried a UPI release "WALKER claims Communist Cell Active in Dallas" which release was datelined Shreveport, Louisiana.

This article stated that a radio interview was had with former General EDWIN A. WALKER by radio station KWKH on the evening of February 12, 1964. It stated that WALKER had remarked that there was a Communist cell in Dallas which government investigators knew about and that "it is perfectly clear" that LEE HARVEY OSWALD "was working with the Communist cell in Dallas."

This article stated that General WALKER had said he did not know if OSWALD was questioned or arrested in connection with an attempted shooting of WALKER.

According to the article, General WALKER stated in his radio interview that he had never been questioned by a federal officer in connection with the attempt on his life, and no other law enforcement agent had contacted him since he called them and had them remove a bullet from his home.

It should be noted that previous investigation has reflected that LEE HARVEY OSWALD allegedly shot at General WALKER at his home on April 10, 1963.

1 Date February 20, 1964

General EDWIN A. WALKER was interviewed in the presence of his attorney, JOE MATTHEWS, at 812 Fidelity Union Life Building, Dallas, Texas. This interview was based on a United Press International Release captioned "WALKER Claims Communist Cell Active in Dallas", appearing in the February 13, 1964 issue of the "Dallas Times Herald" newspaper. In response to a question concerning the alleged Communist cell active in Dallas, WALKER stated that people's definition of Communism differs. He then mentioned the Fair Play for Cuba Committee as possible Communist activity. He stated there must be Communists in Dallas and stated people will know about Communism and indicated he will tell them about it. In connection with a question concerning the alleged Communist Party activity of LEE HARVEY OSWALD, WALKER stated in substance that MRS. OSWALD was bound to be a Communist as she came from Russia but it would take a lot of investigation in Minsk, Russia to establish this.

WALKER mentioned that he had been unable to obtain any information regarding his case, meaning the attempt on his life and that he had had no report from the authorities regarding this matter. He said according to news accounts all of this information had been turned over to the FBI and the President's Commission. He said he had been unable to get information from the Dallas Police concerning their investigation of the matter as he had sent a representative there for this purpose. He said that since he could not get the information from the FBI, the Commission, or local authorities, he would have to conduct his own personal investigation of this matter. WALKER then mentioned three other deaths which he stated had occurred in Dallas since April, 1963, and said he would like to see someone investigate these deaths. He referred to one as a Southern Methodist University law professor name not recalled, a Dr. DEEN, a doctor at Timberlawn, and the owner of a used car lot in Dallas, not further identified. In connection with the used car lot owner, he stated a Mexican had been seen running away from the lot.

At this point during the interview, attorney JOE MATTHEWS interrupted the interview, and requested he be allowed to consult with his client before continuing the interview. After a brief consultation with WALKER, MATTHEWS advised that WALKER would review his files and papers and discuss the matter with CLYDE WATTS, his attorney in Oklahoma City and thereafter would contact the FBI if he was able to furnish any information.

Date February 18, 1964

Mrs. MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DECLAN FORD, 14057 Brookcrest, Dallas, with whom she is temporarily residing. Mrs. FORD is of Russian descent and speaks the Russian language and has been previously identified by MARINA as a close friend of hers.

MARINA was questioned concerning the photographs which LEE HARVEY OSWALD had taken at the General WALKER home at Dallas, which photographs appear in inventory item number 14 - photograph 1 and inventory item 369, and have been identified as being photographs of the WALKER home.

MARINA stated that she had originally seen these photographs about two or three days after the WALKER shooting. On this occasion, she smelled smoke in the house which they rented on Neely Street. She investigated and found LEE HARVEY OSWALD in the bathroom burning pages from a loose-leaf notebook. OSWALD identified the paper he was burning as being the plans for the shooting of General WALKER. MARINA stated these pages came from a loose-leaf notebook with a blue cover. She has seen this loose-leaf notebook about the house since the WALKER incident and knows that OSWALD did not destroy the notebook also. She also recalls seeing a bus time-table in the notebook at the time he was burning the pages. At this time, OSWALD had in his hand some photographs. She asked to see the photographs and then asked OSWALD what they were. He identified them as being photographs which he had taken of the WALKER home. MARINA is of the opinion that OSWALD developed and printed the photographs himself as he had available material for such work at his place of employment and because he did not trust anybody else to do the developing and printing.

MARINA is not sure with which camera OSWALD took the photographs of the WALKER house. She reiterated that OSWALD owned two cameras; one a Russian made camera with the trade name "Smena - 2", and the other a U. S. made camera. The "Smena - 2" camera was previously identified as the "Cuera - 2" camera. "Smena - 2" is the English translation of the Russian ~~trade name of this camera.~~

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

She was asked if there were other occasions when she knew that OSWALD had taken his rifle out to practice firing with it. She said that she could not recall any other occasions but there were times when OSWALD would walk from the house saying he would return soon. She thinks it entirely possible that he did practice firing with his rifle on some of these occasions.

MARINA said she did not know OSWALD had intended to attempt the assassination of General WALKER. She said she had not heard of General WALKER prior to his admission to her on the night of the attempted assassination nor did she know even then who WALKER was until he explained WALKER's identity to her. She said she had never discussed the WALKER incident with anyone until questioned about it by persons investigating the assassination of President KENNEDY. She said she had never mentioned the incident to Mrs. RUTH PAINE.

MARINA was questioned further concerning OSWALD's trip to Mexico.

She stated that she had known about OSWALD's trip to Mexico about a week before he had taken the trip. She said she had been aware of the interest of the interviewing agents in the trip of OSWALD to Mexico because of the questioning done by the interviewing agents concerning this trip. She said she had not told the interviewing agents about the trip and had, in fact, stated that she did not know about the trip whereas in truth she had known because she did not like the FBI and she had wanted to save something to tell the Commission.

She said that when questioned concerning the OSWALD trip to Mexico by the Commission, she realized the interest of the Government in this trip and being under oath, told the truth about the trip whereas she previously had not.

MARINA stated she had not liked New Orleans and had told OSWALD she wanted to return to Dallas. She thereupon wrote RUTH PAINE requesting that Mrs. PAINE help her to return to Dallas. RUTH PAINE wrote that she would be in New Orleans to pick her up and return her to Dallas. MARINA stated it was OSWALD's intention at the beginning to return to Dallas with her and Mrs. PAINE. Later, however, he conceived the idea of going to Mexico for the purpose of entering Cuba. He wanted to go to Cuba because he was interested in that country and because Cuba and Russia were friendly nations. He told her that the only way he could get to Cuba was through Mexico. MARINA did not want to go to Cuba but said she would probably have gone if OSWALD had been admitted and had later asked for her and JUNE to join him there. It was her opinion that OSWALD, if admitted to Cuba, would become disillusioned there as he had become in Russia and he would return to the United States and support his family in a normal way.

She advised she had not told RUTH PAINE or anyone else about OSWALD going to Mexico and she feels certain OSWALD did not tell RUTH PAINE or anyone else about his trip to Mexico. While he was in Mexico, he wrote her no letters because he did not want anyone to know he had gone to Mexico.

She said OSWALD had informed her he had traveled to Mexico from New Orleans by bus and had returned to Dallas from Mexico by bus. He mentioned that his return trip had cost him less than his trip to Mexico. He took with him somewhere between $160.00 and $180.00 and he returned to Dallas with about $70.00. She was questioned as to why she knew the amounts of money he took and returned with, when she had previously stated she knew nothing about money matters and OSWALD did not tell her anything about money matters. She said OSWALD had told her when she left New Orleans that he had about $160.00 to $180.00. He told her when he returned to Dallas that he had about $70.00. She said it is true that she did not handle the money and she could not spend money unless OSWALD gave her permission but she did know of these matters as above related. She was asked how much money she had in her possession at the time she returned to Dallas from New Orleans. She replied she had no more than $10.00.

Date February 22, 1964

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at the office of her attorney, WILLIAM A. MC KENZIE, Fidelity Union Life Building. MR. MC KENZIE was not present during the interview.

MARINA was questioned further concerning alleged target practice of LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

She advised she had been mistaken on February 17, 1964, when she said she recalled OSWALD cleaning his rifle at Neely Street, at which time he made the statement he had been practicing. She said she is now able to place the date that she saw OSWALD cleaning his rifle as being shortly before the WALKER incident, and at the time they resided on Neeley Street.

MARINA retraced at this time every incident she can recall concerning OSWALD's cleaning or practicing with his rifle. She said she can now recall that OSWALD cleaned his rifle on about four or five occasions during the short period of time which elapsed from the time he acquired the rifle in March, 1963, until his attempted assassination of General WALKER. She can recall that he cleaned the rifle at least one time after the General WALKER incident and before their trip to New Orleans.

At one of the four or five times that she observed OSWALD cleaning his rifle at their home on Neely Street, before the WALKER incident, he told her he had been practicing with the rifle but he did not say when he had practiced. On the other occasions of his cleaning the rifle before the WALKER incident he did not say he had been practicing. MARINA deduced that he might have been practicing with the rifle. She cannot recall now any incidents connected with the rifle cleaning which would indicate to her now that he might have practiced. She can recall nothing unusual in his routine at the time. She said this period between his purchase of the rifle and the WALKER incident was the period of time he was attending night school. She said it would have been entirely possible for him to have practiced on any of the times that he was away from the house ostensibly attending school and if he had practiced on such occasions, it would have been without her knowledge.

MARINA said to her knowledge OSWALD had only one rifle and that rifle is the one he maintained in the PAINE garage during her residence with MRS. PAINE and the same rifle she identified in her testimony before the Commission investigating the assassination. She said he had received this rifle by mail. At the time he received the rifle they were residing on Neely Street. She said she now can remember this definitely. She is sure in her own mind that she did not see OSWALD with a rifle in January, 1963.

She recalls she first saw the rifle on a shelf in OSWALD's room on Neely Street. She estimates the first time she saw the rifle to be near the end of March, 1963. It was about seven to ten days after first seeing the rifle that she took the picture of OSWALD with the rifle and the pistol and the newspaper. She recalls she took this picture on a Sunday. It was following this, that she recalls seeing OSWALD cleaning the rifle as related above.

MARINA gave further information concerning the incident of OSWALD taking the rifle from the house in a raincoat for the purpose of practicing with it. She believes this incident occurred shortly before the attempt on WALKER's life, probably in March, 1963. She related she needed to go to the store and told OSWALD that she wanted to go to the store and take a walk. OSWALD told her to take JUNE in the carriage and begin walking toward the store and he would catch up with them. MARINA left the house with JUNE and began walking toward the store and shortly OSWALD caught up with them. He had his rifle wrapped up in a raincoat and told MARINA he was going to practice firing with the rifle. She remonstrated with him. She said the police would get him. He replied he was going anyway and it was none of her business. He did not say where he was going to practice firing the rifle, other than he was going to a vacant spot. She did not see any rifle shells in his possession.

They walked from their house on Neely Street to Elsbeth Street where they walked two blocks left and then a block or two to the right, arriving at a large artery, where buses travel, which she believes was Beckley Street. They crossed the street and waited for the bus to arrive. She and JUNE, her daughter, waited with OSWALD until the bus arrived. They saw him board the bus. She does not recall exactly what bus he boarded. She said during the interview of February 17, 1964, she said he had boarded the "Love Field" bus. She explained why she had said that. MARINA advised that the "Love Field" bus stopped at this particular bus stop. She can read the words "Love Field". OSWALD had, at one time, translated the words for her and she knew them to mean literally "field of love". He had also told her that he had practiced in a "field". Through the association of these ideas she had concluded that it was the "Love Field" bus he boarded.

MARINA furnished further information concerning the photograph of OSWALD which she took and the camera with which she took it. She advised that she believed she took the photograph with the American camera which OSWALD owned. She repeated OSWALD owned two cameras- one an American camera and the other a Russian-made camera, which she has identified as the Smena 2. She said the American camera had a grayish color, somewhat like aluminum. It was a box-type camera. She is not completely sure however, as to whether the camera had an extending bellows. She can recall that she sighted the camera by looking down into a viewer at the top of the camera. She said she did not know where this camera is now. MARINA advised she could identify this camera.

MARINA advised she had jotted down the license number of the automobile used by SA JAMES P. HOSTY, JR. on an occasion when he had called at the PAINE residence. She said she had jotted the number down on a piece of paper and given it to OSWALD. She had written the number because OSWALD had told her to jot down the license number of any FBI Agent who came to the house in order that he would know that it was a FBI car.

MARINA advised she had not informed MR. or MRS. PAINE that OSWALD owned a rifle nor had she informed either of the PAINEs of OSWALD's attempt on the life of General WALKER. She felt sure that OSWALD had not informed either of the PAINEs of these matters.

MARINA said she had not informed SAs BOGUSLAV and HEITMAN previous to December 3, 1963, of the WALKER note or the attempt on WALKER's life by OSWALD because in the first place she was OSWALD's wife, and in the second place, because OSWALD had not killed WALKER in the attempt, for which she was very happy.

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. DECLAN P. FORD, 14057 Brookcrest.

She was exhibited the photograph of one LYUDMILA NIKOLAYEVNA PRUSAKOVA, nee ISCHENKO, born February 8, 1932, citizen of the U.S.S.R., who was one of 28 Soviet students who visited England as tourists in May 1960. MARINA advised, after viewing the photograph, that she could not identify the person depicted in the photograph. She said this person is not related to her.

A camera described as an "Imperial Reflex", duo lens, size 620, metallic gray in color, was exhibited to MARINA. She immediately identified it as the American camera which she had previously referred to as being the property of LEE HARVEY OSWALD. She said this is the camera with which she had taken the picture of OSWALD holding the rifle and newspaper and wearing the pistol. She said this is the camera, she believes, with which OSWALD took the photographs of the WALKER house in Dallas, but she cannot be sure of this.

MARINA was questioned concerning OSWALD's reading habits while in Dallas, Texas. She said he had gone to the Dallas Public Library on many occasions and had brought back piles of books to their residence. She said that generally the books which he brought home to read were histories or biographies. She recalls that he read biographies of HITLER, KENNEDY and KHRUSHCHEV. She is not clear in her mind as to whether he read these books in New Orleans or in Dallas. She recalls he also read the book "Time to Live and Time to Die" by ERIC MARIA REMARQUE. She recalls he read a book about POWERS, the U-2 pilot. She cannot specifically recall what books he checked out of the Dallas Public Library.

MARINA was questioned concerning a previous statement made by her that following his return from Mexico, OSWALD had told her he would buy her a washing machine. MARINA said OSWALD had not purchased this washing maching and, in fact, not much had been done with a view to purchasing a machine except that she and Mrs. PAINE had checked the newspapers for private sales. She said to her knowledge no telephone calls had been made by either Mrs. PAINE or OSWALD with regard to the washing machine. Mrs. OSWALD said she, of course, had made no such calls as she could not speak enough English. MARINA OSWALD specifically stated that she does not recall that anyone called the Ridgewood Furniture Company in Garland, Texas, with regard to the purchase or rental of a washing machine for her.

MARINA was questioned concerning a notice of the Irving, Texas, Post Office of "Attempt to Deliver Mail" which was dated November 20, 1963, and concerned a parcel addressed to LEE OSWALD, 2515 West 5th Street, Irving, Texas, on which was due twelve cents postage. MARINA advised she recalls that a parcel had been delivered by the postman at the PAINE residence on about November 20, 1963, on which twelve cents postage was due. She paid the postage and accepted the parcel. The parcel contained, she believes, a magazine. She thinks this magazine was one to which they subscribed. This magazine is "Ogonek", a weekly Russian, news-type magazine.

MARINA was questioned concerning a letter written to her by Mrs. RUTH PAINE, which letter was dated May 16, 1963. In this letter Mrs. PAINE spoke of her displeasure with her husband and of her intention to travel to New York to find herself "a lover". MARINA said she recalled the letter. She believed this statement by Mrs. PAINE to have been a joke. She said Mrs. PAINE was not serious and that Mrs. PAINE was not that type of a woman. She added that Mrs. PAINE did not like LEE HARVEY OSWALD and LEE HARVEY OSWALD did not like Mrs. PAINE. She was sure that there was no illicit relationship between Mrs. PAINE and LEE HARVEY OSWALD. She can recall that on one occasion she discussed with Mrs. PAINE her relationship with her husband, Mr. PAINE. She said she told Mrs. PAINE in a jocular way that if her husband would not live with her she would spit on him and find herself another one. She said that she was sure that Mrs. PAINE took this in the manner in which she had stated it, that is, that it was sort of a joke.

MARINA was questioned concerning the alleged fights engaged in by her and LEE HARVEY OSWALD. She said she believed OSWALD had physically mistreated her about four times during their married life. She was asked what this mistreatment consisted of and she replied that it consisted of OSWALD hitting her in the face. She was asked if she had retaliated and she said that she had. MARINA said that she had thrown things at OSWALD. She recalled once throwing a radio at him and recalls that the radio had been broken when it hit the floor. MARINA was asked as to who had actually started the fights and she had replied that OSWALD had started the fights by hitting her. MARINA was questioned as to what had caused the fights. She said that generally the fights were started because she had criticized OSWALD and he had become angry and hit her. She was asked as to how she had criticized OSWALD. She replied she had criticized the books that he read. She said OSWALD was always reading books on history, biqraphies, and philosophy, and that she had told him he should read more fiction. She criticized his political ideas. She said OSWALD was always talking about political subjects and was critical of both the United States Government and the Russian government, and she did not like to talk about political things. She also recalls that once an argument had ensued because OSWALD did not want his mother to visit in their home and she thought it was proper that the mother should visit their home.

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DECLAN P. FORD, 14057 Brookcrest, Dallas, Texas.

She was exhibited photographs of a number of items which were seized by the Dallas Police Department in their search of the MICHAEL and RUTH PAINE residence at 2515 W. 5th Street, Irving, Texas, and OSWALD's room at 1026 N. Beckley Street, Dallas, and later turned over to the FBI at Dallas. MARINA OSWALD's comments concerning each of these items are noted herein below with the appropriate number designated and described:

ITEM NO.	DESCRIPTION
6	Photograph No. 5. This photograph depicts a railroad track. MARINA said this could possibly be the railroad track near the WALKER home in Dallas as LEE HARVEY OSWALD had told her he had taken pictures of the WALKER home. He also mentioned to her there was a railroad track that ran near the WALKER house and she felt this might be a photograph of a portion of that track which ran near the WALKER house.
63	Photograph No. 1. This is a postcard to the OSWALDs in Russian from Mrs. OSWALD (front and back).
	Photograph No. 2. This is a postcard to MARINA OSWALD, c/o RUTH PAINE, at Irving, Texas, from LEE HARVEY OSWALD who was in New Orleans. OSWALD mentioned that everything was fine; that he was living with Aunt LILLIAN where he was received very well. He said he was looking for work. He said when he found work he would write MARINA. He closed with kisses to MARINA and JUNIE.
64	Photograph No. 1. This is from a postcard to the OSWALDs from LUDMILLA (nickname LUIDA) LARIONOVA SEMIONOVA, who resides at the address Zaozernaya Street No. 6, Apartment 4, Leningrad, Russia. She is in charge of a government import store in Leningrad.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON
MR. BELMONT
MR. ROSEN
MR. EVANS
MR. DE LOACH

Lee Harvey Oswald

Mr. William Randolph Hearst called from New York City. He stated the new Life Magazine which comes out tomorrow has a black and white picture of Lee Harvey Oswald with a rifle and pistol in his pocket. Mr. Hearst stated the Knight papers, sparked by the Detroit Free Press, and Life are both claiming copyright. Mr. Hearst wanted to know if they have a copyright of something they may have stolen from the Bureau.

I told Mr. Hearst they did not steal it from us; that my recollection is that Oswald's wife had the picture and she may have sold it as she has a business manager and lawyer and whether she sold it or not or whether the Dallas Police Department got it, I did not know. Mr. Hearst stated the Dallas Police Department did have it as Johnny Harris, who is from that neck of the woods and was down there, said he saw it there. I stated they may have gotten it from her either before or after she sold a copy to the magazine. I stated Oswald's mother, who is in New York today I thought to make a speech tonight, claims to have a lot of pictures and evidence that will prove her son's innocence but which she did not give to the Warren Commission. I stated I had heard that the reason she would not present this to the Commission was because she could not get any assurance that they would not make it public as she wants to write a book. Mr. Hearst commented that if she wants to prove his innocence, she better give it to the Commission first. I commented that Oswald's wife admitted that she believes he committed the crime. Mr. Hearst stated that Oswald had shot at General Walker and the picture was supposed to have been taken right after that. I stated I understand the wife or Mrs. Paine, with whom the wife was living, had the photograph of him with his gun and revolver, the gun being the gun he used to shoot at General Walker and later used to shoot the President. Mr. Hearst stated that they better keep hands off then as it is a piece of private property. I stated it at least was; that there have been a lot of leaks come out of the Dallas Police Department before Oswald was killed. I stated after he was killed, the Dallas Police sent to us the gun and bullet which we examined in our Laboratory here and made certain findings and then we sent the report back to our Dallas Office, who in turn turned it over to the local police, but, and this was for his, Mr. Hearst's, confidential information, the Chief of Police, who was trying to please everybody, was giving interviews on TV most of the time until I sent him word to keep his mouth shut, as he was going to hurt the case with the evidence being given out as we did not know what lawyers were going to be used.

I commented that there is a mess in Dallas now as to whether Ruby can get a fair trial in Dallas in view of the publicity. Mr. Hearst stated the defense will probably confuse the issue so Ruby will get off. I stated that, of course, we merely give findings, but in my own mind I am convinced that Oswald killed the President and that the Commission will ultimately reach that finding. I stated that in the meantime there are all these wild rumors going around such as the story that Oswald was an employee of the FBI, and just the other day his mother claimed he was an employee of CIA and John McCone had to issue a statement denying it. Mr. Hearst stated the European papers are the worst in this. I agreed and mentioned that our man in Rome sent in several wires about four papers which had that story on the front page. I stated I thought it was all a planned smear by the communists and Mr. Hearst stated he would not be surprised.

I stated Oswald was a communist and openly admitted it. I stated at the very beginning the communist press out of Moscow had a statement that the man who shot the President was of the extreme right, and when it was exposed that Oswald was a Marxist and tried to defect to Russia, then they began to swing it around the other way. Mr. Hearst stated the Russians are better at keeping their mouths shut, because if they say what they want and then get embarrassed, they never say another word. I stated they would like to prove Oswald was employed by us or CIA or the Government and then smear that branch and the one branch they hate the worst is the FBI.

Mr. Hearst thanked me.

Very truly yours,

J. E. H.

DL T-1 advised that later on March 7, 1964, ROBERT OSWALD contacted MARINA to advise her that he would be over to see her about 1:30 or 2:00 P.M. on March 8, 1964. MARINA told ROBERT that she was getting along very well in her new residence and mentioned that Mrs. SMITH, a neighbor, had invited her to dinner for March 7, 1964.

DL T-2, on March 7, 1964, advised he received no pertinent information on that date.

DL T-1 stated that on March 8, 1964, WILLIAM A. MC KENZIE contacted MARINA and warned her not to let anyone in her house that she does not know.

Later KATHERINE FORD contacted MARINA, requesting MARINA call her when ROBERT OSWALD left so she could come over to visit MARINA. MARINA advised KATHERINE FORD that two reporters came by but she would not open the door for them and told them to contact WILLIAM A. MC KENZIE. MARINA then mentioned that she saw JAMES HERBERT MARTIN in her dreams last night and, following that statement, asked Mrs. FORD to check on medication to help control sexual desire. MARINA said if MARTIN had not been sterilized she would never have been intimate with him. She described MARTIN as a strong male specimen and explained that is why she was attracted to him. She said LEE HARVEY OSWALD was a weaker male specimen with a weaker nervous system, and indicated she was ashamed of her husband. MARINA asked Mrs. FORD if she thought GEORGE DE MOHRENSCHILDT was a normal person, to which Mrs. FORD replied that she had never heard how GEORGE DE MOHRENSCHILDT was in bed. MARINA mentioned that WANDA MARTIN must have known something was going on between her and JIM MARTIN. MARINA said MARTIN acts now as if everything was a lie. Mrs. FORD said that if DECLAN FORD becomes MARINA's manager DECLAN FORD cannot use MC KENZIE as a personal attorney.

DL T-1 said MARINA contacted KATHERINE FORD later on March 8, 1964, and advised that ROBERT OSWALD and his family had just left. MARINA told KATHERINE FORD that ROBERT OSWALD told her some new information had just come out that LEE HARVEY OSWALD had been drinking Coca Cola ten minutes after the shots were fired that killed the President. MARINA expressed doubt that LEE HARVEY OSWALD could have been calm enough to be drinking Coca Cola if he were the person who fired the shots. MARINA also mentioned that ROBERT told her someone had seen a man other than LEE HARVEY OSWALD run across the yard of the building. MARINA then explained ROBERT's statements by adding that ROBERT is a relative of LEE HARVEY OSWALD and somehow wants to clear his brother. MARINA said it is hard to believe that it was not LEE HARVEY OSWALD who committed the crime and that she would not try to exonerate him, stating that, "If he is guilty, he is guilty". Mrs. FORD told MARINA she believes the Government is trying to find the truth of the matter and MARINA agreed. Mrs. FORD said DECLAN FORD thought there was more than one person doing the shooting and that there were possibly two people shooting at the same time. MARINA said she doubted that LEE HARVEY OSWALD had an accomplice. MARINA said she feels LEE did the shooting and, further, that he took a shot at General EDWIN WALKER, and further shooting on his part could have been expected. She said the main reason she feels this way is that he came to see her on Thursday before the shooting. She pointed out she did not see him take the rifle at that time. She then said she felt sure LEE did the shooting but wondered if someone else was shooting, also. She said the bullets should have been different if there was more than one and that she is sure the bullets will be compared. MARINA OSWALD also mentioned that "the boy" claimed LEE had a package but she did not see LEE carrying a package when he came to see her on Thursday. She said she thought he was always in view and could not have made the package during the time he was at the PAINE residence. MARINA again expressed doubt, wondering why LEE came to see her on Thursday. Mrs. FORD and MARINA both said, "Only God knows", and stated that if JACK RUBY had not shot LEE HARVEY OSWALD, perhaps LEE would have told the story by now. Mrs. FORD warned MARINA not to put herself in the position of LEE's mother, MARGUERITE OSWALD, as to LEE's innocence.

DL T-1 said that later on the same date Mrs. FORD indicated to MARINA that she thinks ROBERT probably told MARINA about the things they mentioned before as ROBERT is now sympathizing with his mother, MARGUERITE OSWALD. MARINA advised

KATHERINE FORD that this is absolutely not the case, as ROBERT told her that MARGUERITE OSWALD would like to see her, MARINA, but that she should not meet with Mrs. OSWALD under any circumstances. MARINA said ROBERT OSWALD claims his mother is crazy. MARINA said ROBERT was LEE HARVEY OSWALD's brother and would naturally be happy to find some information in defense of LEE. She said she would like this, too. MARINA said she does not believe OSWALD would give her address to MARGUERITE OSWALD.

DL T-2 advised he received no pertinent information concerning MARINA on March 8, 1964.

DL T-1 advised on March 9, 1964, MARINA contacted KATHERINE FORD and discussed going to laundromat and the possibility of MARINA purchasing a clothes dryer. Mrs. FORD made arrangements with MARINA for MARINA to keep her child, GREGORY FORD, on March 10, 1964, and that on March 11, 1964, she and MARINA would go furniture shopping.

DL T-2 advised on March 9, 1964, no pertinent activity was noted at MARINA's residence.

On March 10, 1964, DL T-1 advised WILLIAM A. MC KENZIE contacted MARINA and advised her that he would visit her at her residence on that morning.

MARINA contacted DECLAN FORD and stated she would like to have Mrs. FORD present when MC KENZIE got there. FORD advised MARINA that Mrs. FORD was not home.

DL T-2 advised that MC KENZIE contacted MARINA on March 10, 1964, at her residence and warned MARINA that MARGUERITE OSWALD is in Dallas and may try to visit her. He told her that in the event MARGUERITE OSWALD appeared at her house with reporters, she should talk to Mrs. OSWALD but she should not say anything to the reporters and she should not let them in her house.

DL T-1 stated that later on March 10, 1964, MARINA discussed instructions MC KENZIE had given her relative to Mrs.

OSWALD with KATHERINE FORD. MARINA said she did not feel like talking to Mrs. OSWALD and would not open the door for her should she come to her residence. Later on the same date MARINA again contacted Mrs. FORD and stated she desired to purchase a birthday present for DECLAN FORD and requested Mrs. FORD to make the purchase.

DL T-2 advised that later on March 10, 1964, KATHERINE FORD visited MARINA at her residence and then indulged in general conversation concerning children, a birthday present for DECLAN and plans for MARINA to stay at the FORD house while the FORDS are in Washington.

DL T-1 advised that MARINA OSWALD was in contact with KATHERINE FORD on two occasions on March 11, 1964, at which time they discussed MARINA keeping Mrs. FORD's son, GREGORY, on March 11, 1964. MARINA also indicated she was trying to get in touch with ROBERT OSWALD.

DL T-2, on March 11, 1964, advised that two unknown females visited MARINA at her residence and extended an invitation to her for her to attend their church in Richardson, Texas.

At approximately 6:00 P.M. on March 11, 1964, MARINA and her children departed her residence to go to the FORD residence where they were to remain until March 14, 1964, while the FORDS were in Washington, D. C.

DL T-1 and DL T-2 advised no further information was obtained on March 11 and 12, 1964.

Title: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - R - CUBA

Synopsis:

Dr. FERNANDO PENABAZ, Cuban exile at Miami, Fla., stated he attended convention of "Christian Crusade" at Shreveport, La., during 2/64 and discussed assassination with persons there. He stated he possessed no first-hand information concerning LEE HARVEY OSWALD's activities, and any remarks made by him concerning OSWALD would have been qualified as speculation. Regarding alleged plan of Cuban named QUINTIN PINO to rescue OSWALD after assassination, Dr. PENABAZ said he had not stated this as a fact. He said he heard it from another Cuban at Miami. Tracing of the QUINTIN PINO story, as obtained by Dr. PENABAZ, resulted in explanation that it was rumor and commentary among Cuban exiles at Miami.

DETAILS:

The following investigation supplements that contained in the report of Special Agent RAYMOND H. WILLIAMS, dated March 3, 1964, at Minneapolis, captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, Aka; IS - R", concerning statements by the Reverend FREDERICK CURTIS FOWLER of Duluth, Minnesota, relating to alleged collusion between LEE HARVEY OSWALD and JACK RUBY.

Dr. FERNANDO PENABAZ, age 45, resident at 2805 Southwest Fourth Avenue, Miami, Florida, advised he had graduated from Duke University in 1939; subsequently attained his Law Degree from the University of Havana, and had practiced Law in Cuba, as well as being engaged in newspaper writing before coming to the United States as an exile from the CASTRO regime as of June, 1960.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he is currently active in preparation of radio programs broadcast over 110 radio stations in eleven Latin American countries. He said these programs are directed against the CASTRO regime. He said he has also been a writer for the "Fort Lauderdale News", published at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, and for the "Jefferson City News Tribune", published at Jefferson City, Missouri.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he was invited to speak at the Third Annual National Anti-Communist Leadership School, sponsored by the Christian Crusade, which was held at the Captain Shreve Hotel, Shreveport, Louisiana, during February 10-14, 1964. He said the Christian Crusade has as its founder and director the Reverend BILLIE JAMES HARGIS.

Dr. PENABAZ stated that during the period of his visit at Shreveport, he recalled having a visit in the room of the Reverend HARGIS, at which General EDWIN WALKER was present, and also another individual, whom he did not specifically recall to be Reverend FREDERICK FOWLER, although he did not recall who else it might have been. He stated that during this visit, a discussion developed over the circumstances surrounding the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

On 3/16/64 at Miami, Florida File # Miami 105-8342

by SAs JAMES J. O'CONNOR and PETER J. NERO:plm Date dictated 3/28/64

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

It was pointed out to Dr. PENABAZ that information had been received attributing to Dr. PENABAZ various statements regarding the assassination which made more specific details desirable.

With respect to information that the assassination arose from an agreement between President KENNEDY and Premier KHRUSHCHEV for the elimination of FIDEL CASTRO with a provision that Cuba remain communistic, Dr. PENABAZ said he would never make such a general remark that could not be logically proven. He said that while such a theory is not contradictory in itself, he would not have voiced it without making clear that it was pure speculation. He stated he has never observed so many pundits pour forth so many distorted remarks as have been made concerning the assassination of President KENNEDY. Dr. PENABAZ stated he probably did say that one could argue in favor of the thesis that CASTRO may have had reasons to eliminate President KENNEDY, since it was evident that CASTRO seemed to realize that President KENNEDY wanted him deposed as the leader in Cuba. Dr. PENABAZ said that in a speech by CASTRO made at the Brazilian Embassy in Havana about the beginning of September, 1963, which speech was reported in the American press, CASTRO virtually threatened President KENNEDY by a statement to the effect that leaders threatening him (CASTRO) better be careful, because they, too, could suffer accidents. Dr. PENABAZ stated significant with this remark by CASTRO was information, unconfirmed, but received by the Cuban exile colony, that about three weeks prior to the speech of CASTRO at the Brazilian Embassy, an attempt had been made on CASTRO's life, with the result that someone was, in fact, killed. Dr. PENABAZ stated this may or may not be true.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he possessed no information concerning a trip to Cuba by OSWALD or the awarding of $10,000 to OSWALD as payment in the assignment to assassinate President KENNEDY.

Dr. PENABAZ stated that the most known concerning OSWALD's connection with Cuba was the fact that he had gone to Mexico prior to the assassination, and that the Mexican authorities took measures against a girl in the Cuban Embassy in Mexico City with whom OSWALD had contact. As possible indication that the Cuban Government was interested in OSWALD, the CASTRO Government protested the detention of the girl assigned to the Cuban Embassy, although she was a Mexican citizen.

With respect to information that the "National Review", a publication at New York City with which writer WILLIAM BUCKLEY is associated, had reported that a "New York Times" reporter had obtained from a very good source the story of OSWALD's trip to Mexico and subsequent return to the United States with the sum of $10,000, but that the "New York Times" mysteriously withheld the story, Dr. PENABAZ stated as follows:

This was the first he had heard of this situation, and he highly doubted its accuracy, since he believes that if anyone had such facts concerning the assassination, nothing could prevent publication of the story over all the world.

With respect to information that OSWALD, on return from his alleged trip to Cuba, was accompanied by QUINTIN PINO, who was to take OSWALD to Cuba after the assassination, Dr. PENABAZ stated he had not made such a statement to anyone as being fact. He stated he had heard of an alleged plot wherein QUINTIN PINO had crossed into Texas from Mexico for the purpose of rescuing OSWALD after the assassination, but that the plan failed because OSWALD was not wearing clothing of the prearranged color, whereby he would be readily recognized by PINO, and also, since OSWALD became involved in the shooting of Dallas Policeman TRIPPITT, OSWALD failed to reach the rendezvous at the time PINO would pick him up.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he had heard this story concerning PINO from MIGUEL DE LEON, whom he described as a former Cuban Congressman with contacts throughout Central America. He said that according to DE LEON, QUINTIN PINO was a strongman in the diplomatic service of FIDEL CASTRO, and had been sent by CASTRO to Nicaragua as of 1959 to organize anti-government guerrillas there.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he has never written any article in his news columns concerning the matter of QUINTIN PINO, because it is just the remark of one person to him, and may have no basis in fact. He said that for the same reason, he had not reported such information to government authorities.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he had made no such statement that OSWALD had been shot by JACK RUBY for failing to follow the escape plan after the assassination. Dr. PENABAZ stated he may have said that such a possibility existed, but he would definitely have qualified it as purely a possibility.

Dr. PENABAZ stated that although he could not recall speaking with Reverend FOWLER of Minnesota, he did do a lot of talking while in Shreveport, and much of it in the field of conjecture regarding the assassination. He said that the Reverend FOWLER is undoubtedly confusing what statements may have been made by Dr. PENABAZ with other statements or reading material known to Reverend FOWLER.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he had not heard any statement to the effect that the garage mechanic at Dallas, Texas who had observed OSWALD in the Dallas theater, following the assassination, had been mysteriously killed.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he had made no such statement, either to Reverend FOWLER or anyone else, that his information concerning the alleged agreement between President KENNEDY and Premier KHRUSHCHEV to depose CASTRO, or any of the other speculations on the assassination, had been received by him from a good friend in Cuba. He said that Reverend FOWLER was definitely confused in such a statement, and he believed Reverend FOWLER was possibly confusing the statements he had received from various individuals at Shreveport. He said that possibly Reverend FOWLER had also talked to CARLOS BRINGUIER, a resident of New Orleans, who was present at the meeting in the Captain Shreve Hotel.

Dr. PENABAZ stated he had never heard any statement or information to the effect that LEE HARVEY OSWALD and JACK RUBY were members of a six-member communist cell active in Dallas, Texas.

Dr. PENABAZ stated all his information concerning OSWALD is hearsay, and he knows no one other than CARLOS BRINGUIER of New Orleans, Louisiana who had any personal contact with LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

MIGUEL DE LEON ROJAS, resident at 17 Majorca, Coral Gables, Florida, advised he had been a Congressman in Cuba and also a Councilman in the city of Santiago de Cuba. He stated he was familiar with the fact that QUINTIN PINO MACHADO, during 1959, had been appointed by FIDEL CASTRO as Cuban Ambassador to Nicaragua, and that PINO was subsequently declared persona non grata for teaching youth groups in Nicaragua methods of sabotage. He stated that in his travels and various contacts among Cuban exiles and Central American acquaintances, he was aware that QUINTIN PINO had served on a Cuban assignment in Mexico to investigate activities directed against the CASTRO regime.

With respect to the alleged plan wherein PINO would assist LEE HARVEY OSWALD in making an escape following the assassination, Mr. DE LEON stated he had learned this while visiting in the home of Cuban engineer SIXTO MESA. He said this visit occurred about a week after the assassination, and he did not recall who in the MESA home had related the episode involving QUINTIN PINO MACHADO.

SIXTO MESA, 285 Shore Drive, Bay Heights, Miami, Florida, an engineer by profession, stated he recalled the occasion shortly after the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY wherein MIGUEL DE LEON and Dr. ADOLFO VILASUSO were present in his home and discussed the assassination. He said that with respect to the information that QUINTIN PINO MACHADO was involved in the plan on behalf of the Cuban Government to effect the escape of LEE HARVEY OSWALD after the assassination, he (MESA) possessed no authentic information. He stated it was Dr. VILASUSO who had related this story.

ADOLFO VILASUSO, a medical doctor residing in exile at 8620 Southwest 21st Street, Miami, Florida, stated he recalled the visit to the home of SIXTO MESA wherein they discussed the assassination, and he mentioned the matter of QUINTIN PINO MACHADO allegedly being involved in the plan for OSWALD to escape from the United States. He stated it would be impossible for him to determine the origin of this allegation, inasmuch as to his knowledge, there was no particular source for the information, but rather it was a matter of rumor and commentary which passed through the Cuban exile colony at Miami.

Dr. VILASUSO stated he possessed no authentic information concerning LEE HARVEY OSWALD or any circumstance surrounding the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

SUBJECT: LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

Articles by Thomas Gittings Buchanan, Jr., on his version of the assassination of President Kennedy have recently appeared in the French newspaper "L'Express." Copies of past articles received from Legal Attache, Paris, have been furnished along with translations to the President's Commission. Buchanan worked for the "Washington Evening Star" as a reporter from 1946 to 1948 when he admitted Communist Party (CP) membership to an official of that paper and was dismissed. He admitted CP membership to Bureau Agents in 1952 and 1953 but claimed in 1956 that he had left the CP. His name is carried on the Reserve Index.

Previous articles by Buchanan have been based on speculation and unfounded material, much of it previously published, to the effect that Lee Harvey Oswald was an Agent of the FBI and/or Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) and that the investigation of the assassination was covering up discrepancies which cast doubt on Oswald's guilt.

Buchanan's article "Struggle to the Death Between Wall Street and Texas," appearing in the 3/26/64 issue of "L'Express," has been received, translated and reviewed. This last article in the series by Buchanan continues the thesis that Oswald and Ruby were part of a plot to kill President Kennedy and implies that wealthy and influential men in Texas were behind the plot. Buchanan states that Oswald would not have been employed by the Texas School Book Depository without the permission of the city government and "without a decided willingness of the rulers of Dallas to use Oswald later on." Actually the Texas School Box Depository is a private concern not a city agency.

The wealthy men mentioned in this article include H. L. Hunt, his son Lamar Hunt, and the brothers John D. and Clinton W. Murchison. He claims that these wealthy men of Texas are not "level headed rational businessmen" but are adventurers and gamblers in their operations of the petroleum industries and their spirit of gambling has carried over to other areas.

APR 22 1964

Buchanan states that there are three enemies of the Hunts, Murchisons and "other Texas billionaires": (1) Wall Street financiers; (2) Washington politicians; and (3) communists. Buchanan states that the wealthy Texans seek to dominate the United States by taking control of Wall Street. An example of this is the effort of the Murchison brothers, he claims, leading to their control of the Investor's Deversified Services (IDS), although a court judgment declared transfer of the IDS to their control illegal and they took a financial loss in relinquishing that control.

As to the political activity of the wealthy Texans, Buchanan says the Hunts and Murchisons provided the late Senator McCarthy with money and prevented the re-election of two critics of Senator McCarthy's in the United States Senate, William Benton of Connecticut and Millard Tydings of Maryland.

As to communism, Buchanan claims that the "Dallas billionaires" consider a communist to be any critic of their regime and their fiscal privileges.

Buchanan asks why the FBI took so long to reveal its knowledge of Oswald's attempt on 4/10/63 on General Edwin A. Walker's life. He, of course, implies that the Bureau knew Oswald was involved in that attempt; however, our first knowledge of his attempt on General Walker's life came from Marina Oswald on 12/3/63. The Dallas Police Department while investigating the attempt on Walker's life did not develop Oswald as a suspect.

Buchanan states that General Walker could have used Oswald to make an unsuccessful attempt on his life in order to gain publicity and to increase his (General Walker's) popularity. Buchanan also claims that an association between Walker and Oswald is proved by the fact that Oswald's address book contained Walker's name and telephone number and the name, private telephone number and license number of an FBI Agent, according to the "Dallas Morning Times." Special Agent James P. Hosty is the FBI Agent but it was the telephone number of the Dallas Office and not Hosty's private number which was found in Oswald's address book. The entry re Walker in the address book is "Walke LA 1-4115." LA 1-4115 is the telephone number of General Walker in Dallas. We have developed no information substantiating Buchanan's claim of association between Walker and Oswald.

Buchanan also parrots the communist propaganda line that the relaxation of "cold-war tensions" would hurt the extensive investments in oil and other industries of the wealthy Texan businessmen and, therefore, they oppose such relaxation.

All in all, the series of articles by Buchanan are based on speculation and preconceived notion that authorities are covering up matters in the investigation of the assassination. He persists throughout the series in ignoring or distorting numerous facts and items of evidence which point to the guilt of Oswald. By attached letter the President's Commission is being furnished a copy of the 3/26/64 "L'Express" article by Buchanan with two copies of a translation thereof.

This article by Buchanan closes with the announcement that a book entitled "The Assassins of Kennedy" will be published in French soon. Legal Attache, Paris, previously advised of this development and has been instructed by the Bureau to obtain copies of this book for comparison with Buchanan's articles. This matter will be followed and reported.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the attached letter be sent to the President's Commission.

A highly critical, full page ad costing $1463 appeared in the "Dallas Morning News" on the morning of 11-22-63 entitled "Welcome, Mr. Kennedy to Dallas" which was signed by the "American Fact Finding Committee, Bernard Weissman, Chairman, Post Office Box 1792, Dallas 21, Texas." This article brought great public indignation and was described as a vicious and cruel article which employed the type of verbiage which tends to incite fanatics.

The article was in the form of a public questionnaire to President Kennedy listing 12 questions principally concerning foreign policy matters.

Investigation revealed this article was prepared by Larrie Henry Schmidt, a Dallas, Texas, insurance salesman, and by Joseph P. Grinnan, a Dallas independent oil man, both of whom were members of the John Birch Society. The money for the ad, according to Schmidt, was solicited by Grinnan from approximately six prominent Dallas businessmen. We have interviewed Weissman concerning the article in great detail. We have not interviewed Joseph P. Grinnan who allegedly solicited the funds for the article from prominent Dallas businessmen.

By letter 4-7-64 Mr. J. Lee Rankin of the President's Commission requested this Bureau to investigate the source of the funds used to pay for this article. Mr. Rankin specifically requested that either Grinnan or Weissman be interviewed to learn the names of the contributors to the advertisement.

Inasmuch as Grinnan is the individual who allegedly made the solicitation for funds from prominent Dallas businessmen, it is felt we should go directly to him to obtain this information.

Bufiles show that Joseph P. Grinnan of Dallas, Texas, is an independent oil man and a member of the John Birch Society. Our files also show that at the time of the desegregation of the University of Mississippi Grinnan was reported to be a volunteer aide for former General Edwin A. Walker, a known organizer of the John Birch Society, and to keep arms in his automobile.

Re memorandum Branigan to Sullivan dated 4-10-64 (attached) which dealt with a highly critical, full page ad which appeared in the "Dallas Morning News" on the morning of November 22, 1963, entitled "Welcome, Mr. Kennedy to Dallas," which was signed by the "American Fact Finding Committee, Bernard Weissman, Chairman, Post Office Box 1792, Dallas 21, Texas." We learned the money for this ad was solicited by Joseph P. Grinnan, Dallas independent oil man. At the request of the President's Commission, we interviewed Mr. Grinnan April 20, 1964, to determine the names of the contributors to this ad. Mr. Grinnan informed the Dallas Office he could think of approximately four individuals who contributed approximately $1500, "give or take a $100, which was used to pay for the ad in the Dallas newspaper. Mr. Grinnan stated he desired to contact each of these individuals prior to making these names available.

On April 23, 1964, Mr. Grinnan informed the Dallas Office he wanted to consult with his lawyer, Dr. Robert Morris, who is currently in the race for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate. He indicated Dr. Morris would probably be available April 24, 1964, after which time Grinnan would recontact the Dallas Office.

On April 24, 1964, Mr. Grinnan contacted the Dallas Office and stated the contributors to the fund which was used in payment of the "Dallas Morning News" advertisement were as follows:

H. L. Bright, an independent oil operator with offices in the Mercantile Commerce Building, Dallas, Texas

Edgar Crissey, an insurance man with offices in the Fidelity Union Life Building, Dallas, Texas, who resides at 3320 Villanova Street, Dallas, Texas

Nelson Bunker Hunt, an independent oil man with offices in the Mercantile Securities Building, Dallas, Texas, who is the son of H. L. Hunt, a well-known Dallas oil man.

Reference is made to an article on the investigation of the assassination of President Kennedy in the 3-15-64 issue of "The Councilor" (received 4-13-64) which identifies itself as having been published by the Citizens' Council of Louisiana, Inc., for Americans Everywhere.

The article with a date line of New Orleans claims that "The Councilor" was in New Orleans to make a fresh search into the assassination matter at the request of the Dallas District Attorney's Office. In addition, the article claims that the Dallas District Attorney's Office enlisted "The Councilor" to check reports that "Oswald and Rubenstein" (apparently Jack Ruby, convicted killer of Oswald) were connected in employment matters.

The article claims that in interviewing personnel directors and employment agency officials, "The Councilor" learned that agents from different Government bureaus have taken key documents concerning Oswald and have not coordinated their investigative efforts. "The Councilor" claims that the biggest feud in this connection exists between "Douglas Dillon's Treasury agents and Bobby Kennedy's FBI." The article also states that more people "are working to cover up the facts than are trying sincerely to unmask the assassination plot."

Ned Touchstone, editor of "The Councilor," has been identified by a confidential informant [redacted] as a member of the Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. The source advised in December, 1963, that Touchstone claimed that the Klan had documented proof that President Johnson was formerly a member of the Klan in Texas during the early days of his political career.

The source stated that it appeared Touchstone had received this information from General Edwin A. Walker whom Touchstone had recently visited in Dallas, Texas. This allegation against President Johnson has been checked out and no verification of it was developed during our inquiry.

The New Orleans Office has reported that Touchstone uses "The Councilor" to agitate and to condemn and embarrass the Federal Government whenever he has an opportunity. The confidential source advised that Touchstone has made numerous inaccurate and unproven claims and statements in the past.

OBSERVATION:

In view of the speculative and extremist nature of "The Councilor"; its hostility and efforts to embarrass the Bureau; and the unreliability of its editor, it is believed we should not contact "The Councilor" in connection with its allegations in the 3-15-64 issue.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Enclosed is an article appearing in the May 17, 1964, issue of the "National Enquirer."

You will note that the article claims that in April 1963 a letter "signed by a high official of the Justice Department" was sent to Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the General Walker shooting. The article also alleges that "a high FBI official" had been asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby.

When Chief Curry testified before the Commission on April 22, 1964, he stated that the Dallas Police force had no record whatsoever of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination. Inasmuch as Chief Curry was not specifically asked about the allegations contained in the enclosed article, we request that your Bureau interview Chief Curry concerning his knowledge of the alleged letter. We also request that you advise the Commission as to any knowledge possessed by the Justice Department or your Bureau concerning the allegations contained in this article.

By JOHN HENSHAW — ENQUIRER Washington Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON — The hottest story making the rounds here is that the U.S. Justice Department prevented the arrest of Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby BEFORE the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Oswald and the man who killed him, Ruby, were suspected of being partners in crime seven months before the President's death.

The incredible details of the story are so explosive that officials won't even answer "no comment" when asked about it. But the story being discussed by top-level government officials reveals:

1. That the Justice Department deliberately kept Oswald and Ruby out of jail before the assassination.

2. That Dallas cops suspected Oswald of being the gunman and Ruby the paymaster in a plot to murder former Major General Edwin A. Walker — seven months before the President was assassinated.

EXCLUSIVE

There is a suspicion among the American public that there is more to the story behind the assassination of President Kennedy and his slayer, Lee Oswald, than has been disclosed.

The ENQUIRER prints this article in the hope it will lead to the solution of the mystery surrounding these tragic events.

3. That the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was using Ruby to recruit commandos for raids against Castro's Cuba. To prevent this explosive information from being disclosed, the CIA asked the Justice Dept. to step in and stop the Dallas police from arresting Jack Ruby, as well as Oswald.

A top-secret document — a letter signed by a high official of the Justice Dept. — was sent in April 1963 from the Justice Dept. to Dallas Chief of Police Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas police NOT to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection

Months Before JFI

A top-secret document — a letter signed by a high official of the Justice Dept. — was sent in April 1963 from the Justice Dept. to Dallas Chief of Police Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas police NOT to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the attempted slaying of General Walker.

LEE OSWALD

JACK RUBY

After a sniper shot at, but missed, General Walker in Dallas, April 10, 1963, Dallas police suspected that Oswald was the sniper and Ruby the payoff man.

The cops were set to arrest the pair. But they never got the chance because of the heavy pressure brought to bear by the Justice Dept. And so Oswald and Ruby were allowed to remain free. And seven months later, on last November 22 in Dallas, Oswald was able to kill the President of the United States.

The top-secret document — a copy of it is reportedly in the hands of the Presidential commission investigating the assassination — bares a web of intrigue that involves the Federal Bureau of Investigation, along with the Justice Dept. and the Central Intelligence Agency.

It is so politically explosive that the Presidential commission, headed by Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren, has even withheld it from one of its own members, Senator Richard Russell (D., Ga.).

It is feared that Senator Russell, who leads the South in the fight against the civil rights bill, might use the document as a weapon against the Justice Dept. and its chief, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, a leader in the fight for civil rights.

The document — requesting the cops not to arrest Ruby and Oswald — contradicts the FBI report on the assassination and the subsequent murder of Oswald.

According to the New York Times, the FBI report, which was turned over to the Justice Dept. on December 4 and then to the Presidential commission five days later, concludes "that there was no link between Oswald and Jack Ruby."

The Times added, in its issue of December 10:

"Speculation that Oswald and Ruby knew each other, or in some way were part of a prior vendetta or association, is completely discounted in the report."

The ENQUIRER learned, however, that on the day Ruby killed Oswald, a man named Bill DeMar told reporters he saw Oswald in Ruby's Carousel night club.

DeMar, under the stage name of Bill Crowe, was then master of ceremonies at the club.

The ENQUIRER traced DeMar to an Evansville, Ind., night club and questioned him on April 11. He told our reporter that he had seen Oswald sitting in the Carousel on the night of November 21 — the night before Oswald assassinated President Kennedy.

DeMar said: "I gave the FBI a statement about seeing Oswald in the club and that was it. I told them the same thing I'm telling you.

"I signed it and have heard nothing more about the incident to this day."

And, on March 17, just three days after a jury voted the death penalty for Ruby, the Associated Press reported from Dallas:

"District Attorney Henry Wade has disclosed how prosecutors made the 'big decision' of the Jack Ruby murder trial.

"The decision: They would not call witnesses who swore they saw Ruby and Lee Harvey Oswald together before a sniper assassinated President Kennedy here.

"Testimony from these witnesses would have made world-wide headlines. And, if jurors had believed the testimony, it would have provided a motive for the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald.

"Wade said FBI agents and other investigators provided him with a list of witnesses who insisted they had seen Ruby and Oswald together at various times.

"The district attorney said he decided not to call these witnesses because he had doubts about the accuracy of their statements."

And the New York Times, in an article from Dallas dated March 15, reported:

"Some law enforcement officials in Dallas continued to believe that a connection (between Ruby and Oswald) was possible but, if so, that it was personal and did not necessarily involve the assassination."

The FBI became involved in the undercover maneuverings to stop the arrest of Oswald and Ruby shortly after the attempt to snuff out the life of Gen. Walker, who had been preaching ultraconservatism since he was relieved of his command in Germany.

Walker then resigned from the Army.

Oswald escaped and was captured an hour and a half later, but not before he had shot Dallas policeman J.D. Tippitt to death.

Two days later, as a stunned world watched on television, Jack Ruby dashed up and shot Oswald to death as police were leading the handcuffed Oswald through a basement corridor of City Hall.

And the New York Times, in an article from Dallas dated March 15, reported:

"Some law enforcement officials in Dallas continued to believe that a connection (between Ruby and Oswald) was possible but, if so, that it was personal and did not necessarily involve the assassination."

The FBI became involved in the undercover maneuverings to stop the arrest of Oswald and Ruby shortly after the attempt to snuff out the life of Gen. Walker, who had been preaching ultraconservatism since he was relieved of his command in Germany.

Walker then resigned from the Army.

GEN. EDWIN A. WALKER

A high FBI official was asked by a top official in the Justice Dept., after it was notified by the CIA of the potentially volatile situation in Dallas, to request Dallas police not to ar[redacted]t Oswald or Ruby.

The FBI official refused to do it, saying it would be obstructing justice and therefore would be a crime.

The FBI man said he would make the request only if he were officially directed to do so in a communication signed by the official.

The FBI official then received a signed directive. He contacted Dallas police and urged them not to arrest Oswald and Ruby.

But the Dallas police also wanted an official signed communication.

Thereupon the Justice Dept. sent the communication to Dallas Police Chief Curry asking that Oswald and Ruby be left strictly alone.

The department explained it didn't want Oswald and Ruby arrested because of "reasons of state."

The Justice Dept. was making the request on behalf of the CIA.

Because the CIA was deeply involved with Ruby — and probably Oswald, too!

CIA agents had been using Ruby to recruit men in the Dallas area to serve as commandos against Castro's government in Cuba.

And they didn't dare let Ruby be arrested and chance such information getting out.

There were also indications that Oswald himself might have been working both sides of the fence — as a double agent for both the Communists and the CIA.

EARL WARREN

So both Oswald and Ruby were left at liberty.

For the next few months Oswald took part in demonstrations in support of Castro, then went to Mexico City and tried to get a visa to visit Russia by way of Cuba.

Oswald's application for a visa was turned down.

Last October 3 he arrived back in Dallas. A week earlier it had been announced that President Kennedy would visit Dallas on November 22.

On October 14 Oswald got a room in a rooming house near the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas. The next day he President Kennedy and the killing of Oswald the investigations came.

And no satisfying answers were really found, except that evidence was overwhelming that the President had been killed by Oswald.

The same Oswald who had gone to Russia in 1959, pledged allegiance to the Soviet Union and tried to become a Russian citizen.

The Russians supposedly, for whatever reason, turned him down and he finally came back to America with his Russian-born wife, Marina, and their baby daughter in June 1962.

From then on he tried to get mixed up in left-wing activities, ordering all kinds of Communist literature and eventually becoming a loud supporter for Castro's Cuba.

He and his family lived first in Fort Worth, Tex., and then moved to Dallas.

In addition to the apartment he had with his wife and child he rented a room under the name of "A. Hidell."

On March 20, 1963, he received a rifle under that name from a mail-order firm located in Chicago.

On April 10 a sniper fired a rifle bullet through a window of the Dallas home of Gen. Walker.

Gen. Walker was working at his desk on his income tax returns.

The bullet missed his head by scant inches, went through a 9-inch wall and came out in another room.

Dallas police investigation showed that the sniper shot from an alley 150 feet from the Walker home, using a telescope to steady the rifle.

Dallas police also had the report of a witness who was near got a job at the depository as an order filler.

...about a fantastic story coming...

And it was from a sixth-floor window of that depository that Oswald, last November 22, fired the shots that killed President Kennedy and wounded Texas Governor John Connally.

Oswald escaped and was captured an hour and a half later, but not before he had shot Dallas policeman J.D. Tippitt to death.

Two days later, as a stunned world watched on television, Jack Ruby dashed up and shot Oswald to death as police were leading the handcuffed Oswald through a basement corridor of City Hall.

Ruby, the Dallas night club owner, went on trial for that killing on March 4. He was convicted of "murder with malice" on March 14.

But after the assassination of President Kennedy and the killing of Oswald the investigations came.

And no satisfying answers were really found, except that evidence was overwhelming that the President had been killed by Oswald.

he was shot in the temple with a bullet fired from a .22-caliber rifle.

The Journal-American said that "a local desperado named Garner was picked up by the police after the shooting but was cleared."

And this resulted in the second startling revelation: Garner's girl, Betty (Mooney) McDonald, took a lie detector test that helped to clear him. And this same Betty McDonald had worked as a stripper in Jack Ruby's Carousel.

In early February, Betty was arrested for engaging in a public brawl with a roommate — and a week later she hanged herself in her cell.

Another person who has added to the deepening mystery of the Ruby-Oswald link is Mark Lane, a former New York Assemblyman, who claims to represent Oswald.

According to the New York Times of Thursday, March 5, Lane gave sensational evidence in Washington to the Warren commission.

The Times said that Lane, who has frequently challenged the view that Oswald was guilty of shooting Kennedy, had told the

And within a few days after the shot was fired Dallas police felt they had a complete case.

Then came the fantastic series of maneuvers cloaked in secrecy which kept Oswald — the man who was to assassinate President Kennedy — a free man.

After the slaying, President Johnson appointed a seven-member commission, headed by Justice Warren, to inquire into the assassination.

Then, just after the commission began work, it was reported by United Press International on December 6 that Oswald's wife, Marina, had informed the FBI that her husband told her excitedly in April 1963 that he tried to kill Gen. Walker.

The FBI declined to comment on this news but said its investigation was continuing.

The New York Times reported, in a story datelined from Dallas on December 7, that "evidence developed this week showed that it (the rifle used to kill President Kennedy) was first used April 10 to fire into the home here of Edwin A. Walker."

On February 4, the day after Marina Oswald's first appearance before the Warren commission, Chief Justice Warren told reporters that Marina's testimony "may not be released in your lifetime."

The Chief Justice said that the testimony would be preserved for the public but that it may be suppressed for decades. He finished his statement to the press with: "I say this seriously."

J. Lee Rankin, general counsel to the Warren commission, also talked to reporters on that day. He said that Mrs. Oswald's testimony dealt with her husband's activities in the U.S. after he returned from Russia. Rankin also said that Mrs. Oswald offered the commission some "new evidence."

Later that same day Warren refused to confirm Rankin's reference to "new evidence."

Two fantastic turns in the Oswald-Ruby mystery were front-paged in the New York Journal-American of Sunday, February 23.

First, the paper revealed that one of the men who put the finger on accused assassin Oswald also had been shot.

The man, Warren Reynolds, said he saw Oswald running away, putting new shells into a pistol as he did, after officer Tippitt was shot to death.

Then, in January, Reynolds was closing up his office when

...Lane, a former New York Assemblyman, who claims to represent Oswald.

According to the New York Times of Thursday, March 5, Lane gave sensational evidence in Washington to the Warren commission.

The Times said that Lane, who has frequently challenged the view that Oswald was guilty of shooting Kennedy, had told the commission he'd heard of a secret meeting in a Dallas night club eight days before the President was killed.

Lane told the commission that at the secret meeting November 14 were J.D. Tippitt, the Dallas patrolman who was slain while trying to arrest Oswald; Bernard Weissman, a New York resident who had placed an anti-Kennedy advertisement in a Dallas newspaper the day the President was shot, and a third person.

The mystery deepened even further when Lane would not state publicly who this third person was.

But the commission knows the identity of the Mystery Man because Lane told it to them after the hearing room was cleared of newsmen and spectators.

Lane had said that the secret November 14 meeting was held in Ruby's Carousel Club, and when the public hearing of the commission resumed, Justice Warren asked a question loaded with dynamite:

"Mr. Lane, what was the PURPOSE of this meeting in Dallas?"

But the purpose remains a secret, because Lane answered that his information did not indicate what they were talking about.

But, Lane said, Tippitt, Weissman and the Mystery Man...

several weeks, he later said: "She's the only one who cared about me. There's no reason for me to live anymore."

Last November 6, while his stepfather was at work and his mother was out shopping, Morris turned from brooding to deadly action.

In any event, as he looked out the window of his home, he spotted Beebe.

Beebe was shoveling dirt from a shallow trench across the way. He was one of an eight-man crew, of which his father was foreman, digging a pipe trench

But when he looked out the window and saw him over there, I just aimed the rifle and fired."

The shot hit Beebe in the left shoulder, knocking him down.

Terrified and unaware of where the shot had come from, Beebe staggered to his feet and Neighbors heard the shots and called police.

A dozen police raced to the scene and surrounded the Morris home.

They called to the boy to come out but he refused. So police crept through the base-

"I just wanted to be put of the way, that's all."

Last February 12 Mo pleaded guilty to second-de murder.

And on March 18 Judge P Pratt put him out of the wa but with a life sentence.

spent more than two hours conferring.

According to the Times, Weissman had been asked by one reporter to comment on Lane's statement.

Weissman said that he had never met Tippitt or Ruby or Oswald.

And Weissman also said he had never been in Ruby's Carousel Club.

Then columnist Dorothy Kilgallen raised this "important question" in her nationally syndicated column on April 14:

"Why did Lee Harvey Oswald, presumably fleeing from the police after the assassination, approach Patrolman J.D. Tippitt's car — in broad daylight, with witnesses standing by — and shoot the policeman three times, although Officer Tippitt had not said a word to Oswald?

"A man who knows he is

wanted by the authorities after a spectacular crime does not seek out a policeman, usually, unless he has decided to give himself up, and certainly Oswald was not doing that.

"By shooting Officer Tippitt, instead of trying to make himself inconspicuous, Oswald put himself in double jeopardy. His act almost guaranteed his arrest.

"Why?

"A whodunit fan would infer that the policeman knew something about Oswald that was so dangerous he had to be silenced at any cost, even Oswald's chance of escape and freedom."

Oswald's mother, Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, pointed to still another possible explanation for the murder of Tippitt.

When Mrs. Oswald was asked, "Who killed Tippitt?" by Bob Considine of the Journal-American, she replied in his column of March 13:

" 'Nobody seems interested in how Lee got out of the Book Depository the day of the assassination. The place was surrounded by police, absolutely surrounded. Yet Lee walked right by them.

" 'You know how?

" 'Because Tippitt took him out.

" 'Then the higher-ups in the conspiracy ordered somebody to kill Tippitt. Part of the master plan, the way I figure it. Marina's (Oswald's widow) part of it, too. CIA or one of those agencies.' "

Speculation that Oswald was not working alone was also voiced in a United Press International dispatch from London which was printed in the Newark, N.J., Star-Ledger on April 19.

"Millions of Europeans refuse to believe that the assassination of John F. Kennedy was not part of a larger conspiracy that has still not been exposed," the dispatch said.

"The most respectable newspapers and radio and television stations in western Europe feed this viewpoint by giving prominence to reports that insist that the late President was slain as part of a left-wing or a right-wing plot.

"On both sides of the Iron Curtain, the belief is widespread that Lee Harvey Oswald was not a psychopath who acted alone.

Many think he was the agent a ring which most definit included Jack Ruby as one the conspirators."

The UPI report also no that Serge Grussard, "one France's best known journ ists," wrote from Dallas:

" 'Very probably Ruby kil him to shut his mouth forev for Oswald could not have ac alone.' "

In the United States, the W ren commission continues listen to testimony from many people concerned in case.

But the most fantastic rev tion to come to the commis was the communication fr the Justice Dept. to the Dal Police Department.

If this document exists, T ENQUIRER feels it is the ri of the American public to kn of it.

Is the Warren commission and all other interested agenc officials — keeping the lid this shocking secret?

Only time will tell.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD
INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA

The "National Enquirer" for May 17, 1964, issue contained an article alleging that there was a link between Jack Ruby and Lee Harvey Oswald. The article, which is enclosed, also claimed that in April, 1963, a letter "signed by a high official of the Justice Department" was sent to Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the General Walker shooting. The article also alleged that "a high FBI official" had been asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby.

For your information, by letter dated May 5, 1964, the President's Commission on the Assassination of John F. Kennedy advised that when Chief Curry testified before the Commission on April 22, 1964, he stated that the Dallas Police Force had no record whatsoever of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination. The Commission also stated that inasmuch as Chief Curry was not specifically asked about the allegations contained in the enclosed article, it desired that this Bureau interview Chief Curry concerning his knowledge of the alleged letter. The Commission also requested that we advise the Commission as to any knowledge possessed by the Justice Department or this Bureau concerning the allegations contained in this article.

COMM-FBI

For your information, a check of our files disclosed no reference to such an alleged letter from a high official of the Justice Department to Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry, nor any reference that an FBI official was asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby.

On May 7, 1964, Dallas Police Chief Jesse E. Curry was contacted concerning the allegations contained in this article. Chief Curry advised that he had never received or heard of a letter to his department from the Justice Department and stated that he had never been requested by any official of the FBI not to arrest Oswald or Ruby.

We would appreciate being advised whether Department of Justice files contain any information concerning the allegations in the enclosed "National Enquirer" article. Upon receipt of your reply to this request, we will immediately furnish the results to the President's Commission.

Memorandum Mr. Branigan to Mr. Sullivan dated 5-4-64 set forth concise analysis of instant article in the "National Enquirer." This is a wild story alleging that the Dallas Police knew in April, 1963, that Oswald and Ruby were linked in the assassination attempt against General Walker; that they were about to arrest Oswald and Ruby but were dissuaded from this action by a "top secret" letter sent to Chief Curry by the Department of Justice at the behest of the CIA. It was alleged that a high Bureau official at the Department's request interceded with Chief Curry, asking that Oswald and Ruby not be arrested but that the Dallas Police desired this request in writing which resulted in t[illegible] Departmental letter "signed by a high official of the Justice Department." Our files contain nothing to support this wild allegation.

Mr. Lee Rankin, Counsel
Special Commission for Investigation of the Kennedy Assassination
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Briefly and directly, I want to suggest a possible factor in the terrible events of last November which, to the best of my knowledge, has not been previously discussed, at least not in the open literature. I want to apologize at the outset for what may strike you or any member of your staff who might read this as "crackpot." Frankly, I cannot weigh the extent to which my thinking here reflects my professional background (I am a psychologist) or my interests and possible biases as a private citizen. I can only note in advance that my writing is sincere and not capricious nor whimsical, whatever its other merit might be.

The notion of interest occurred to me when I first heard of the alleged attempt of Oswald to assassinate General Walker early last year. My question then and now is: To what extent has the complicity of General Walker in the Kennedy murder been ruled out? I recognize that, at first blush, my question must appear as an extraordinary non sequitur. Please let me suggest the following set of possibilities:

1. The so-called "attempt" on Walker's life was a sham job designed by Walker himself. Does it seem reasonable that Oswald, the sharp-shooting and persistent gunman of the President, could have been so easily deterred by a momentary movement of Walker's head? Or, in view of the probable mental condition of Walker, especially his paranoid "need" to be a persecuted, heroic figure, is it equally, if not more, likely that Walker was not sitting at his desk that evening, that Oswald fired at a blank wall, and that the shot was the signal to Walker to feign his near-martyrdom? What, after all, is the evidence that Oswald made a genuine attempt on Walker? Is there anything more convincing than the easily misunderstood or distortable testimony of Oswald's pitiable widow? Have eyewitnesses to the Walker incident testified before the

Warren Commission?

2. Walker had a clear-cut motive, particularly in view of his mental state, to want Kennedy dead. Can anyone doubt that Walker sought revenge for what must surely have appeared to him to be a series of abject indignities at Kennedy's hand, i.e., the forced resignation from army service, followed by his hospitalization after his vile and mad exhibition in Mississippi?

3. Nothing could have served Walker's various needs better than to have Kennedy killed by a "communist," no matter how petty or perverse, especially the same man who "tried" to kill him! Obviously, this could only be a triumph of the first magnitude for Walker.

There are a number of ways that this "plot" could have been brought to fruition. Oswald, fancying himself a double or triple agent, could have volunteered his services to Walker. Or, Walker could have sought out Oswald, perhaps on a blackmail basis, perhaps offering other favors. Then, when the Kennedy trip to Dallas was known, Walker would have encouraged and supported a mind at least as sick as his own to do the assassination. What a curious coincidence, that Walker should be out of town on November 22nd. I cannot envision beyond this but that, in itself, should not obviate the general idea.

Once again, I fully recognize that the foregoing may be nothing more than pure fantasy. Yet, because the notion has occurred to me so frequently in the past few months, and because I read recently that the Commission is pushing for a July 1 report date, I wanted to communicate it to you as responsibly as I know how. I would most particularly appreciate assurance from you or your staff that this idea is thoroughly unfounded, for example, on the basis of unambiguous contrary evidence that has not yet been divulged or well-publicized. Other than that, I think the possibilities raised above could be checked out empirically, if that is a facet of the Commission's activities not yet undertaken or completed.

Very truly yours,

On 5/8/64 the President's Commission furnished the Bureau with the transcript of testimony covering former SA John W. Fain, SA Robert L. Quigley and SA James P. Hosty, Jr. By and large, the testimony was accurate and to the point and effectively presented the nature of the Bureau's investigation and findings of Lee Harvey Oswald prior to the assassination of the President. There is attached a reproduction of the testimony on which minor corrections have been noted in red pencil. There follows a listing of these corrections and other points which are noted concerning the testimony given.

Mr. Hosty. Right.

The Chairman. Senator.

Sen. Cooper. Have you received any evidence that any person other than Lee Oswald was involved in the assassination of President Kennedy?

Mr. Hosty. No, sir, I have no knowledge of anyone else.

Sen. Cooper. Did you know anything about the attempt on General Walker's life?

Mr. Hosty. I have read in the newspapers about the attempt on General Walker's life, yes.

Sen. Cooper. Your office was not connected with any investigation of that?

Mr. Hosty. No, this was not a matter under the jurisdiction of the FBI. It was under the jurisdiction of the Dallas police department.

The Chairman. Mr. Hosty, you told us what your instructions were concerning dangerous persons as of the 22nd of November. Have they been changed?

Mr. Hosty. I think Mr. Belmont will bring that up tomorrow if it be all right. Yes, they have been.

The Chairman. You will be sure to ask him that to get

Are there any other questions, gentlemen?

Mr. McCloy. Mr. Hosty, are you still engaged in any aspects of the assassination?

Mr. Hosty. Oh, yes. I am still involved in the investigatic of it, what investigation we still have.

Mr. McCloy. And any odds and ends that come up?

Mr. Hosty. Right.

Mr. McCloy. You are still in the process of investigating?

Mr. Hosty. Yes, sir.

The Chairman. I would like to ask Professor Redlich, did you find anything in the deposition of Lieutenant, what was his name?

Mr. Redlich. Revill.

The Chairman. Revill, on this subject?

Mr. Redlich. No, sir.

Lt. Revill was deposed on Tuesday, March 31st, by Mr. Hubert of the Commission's staff.

The Chairman. What date?

Mr. Redlich. March 31, 1964. The deposition consisted almost entirely of questions relating to Mr. Revill's responsibilities in connection with the investigation of the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, and during the course of that interrogation there is nothing at all on the matter which was the subject of Commission Exhibit No. ~~190.~~ 709

Mr. Belmont. I have covered that in some considerable detail, Mr. McCloy, and I will make a positive statement that Oswald was not, never was, an agent or an informant of the FBI.

Mr. McCloy. In the course of your investigation do you have any reason to make you believe that he was an agent of any other country?

Mr. Belmont. No, sir. We have no reason to believe that he was an agent of any other country.

Mr. McCloy. Or any other agency of the United States?

Mr. Belmont. Or any other agency of the United States.

Mr. McCloy. You said this morning, I believe, or at least I guess Mr. Hosty said, that the assassination of the President and any leads in connection with it are still of constant concern of the FBI.

Do you feel there are any areas as of the present time that you feel at the present time require or justify further investigation other than routine check-ups that have not already been undertaken?

Mr. Belmont. No, sir. Frankly, I don't. I will say that from the requests we have received from the Commission, you have explored this most thoroughly. We do not have any unexplored areas in this investigation that [redacted] should be explored. There 27 are some pend... requests that you have ..., and we are running them out as rapidly as we can.

Mr. McCloy. Maybe this isn't a fair question to ask you, but, after all, you have had a long record of criminal investigation, and you have had a long exposure to investigation in this case.

As a result of your investigation do you feel that there is any credible evidence thus far which would support a conclusion or an opinion that the death of the President was the result of a conspiracy or anything other than the act of a single individual?

Mr. Belmont. No, sir. We have no evidence, and I could support no conclusion that this was other than an act of Oswald.

Mr. McCloy. Now, the investigation does lead you to the conclusion that he was the President's assassin?

Mr. Belmont. Yes, sir.

Mr. McCloy. Did you have anything to do in connection with -- did you ever at any time have any connection whatever, you or the agency, have anything to do with the Walker, General Walker, case? Texas

Mr. Belmont. No, sir. That was a matter handled by the Dallas police. I am drawing on my recollection of it now, but, as I recall it, after the incident, we offered to examine the bullets that were recovered --

Mr. McCoy. Bullets.

Mr. Belmont. -- and the police apparently wanted to retain them

[redacted], so that we did not conduct the examination of the bullets until subsequent to the assassination itself.

Mr. McCloy. Until recently.

Mr. Belmont. No, we had no connection with it, with that investigation.

Mr. McCloy. In your investigation of the President's assassination, did you have occasion to, after the event, make an investigation of Ruby's background or Ruby's relationship to Oswald?

Mr. Belmont. Yes, sir; we went into that very thoroughly.

Mr. McCloy. Have we got all your reports on that?

Mr. Belmont. Yes, sir.

Mr. McCloy. Have you come to any conclusions or opinions in regard to Ruby and his connection with Oswald, if any?

Mr. Belmont. The reports, of course, speak for themselves. But in summation, we did not come up with anything of a solid nature, that is anything that would stand up to indicate that there was any association between Ruby and Oswald. We had numerous allegations which we ran out extensively and carefully, but there is nothing, no information, that would stand up to show there was an association between them.

Mr. McCloy. Maybe this is in the record, but do you, by reason of your very close association with this investigation, I venture to ask this question, do you, from your knowledge of the investigation find, was there any evidence in regard to

Mr. Belmont. Very good, sir.

The Chairman. There is no date on this paper, and I am told it appeared in three different days in three different formats with different headlines, but the same item. It is said to be by John Kenshaw, Inquirer Washington Bureau Chief. D.C

"Washington -- The hottest story making the rounds here is that the U.S. Justice Department prevented the arrest of Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby BEFORE the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Oswald and the man who killed him, Ruby, were suspected of being partners in crime seven months before the President's death.

"The incredible details of the story are so explosive that officials won't even answer 'no comment' when queried about it. But the story being discussed by top-level Government officials reveals:

"1. That the Justice Department deliberately kept Oswald and Ruby out of jail before the assassination.

"2. That Dallas cops suspected Oswald of being the gunman and Ruby the paymaster in a plot to murder former Major General Edwin A. Walker -- seven months before the President was assassinated.

"3. That the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency was using Ruby to recruit commandoes for raids against Castro's Cuba. To prevent this explosive information from being disclosed, the CIA asked the Justice Dept. to step in and stop the Dallas police from arresting Jack Ruby, as well as Oswald.

"A top-secret document -- a letter signed by a high official of the Justice Dept. -- was sent in April 1963 from the Dallas Police Dept. to Dallas Chief of Police Jesse E. Curry requesting the Dallas police NOT to arrest Oswald and Ruby in connection with the attempted slaying of General Walker.

"After a sniper shot at, but missed, General Walker in Dallas, April 10, 1963, Dallas police suspected that Oswald was the sniper and Ruby the pay-off man.

"The cops were set to arrest the pair. But they never got the chance because of the heavy pressure brought to bear by the Justice Dept. And so Oswald and Ruby were allowed to remain free. And seven months later, on last November 22 in Dallas, Oswald was able to kill the President of the United States.

"The top-secret document -- a copy of it is reportedly in the hands of the Presidential Commission investigating the assassination -- bares a web of intrigue that involves the Federal Bureau of Investigation, along with the Justice Dept. And the Central

(7) Intelligence Agency.

INFORMANTS

The Omaha Office advised on November 23, 1963, that former [redacted] had telephonically contacted SA JOHN R. ANDERSON from Chicago and advised as follows:

He had in the recent past been associated with an INA or ENA (LNU), who he described as a very active and fanatic member of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This girl traveled to California and Texas in connection with FPCC activities. The girl had worked as a barmaid at the Seville Bar, 71st Street and Columbus Avenue, New York City, and had regularly met with other FPCC members at the Crystal Bar, 71st Street and Columbus Avenue, New York City. He furnished a description of this individual and advised that he did not know of her whereabouts or activities for the past two weeks, or if she had any connection with the assassination of the President.

Investigation was conducted to identify INA or ENA and informants contacted in the New York area familiar with FPCC activities were unable to furnish any information.

The possibility existed that she was identical with ADA MARIE [illegible] born October 22, 1936, New York, [redacted] believed in Havana, Cuba. No active investigation was contucted at the Seville and Crystal Bars, New York City, inasmuch as there appeared no need to determine the whereabouts of all FPCC speakers at that time.

The following informants in the New York area were contacted in reference to this matter on 11/23/63:

[redacted] by SA JOHN E. HEGARTY

[redacted] by MAURICE H. LAUZIERE

[redacted] by SA C. DALE SCHWANTZ

Also contacted was SA SABASTIAN S. MIGNOSA, who was familiar with the West Side for Cuba Committee

[redacted] who resides at [redacted] New York, furnished the following information which he requested be kept confidential:

He advised that one JAMES O. MURRAY is a person who comes to his mind and might be involved in the assassination of the President. He stated that MURRAY is a member of the NSRP and that his only known address is 4800 Georgia Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C., where he resides with his mother. Mr. HOFF stated he is of the impression that MURRAY is a Ku Klux Klan member in the State of Alabama and that he believes MURRAY is presently somewhere in the south. HOFF furnished the following description of MURRAY:

Race	White
Sex	Male
Height	5'7"
Weight	145 lbs.
Build	Slim
Hair	Brown

In connection with this report, it should be borne in mind that the Dallas Office has a separate case in connection with the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD captioned, "JACK L. RUBY, aka; LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka (Deceased) - VICTIM, CIVIL RIGHTS," Dallas file 44-1639, Bufile 44-24016. It is also pointed out that the Dallas Office has a separate case captioned, "ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY, 11/22/63, DALLAS, TEXAS, MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING," Dallas file 89-43, Bufile 62-109060.

Communications are still being received under this Assassination caption which, upon review, are found to contain information pertaining to OSWALD or his connection with the assassination and such communications are being filed and reported in instant case captioned, "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka." Also, numerous communications are being received carrying the OSWALD caption, which contain no information concerning OSWALD or his connection with the assassination, and such communications are being filed and reported in the case bearing the Assassination caption. For the most part, miscellaneous allegations bearing on the Assassination are being reported in Dallas file 89-43 and all others in the LEE HARVEY OSWALD case. All information pertaining to items of evidence having a direct bearing on the Assassination or concerning LEE HARVEY OSWALD are being reported under the LEE HARVEY OSWALD caption.

In some instances, inserts and FD-302's contained in instant report may reflect Dallas file number as 89-43, which was occasioned by other offices having submitted such inserts or FD-302's believing same would be reported under the Assassination caption.

JAMES M. ENGLISH, Captain, Property Bureau, Dallas Police Department, advised he recalled a transfer of the material from the Dallas Police Department to the FBI Office on November 26, 1963, but he did not physically observe any of the evidence or material contained in the boxes. He advised he was told the evidence was obtained from the residence of LEE HARVEY OSWALD, 1026 N. Beckley, Dallas, Texas, and from the residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE at Irving, Texas.

Captain ENGLISH related that he remained at the FBI Office during the time the inventory was taken of the evidence but he does not recall observing the photograph of the house of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER which has been marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369.

Mr. HERMAN W. HILL, Clerk, Property Room Section, Dallas Police Department, advised he accompanied the evidence from the Dallas Police Department to the FBI Office on November 26, 1963, but he did not physically touch any of the material contained in the several boxes nor did he actually assist in the inventory of the material.

After viewing the photograph of the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER which has been marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, he advised he had never observed this photograph previously. HILL related that inasmuch as the photograph is contained in the inventory taken on November 26, 1963, it must have been present in the material that the Police Department released to the FBI on November 26, 1963.

Mr. RICHARD S. STOVALL, Detective, Homicide and Robbery Bureau, Dallas Police Department, advised he was one of the four officers who searched the residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE in Irving, Texas, for material that belonged to LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He stated he was assisted in this search by Detectives GUY F. ROSE, JOHN P. ADAMCIK, and HENRY M. MOORE.

After viewing the photograph depicting the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER which has been marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, he advised he recalled observing this photograph on November 23, 1963. He stated this photograph had been found in a cardboard box along with several other photographs which was allegedly the property of LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

He stated at the time he observed this particular photograph he surmised that OSWALD had evidently taken the license plate number area out of the photograph to keep anyone from identifying the owner of that automobile. STOVALL stated he does not recognize the residence in the background of the photograph and he has not conducted any investigation to identify the owner of the automobile. He advised he is positive the photograph was mutilated as shown in Commission exhibit No. 5 at the time they recovered it at the PAINE residence. STOVALL stated he did not participate in the search of LEE HARVEY OSWALD's residence located at 1026 N. Beckley, Dallas, Texas.

Mr. GUY F. ROSE, Detective, Homicide and Robbery Bureau, Dallas Police Department, advised he had been present and assisted in the search of the residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE at 2515 W. 5th Street in Irving, Texas, for property and evidence belonging to LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He stated Detectives JOHN P. ADAMCIK, HENRY M. MOORE, and RICHARD S. STOVALL were the other officers present during the search. He advised he recalls finding a box containing photographs at the residence and taking it to the police station.

After viewing the photograph depicting the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER which has been marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, ROSE stated he recalls observing this photograph at the time they had seized OSWALD's material from the PAINE residence. He advised at the time he had noted that someone had torn out a section on the automobile which area contains the license plate for the 1957 Chevrolet. He advised he did not recognize the residence in the background and that he has done no investigation to determine the owner of the vehicle. He stated he definitely recalls that this photograph, marked as Commission exhibit No. 5, was one of the photographs recovered from the PAINE residence and that it had been mutilated at the time they had recovered the box containing the photographs.

HENRY M. MOORE, Detective, Homicide and Robbery Bureau, Dallas Police Department, advised he was one of the detectives who searched the residence of Mrs. RUTH PAINE at 2515 W. 5th Street in Irving, Texas, to recover the material at that residence belonging to LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He stated he assisted three other officers, Detectives GUY F. ROSE, RICHARD S. STOVALL, and JOHN P. ADAMCIK, in the search but that he does not recall any particular photograph recovered from that address.

After viewing the photograph depicting the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER which has been marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, he advised he had never seen this particular picture prior to May 18, 1964.

Physical observation of the rear of the residence of Major GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, was made by SAs ROBERT M. BARRETT and IVAN D. LEE on May 18, 1964. It was determined from this observation that the photograph depicting the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, marked as Commission exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, is identical with the rear of WALKER's residence.

Physical observation on May 18, 1964, of the alley behind the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER and comparing the photograph taken by SA IVAN D. LEE on February 1, 1964, determined that the photograph listed as photograph No. 2, Item No. 7, was taken in the alley at the northeast edge of the property line of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence looking to the southwest.

On May 18, 1964, physical observation of the Missouri, Kansas, and Texas railroad tracks which are located in the vicinity of the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER was made by SAs ROBERT M. BARRETT and IVAN D. LEE. It was determined that photograph No. 5, Item No. 6, was taken with the individual taking the photograph facing south by southeast approximately 67 yards from where the curb line of Newman Street if extended would cross the railroad tracks. It is noted that Newman Street runs in a southeasterly to a northwesterly direction and it would intersect the railroad at a point almost due east of the Dallas Theater Center.

In the photograph marked as photograph No. 5, Item No. 6, the bridge railing observed in the middle of the picture is identical with the one which crosses over Lemmon Avenue East. The building in the left center of the photograph is identical with the Stoneleigh Hotel. What appears to be a building or structure to the left of the Stoneleigh Hotel and just to the right of the metal utility pole (which is on the left-hand side of photograph) is a large air conditioning water cooler. To the left of the metal utility pole is a dark object which appears to be a building. This is identical to the apartment house roof line of the Turtle Creek Apartments. In the middle of the photograph and just to the right of the railroad bridge railing an electric utility pole with a transformer can be observed extending above the trees. Also observed on the right-hand edge of the photograph are telephone poles with a heavy telephone cable running between the poles. In the physical observation of the area all of the above items were noted by SAs BARRETT and LEE.

By automobile mileage from the parking lot at the Dallas Theater Center which is located approximately 200 feet from where the photograph was taken it is 0.7 mile from Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence.

It has been determined from examination that the picture identified as Photograph No. 2, Item No. 7, depicts the alley behind the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. On the right side of this photograph in the background there is depicted a multi-story building that is under construction, which building has been identified as 21 Turtle Creek Square, 3883 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas.

In one of the photographs depicting the rear of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence and marked on the back of the photograph as DL 36, a 1954 Ford bearing 1963 Texas license PL 9139 is observed on the right-hand side of the photograph.

On May 21, 1964, Mrs. JOE MOBLEY, Clerk, Dallas County Tax Office, advised 1963 Texas license plate PL 9139 was issued to a 1954 Ford two-door, owned by JOSEPH R. DRAKE, 11720 Alston Lane, Dallas, Texas.

The Dallas, Texas City Directory for 1963 does not contain the name of JOSEPH R. DRAKE under the alphabetical listing and numerical listing by street.

Dallas indices are negative concerning the name JOSEPH R. DRAKE.

In connection with the photograph listed as President's Commission Exhibit No. 5 and as FBI inventory No. 369, it is noted a 1957 Chevrolet is sitting in the driveway and that the area containing the license number has been mutilated. In an effort to identify the owner of this vehicle, Detective H. M. HART, Dallas Police Department, was contacted on May 21, 1964, and advised as follows:

HART stated in investigation he has conducted concerning visitors to the WALKER residence, he has ascertained that CHARLES F. KLIHR of 2046 Rosebud Street, Irving, Texas, has frequented the WALKER residence. HART stated KLIHR is the owner of a 1957 Chevrolet two-door, bearing 1964 Texas license plate NM 2893.

Dallas indices are negative concerning the name CHARLES KLIHR.

In response to a telephone call to the Dallas FBI Office requesting that a Special Agent contact him, Mr. JIM COLEMAN was contacted at his office, 2646 Andjon Street, Dallas, Texas, on April 10, 1964, by Special Agent E. J. ROBERTSON. Mr. COLEMAN operates the Coleman Advertising Service at this address, which is engaged in religious advertising.

Mrs. COLEMAN received a letter postmarked Dallas, Texas, April 7, 1964, containing a letter from VERA EDENS, 1509 Gaston Avenue, Plano, Texas, with four mimeograph sheets enclosed. A review of this material reflects that it is anti-Jewish in nature and contains the following paragraph:

> "Lee Oswald did not kill John Kennedy. He only shot at General Walker to try to show he MEANT TO KILL HIM when he agreed with the C. I. A. & the Kennedys to do so. He ne ver meant to kill him. Marina Oswald told that Lee told her he shot at Gen. Walker...this to The World, to vindicate her husband's honor THE BEST SHE KNEW HOW. She wanted the C. I. A. to know Lee kept his word to kill Walker. . . Oh, what's the use in opening your mouth....THE WHOLE DAMN WORLD is gone crazy. Minds are as blank as the day it is born. "

Review of the files of the Dallas FBI Office reflect that VERA EDENS has been publishing a mimeographed form, anti-Jewish and anti-United Nations in nature, since September, 1950.

Chief of Police JESSE E. CURRY, Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, was contacted and shown an article appearing in the May 17, 1964, issue of the "National Enquirer." This article was captioned "Washington Insiders Rocked By Report of a Fantastic Letter Link Ruby & Oswald Shocked Officials Hear: U. S. Justice Dept. Letter Blocked Their Arrest Seven Months Before JFK Slaying. Washington Insiders Are Talking About a Fantastic Story Calling...Ruby & Oswald Pals." This article was written by JOHN HENSHAW, Enquirer Washington Bureau Chief. This article was datelined Washington. Chief CURRY read this article in its entirety and stated that (1) he and his Department had never heard of LEE HARVEY OSWALD prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY on November 22, 1963; (2) that the Dallas Police Department had conducted a thorough investigation concerning the attempted assassination of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER but that LEE HARVEY OSWALD had never been considered as a suspect. (3) Chief CURRY stated he had no information linking RUBY and LEE HARVEY OSWALD to the plot to assassinate General EDWIN A. WALKER. (4) Chief CURRY very emphatically and categorically stated he had never received or heard of a letter to his Department from the Department of Justice regarding a request not to arrest LEE HARVEY OSWALD or JACK RUBY. (5) He stated he had never been requested by any official of the Federal Bureau of Investigation not to arrest LEE HARVEY OSWALD or JACK RUBY.

Chief CURRY concluded by stating there was absolutely no truth whatsoever in the allegations made in the article and termed them sheer fantasy and a figment of somebody's imagination.

On April 10, 1964, Detective H. M. HART, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, made available a letter, dated January 7, 1964, directed to L. M. "TEX" EDMUNDS, 713 Sabine Street, Dallas 3, Texas, postmarked at Tracy, California, on January 7, 1964, from EWING E. CLEMONS, 225-C West Carlton, Tracy, California. This letter stated:

"Dear Tex;

Re) the Oswald Case;;; Its very probable that when Oswald secured rooms away from his wife, that it was because he had a 'girl' he was dateing...Also its very probale this, 'GIRL', was one of Ruby's GANG...Also its probable this, 'GIRL', may have also Roomed in this same house, and that Rubenstien made the DEALS with OSWALD through this GIRL... And its very probable this GIRL may NOT now be around, because she may have been disposed of ... Silenced Jew style (last three words written in longhand).

"If you know any State Operators working on this case, which can be DEPENDED ON, check this out with them, so they can work from this angle...It may require private investigation, that is some one to seek rooms at this house, live there and get acquainted, even with neighbors, who may have seen a GIRL come there with OSWALD or leave with OSWALD, and perhaps it can be learned WHO the GIRL is, and her connections with Rubenstien... It is unlikely Rubenstien made a direct deal with Oswald, but went through some one else, had some one else make the pay off, which could have been the 150 dollars reported FOUND in HIS Apt... Probaly thirty 5.00 bills, (30 Fakes)

"Its generally beleived now throughout the Nation, that this Rubenstien was the MAN behind this killing, but its for SURE this so-called INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE, is NOT going to even TRY to get the FACTS about it, but rather do all it can to COVER UP FACTS...The GIRL angle fits, the known

"evidence even points to it, Oswald with this Apt. AWAY from his WIFE and Baby, indicates Oswald had a REASON to want another place, so as to MEET some_one, probaly a GIRL...I am much inclined to beleive there IS a GIRL involved, and this will be the KEY to it all, but naturally they will SILENCE HER if there is any suspicion shown, but in this case, this GIRL has a FRIEND, she has FOLKS, she has a HISTORY and this is VIP...All question have answers but the X has to be FOUND, and in this case, its very probale even very likely the X is a GIRL, that is the GO BETWEEN, Rubenstien and OSWALD...

"Personally I do NOT have any confidence any more in any PUBLIC INVESTIGATOR connected with either Federal or State Cases. I know some of the OLDER FBI boys, were as straight as they come, and I also know how their hands have long been tied, that if they did uncover anything, it was useless to report it...You know this too, and perhaps know some of these OLDER BOYS, many of whom have been weeded out some time ago...But there ARE some of them, that is still around, and still able to DIG OUT FACTS...

"I myself beleive this TIPPITS, who was killed was placed or Stationed near the WARE HOUSE to GET Oswald the minute he ran out the door, whether he knew it or not, probale he did not even know!!! I also beleive Oswald did NOT go out of this Building where he usually went out, but via another door...But I do beleive TIPPITS knew OSWALD on SIGHT... Its for SURE this KKKE had CONNECTIONS with the DALLAS POLICE DEPT, else he could not have operated like he owned the Police Station, and its very likely there was either some_one or some few, who knew what the score was ... connected with the POLICE DEPT...of DALLAS, TEXAS... Even with a GRAND JURY investigation these DAYS, with HAND or JEW PICKED JURYMEN, there is not much hope in this...

"Even if the LADY who runs the rooming house TOLD these so-called INVESTIGATORS that Oswald had a GIRL they would never disclose it...But its for/SURE that OSWALD did NOT have this ROOM, simply to get away from his wife and be ALONE by himself...

"If the SHERIFF'S DEPT there, wanted to see some re-action, some SWEAT out on RUBENSTIEN'S MUG,,,if they arrested some of RUBY's GIRLS, and be SURE that RUBY knew about it, this KIKE would start squirming like any SNAKE does... If it COULD be the GIRL that OSWALD was tied up with, then the KIKE would, that is IF they are NOT in Control also of Sheriffs Dept., the KIKE RUBY would probably go into spasms and fits..."

Detective HART also made available a Photostatic copy of what is believed to be the reply of EDMUNDS to this letter which, in part, stated as follows:

"Refering to your suggestions re Oswald-Rubenstein investigations,, You may rest assured all points you mentioned have been covered, recovered and are still under investigation by competent, honest Dallas officers, Sheriffs Officers and a special contingent from the State Dept. of Public Safety..There is probably quite a bit that will come out when Rubenstein's bail hearing comes up Jan. 20 and far more in reserve for his trial. I know of NO TEXAS LAWMAN IN THE GROUPS MENTIONED WHO HAVE CONFIDENCE IN THE TRUTH BEING MADE PUBLIC BY THE SPECIAL WARREN COMMITTEE or any other Johnson may appoint.. However, this may not bottle up all information permanently since 'leaks' similiar to the 'note Oswald wrote on the attempt he made to kill Maj. Gen. Walker are sure

"to occur...AT THE PRESENT TIME INFORMATION IS NOT BEING RELEASED THAT MIGHT HAVE ANY BEARING ON RUBY'S TRIALS..MIGHT ALSO ADD NONE WILL BE RELEASED BY DALLAS POLICE, SHERIFF OR DEPT. OF SAFETY UNTIL IT IS USED IN COURT."

Another letter was produced by Detective HART dated January 16, 1964, to EDMUNDS, which Detective HART believed was from EWING E. CLEMONS, which stated as follows:

"Dear Tex;

"I have this date received a very interesting REPORT re. the DALLAS INCIDENT, as its now being called, and feel I should inform you of some of the high points in it...

"The Rooming House where Oswald roomed was at 1026 North Beckly Street...

"Oswald and Wife were taken in by a Mr. Mrs. Paine, an ENGINEER, and Mrs. Paine had a Station Wagon, which evidently was used to take Oswald to Old Mexico.. and other Places (last three words written in longhand)

"Bernard Weissman and another New York jew drove from New York City to Dallas to place an AD, FULL PAGE in DALLAS Papers...

"The Paines were evidently members of the 'American Civil Liberties Union,' and took Oswald to meetings with them.

"Mr. Truly, is the Manager of the Texas School Book Depository, and Mrs. Paine, called Mr. TRULY and got Oswald the job there... Evidently TRULY was IN on this...

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date June 15, 1964

ROBERT CLINTON ROSE, [redacted] Connecticut, advised that he is [redacted] years of age, graduated from Hillhouse High School, New Haven, [redacted] during 1963 and that he was a freshman at [redacted] University from September, 1963, until [redacted] 1964. He is presently enrolled as a student at Southern Connecticut State College, New Haven, Connecticut. ROBERT ROSE stated that as a student at Southern Methodist University he resided at Dallas, Texas, during the aforementioned dates and was at Dallas prior to and immediately following the assassination of President JOHN F. KENNEDY.

ROSE said that approximately three weeks prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY, Ambassador ADLAI STEVENSON visited Dallas, Texas, and during the course of this visit he was subjected to physical attack and abuse by local Dallas residents. He said that this incident received widespread publicity in the Dallas press and had come to his attention prior to the visit of President KENNEDY to Dallas, Texas, which visit led to the death of the President.

ROSE said that while at Dallas [redacted] had observed an automobile reportedly belonging to General EDWIN WALKER cruising through the streets of Dallas. This automobile, a 1962 white Ford Country Squire station wagon, bore signs on the sides saying in effect "Get the United States Out of the UN". During this period ROSE also observed an airplane flying over the city of Dallas and towing a streamer pointing out "Get the United States Out of the UN".

He stated that while in Dallas, Texas, he observed individuals believed by him to be affiliated with unknown "right wing" organizations haranguing crowds on the sidewalk. He recalled that one of these individuals told his listeners on the street that the ills of this country were directly due to the fact that the Catholics were attempting to take over the nation and that the Catholics should be prevented from accomplishing this take over.

BY [redacted]

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

ROSE said that the observations made by him of "[illegible]" reaction to national events, the openly expressed dislike of President JOHN F. KENNEDY and the abuse suffered by ADLAI STEVENSON upon his visit to Dallas, Texas, prompted him to comment to his mother in a letter dated November 19, 1963, that he feared for the safety of President JOHN F. KENNEDY when the latter visited Dallas, Texas. He said that this opinion on his part was brought about by the fact that he was born and raised in the state of Connecticut and had never observed at first hand incidents revealing extreme hate on the part of one group for another. These observations by him, particularly of the activity of General Edwin Walker, in advocating that the United States disassociate itself from the UN and the other incidents mentioned above, came as a complete shock to him and caused him to believe that the atmosphere at Dallas was probably unsafe for the President, particularly since ADLAI STEVENSON, Ambassador to the UN, had been openly attacked and insulted by Dallas residents.

ROSE said that the comment expressed by him in his letter to his mother was primarily predicated by the above-mentioned observations and had not been caused by any other specific statement or fact situation which had previously come to his attention.

A. Investigation Concerning Attempted Assassination of Major General Edwin A. Walker at Dallas, Texas, on April 10, 1963, and Related Data

FD-302 (Rev. 3-3-59) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVEST[illegible]

1 Date 6/1/64

B. G. BROWN, Police Officer assigned to the Crime Scene Search Section (CSSS), Dallas Police Department, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he was dispatched to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, to conduct a crime scene search in connection with a shooting at that residence. BROWN identified the residence as that of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army (Retired).

After his arrival at the residence, Patrolman B. G. NORVELL handed BROWN a bullet, which NORVELL stated he had found among some paper and literature in the room next to the room where General WALKER had been sitting at the time of the shooting. BROWN stated the bullet apparently had come through the wall between the two rooms, as there was a hole in this wall. BROWN stated he marked the bullet and took it back to the CSSS at the Dallas Police Department, where he kept it for safekeeping.

BROWN made available copies of the below-listed Dallas Police Department reports concerning investigation conducted by that agency in connection with the shooting at WALKER's residence:

1.) General Offense Report dated April 10, 1963, by Officers D. P. TUCKER and B. G. NORVELL.

2.) Supplementary Offense Report dated April 10, 1963, by Police Department Detectives I. F. VAN CLEAVE and D. E. McELROY.

3.) Supplementary Offense Report dated April 11, 1963, by Police Department Detectives C. R. DELLINGER and F. M. ROSE.

4.) Supplementary Offense Report dated April 7, 1964, by Police Department Detective C. R. DELLINGER.

These copies are being maintained in the files of the Dallas Office.

DON E. McELROY, Detective, Burglary and Theft Squad, Dallas Police Department, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he was dispatched to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard to investigate a shooting. This address is the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, U. S. Army Retired.

McELROY, a police officer for 13 years, advised it appeared the bullet had entered through a window in the back of the house and gone through a wall next to which General WALKER had been sitting at the time. In the room next to where General WALKER had been sitting, Mr. McELROY stated he found a spent bullet among some papers and literature. There was a hole in the wall through which the bullet had apparently entered. Mr. McELROY stated he picked up the bullet and later gave it to officer B. G. BROWN of the Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas Police Department.

D. P. TUCKER, Patrolman, Dallas Police Department, residence 2632 Lakeland Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that on the night of April 10, 1963, he and his partner, Patrolman B. G. NORVELL, were sent by the Dallas Police Department radio dispatcher to 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, concerning a shooting. Officer TUCKER stated this is the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER. At the residence while investigating the shooting which included interviews of General WALKER and other persons at the residence and conducting a search of the area, Officer NORVELL found a bullet in a battered condition and which apparently had been the bullet fired through the window and which barely missed General WALKER. Officer TUCKER stated Officer NORVELL found this bullet in the room adjoining the room where General WALKER was sitting at the time the shot was fired. There was a hole in the wall near where General WALKER had been sitting. In the adjacent room NORVELL found the bullet among some papers and literature and later gave this bullet to Detective D. E. McELROY. McELROY advised NORVELL and TUCKER that he, McELROY, would give the bullet to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory. Officer TUCKER stated he did not know whether or not NORVELL had marked the bullet for identification and when NORVELL gave it to McELROY this was the last that TUCKER ever saw of the bullet.

BILLY GENE NORVELL, Apartment 147, 1603 Darr Street, Irving, Texas, advised he was employed as a Patrolman by the Dallas, Texas, Police Department from December 1, 1962 to May 4, 1963.

On the night of April 10, 1963, at about 9:00 PM, while working with Patrolman D. P. TUCKER, NORVELL and TUCKER received radio instructions to "meet the complainant" at 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. NORVELL stated he and his partner proceeded immediately to this address, arriving about five minutes after receiving the radio instructions. Upon arrival, they were met at the front door by Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, who told them he wanted to "show" them something. General WALKER led the officers to a study in the back of the house, where he showed them a hole in the wall, and stated this had been caused by a shot which had entered through a window at the back of the house and went through the wall about three inches above WALKER's head. NORVELL stated he and his partner inspected the window where the bullet entered and then called the Burglary & Theft Squad of the Dallas Police Department, requesting that detectives be sent out to handle the investigation. NORVELL advised that he and TUCKER then went to the room adjoining the study and between which was the wall that the bullet had passed through. In this adjoining room, the officers found numerous bundles of literature and papers stacked against this common wall. Upon removing some, they found a mushroomed bullet lying on one of the stacks of literature near the hole in the wall. NORVELL stated he then picked up the bullet and scratched his initials "B. N." or his initial "N" on the base of it. NORVELL stated that later he gave this bullet to Detective McELROY, of the Burglary & Theft Squad, and McELROY advised that he would take the bullet to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory for examination. NORVELL stated he did not observe McELROY mark the bullet for identification while in NORVELL's presence. NORVELL advised this was the last time he had seen this bullet. He stated the bullet was mutilated and mushroomed from impact, except for the base and a fraction of an inch from the base.

Lieutenant J. C. DAY, Crime Scene Search Section, Dallas Police Department, furnished copies of seven photographs taken April 10, 1963, in or near the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas, by Officer B. G. BROWN, who is assigned to the Crime Scene Search Section. These photographs are described as follows:

1. Scene depicting the entry of a shot through WALKER's residence near the upper portion of the window frame. This photograph was taken from inside looking out.

2. Photograph depicting a scene showing the entry of a bullet through the screen and window of WALKER's residence. This photograph was taken from the outside of the residence looking in.

3. Photograph depicting a scene taken inside WALKER's residence and of the wall which was to WALKER's left at the time of the shot. This photograph depicts the hole in the wall made by the bullet which, according to General WALKER, was about 3" above his head.

4. Photograph taken in the adjoining room to the room where WALKER was sitting at the time of the shot. It depicts a scene showing a bullet hole in the wall near some packages and just below a painting. This was where the bullet entered the adjoining room and the area where the bullet was found by the police.

5. Photograph taken outside of the residence of General WALKER near the alley and depicts

ROBERT A. SURREY, residence, 3506 Lindenwood, Highland Park, business, 2700 Haskell Avenue, Dallas, furnished the following information:

On Monday night, April 8, 1963, at about 9:00 to 9:30 PM, SURREY arrived in the area of the residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. SURREY was proceeding up Avondale Street in order to turn into the alley and enter the WALKER residence by the alley entrance. Prior to turning into the alley, he observed a 1963 dark brown or maroon, four-door Ford, parked on Avondale with two men sitting in it. Rather than turn into the alley, SURREY proceeded around the block and entered the Mormon Church Parking Lot, located on the property adjoining the WALKER residence to the north, and parked his car in this lot. He then went to a position in one of the neighboring yards where he could observe the two men. He observed them get out of the car, walk up the alley and onto the WALKER property and look into windows of the WALKER house. At about this point, SURREY went to their automobile, where he checked the rear of the car, and observed there was no license plate on the rear. He then opened the door and looked into the car and opened the glove compartment. He observed nothing in the car or glove compartment which would help identify the occupants. He then went back to his car and drove to a position where he could observe the 1963 Ford leave.

About a half hour after first observing this car, the two men returned to it and drove off down Turtle Creek Boulevard, then south to Pacific Street. At this point, SURREY stated he was unable to continue following this automobile.

SURREY stated he had never seen either of these two men before or since this incident, and was of the opinion that neither of these two men was identical with LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He described one of the men as a white male, in his 30's, about 5'10" to 6' tall, and weighing about 190 pounds. SURREY described the second individual as a white male, in his 30's, about 5'10" to 6' tall, and weighing about 160 pounds. He stated both men were well-dressed in suits, dress shirts and ties.

Mr. SURREY stated he is not certain he could identify either man if he ever observed them again.

On the night of April 10, 1963, SURREY stated he was not at WALKER's residence, but received a call from General WALKER shortly after the shooting incident, or shortly after 9:00 PM. He stated he proceeded from his residence directly to WALKER's residence, arriving there at about the same time as did the first police car. SURREY stated he observed one of these uniformed police officers find a mushroomed bullet in the room adjoining that where General WALKER had been sitting when the shot was fired through the window.

SURREY was shown a photograph, which is Commission Exhibit No. 5, Federal Bureau of Investigation Inventory No. 369, and which depicts the rear of General WALKER's residence and a 1957 Chevrolet.

It appears that this photograph was mutilated, in that the area on the back of the Chevrolet where the license plate would normally be found has been torn out.

SURREY stated this car appears identical to one owned and operated by CHARLES KLIHR, a frequent visitor to General WALKER's residence. SURREY stated KLIHR resides in Irving, Texas, and is employed by Texas Instruments.

WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4338 Newton Street, Dallas, Texas, age 15, furnished the following information:

On April 10, 1963, sometime between 9:00 and 10:00 PM, COLEMAN, along with his godfather, RONALD ANDRIES, were building some shelves in COLEMAN's bedroom. At the time, COLEMAN was standing in the doorway which leads from his bedroom to the outside of the house on the north side of his residence. COLEMAN heard a blast and his first impression was that it was a car backfire. COLEMAN ran immediately to the fence which separates the property where he resides and that of the Mormon Church Parking Lot. COLEMAN stepped up on a bicycle, which was leaning against the fence, and which put him in a position to look into the Mormon Church Parking Lot and the back of the church property.

Upon looking into this parking lot, COLEMAN observed two men, hereinafter referred to as No. 1 and No. 2. No. 1 was at the back of a white or beige 1950 Ford and was hurrying towards the driver's side of this car. COLEMAN observed no other person in the car. The car was parked headed towards Turtle Creek Boulevard (or away from COLEMAN) with the motor running and the headlights on. No. 2 was about ten yards behind No. 1 at a point about twenty-five feet inside the church property, or parking lot, from the alley entrance to this parking lot. No. 1 was almost directly in front of COLEMAN and No. 2 was to COLEMAN's right. No. 2 was walking in a direction away from the alley entrance and towards a 1958 black over white, two-door Chevrolet sedan. This Chevrolet was parked in the second parking slot to the east of the alley entrance headed in towards a fence which separates the church property and that of General EDWIN A. WALKER. A Renault automobile belonging to the church caretaker was parked in the first parking slot.

COLEMAN stated his immediate attention was directed toward No. 1. No. 1 got into the 1950 Ford and, as he did so, glanced back in the direction of COLEMAN. This man got into the WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4338 Newton Street, Dallas, Texas, was reinterviewed in connection with the information he had previously furnished Bureau Agents on June 3, 1964, in connection with incidents he observed on the night of April 10, 1963, in the parking lot of the Mormon Church. This church parking lot is located adjacent to the property of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, U. S. Army (retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas.

COLEMAN stated he was able to observe what he had seen because the lights in the church and the floodlight, which is attached to the church building and lights up the church parking lot, were on at the time.

Concerning the foreign-made car he had observed parked next to the 1958 black and white Chevrolet, COLEMAN stated he believes this was a Renault but it could have been some other make of automobile as he does not know what a Renault looks like.

He stated at the time there were about six other cars observed by him in the lot other than the 1950 white or light beige Ford and the 1958 Chevrolet. He added, however, there could have been some other cars parked to his left as he looked into the lot as he did not look in that direction.

He stated the reason he ran to the fence and looked into the church parking lot was that he became curious after hearing what he thought was a backfire of an automobile as it is unusual to hear such noises in this neighborhood. He returned to the house because he did not think that a shot had been fired and there was no other reason for him to continue observing the man near the 1958 black and white Chevrolet.

ED HEATH, who is a detective with the Dallas Police Department, is a part-time custodian at the church and may have been on duty the night of April 10, 1963.

HANSEN stated that the dress on Wednesday evening for the young people is usually classified as being casual in that they wear sport shirts and slacks, and that the adults usually wear shirts, ties and suits to the services.

HANSEN estimated that the parking lot is usually one-half to two-thirds full for the Wednesday night services.

"states this person had the seat pushed up and was leaning over as if he was putting something into the floorboards. This person got inside the Chev. and sped away from the lot. (There was a meetting of some sort in the church, and the lot was full of car, but at the time the time the witness looked cut there these were the only people on the lot)." On June 3, 1964, WALTER KIRK COLEMAN, 4338 Newton Street, Dallas, furnished Bureau Agents the following noted discrepancies in connection with the above report: a) COLEMAN was standing at an outside door at the time of the shot, not "sitting in the back room." b) The shot sounded to COLEMAN like a car backfire, not a "shot from a shotgun." c) COLEMAN observed one unknown white male hurrying towards a 1950 white or beige Ford (not light green) and, after getting in behind the steering wheel, this person drove away at a normal rate of speed. He did not "speed down the driveway." d) COLEMAN observed a second unknown white male at a point about twenty-five feet inside the church property, from the alley entrance or exit. When COLEMAN next observed this individual, this person was at the driver's side of a 1958 black over white Chevrolet, two-door sedan, not a "58 Chev. blk. with white stripe down side." e) COLEMAN stated this second individual was observed by him leaning from the car door into the back seat area of the Chevrolet and COLEMAN could not tell what this man was doing, nor did COLEMAN watch

H. M. HART, Detective, Criminal Intelligence Section, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, advised that during the past month he has compiled a list of automobiles observed in and around the residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas. These cars had been observed by HART on various occasions during this period of time.

Upon checking this list, HART stated he had no information that a 1950 white or beige Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet, two-door sedan, had ever been observed by him. HART explained that some of the cars he had observed had been parked in the church parking lot, which adjoins General WALKER's property to the north.

HART reviewed information compiled by the Intelligence Section since December, 1962, concerning activities in and around the residence of General WALKER and of General WALKER and his associates. This review failed to show any knowledge by the Intelligence Section of a 1950 white or beige Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet.

Mr. E. OWEN HANSEN, 3328 Leahy Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is presently a Bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Ward Number One, located at 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas. He advised that as of April 1963, he had the title of a Counselor for the above church.

HANSEN related that in regard to church services scheduled, that he does not hold services on the first Sunday evening of each month and, after reviewing a calendar, advised that they did not have services at the church on April 7, 1963. He advised that they have Wednesday evening services at the church on every Wednesday except during the month of August. HANSEN stated that the Wednesday evening services were scheduled from 7:30 P.M. until 9:00 P.M., and that usually everyone had departed the church by 9:15 P.M. to 9:20 P.M.

HANSEN stated that he does not recall whether he was in attendance at the church on the evening of April 10, 1963, and has not heard anyone make comments concerning his attendance the night that someone had taken a shot at Major General EDWIN A. WALKER. Mr. HANSEN also advised that he does not recall seeing a 1950 beige or white Ford or a 1958 black over white Chevrolet parked in the parking lot at the church, nor does he know of any of their members who own automobiles described as above.

HANSEN related that during the day there are usually cars parked along the fence next to the WALKER residence which do not belong to church members. He advised that they are probably friends of WALKER or other people residing in the area of the church.

Mr. HANSEN related that insofar as attendance at the church on the night of April 10, 1963, Mr. CARL SPRECKLESON of 1317 Belaire Street, Richardson, Texas, (telephone number AD 5-1642) would have this information as he is presently in charge of the records of the church. He also advised that Mr.

SCOTT HANSEN, aged 15, 3228 Leahy Drive, Dallas, Texas, advised that he is the son of E. OWEN HANSEN, and that he is a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, located at 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas.

He advised that he was present at the church on the night of April 10, 1963, attending a Scout meeting and, to the best of his recollection, he arrived at approximately 7:15 P.M. and left at approximately 9:30 P.M. He advised that he was inside the church from the time of his arrival until the time of his departure.

HANSEN stated that he recalls observing a 1958 black over white Chevrolet parked along the fence next to Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's property on the night of April 10, 1963. He stated that he recalls seeing the same automobile parked along this fence on a previous Wednesday, but has not seen the car in the church lot since April 10, 1963. He stated that he was talking to another Boy Scout by the name of DAVID CLEMENS concerning the appearance of the automobile and remarked that he thought that it was a "pretty good looking car".

HANSEN also advised that he does not recall observing a 1949 or 1950 white or beige-colored Ford in the parking lot.

HANSEN stated that a church member by the name of JOE ST. JOHN, who is presently a student at Southern Methodist University, drives a Karmann Ghia and usually parks in the parking lot near the fence dividing the church property from that of Major General WALKER. He stated that ST. JOHN might possibly recall seeing the 1958 Chevrolet parked in that area.

HANSEN stated that Scoutmaster HAROLD RAY CLUTS would have a knowledge of the Boy Scouts present for the meeting on the night of April 10, 1963.

Photographs were taken of the parking lot area of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, 4027 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas. It is noted that this parking lot is located adjacent to and just north of the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER (Retired), at 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas.

Photograph designated as DL-53 (1) is a view of the parking lot looking south toward the entrance to the alley. The alley, just beyond the entrance to the parking lot, runs directly behind the residence of Major General WALKER.

DL-53 (2) and (3) are views of the church parking lot looking east toward the parking lot entrance at Turtle Creek Boulevard. The wooden fence on the right-hand side of the photograph divides the property of the church from that of the residence of General WALKER.

These photographs were taken from the same location that WALTER KIRK COLEMAN of 4338 Newton Street, stated that he was standing immediately after he heard the loud noise the night of April 10, 1963.

In connection with the copies of Police Department reports furnished by Officer B. G. BROWN, Dallas, Texas, Police Department, on May 28, 1964, concerning investigation by that agency of the shooting at the residence of Major General WALKER on April 10, 1963, the following discrepancies as determined through this investigation should be noted:

1. The report of Officers D. P. TUCKER and B. G. NORVELL states, "Officer B. G. NORVELL found the bullet..." and it "was given to Det. G. B. BROWN, Crime Laboratory Division." On May 28, 1964, Detective DON E. McELROY advised he found the bullet and turned it over to Officer BROWN. On the same date, Officer BROWN stated he obtained the bullet from Officer NORVELL. Officer TUCKER, on June 2, 1964, and former Officer NORVELL, on June 3, 1964, both stated NORVELL found the bullet and he, in turn, gave it to McELROY, who said he would take it or give it to the Dallas Police Department Crime Laboratory.

2. The report of Officers TUCKER and NORVELL states, "A witness by ear, Kirk Coleman, w/m/14, 4338 Newton, LA 8 7059, states he was sitting in the back room of his home, and heard what sounded like a shot from a shotgun, and he ran outside and pulled himself up over the stockade fence in the rear yard, and as he looked onto the church parking lot he saw some unk/w/m/ speed down the driveway towards Turtle Crkke, in either 49 or 50 Ford, light green. He then noticed what appeared to be a w/m with the door open on a 58 Chev., blk with white stripe down side, what this man was doing because, at this point, COLEMAN returned to his residence. f) The TUCKER - NORVELL report states COLEMAN advised the lot was "full of car." COLEMAN advised Bureau Agents there were about six other cars in addition to the Ford and Chevrolet in the lot at the time. g) The TUCKER - NORVELL report reflects interview of "Robert Suwrey" (correct spelling SURREY) concerning two men in a dark 1963 Ford seen by SURREY on Monday, April 8, 1963, in the alley behind WALKER's residence. The report of Detectives McELROY and VAN CLEAVE, dated April 10, 1963, states SURREY saw the 1963 Ford and two men, no other description, on April 6, 1963 (Saturday), parked at the rear of WALKER's residence. The report of Officers DELLINGER and ROSE, dated April 11, 1963, contains an interview of SURREY concerning the incident about seeing the 1963 Ford and two men, but does not state when SURREY saw this car or the men and the report gives the impression it occurred on April 10, 1963. h) On June 3, 1964, ROBERT A. SURREY advised Bureau Agents he observed the 1963 dark brown or maroon Ford parked on Avondale Street near the alley entrance, which alley runs behind WALKER's residence. SURREY stated this incident took place on April 8, 1963 (Monday), and he described the individuals as one being a white male in his 30's, 5'10" to 6' tall, 160 pounds, and the second as a white male, in his 30's, 5'10" to 6' tall, weighing 190 pounds. He stated both men were well-dressed in suits, shirts and ties.

Mrs. ROSS BOUVE, 4001 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, Texas, Business Manager for the Jackson Clinic, 3929 Fairmount, advised she has resided at the residence of Dr. RUTH JACKSON, 4001 Turtle Creek Boulevard, for about six years. She stated the wing in which she resides in the house overlooks the entire property belonging to Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard. Mrs. BOUVE advised that Dr. RUTH JACKSON resides in the wing on the opposite side of the house and on the night of April 10, 1963, Dr. JACKSON was not in a position to hear or see anything which occurred at the WALKER residence. She further advised that Dr. JACKSON does not own a dog.

Mrs. BOUVE stated she owns a "border collie" named "Toby" which she usually keeps in the fenced back yard which area is directly next to the back yard area of the WALKER residence. She advised that "Toby" will bark loud at anyone or anything in the alley area at the rear of their residence or at anyone or anything on the WALKER property. On April 10, 1963, "Toby" was placed in the laundry room by Mrs. BOUVE sometime after dark as "Toby" had been barking loud and long earlier in the evening at the numerous people coming and going from the WALKER residence and at the numerous people coming and going to church services at the Mormon Church located on the other side of the WALKER residence. Mrs. BOUVE stated her other dog, "Two-Bit," is a Yorkshire terrier who usually remains inside the house and who does not bark while in the house.

Prior to the shooting incident on April 10, 1963, at the WALKER residence, Mrs. BOUVE stated she heard "Toby" growling and barking in the laundry room but she took no notice of this because this was his usual behavior and especially on Wednesday nights when church services are held at the Mormon Church. She, therefore, did not make any check to ascertain why the dog was barking. Upon hearing what she thought was a backfire, Mrs. BOUVE stated she thought nothing of it. She explained there is heavy traffic on Turtle Creek Boulevard and numerous cars also drive through the alley at the rear of the house en route to the Mormon Church. Her first impression was that the shot was a backfire and she, therefore, did nothing about it. She stated she did not look out her window at the WALKER residence until much later when she heard police cars arrive.

She advised that immediately after hearing what she thought was a backfire she could not recall having heard anyone run from the area or any car driving away. She further stated that on the Sunday previous to the shooting, April 7, 1963, she noticed nothing unusual in or about the WALKER residence other than there had been a large crowd at the Mormon Church on Sunday night.

She advised that her dog "Toby" became very sick on April 11 and 12, 1963. She stated she was of the opinion that someone had given him something to quiet him or drug him or poison him because he did become sick and vomited extensively on April 11 and 12, 1963. She did not take him to a veterinarian. She stated she based her belief that the dog had been given something because of the shooting incident and the dog's habit of barking at anyone or anything in the alley area. She stated she had no other basis for this belief or any proof whatsoever and this was only opinion on her part.

Mrs. BOUVE was shown a photograph of LEE HARVEY OSWALD and she advised she had never seen anyone resembling OSWALD at or near the WALKER residence at any time.

By personal observation SAs ROBERT M. BARRETT and IVAN D. LEE determined that the railroad tracks located nearest to the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER, U. S. Army (Retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, are those of the Missouri, Kansas, and Texas (MKT) Railroad. These tracks are approximately 0.3 of a mile southeast from WALKER's residence and are almost parallel to Turtle Creek Boulevard in this area.

It was also determined through personal observation that directly across the street (Turtle Creek Boulevard) from WALKER's residence, there is a park area which extends approximately 0.6 of a mile to the northeast from WALKER's residence and approximately 1.8 miles to the southwest from WALKER's residence. This park area parallels Turtle Creek Boulevard and the MKT Railroad tracks, and in most places adjoins the property of the railroad. This park and the railroad property, in numerous places, is comprised of heavily-wooded areas and thick underbrush, affording innumerable places where an object the size of a rifle could be easily hidden, buried, or otherwise secreted. It was also personally observed that along the railroad right-of-way there are many paths and trails leading from the park area through the woods and underbrush up to the railroad tracks.

No "open fields" were observed adjoining the railroad track in this area.

By walking directly to the east or southeast from the rear of the WALKER's residence, a person has immediate access to the wooded brushy area and the railroad tracks.

It should be noted that photograph No. 5 of Item No. 6 has been previously identified by personal observation by SAs BARRETT and LEE as a scene depicting a section of the MKT Railroad track located approximately 0.7 of a mile southeast of WALKER's residence and near the Dallas Theater Center.

Personal observation of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas (M.K.T.) Railroad tracks in the area of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence, 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, by SA's ROBERT M. BARRETT and IVAN D. LEE determined that photograph number 1 in item 70, depicting a view of the railroad tracks, was taken approximately 109 yards north of northeast of the M.K.T. Railroad overpass at Blackburn Street. At the point where the photograph was taken it was noted that there is a footpath leading down the railroad embankment to Turtle Creek Drive. At the point where the photograph was taken, the railroad tracks are approximately 25 to 30 feet above street level, and it is approximately 90 feet from the tracks to the curb line of Turtle Creek Drive. The area from the railroad tracks to the curb line is a heavily-wooded area with two or three large piles of brush which have evidently been stacked in this area for a considerable length of time. Near the path and located between Turtle Creek Drive and the railroad embankment, it was noted that a drainage sewer approximately six feet tall and four or five feet wide ran underneath the railroad and Turtle Creek Boulevard.

It was personally observed that from the point where the path enters Turtle Creek Drive to the rear of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence, via the most direct traffic route, it is .45 mile. The route traveled to record the mileage was via Turtle Creek Drive to the intersection of Stonebridge Drive and northeast on Turtle Creek Boulevard to Irving Street, west on Irving Street to the alley, and then northeast in the alley to the rear of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER's residence.

It was also noted that photograph number 1 in item 70 was taken approximately .25 mile north by northeast of the point where photograph number 5 of item 6 was taken. Both photographs depict a view of the M.K.T. Railroad tracks.

Personal observation of the M.K.T. Railroad tracks at the point where photograph number 1 of item 70 was taken reveals the following identical reference points as depicted in the photographs:

It should be noted that the scene depicted in Photograph #5, Item #6, has been identified through previous investigation on May 18, 1964, as reported on pages 258 and 259, of the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated May 28, 1964, at Dallas. In this photograph, there is depicted a railroad curving to the left with a metal utility pole on the left and a building in the left center of the photograph.

It should be noted that the scene depicted in Photograph #2, Item #7, has been identified through previous investigation on May 20, 1964, as reported on pages 260, 261 and 262, of the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated May 28, 1964, at Dallas. In this photograph, there is depicted an alley in the center, a two-story house on the right, a multi-story building under construction in the background, and some trees and a wooden fence on the left.

It should be noted that information concerning buses available to anyone in the downtown area of Dallas who desires transportation to the Oak Cliff area of Dallas was previously obtained on March 10, 1964, and reported on pages 176 - 183, of the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING, dated April 15, 1964, at Dallas. On any bus traveling to the downtown area of Dallas from the general area near the residence of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER (United States Army, Retired), 4011 Turtle Creek Boulevard, Dallas, a passenger, after paying his fare, can obtain a transfer coupon, which entitles him to board any bus destined for the Oak Cliff area at any of the many transfer points in the downtown area. This would be necessary only if the original bus was not destined for a desired destination point in the Oak Cliff area.

As of April 10, 1963, LEE HARVEY OSWALD and his wife, MARINA, were residing at 214 West Neely Street, which is located in the Oak Cliff area and which is near the bus route of the bus designated as "Bishop," Bus Run No. 4. (See interview of V. C. SNIDER, Dallas Transit Company, June 3, 1964.)

Lt. JACK REVILL, Criminal Intelligence Section, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department, on June 15, 1964, advised that any investigation conducted by the Dallas Police Department concerning visitors and associates of General EDWIN A. WALKER would have been conducted by the Criminal Intelligence Section of the Police Department.

Lt. REVILL stated that such an investigation has been conducted by his section but that this was comprised mostly of spot checks by detectives of cars seen at or near the WALKER residence during April, May, and June, 1964.

Lt. REVILL reviewed all of the information in the files of the Intelligence Section concerning General WALKER and stated that based on this review there were four reports submitted by the Intelligence Section concerning visitors or associates of WALKER. Lt. REVILL stated he would make available two copies of each report to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which he did on June 16, 1964, to SA IVAN D. LEE. At that time, Lt. REVILL furnished two copies each of the following Dallas Police Department Intelligence Section reports:

1. Report dated November 5, 1963, submitted by Lt. REVILL and Detective H. M. HART. This report contains information that some students from "North Texas University" (North Texas State University, Denton, Texas), were planning a demonstration during the visit of President KENNEDY to Dallas on November 21-22, 1963. The report stated some of these students had recently visited the home of General WALKER and identified these visitors. Further, it contains information concerning a meeting held November 4, 1963, by this group at Denton, Texas, and identifies some of those present. The report also states that approximately 20 students from the University took part in the demonstrations against ADLAI STEVENSON in Dallas on October 24, 1963.

2. Report dated May 1, 1964, submitted by Detective L. D. STRINGFELLOW. This report contains the names of persons believed by the Police Department to be members of the "Edwin A. Walker group" or of persons affiliated with the "Edwin A. Walker group."

3. Report dated May 20, 1964, submitted by Detective V. J. BRIAN containing descriptions and license numbers and registration data for these license numbers of cars observed at WALKER's residence.

(Lt. REVILL explained that the dates these cars were observed by the officers were not set forth in the report but that it would have been sometime shortly prior to the date of the report. He further explained this information concerning these cars was obtained by Detectives H. M. HART and V. J. BRIAN but that the report was submitted by BRIAN.)

4. Report dated June 4, 1964, submitted by Detectives T. T. WARDLAW and M. H. BRUMLEY containing information concerning two automobiles observed at the residence of WALKER. (The times these cars were observed is not set out, and Lt. REVILL explained they were observed at a time just prior to the submission of the report.)

Each report contains the initials in the lower left-hand corner of "WPG" which, according to Lt. REVILL, are those of Captain W. P. GANNAWAY, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department.

Lt. REVILL also stated he had furnished a copy of the report dated May 1, 1964 (described above), to the President's Commission when he testified before that Commission on May 13, 1964.

Re: WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, Also Known As Sandy, Scottie, Scotty, FBI No. 483264E

On May 26, 1964, JAMES R. CANTRELL, Special Agent, Secret Service, U. S. Treasury Department, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised Special Agent DAVID H. BARRY that in an interview of WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF on May 25, 1964, DUFF had claimed evidence of an association between JACK RUBY and General EDWIN A. WALKER, Dallas, Texas; that during the period, December, 1962, through March, 1963, while DUFF was employed by General WALKER and resided in his home, RUBY visited on the basis of about once a month, each time in the company of two unidentified white males, arriving in a Ford car, not further described.

DUFF claimed identification of RUBY through photographs having heard him addressed only as JACK. The others he described as follows:

(1) White male, mid 30s, 5'11" to 6', weighing 145 pounds, dark receding hair; said to be a member of John Birch Society.

(2) White male, in late 40s, heavy build, dark complexion.

DUFF advised that always the three had convened with WALKER in the living room of the WALKER residence. DUFF at no time overheard their conversation.

When questioned concerning other witnesses, DUFF said it is possible others in the WALKER household, whom he could not name, might have identified RUBY, but he considered it doubtful they would assist out of loyalty to General WALKER. He mentioned one BOB SUTTON as a possible witness. SUTTON, employed by a pape or printing firm in Dallas, was said to have visited at the WALKE residence.

DUFF had no explanation as to why he had not reported this in previous interviews, both by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Secret Service, other than to state a fear of General WALKER. He said he felt that he knew too much of WALKER's operation, and of the persons visiting his residence, intimating that WALKER was diverting funds collected for the John Birch Society to a personal account at the Highland Park Bank, Dallas, Texas.

DUFF said he had known nothing of LEE HARVEY OSWALD.

Agent CANTRELL said that his receipt of this information from DUFF, predicated on an earlier interview, on Apr 8, 1964, at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and several subsequent telephone calls, both from DUFF and his wife, PEGGY MARIE DUFF, are circumstances which would indicate DUFF may be using this means to impress his wife and to restore their marital relationship. His wife had threatened divorce on grounds he had misrepresented his background, even claiming to have rank of Captain in the U. S Army.

DUFF had called Agent CANTRELL on long distance telepho from Lawton, Oklahoma, on May 20, 1964, to advise that the man wh had offered him $10,000 to kill General WALKER had been following him at Lawton; that he, in turn, had followed this man to the Capri Motel, Lawton, Oklahoma, where he established that the man was CLIFF ROBERTS of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau. ROBERTS had interviewed Mrs. DUFF, informing her that warrants were outstanding for DUFF. The purpose of the call, CANTRELL said, was to enlist his aid in clearing this matter with Mrs. DUFF, to inform her that no warrants were outstanding. In a later call on the same evening, DUFF put Mrs. DUFF on the telephone for this purpose though it had taken three or four minutes to do so, the two in an apparent argument. At this time, Mrs. DUFF had asked that CANTRELL call her on the following day at her office. She is said to have been employed for some 17 years by the Consolidated Supply Company, Lawton, Oklahoma. She railed against DUFF, stating he had lied to her.

On the following day, CANTRELL said he had been unsuccessful in reaching Mrs. DUFF. On May 25, 1964, he received a long distance telephone call from Mrs. DUFF in which she stated that her husband had vital information in the case concerning the assassination of President KENNEDY. A meeting was arranged on that evening at the police station in Chickasha, Oklahoma. It was at this time that DUFF, in the presence of his wife, related the information concerning the alleged association of JACK RUBY and General EDWIN A. WALKER.

Agent CANTRELL said he had taken DUFF aside in an effort to establish the truth, pointing out that if the information were found not to be true, DUFF could be subject to prosecution. He invited DUFF to reverse his story, if it were not the truth, while maintaining the fiction to his wife. DUFF insisted in its truth, and volunteered that he would submit to a polygraph examination if desired. He requested that the polygrap examination await his discharge from the Army on June 1, 1964, on grounds of fraudulent enlistment. He claimed to have been in the Air Force from December, 1957, to December, 1960, and had not so indicated when enlisting in the Army.

Agent CANTRELL advised he had been informed by CLIFF ROBERTS, Oklahoma Crime Bureau, that DUFF had been examined by psychiatrists at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and had been diagnosed as a pathological liar.

On June 16, 1964, the President's Commission requested information concerning a United Press International or Associated Press news release on or about November 26, 1963, where it was reported that General EDWIN A. WALKER was flying the American Flag upside down in front of his residence on the day of the assassination. This request was in connection with a witness, ROBERT A. SURREY, who was, at that time, testifying before the President's Commission.

On June 16, 1964, EDDIE BARKER, News Manager, KRLD-TV & Radio, Dallas, Texas, advised SA IVAN D. LEE that ADLAI STEVENSON gave a speech in Dallas on the night of October 24, 1963, and on October 25, 1963, one of General WALKER's aides, name unknown, called BARKER, and stated that General WALKER was flying three American Flags upside down on his front lawn as Dallas was a city in distress.

Mr. BARKER advised he would not give publicity to this act and the unknown aide of General WALKER called him numerous times during the following three days. Mr. BARKER stated that on Monday, October 28, 1963, United Press ran a picture on their wire of the flags being flown upside down at the residence of General WALKER. Mr. BARKER stated he received a call from the Columbia Broadcasting System, with which KLRD is affiliated, and that the Columbia Broadcasting System requested Mr. BARKER to take some television film of an interview with General WALKER, in which film interview the American Flag being flown upside down would be depicted.

Mr. BARKER stated he went to the WALKER residence and, when he requested General WALKER to stand beside the American Flags during the interview, General WALKER went into a raving rage, got into his car, and drove off. Mr. BARKER stated he did not conduct an interview nor did he take any pictures. To Mr. BARKER's recollection, the American Flags were flown upside down at WALKER's residence for approximately five days.

ARCH PARK KIMBROUGH, 4008 Shannon Lane, Dallas, Texas, was interviewed at his residence at his request, at which time he advised he is President of his own construction business, doing business as Trinity Road and Bridge Company, P. O. Box 1836, Dallas. He stated he is a licensed Civil Engineer, having graduated from the West Point Military Academy with that degree in 1945.

KIMBROUGH advised he was deeply grieved over the assassination of President JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY and has subsequently been very concerned that a Castro - Cuba inspired conspiracy brought about the death of the President by preconceived plan. KIMBROUGH advised he, therefore, has taken it upon himself to closely follow all press releases, periodicals, and other news media relating to the assassination.

KIMBROUGH pointed out that he observed numerous coincidences from his study of the press releases relating to the assassination and, therefore, on November 25, 1963, the day following the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD by JACK L. RUBY, he, in company with his family attorney, MINOR MORGAN, a former Assistant United States Attorney in Dallas, visited the offices of Assistant United States Attorney ROBERT B. WARD in Dallas to discuss his theories. He advised he presented a map to Mr. WARD drawn by himself to scale depicting a straight line from the OSWALD residence at 1026 North Beckley to the site of the killing of Officer J. D. TIPPIT in the 400 block of East 10th Street and to the residence of JACK RUBY. KIMBROUGH advised it appeared to him to be of some significance that OSWALD was headed in the exact direction of JACK RUBY's residence at the time of his apprehension. KIMBROUGH advised it further appeared to him to be of some significance that the residence of General EDWIN A. WALKER, who was fired upon by a sniper in April, 1963, and the Vegas Club, owned by JACK RUBY, were only six blocks apart. KIMBROUGH advised he furnished this map to Mr. WARD for his personal and the map was later given by WARD to Mr. HERBERT J. MILLER, Attorney General in charge of the Criminal Division of the United States Department of Justice, when Mr. MILLER was visiting Dallas at a subsequent date. KIMBROUGH advised that, in furtherance of his efforts to f[illegible] the newspaper and public accounts of the investigation surrounding the assassination of President KENNEDY, he has clipped all items relating to the assassination from the newspaper in Dallas, as well as major papers in New York, Detroit, Cleveland, and New Orleans. He advised he has compiled these items into a complete file and has cross-indexed many of these items to allow him to maintain an accurate record of all individuals interviewed in connection with the assassination and whose names are on public record. He stated, as a result of this survey, he has found that many individuals connected with the case reside in close proximity to associates of LEE HARVEY OSWALD and associates of JACK RUBY, which indicates to him there was definitely a conspiracy by a Castro Cuban group and that both RUBY and OSWALD were deeply involved in this conspiracy. KIMBROUGH advised his sole sources of material for obtaining previous and present addresses of individuals whom he believes to be involved in this conspiracy were the public source, city directories and telephone directories for 1962, 1963 and 1964.

KIMBROUGH furnished a typewritten, five-page list setting forth results of his checks concerning these individuals and a short explanation behind each individual mentioned therein regarding their relationship to each other. KIMBROUGH pointed out that he has no personal knowledge or facts indicating any conspiracy connection between LEE HARVEY OSWALD and JACK RUBY as relates to the assassination of the President, and his theory of a conspiracy stems entirely from public source checks as noted above. The list as furnished by KIMBROUGH reads as follows:

"1. Jose Antonio Azcue

MARINA OSWALD was interviewed at her residence, 629 Belt Line Road.

She was questioned further concerning conversations she had had with LEE HARVEY OSWALD about his visits to the house of General EDWIN A. WALKER, Dallas, Texas.

She said she had asked OSWALD how he had arrived at the WALKER home on the night he had attempted to kill WALKER by shooting him. OSWALD replied that he had walked up to the house. MARINA said she later learned OSWALD had taken a bus to the vicinity of the WALKER home and she presumes that he had gotten off the bus a distance from the WALKER home and had traversed the remaining distance on foot. She said OSWALD had said also he had returned to their home by bus after the attempted assassination. MARINA advised she was not aware of what buses OSWALD took to arrive in the vicinity of the WALKER home or to leave the vicinity of the WALKER home en route back to their home.

MARINA said she remembers OSWALD telling her he had run away from the WALKER house after the attempted assassination and that he could run very fast. She said she does not recall that OSWALD told her how far he ran or what bus he boarded or where he boarded the bus.

She does remember OSWALD told her he came home on the bus after the attempted assassination.

MARINA said she does not recall OSWALD telling her what he did with his rifle after he made the first trip to the WALKER home for the purpose of assassinating General WALKER. She said he did not bring the rifle into their home upon his return to her knowledge. She said she did not ask him what he had done with the rifle on this first visit of OSWALD to the WALKER home for the purpose of assassinating WALKER. She does recall she had asked OSWALD when he returned home and confessed he had attempted to assassinate General WALKER that night what he had done with the rifle because she was afraid the rifle might be found and traced to OSWALD. In answer to her query, OSWALD told her he had buried the rifle in the ground or in the bushes far away from the actual spot of the shooting. She recalls OSWALD mentioned a field and also a railroad track and she has the impression OSWALD might have meant he hid the rifle in a field near a railroad track.

MARINA said she recalled OSWALD showing her photographs he had taken of the General WALKER home. She also recalled OSWALD had shown her some photographs he had taken which depicted a railroad track. It is her recollection that these railroad tracks were near the WALKER house. She said she recalls seeing an automobile in one of the photographs of the WALKER house, but did not recall what type of an automobile it was or whether or not it had a license plate on it.

MARINA was asked if OSWALD had mentioned being associated with any other person in connection with the attempted assassination of WALKER. She said OSWALD had never mentioned another person in this connection. She said she was sure in her own mind he had planned and attempted the assassination completely alone. She said it was not like OSWALD to be associated with anybody else in such an endeavor.

MARINA said she did not know that OSWALD had known or associated with anyone in April, 1963, who owned a 1963 Ford automobile or a 1949 or a 1950 Ford automobile or a 1958 Chevrolet. She said he had never mentioned a large collie dog or any other type dog which had been near the WALKER residence. She does recall OSWALD mentioned on one occasion, when they were discussing the WALKER incident, a gathering at a church near the WALKER house. He told her he had postponed his assassination attempt until the evening of the gathering at this church.

MARINA OSWALD, 629 Belt Line Road, Richardson, Texas, was interviewed to determine if she was possibly confused when she stated on February 24, 1964, that approximately two weeks after the attempted assassination of Major General EDWIN A. WALKER at Dallas, Texas, on April 10, 1963, LEE HARVEY OSWALD had indicated that he was going out because "Nixon is coming and I'm going to take a look," it being noted that previous investigation had established that the then Vice President LYNDON B. JOHNSON was in Dallas, Texas, on April 23, 1963.

MARINA OSWALD was asked if it was possible that she had become confused as to the name used by OSWALD on the above referred to occasion. Specifically, she was asked if she recalled if OSWALD had said, "Nixon is coming and I'm going to take a look," as previously reported by her. She stated these were the words of OSWALD as best she could remember. She stated she is positive OSWALD said "Nixon" was coming. She stated she was familiar with the name "Nixon" because of the publicity received by him in connection with his nomination as the Republican candidate for President.

MARINA OSWALD was asked if there was a possibility she had confused the name "Nixon" with the name "Johnson." She reiterated she is positive OSWALD used the name "Nixon." She stated she was not familiar with the name "Johnson" at that time.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

By letter dated June 30, 1964, the President's Commission called attention to page 269 of the report of Special Agent ROBERT P. GEMBERLING dated March 10, 1964, at Dallas, Texas, which sets forth the details of an interview with WARREN REYNOLDS, who has been the subject of a newspaper article written by BOB CONSIDINE.

The President's Commission pointed out that in this interview of REYNOLDS, he states that General EDWIN A. WALKER attempted to contact him and that in the event such contact was made, REYNOLDS would report the results of such contact to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The President's Commission letter requested that REYNOLDS be interviewed to determine whether General WALKER has been in touch with REYNOLDS and, if so, the nature of any conversations or communications between REYNOLDS and WALKER.

On July 7, 1964, WARREN A. REYNOLDS, 8707 Mosswood, Dallas, Texas, telephone EVergreen 8-1314, was telephonically contacted at his residence for the purpose of making an appointment for interview. REYNOLDS stated he was not feeling too well and suggested that he be interviewed at that time over the telephone.

REYNOLDS was asked if he had had any recent contact with General EDWIN A. WALKER. REYNOLDS informed he was contacted telephonically by General WALKER on March 2, 1964, and at that time WALKER read an article to him from some newspaper, which article had been written by BOB CONSIDINE, a reporter, and which stated, in substance, that it was unusual that REYNOLDS had been shot because he had "fingered" OSWALD. REYNOLDS stated that actually he did not "finger" OSWALD. He stated that on January 23, 1964, he was shot in the head by a bullet from a .22 caliber rifle in the basement of the Reynolds Motor Company, 500 East Jefferson Boulevard, Dallas, Texas, where he had gone to turn out the lights at the close of business.

COPIES DESTROYED

Following this telephone call by General WALKER, REYNOLDS stated he went to the residence of General WALKER in Dallas, Texas, and discussed the newspaper article written by BOB CONSIDINE with General WALKER. He stated he and General WALKER believed that, although the article was "fiction-like," it was nevertheless true. REYNOLDS stated both he and General WALKER believe that the shooting of REYNOLDS has some relation to the part REYNOLDS played in the apprehension of LEE HARVEY OSWALD. REYNOLDS stated they concluded this because the prime suspect picked up by the Dallas Police Department for the shooting of REYNOLDS was DARRELL WAYNE GARNER, also known as "DAGO." REYNOLDS stated that "DAGO" is the bragging type of person. He stated further that after "DAGO" was picked up by the Dallas Police Department he was released after he, "DAGO," and three other individuals had been afforded a polygraph examination by the Dallas Police Department and were judged to be telling the truth. REYNOLDS said that, since he has no enemies he knows of and since "DAGO" was released by the Dallas Police Department, he can only reason that he was shot because of the part he played in the apprehension of LEE HARVEY OSWALD. REYNOLDS stated he has no other reason other than the above for reaching this conclusion. He said it was during this March 1964, visit at General WALKER's house that General WALKER agreed with him.

REYNOLDS advised that approximately two weeks ago he telephonically contacted General EDWIN A. WALKER and requested an appointment to see WALKER, which was granted. REYNOLDS said he sought this interview with WALKER because he had been "scared" as a result of having been shot through the head after the assassination of President KENNEDY, which shooting he states he feels is connected with the fact that he had witnessed LEE HARVEY OSWALD running with a gun from the scene of the shooting of Dallas Police Officer J. D. TIPPIT. REYNOLDS said he wanted General WALKER's advice as to what he should do.

REYNOLDS advised that on June 24, 1964, he went to the residence of General WALKER in Dallas, Texas, and discussed the above with him. He said that, following his discussions with General WALKER, General WALKER prepared a telegram addressed to the President's Commission, Washington, D. C., and sent it with his permission. He read the telegram which General WALKER sent and it is as follows:

> "Testimony of WARREN REYNOLDS, victim of attempted assassination by a shot in the temple, cannot be ignored in a complete investigation. I respectfully request his appearance before your Commission.
> "/s/ General EDWIN A. WALKER"

REYNOLDS stated he has only seen General WALKER on two occasions as set out above.

REYNOLDS stated that in March 1964, his daughter, TERRI, aged 9, at that time, informed him that on her way home a man stopped his automobile and offered her money to get in the car with him. REYNOLDS said his daughter ran away and volunteered that she is not the type of child that would make up a story. He said this also has made him apprehensive and feels that the troubles he has had since the assassination of President KENNEDY are in some way connected to the part he played in the apprehension of LEE HARVEY OSWALD. He said he has no actual facts to substantiate his beliefs, but has made his beliefs known to the Dallas Police Department.

REYNOLDS was advised that in the event he felt his life was in danger he should make any information of this nature available to the Dallas Police Department.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

On July 7, 1964, WARREN A. REYNOLDS, 8707 Mosswood, Dallas, Texas, telephone EVergreen 8-1314, telephonically contacted the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and spoke with a Special Agent.

REYNOLDS stated that since his interview earlier that day he had been wondering if there was some reason he should not contact General EDWIN A. WALKER. He also inquired if there was anything wrong with someone contacting General WALKER.

REYNOLDS was informed it was not the function of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to advise anyone whom they could or could not contact. He was also informed that no comment would be made as to whether there was or was not anything wrong with a person contacting General EDWIN A. WALKER.

On July 8, 1964, WARREN A. REYNOLDS, 8707 Mosswood, Dallas, Texas, telephone EVergreen 8-1314, telephonically contacted the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and spoke with a Special Agent.

REYNOLDS stated he was calling to inquire if this office had any information that he was going to be called to appear before the President's Commission in Washington, D. C.

REYNOLDS was informed that this office had no information that he was going to be called by the President's Commission. He was also informed the President's Commission functions on its own and that this office had no information as to whom they would or would not call.

REYNOLDS then asked if it would be all right for him to make plans or if he should wait for a call from the President's Commission.

REYNOLDS was informed that, as mentioned above, this office does not know whom the President's Commission is going to call or not call, and he should use his own judgment on any future plans.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Dallas, Texas
June 18, 1964

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The President's Commission received a report from the United States Secret Service dated May 25 and 26, 1964, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, in which it is indicated that WILLIAM M. DUFF had advised that JACK RUBY had called at the residence of General EDWIN WALKER on a monthly basis from December 1962, through March 1963.

On June 15, 1964, Lieutenant JACK REVILL, Criminal Intelligence Section, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, advised that any investigation conducted by the Dallas Police Department concerning visitors and associates of General EDWIN A. WALKER would have been conducted by the Criminal Intelligence Section of the Police Department.

Lieutenant REVILL stated that such an investigation has been conducted by his section, but that this was comprised mostly of spot checks by detectives of cars seen at or near the WALKER residence during April, May and June 1964.

Lieutenant REVILL reviewed all information in the files of the Criminal Intelligence Section concerning General WALKER and stated that, based on this review, there were four reports submitted by the Criminal Intelligence Section concerning visitors or associates of WALKER.

On June 16, 1964, Lieutenant REVILL made available two copies of each report submitted by the Criminal Intelligence Section, which reports are described as follows:

1. Report dated November 5, 1963, submitted by Lieutenant REVILL and Detective H. M. HART. This report contains information that some students from "North Texas University" (North Texas State University, Denton, Texas), were planning a demonstration during the visit of President KENNEDY to Dallas on November 21-22, 1963. The report states some of these students had recently visited the home of General WALKER and identifies these visitors. Further, it contains information concerning a meeting held November 4, 1963, by this group at Denton, Texas, and identifies some of those present. The report also states that approximately twenty students from the University took part in the demonstrations against ADLAI STEVENSON in Dallas on October 24, 1962.

2. Report dated May 1, 1964, submitted by Detective L. D. STRINGFELLOW. This report contains the names of persons believed by the Police Department to be members of the "Edwin A. Walker group" or of persons affiliated with the "Edwin A. Walker group."

3. Report dated May 20, 1964, submitted by Detective V. J. BRIAN containing descriptions and license numbers and registration data for these license numbers of cars observed at WALKER's residence.

(Lieutenant REVILL explained that the dates these cars were observed by the officers are not set forth in the report but that it would have been sometime shortly prior to the date of the report. He further explained this information concerning these cars was obtained by Detectives H. M. HART and V. J. BRIAN but that the report was submitted by BRIAN.)

4. Report dated June 4, 1964, submitted by Detectives T. T. WARDLAW and M. H. BRUMLEY containing information concerning two automobiles observed at the residence of WALKER. (The times these cars were observed are not set out, and Lieutenant REVILL explained they were observed at a time just prior to the submission of the report.)

Each report contains the initials in the lower left-hand corner of "WPG", which, according to Lieutenant REVILL, are those of Captain W. P. GANNAWAY, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department.

Lieutenant REVILL also stated he had furnished a copy of the report dated May 1, 1964, (described above), to the President's Commission when he testified before that Commission on May 13, 1964.

Previous investigation has established that WILLIAM M. DUFF is identical to WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, also known as WILLIAM MC EWAN MC DUFF, BILL DUFF, "SANDY", "SCOTTIE", and "SCOTTY".

DUFF first came to the attention of the Dallas Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on December 10, 1963, when JOE LORIA, Dallas restaurant operator, stated that approximately seven or eight months before, he saw an individual known to him only as "SCOTTIE", subsequently identified as DUFF, with an individual believed to be LEE HARVEY OSWALD, in LORIA's restaurant. Mr. LORIA based his identification on photographs of OSWALD he had seen in Dallas newspapers and could recall only one time he thought he saw OSWALD and "SCOTTIE" together.

Thereafter, extensive investigation was conducted to resolve this allegation and information relating to DUFF appears in the following-identified reports concerning LEE HARVEY OSWALD:

Sir:

The following is submitted for your information.

A group of students from NORTH TEXAS UNIVERSITY is planning to take part in demonstrations during the proposed visit to DALLAS by President KENNEDY the 21-22 of November.

This group of students belong to the YOUNG REPUBLICAN CLUB of NORTH TEXAS UNIVERSITY. Some of these students have recently visited in the home of GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER here in DALLAS and later attended the U.S. DAY rally at the DALLAS MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM sponsored by GENERAL WALKER. This group is highly sympathetic with WALKER and are going to support his group. Those visiting in WALKER'S home were WILLIAM DREW FITZ, WILLIAM IVAN SNODGRASS, MICHAEL RAY BOWLIN and RONNIE BEALL.

After returning to DENTON from DALLAS, WILLIAM DREW FITZ stated that plans were being made for the coming visit of the President. FITZ stated, quote "We will drag his dick in the dirt", end of quote. Fitz emphasized that his group would have well planned demonstrations during the President's visit to DALLAS.

Confidential informant T-1 states that a meeting was to be held in DENTON, TEXAS by this group. The meeting was to be held last night, 4 November 1963 at COLONIAL OAKS APARTMENTS in Apartment 111. This meeting was called by LES TOOKER, an officer in the YOUNG REPUBLICAN CLUB of NORTH TEXAS UNIVERSITY. TOOKER was being assisted by one BILL CALHOUN. This was to be an organizational meeting for a WALKER movement at the UNIVERSITY. This group plans to have GENERAL WALKER in DENTON for a talk in the near future.

IN

T-1 will furnish this office with information of last nights meeting in DENTON, TEXAS.

Source further stated that approximately twenty (20) students from NORTH TEXAS UNIVERSITY took part in the demonstrations against ADLAI STEVENSON at the MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM THEATRE 24 October 1963. Between 20 and 30 students had attended the U.S. DAY rally 23 October 1963.

LEE HARVEY OSWALD

The President's Commission, by letter dated July 24, 1964, requested investigation concerning the following allegations:

X. Dallas Police Officer J. D. TIPPIT violated radio procedures in failing to notify his headquarters that he was stopping to question a suspect ~~(LEE HARVEY OSWALD)~~.

X. Prior to the assassination, Dallas Police Officers searched other buildings in the vicinity of the Texas School Book Depository but not the Texas School Book Depository itself.

X. Precautions taken by the Dallas Police Department on November 22, 1963, prior to the assassination included surveillance of many people, including some who did no more than speak in favor of school integration.

On July 28, 1964, JESSE E. CURRY, Chief of Police, Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas, advised there is no requirement or regulation of the Dallas Police Department ~~re-~~ qu~~iring~~ any police officer ~~to~~ notify headquarters when such officer is stopping to question a suspect. He stated that if the officer is going to be away from his radio, he is required to check out with the radio dispatcher at the Dallas Police Department. He also stated that if an officer is alone and is stopping an automobile to question the occupant or occupants, the officer is required to contact the radio dispatcher at the Dallas Police Department and give the model, the license number and the location of the automobile stopped. He stated Officer J. D. TIPPIT did not violate radio procedure in not notifying the radio dispatcher at the Dallas Police Department that he was stopping the then suspect LEE HARVEY OSWALD to question him.

Chief CURRY advised that prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY, the Dallas Police Department did not search any buildings in the vicinity of the Texas School Book Depository Building, the Texas School Book Depository Building itself, or any other buildings.

Chief CURRY advised that prior to President KENNEDY's visit to Dallas on November 22, 1963, he was advised of this proposed visit by Secret Service. Chief CURRY stated the Criminal Intelligence Division of the Dallas Police Department conducted a diligent investigation of organizations comprised of members whose political views are considered extreme, both right and left. He said the Dallas Police Department had infiltrated these organizations and had informant coverage regarding their activities. He said this investigation disclosed that only two of these organizations planned demonstrations during President KENNEDY's visit to Dallas. Chief CURRY advised that Chief of Police ANDY ANDERSON, Denton, Texas, notified the Dallas Police Department that the Young People's Republican Club at North Texas State University, Denton, Texas, planned to meet with General EDWIN WALKER's group and organize a demonstration somewhere along the route of President KENNEDY's motorcade in Dallas. Chief CURRY stated a representative of the Criminal Intelligence Division of the Dallas Police Department contacted the Young People's Republican Club at North Texas State University regarding the proposed demonstration and, as a result, the demonstration did not materialize. Further, CURRY stated, the Criminal Intelligence Division of the Dallas Police Department learned that General WALKER departed Dallas on November 21, 1963, en route to another state for a speaking engagement and his group did not make an appearance.

Re: LEE HARVEY OSWALD

In addition, Chief CURRY stated, he was informed by Chief of Police ANDERSON, Denton, Texas, several weeks prior to President KENNEDY's visit of November 22, 1963, that NORMAN LEE ELKINS, 1115 West Crawford Street, Denison, Texas, had made comments that he intended to do something to embarrass President KENNEDY. He stated Detective H. M. HART and Lieutenant JACK REVILL of the Dallas Police Department, and JOE HOWLETT of Secret Service, contacted ELKINS and he advised he was not going to be in Dallas, Texas, on November 22, 1963.

Chief CURRY advised the Criminal Intelligence Division of the Dallas Police Department learned that the Indignant White Citizens Council had prepared some signs and placards which were designed to embarrass President KENNEDY. He stated the Indignant White Citizens Council planned to picket the Dallas Trade Mart and were the only demonstrators observed at the Dallas Trade Mart. CURRY advised that shortly after the assassination of President KENNEDY, six of these individuals were taken into custody by the Dallas Police Department to prevent their assault by spectators at the scene.

Chief CURRY stated the Dallas Police Department had no one under surveillance on November 22, 1963, as a precaution taken during President KENNEDY's visit to Dallas.

On 8/24/65 PHILIP BEN HATHAWAY, residence 11021 Quail Run, Dallas, who is employed at the Lone Star Gas Company, Research and Development, telephone RI 1-3711, extension 776, home phone DIamond 8-6532, advised that on the morning of 8/24/65 he was called upon by JONES HARRIS, who is described as being a frec-lance writer, who was doing an article for "Esquire" magazine concerning the assassination of President KENNEDY. Mr. HATHAWAY stated that HARRIS was apparently attempting in his article to indicate that there were more persons involved than OSWALD in the assassination. He stated HARRIS indicated he had spent approximately four hours recently with General EDWIN A. WALKER at Dallas, Texas. He stated HARRIS had in his possession a copy of a photograph believed by HATHAWAY to be the photograph shown by FBI Agents to Mrs. MARGUERITE OSWALD at the Six Flags Inn shortly after the assassination. 62-57

Mr. HATHAWAY's interview is reflected on page 752 of the report of SA ROBERT P. GEMBERLING dated 10/10/63.

HATHAWAY advised that HARRIS indicated he might desire HATHAWAY to review his article prior to it being turned over to "Esquire" magazine and HATHAWAY stated that in the event this occurs he would immediately make a copy of same to SA GEMBERLING.

The above is furnished for the Bureau's information and in the event a copy of the article is made available to this office the same will be immediately furnished to the Bureau.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

We have received a report from the United States Secret Service covered by that organization's Control No. 1535 dated May 25-26, 1964 at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, which indicates that William M. Duff had advised that Jack Ruby had called at the residence of General Edwin Walker on a monthly basis from December 1962 through March 1963. The Secret Service has furnished the information contained in that report to Agent David H. Berry of the Oklahoma City office of your Bureau. We would appreciate receiving a report of the investigation of this matter which you will no doubt conduct.

In that connection we note from the matters set forth on page 10 of the letterhead memorandum of your Bureau dated May 22, 1964 at Dallas, Texas in response to our letter of May 13, 1964 requesting certain additional information concerning photographs of General Walker's house, that the Dallas Police Department has apparently conducted continuing investigation concerning visitors to the Walker residence. We would appreciate it very much if you would obtain copies of the reports of that investigation and forward them to us.

We also note from page 48 of Agent Clements' report dated December 21, 1963 at Dallas, Texas, that one Andre Angeles (phonetic), who is apparently acquainted with Mr. Duff, is reported to have stated that he was flying to Dallas on Friday, November 22, 1963 "with a lot of money." We would appreciate your advice as to whether or not Mr. Angeles appears to be connected in any way with the assassination.

Your continued cooperation is appreciated.

On 6/25/64, [redacted] Dallas County, voluntarily furnished SA MANNING C. CLEMENTS a copy of a 21-page, double-spaced memorandum he prepared from notes made by him on the interview of RUBY, 6/7/64, by Chief Justice EARL WARREN and others. A copy is attached.

[redacted] requested the fact he furnished this memorandum not be made known outside the Bureau, as he had no authorization from Mr. WARREN, defense attorneys, or his own superior, for making same available. He said he made notes under adverse conditions and would not like to be held accountable for the strict accuracy of all of the statements attributed to RUBY, et al. He pointed out Mr. WARREN had a stenographer make a transcript of the interview and the official version will undoubtedly be made a part of the Commission's record.

[redacted] mentioned Mr. WARREN had repeatedly assured RUBY a polygraph examination would be afforded, for which RUBY was insistent.

[redacted] said RUBY talked lucidly in recalling many details but wandered on several occasions, that he, [redacted] feels RUBY has definitely deteriorated mentally to a considerable degree.

Review of the memorandum reflects RUBY's statements are somewhat disjointed, although not varying substantially from details previously supplied by him, with following exceptions:

1) RUBY says he lied when he previously said he had his gun with him at City Hall on the night of 11/22/63; that this statement was made a part of a defense against proof of premeditation, in that he would have had the opportunity to shoot OSWALD prior to 11/24/63.

2) RUBY made no claim of a black-out at the time he shot OSWALD.

3) He admits premeditation, referring to a letter to CAROLINE KENNEDY and an article concerning Mrs. KENNEDY's having to return to Dallas to testify regarding OSWALD which he had seen in a newspaper.

4) RUBY had not previously advised concerning a request from LEWIS J. McWILLIE, while in Cuba, that RUBY obtained "four little Cobra guns" from RAY BRANTLEY Hardware Store, Dallas. RUBY had advised of sending a revolver to McWILLIE in Las Vegas at McWILLIE's request and which McWILLIE admitted, but stated had not been accepted by him.

It will be noted on page 16, RUBY made reference to interview with RAY HALL. This is SA C. RAY HALL, of the Dallas Office.

DL 44-1639

Note RUBY denies having gone to Parkland Hospital, Dallas, on 11/22/63 (as claimed by SETH KANTOR, Scripps-Howard reporter) RUBY denied he inquired of a "TV man" when OSWALD would be brought down. This is apparent reference to the claim of IRA N. WALKER, WBAP-TV, to Bureau Agents and as a prosecution witness that he saw RUBY in the basement of Dallas City Hall on two occasions on 11/24/63, considerably prior to the time of the shooting.

A number of misspellings of names are noted in the document.

Bureau is requested to respect [redacted] request he not be identified with having furnished details of the WARREN interview with RUBY.

TO: Henry Wade

RE: Warren Commission Hearing Held in the County Jail on June 7, 1964, with Jack Ruby testifying. Testimony Dallas Texas

The meeting began shortly before 12 o'clock noon and lasted until approximately 3:30 p. m. Mr. Chief Justice Earl Warren, Joe Rankin, Congressman Ford, Secret Service Agent Moore, Sheriff Decker, Chief Jailer Holeman, Assistant Jailer Mr. Joe Ball, a Mr. Specter and Dean Storey were present.

When Ruby sat down his first comments were that he wanted a lie detector test or truth serum or any test which would show that he was telling the truth. Earl Warren agreed to see that he got such a test. After this, Ruby stated that he would talk to the Commission and started his statement by saying that Belli didn't go into the case thoroughly and he shouldn't have used insanity and he should have spent more time with him rather than trying to exonerate him. Ruby said he wanted to take the witness stand but Belli told him that "if you got on the stand, you'll show premeditation and they will cut you to pieces on cross examination". Then Ruby started to talk about the Thursday night prior to the assassination. At this point, he was sworn in by Warren and then proceeded on by stating that on this Thursday night he was in the Egyptian Lounge on Mockingbird Lane with a fellow by the name of Ralph Paul. A man came over to where they were and wanted him to go to another place but he didn't want to go because the band had been taken away from him by a person down there some time before and the band had been with him seven yea[illegible] He then left and went [illegible] Carousel Club. He discussed a few matters with the MC and about Tony Zoppi. He wanted Zoppi to write a story about the MC, Bill Dear. Tony let them down on Bill Demar. Said he wanted to go back to the News and get the brochure that they had made of Bill Demar; to get the brochure on Friday morning as he was always in the News on Friday. He has ways of selling the produce, in making up the ads; however, Zoppi was in New Orleans. He went to get the brochure in the sales room where we placed our ads. He started to copy the ad and the same man that he had seen in the Egyptian Lounge came over and Ruby wanted to explain to him why he didn't go down to the other place. He explained he didn't want to meet the man there. This same man that he talked to was with him in the News about twenty minutes. After the conversation, the man left. Then the man who helps with the ads came up. Ruby said he had to pay cash for the ads. They (referring to others) wanted to know why he didn't go to the parade. He said he didn't like large crowds. The ad man came in about 12:05 and said something like someone had been shot. I got carried away. Someone said a secret service man was shot. Then someone said (didn't really recall) Governor Connally was shot. He was with John Newman. Some little boy said something "I was there and saw it". Then the phone started ringing off the desk. Complaints were coming in about why they accepted the ad. There was turmoil in the news room. The Bernard Weisman ad criticizing our beloved President. John Newman and I went to another part of the room. Newman said he told them not to take that ad. From the time I was told the President was shot, about 35 minutes later, they said he had passed away. I got very emotional. I called my sister and let [illegible] man listen to my sister [illegible]. I said "John, I have to leave Dallas, I might open up tonight". Then I left the room and the building and got my car. I couldn't stop crying. People looked at me when I stopped at a red light. Went to the Club. Maybe made a couple of calls. Maybe talked to a colored boy. Billy Wood called. Kathy Kay called. I called Ralph Paul at the Bull Pen. Ralph said do what everyone else does. (Referring to closing up). I said I couldn't do it. I called Alice Nichols, the girl I had gone with. She was not there. I got her later. Didn't want to tie up the business phone. She called me. I don't know what was said. I called California to Al Gruber. He was a bad kid in Chicago. We were there together. He is OK now. He had been in Dallas four or five days before. He wanted to see about Sammy (Ruby's brother, Sam) about a car washateria business. He didn't see Sam about the car washateria. I promised Al a dachshund dog. I called him in California. He was watching TV. I cried and had to hang up. I called my sister in Chicago and I called some other people. I kept calling Eve. Eve has a conflicting personality. I can't always be with her but wanted to be with her at this time. I told the boy to crate the dog. I wanted to eat. I felt hungry and wanted to get intoxicated on food. Funny, but it's true. I went to my sister's apartment. She knew more of my calls than I did. I am sure I made some calls. Someone will have to piece them together. Oh, yes, Andy said Don Seaffin of the Times-Herald called. I called him and he asked are you going to close. I said yes, I don't care about who else does. I called Eve and asked her what to do. She said there wouldn't be any business anyway, to close for three days. I called Staffin. I told him we were closing for three days. Then I called the News. I wanted to make sure that the ad was changed. I talked to some assistant there. Then I took a nap and woke about 7 or 7:30. I called Jacobson about services at the _____ Temple. He said he didn't know. Then I called Seth Isareal and talked to a girl. She said something about 7 or 8 o'clock. I asked if there wouldn't be something sooner. I left the Club and went to the apartment. I think I drove down Thornton Freeway and saw two clubs open.

I went to the synagogue and talked to Rabbi Silverman. I thanked him about Eve. He had seen Eve some short time before. Then I went to a place and had a little punch. Said hello to the owner. Then I went by the Bali Hai and saw it open. The Gay 90's was closed. Then I went down Preston Road. I got to thinking. The police were walking around. This is the craziest thing that ever happened. I liked the police. I abide by law. I went into a delicatessen and got ten or twelve sandwiches. While they were fixing them, I got on the phone and called Sims. Sims said, "We don't need them." Gordon McLendon has been very good to me. Free plugs, etc. Then I heard about a disc jockey on KLIF giving a description of Oswald. I seldom use that name, Oswald. I don't know why. I wanted to take the sandwiches to KLIF. Russ Knight wasn't there. The man's name was Moore. I told him I wanted to get in. He said I can't get in after six without the hot number. I called McLendon's home and got a little girl. I asked for KLIF's number. I asked if anyone else was at home, that I wanted to get the number of the station; that I wanted to take some sandwiches down there. She gave me a number but there wasn't any such number. She said her mother had already taken some sandwiches to KLIF. Then I got the sandwiches and told the clerk that these were for KLIF. I went down McKinney Avenue to see if there were open clubs. Some were open. I couldn't understand this. Then I went to Thomas and Howard. I had my dog with me. I left the sandwiches and the dog in the car. Then I went to the police station and took the elevator to the second floor. This is the first time I entered the building. It was about 11:15 p. m.. I asked the officer "Where's Joe Long?" I'm a little domineering. Someone shouted for him and I said hello to Col. Jones and another officer. I was being carried away with the events, with history. Someone brought the prisoner out. Some newsmen were there. I don't remember Henry Wade (at this time Tonahill had written a note and handed it to Lee Rankin. Ruby asked Tonahill "Is that for me, Joe?" Tonahill said, "No" or words to that effect.)

Someone then said to Fritz "Isn't there a larger room?" They said let's go to the assembly room. I didn't find Joe Long and went to the assembly room. No one questioned me and I sat on a table out of everyone's view. They brought the prisoner out, asking questions. Some cheap judge or county justice or some judge was there. Henry Wade was there and Curry. When Henry Wade was being questioned, he mentioned "Free Cuba". I had heard over the radio that it was "Fair Play for Cuba" so I corrected Wade. Wade said "Oh, yes, Fair Play for Cuba." Lots of questions were fired back and forth. Wade let the reporters know that the prisoner was the one. I wasn't interested in if he were the one. I went up to Henry Wade and said "I'm the one who corrected you." I guess it was a silly thing to do. I had met Wade sometime back. When I left Wade, two men passed by and I asked "Are you Joe Long?" One man was Sam Pace, and the other Jerry Dunkel. I got the number of KLIF from them. John Rutledge's testimony said I saw him. I called KLIF and said I had some sandwiches. I see Wade and I asked him if they wanted him. They replied Yes. I yelled at Wade and got him on the phone. Everyone was beckoning Wade. Wade talked to the station and the man was very elated that I had gotten Wade on the phone. I asked him, "Will you let me in?" He said they only left the door open five minutes. I saw Russ Knight. He wanted to know where's everything happening? So I took him down to Wade. Wade says, "Oh, yes, the Weird Beard." This conversation caused a delay. I got there later. I can't get fair representation with my counsel. I can't get a lie detector test and I want to go to Washington.

WARREN SPEAKS: The Commission got a letter from Joe Tonahill. There has been no delay on his part.

CONGRESSMAN FORD: Said he was from Grand Rapids, Michiga

RUBY: I stayed at KLIF and talked with Knight. We talke about and brought out what we thought of the ad by Bernard Weiss I told Russ about Gordon McLendon and an editorial about Adlai Stevenson. We talked about other things current at the time. I stayed until about 2 a. m. They ate the sandwiches and had a visit. We also talked about the Wade interview. (At this time Ruby started looking down, staring, twisting paper) I'm at a disadvantage.)

WARREN: (After delay) (Brought back to date and said you were talking about their having a visit.)

RUBY: We talked about the tragedy. I left at 2 a. m. and was going to the Times-Herald Building. I don't normally go to the Times-Herald. I call them and they copy the News ad. I promised a boy at the Times-Herald that I told him about the "twist board". I wanted to change the ad to make it more effective. I heard someone honk a horn very loud. I saw a police officer in a car with Kathy Kay. They had been drinking and I stopped and stayed with them. The officer was Harry Olsen. I have always thought a lot of him. I left them out of all of this beiefe. I didn't want Harry Olsen to be involved. The girl's name was Kathy Kay. He said they should cut this guy inch by inch into ribbons. Kathy Kay said — she is an English girl I guess — the English would drag him through the streets. They were crying and carrying on. I left and went to the Times-Herald.

I want to see what that note is. (Tonahill had handed the note to Leo Rankin and Ruby read the note, threw his glasses down which were loaned to him by Tonahill. He said this note says this is the girl who started me off. Ruby said something in a loud voice about Tonahill, then

WARREN STRIKED: You have been speaking very rationally.

RUBY: I have got to go to Washington to get any tests, but I don't want to talk any more unless you get me a lect, to get me to Washington immediately, after what Joe Tonahill has written. "This is the thing that started Jack in the shooting." You're lying, Joe. You're trying to make premeditation. I want a lie detector test.

WARREN: If you want a lie detector test you must have some thing to compare it with.

RUBY: Joe knows that thought didn't enter my mind. Why go back to Friday? Why go back to Friday? You'd like to build up the officer and didn't in the trial. Too bad, Warren, you didn't get me to your headquarters sooner.

WARREN: We didn't want to prejudice you. We're sorry we didn't get here sooner. If you want a test I'll see you get it.

RUBY: Do you have the power even if the District Attorney objects?

WARREN: Yes, I do.

RUBY: How soon can it be done?

WARREN: We will be expeditious. We won't unnecessarily delay.

RUBY: Are you staying overnight?

WARREN: No, I have business with the court tomorrow.

SHERIFF DECKER: Jack, talk to these men like a man. They have come a thousand miles to see you and hear you. Be a man!

MOORE: To get a lie detector test you must have a yes or no answer. You must have something to compare it with.

RUBY: This whole thing is a terrible ordeal.

WARREN: Yes, that's why we want you to tell it your own way. This will make it easier to verify in the way you want it done.

RUBY: You don't understand.

WARREN: You told us ------and you were about to get down ----------.

RUBY: This is just Friday - - - [illegible] the Times-Herald I went upstairs -- this is about three -- left KLIF at two. Was with the girl and the officer about an hour. It could have been 4 o'clock. I am in the composing room with Pat Dodosh. I had brought in the "twist board". He wanted to see how it worked. It works on pivots. I don't want to be frolicky. It is on ball bearing discs. It looked like you are having a gay time. The board makes you look that way even though I wasn't. I asked about the black border on the ad (Here Ruby wanted Decker out. Decker asked him if he did see anyone in there that he didn't want, they would be removed. Said he wanted all the sheriff officers out. So Decker, Holeman and the Assistant Jailer left. Decker told Tonahill that he was personally responsible for Ruby's person in the absence of the Sheriff's Office being present.)

(After Decker left, Ruby started again)

RUBY: If you want me to say anything more, you'll have to get me to Washington. If you want me to tell the truth, I'll have to go to Washington. I can't tell it here.

(At this time Ruby starts staring at Joe Ball)

RUBY: Who are you?

BALL: I am a lawyer from Los Angeles. I know Melvin Belli, but I am not acquainted with him.

WARREN: There is no representative of the Committee that has any connection whatsoever with anyone.

(Again Ruby wanted to stop talking and go to Washington)

MOORE: I think you should tell your story.

RUBY: Warren, your life is in danger in this city.

WARREN: I don't know that. If you are you can talk to me in private RUBY: Have you ever had a witness like me?

WARREN: We have had many other witnesses who didn't remember as well. I think you should tell the story. It will be made public. I'll undertake to get you a lie detector test. We need the story.

RUBY: Can you take me to Washington now?

WARREN: We can't now. There are many factors involved -- the publicity of the matter. The Commission is not a law enforcement agency.

RUBY: They took precautions with you and you got here OK. The paper said so.

WARREN: I don't believe everything I read in the paper. Did you know Lee Oswald?

RUBY: This is why I want a lie detector. I am in danger here. Have I sounded crazy? Have I made sense? I may not live until tomorrow. If I'm talking sensibly I want to get to the public sincerely why my act was committed. It must be before the people of the highest authority. Then take the test. Don't you think if your life was in danger you'd do something.

WARREN: I'd think about it very carefully. We have the right to subpoena witnesses. We have the right to give tests and to verify testimony. We have taken testimony from 200 people from Dallas without going to Washington. Era wrote a letter asking that you testify. We want you to feel you can refrain from testifying but don't you think it would be to your advantage to tell your story. Don't you see how you could help?

RUBY: So much time has gone by.

WARREN: It is not too late. The Warren Commission has not made a report yet. We will have more witnesses and do not feel we are handicapped by the lateness of the examination.

CONGRESSMAN FORD: We didn't take Mrs. Kennedy's statement until day before yesterday.

RUBY: My whole family is in jeopardy. Their lives are in jeopardy. I'm a foregone conclusion. Eva, Eileen, Mary, I love them. Sam, Earl, Hyman, Hadge, my in-laws, they're in jeopardy of losing their lives just because they are related to me.

WARREN: Eileen wrote us a letter saying you wanted to testify. It may seem a long time ago.

RUBY: If you got to me sooner, then you'd know the truth about Ruby and his emotional background. Nothing happened prior to Sunday. I was emotional and carried away for Mrs. Kennedy. Someone owed it to the President that she didn't have to come back for the trial. I am being victimized in a plot on the world's worst tragedy and crime. Had I been given the chance sometime back, I told the officer some months ago, I asked about a lie detector, but my lawyers were not there. Oswald was not guilty but now Jack Ruby is.

WARREN: We can assure you that you are not. That no one believes it.

RUBY: There is an organization here, the John Birch Society. General Edwin Walker is the top man. Take it for what it's worth. The act I committed put a lot of people in jeopardy. Do you want me to delete this and not tell what's going on?

Mark I won't be living long, nor will my family. When I left my apartment some ------let's go back to Saturday. The Rabbi eulogized the man who fought in every battle, in every country, had to come back to his country (Ruby started crying here). I must be the world's greatest actor. Saturday night I just visited a little club and drank a coke. I was depressed. I went home and saw a letter in the newspaper to Caroline. It was a heart-breaking letter. Remember that? Alongside the letter there was a comment that Mrs. Kennedy might have to come back for the trial of Lee Oswald. I got carried away. Prior to that thought, I was never malicious to that person, never spoke to anyone. No subversive organization, no underworld person tried to contact me. It all happened that Sunday morning with the Mrs. Kennedy article. I had been taking pryludien (phonetic). I took it for food. Suddenly I felt that I wanted to show my love for another faith, -- me Jewish. It came in my mind that Mrs. Kennedy shouldn't come back. I drove to the County Building. A crowd was already gathering there. I guess it was because of the move at 10 o'clock. I guess I heard that on the radio. I got a call from a little girl. I said can't you wait? It was a double purpose. The wire and the other that started me down to the driveway to see Weaver. I went to the Western Union and sent the money. Then walked to the ramp. I didn't sneak in or cowardly get in. An officer was talking to San Terrence sitting in a car. I walked down the steps. There was the person. I wouldn't say it was hatred. He was insignificant for what my purpose was. I didn't want to be a hero. No one was near me and I didn't mingle with the crowd. You can check the time.

The wire was [illegible] about 1:17. Check the time to the bottom of the ramp. No time for conspiracy nor to mingle with the crowd. I was crazy. I had my hand on my gun in my hip pocket. Here he were. I saw him. That's all I can say. I don't care what happens to me. I said "You rat, you shot the president", and I did say I'm Jack Ruby but I didn't curse. I might have said something -- being of Jewish faith I wanted to show love even though not of the same faith. A friend of mine, a Catholic gambler, we were close. He thought a lot of me. I know he was heart-broken. I could see the face of McWillie before me. I thought I'd sacrifice myself to save Mrs. Kennedy from coming back to the trial. All things of my background I don't want to be a martyr. I knew notorious people in Chicago. I worked in a union. I left in 1940 because of the organizations moving in. I made many calls and had unfair competitors. They violated the rules of the union. I didn't. All the calls I made were to get help with the Variety of Artists. Competition was pretty rough. I called Bobby Fay, Barney Rose, Joe Adams, not to be involved with the underworld. I'd been away from Chicago 20 years. I called Manny and head of the union in Texas. I don't know his name. I think it's Butch Miller. What's his name? All the calls were at a time prior to what happened. I wanted help with the union. This is the only purpose of the calls.

WARREN: Did you ever know Oswald?

RUBY: Did you talk to McWillie down in Cuba? He is the Credit Manager in the Tropicana. He wanted me to come down. This was the good times. Now everything's different. He sent me a ticket and stayed at his apartment. I couldn't speak Spanish and I don't like gambling. This was in August of 1959. Any thought of being close to Havana was all because of him. In a plane there was an article he had sent me. I advised him. There was a guy on the plane said U. S. was not treating Castro right. McWillie plugged him. I tried to get Tony Zappi to write this. Ray Brantley, Ray's Hardware Store in Dallas, he called me and said call Brantley and get four little Cobra guns. I called Brantley and said Ray, McWillie wants four little Cobras, something like that. Ray says I know McWillie. This is the only deal with anyone from Havana. Brantley denies this. He feels it is against the law to send guns out of the country. Says they have an affidavit that he didn't receive this call. I didn't pick it up. It was C.O.D. If Brantley won't say that I called it will look bad for me. I have only seen Oswald in the assembly room. The part about the Cobras was in the early part of 1959. I didn't follow up to see if the guns were delivered.

WARREN: There was some stories in the paper about jeeps.

RUBY: This was the early part. I never had facilities to get jeeps. Perhaps in conversations with people I mentioned it. At one time a man smuggled some guns. I think his name was Langley out of Bay Shore. I read an article about him being given a jail term. This was before Batista fell. There is an organization in this area that has been indoctrinated that I killed the president. Just a feeling, Mr. Warren, you recall Friday night when I left the Times-Herald. I went to my apartment and got George Senator up. I said you have got to get up George. You have got to go with me. I called Larry at the Club and told him to get the Polaroid. I stood) at the Post Office to see but Box 1732. I think it was to my mind that I saw on a billboard Impeach Earl Warren. It was from Massachusetts and I thought it was the news number. I went to take the pictures. J.D. Tippit deceased 1963

Texas -14-

LEE RANKIN: Did you know Officer Tippitt?

RUBY: I knew a Tippitt, not this one. I knew some Tippitts, but I did not know this one.

LEE RANKIN: There was a story about Weisman, yourself and a rich oil man which was to the effect that you were seen at your Club together.

RUBY: I am the one who made the big issue of Weisman. When I went to the Turf Lounge there was a fellow there by the name of Bellochio. He said I have got to leave Dallas. It was about the ad. I only know one rich oil man. One of them runs the Stork Club.

WARREN: Mark Lane, the attorney for Mrs. Oswald, gave us this story. Lane testified before the Commission that Tippitt, Weisman and a rich oil man had an hour long conversation. Lane said it was confidential and he couldn't state who gave this information without a release from the person but he has not received any release as yet.

RUBY: I am innocent of any conspiracy as anyone in this room. I want you to go into it further even if you might embarrass me. When I lived in Chicago and sold tickets to sporting events you come to know these people. You don't have any other affiliation with them. This is the extent of my criminal activity. I haven't stolen, been part of a goon squad, gambler or bookie.

I didn't know what a gun looked like in Chicago. I don't belong to any subversive organizations and don't know anyone who does. I had a poor start. I lied about the gun in the shop. I didn't have it. I made that up for my defense.

LIE MANKIN: What year was it that you were in Cuba?

RUBY: Cuba was in 1959. I lived in Nehillie's apartment. I couldn't speak their language. I had two dates down there with girls I met at the Tropicana. The Fox Brothers own the Tropicana. I don't know their names but Martin is one of them. They are in Miami now. They came to Dallas to collect a debt.

(I left the room at this point and when I came back in approximately one or two minutes the following occurred)

MANKIN: Will you tell us what you said to Sorrells after the shooting?

RUBY: Ray Hall, the first one who interrogated me, while we waited in a little room either on the second or third floor. Spent an hour with him. I was broken up, and I constantly repeated about Mrs. Kennedy coming back. I gave him all about my background. I don't remember about the floor, being on an elevator. I don't recall about Sorrells. Being of Jewish faith I wanted to show great love. Somebody introduced me to someone and they say I said "What are you, a newsman?" This is ridiculous. I don't recall. I wouldn't do this for publicity and get myself hurt. I never inquired from the TV man when Oswald was coming down. This is ridiculous. You don't ask a question like that. None of it's true, about me saying "You couldn't do it -- get three more off." I never cursed. I might have said "Little Weasel" if Pryor says so.

MR. HOLT: There is some statement that you were going to Parkland Hosp.

RUBY: I didn't go to Parkland Hospital.

RANKIN: Did you say anything about Jack having guts?

RUBY: I never said that. I might have said this to Dronberg. I did say this. McWillie said about me, "Jack runs the Club well, nobody runs over him."

I went to Florida and I stopped at New Orleans. I went to Miami on a stopover. I got some rum. I talked to Delta employees in New Orleans and told them where to go in Miami. I could have gone to Miami and back through New Orleans. I saw the same fellows, Delta employees.

RANKIN: Are these employees in New Orleans?

RUBY: Yes, they work in New Orleans.

RANKIN: Do you remember going up the elevator after shooting of Oswald?

(There was a long delay here and Ruby stared at the desk, twisted his hands)

RUBY: Little things I don't remember. When the Fox Brothers came to Dallas they came with Mrs. McWillie. They had pictures with me in Havana. I stayed about eight days in the apartment. I never used the phone. I don't know how. McWillie left early in the morning and I came out to the Club later. Sometimes I went with him. Taxicabs are high down there. Ava Gardner was there. I left after eight days. I was bored. Gambling is not my business.

RANKIN: Have you ever been to Mexico?

RUBY: I went to Mexico 31 years ago, in 1933. I only left the country one time -- that was to Havana, Cuba.

WARREN: Is there anything else that you'd like to tell the Commission?

RUBY: You have got the juicy part.

WARREN: I think the report would be deficient without this meeting.

RANKIN: Tell us more about your fear of being killed.

RUBY: Some persons accusing me falsely as being a part of a plot to silence Oswald. When your family believes you, knowing you sincerely, they see me only as a guilty assailant of Oswald. My brother had a successful business and is going to be killed. When I told him it was because of Mrs. Kennedy that's all he wants to hear. They read papers which aren't true. All are in sympathy with me. People in power here have me as the accused assassin of our beloved president.

WARREN: I think it is fair to state that no witness has testified that you are part of a plot to kill the President.

RUBY: You don't know about here. Certain people want to gain by propagandizing for their own use. They will make up ways to present certain things to make me look guilty.

WARREN: If any witness does so testify, we will give you the opportunity to take the test and dispute it. Does this seem fair?

RUBY: No. It doesn't save my family. I don't know what can save me. Certain falsehoods have been said about me by the Birch Society. I may not live the next hour after I leave this room. The most fantastic story in the world. I did this out of love. If you had been here six months ago, Warren, you would know.

You, Warren, could know about true feelings against my people. This goes over your head, doesn't it?

WARREN: I can't clearly understand but we don't have this information, you do.

RUBY: I wish President Johnson would get deeper into the facts. I want him to find me out before he relinquishes certain powers to certain people. Jews are being exterminated. It's money. Consequently, a whole new government is taking over. Do I sound screwy telling those things? You'll never see me again. Let me ask if the President appointed you?

WARREN: Only Congressman Ford and myself were appointed. The others were hired employees.

RUBY: If you don't send me back to Washington tonight to show the President I am not guilty, then you'll see the most tragic thing that has ever happened. I won't be here for long. Maybe something can be saved. Maybe something can be done. Talked all this time and nothing climatic. What's to be done, Chief Justice? Something's got to be done. If I got up to Washington something can be saved. Right now we need to clean up the falsehoods about the Jewish race. If President Johnson knew the truth from me, if I am eliminated now --- has the president been told that I am part of the plot?

WARREN: If the President has been told that he gave no indication he believed it.

RUBY: If they found out I was telling the truth, maybe my people won't be tortured or eliminated.

WARREN: You can be sure the President wouldn't let that happen.

RUBY: [illegible] if I can tell the [illegible] people won't be tortured.

WARREN: The President will hear all of your testimony.

RUBY: I won't be around when that time comes.

JOE TONAHILL: Who's going to eliminate you?

RUBY: Certain things come about. If you don't take my testimony my people won't be informed.

WARREN: It had been taken and will be shown to the President and the public and to the country.

RUBY: You have lost me, Chief Justice.

WARREN: How?

RUBY: I won't be around. The only thing can help me is the lie detector test. This I want to have.

WARREN: I promised you that you could take such a test.

RUBY: When?

WARREN: I assure you it won't be unnecessarily delayed. On behalf of the Commission, I promise you that.

RUBY: When can I see the President?

WARREN: I haven't seen him yet but I will tell him.

RUBY: All I want is the lie detector. How do you know whether I told the truth or not?

WARREN: You get questions and you answer them yes or no.

RUBY: Maybe I can answer when I conceived the thought. It was on that Sunday morning.

WARREN: You can write out the questions you want to be asked.

RUBY: Yes, but when you leave here I am finished. My family is finished. The only thing that will help me is the lie detector test.

CONGRESSMAN FORD: You'll get a lie detector test. As a member of the Commission I assure you that, RUBY: How Will I know?

WARREN: We'll communicate with you directly.

RUBY: Warren, you have a lost cause. Chief Justice, people here think about you like they think about me.

WARREN: Take my word for it and Congressman Ford's, it will be done and without undue time.

RUBY: You'll never see me again.

WARREN: I believe we will be able to see you and you can have the test. I believe we have tired Mr. Ruby.

(At this time the meeting ended and the Commission went down the elevator first, leaving Tonahill and [redacted] with Holeman in the room. Ruby then told [redacted] that all he wanted to show was that he was telling the truth and that he wanted a lie detector test, and he didn't think he was going to get one. [redacted] told him that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court had promised him one. [redacted] thought that was pretty good indication that he would get it. He said all he ever wanted to know is that I am telling the truth. At this time, they took him off.)

WILLIAM McEWAN DUFF, Also Known As William McEwan McDuff, "Sandy,"
"Scottie," "Scotty"
INFORMATION CONCERNING ALLEGED ASSOCIATION BETWEEN GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER AND JACK L. RUBY

Investigation concerning William McEwan Duff and subsequent information which he reported has been predicated on information supplied on December 10, 1963, by Mr. Joe Loria, a Restaurant operator, Dallas, Texas. Mr. Loria advised that some 7 or 8 months previously he had seen an individual known to him only as "Scottie" -- subsequently identified as Duff -- with an individual believed to have been Lee Harvey Oswald. Mr. Loria, who had based his identification on photographs of Oswald which had appeared in Dallas newspapers, advised that he could recall only one time that he thought he had seen Oswald and "Scottie" together.

On January 24, 1964, William McEwan Duff, U. S. Army Serial Number RA 18 678 666, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, identified as "Scottie," was interviewed concerning his reported association with Oswald, an allegation which he denied. On this occasion he reported employment during the period November, 1962, to about April, 1963, in the household of General Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas. Concerning Jack Ruby, Duff stated on January 24, 1964, that he had seen many photographs of Ruby in the newspapers; that he was positive he had never seen Ruby at any place, and had no information about him. He said he had never been in Ruby's night club in Dallas. On May 25, 1964, however, Duff laid claim to an association between Ruby and General Edwin A. Walker, alleging that he had seen Ruby at the Walker residence, according to information supplied by James R. Cantrell, Special Agent, Secret Service, U. S. Treasury Department, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, as follows:

COPIES DESTROYED

William McEwan Duff

On May 26, 1964, James R. Cantrell, Special Agent, Secret Service, U. S. Treasury Department, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised that in an interview of William McEwan Duff on May 25, 1964, Duff had claimed evidence of an association between Jack Ruby and General Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas; that during the period December, 1962, through March, 1963, while Duff was employed by General Walker and resided in his home, Ruby visited on the basis of about once a month, each time in the company of two unidentified white males, arriving in a Ford car, not further described.

Duff claimed identification of Ruby through photographs, having heard him addressed only as Jack. The others he described as follows:

(1) White male, mid 30's, 5'11" to 6', weighing 145 pounds, dark receding hair; said to be a member of John Birch Society.

(2) White male, in late 40's, heavy build, dark complexion.

Duff advised that the three had always convened with Walker in the living room of the Walker residence. Duff at no time overheard their conversation.

When questioned concerning other witnesses, Duff said it is possible others in the Walker household, whom he could not name, might have identified Ruby, but he considered it doubtful they would assist, out of loyalty to General Walker. He mentioned one Bob Sutton as a possible witness. Sutton, employed by a paper or printing firm in Dallas, was said to have visited at the Walker residence.

Duff had no explanation as to why he had not reported this in previous interviews, both by Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and of the Secret Service, other than to state a fear of General Walker. He said he felt that he knew too much of Walker's operation and of the persons visiting his residence, intimating that Walker was diverting funds collected for the John Birch Society to a personal account at the Highland Park Bank, Dallas, Texas.

William McEwan Duff

Duff said he had known nothing of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Agent Cantrell said that his receipt of this information from Duff, predicated on an earlier interview on April 8, 1964, at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and several subsequent telephone calls, both from Duff and his wife, Peggy Marie Duff, indicate Duff may be using this means to impress his wife and to restore their marital relationship. Duff's wife had threatened divorce on grounds he had misrepresented his background, even claiming to have the rank of Captain in the U. S. Army.

Duff had called Agent Cantrell on long distance telephone from Lawton, Oklahoma, on May 20, 1964, to advise that the man who had offered him $10,000 to kill General Walker had been following him at Lawton; that he, in turn, had followed this man to the Capri Motel, Lawton, Oklahoma, where he established that the man was Cliff Roberts of the Oklahoma Crime Bureau. Roberts had interviewed Mrs. Duff, informing her that warrants were outstanding for Duff. Cantrell said the purpose of Duff's call was to enlist his aid in clearing this matter with Mrs. Duff; to inform her that no warrants were outstanding. In a later call on the same evening, Duff had put Mrs. Duff on the telephone for this purpose, although it had taken three or four minutes to do so, the two in an apparent argument. At this time, Mrs. Duff had asked that Cantrell call her on the following day at her office. She is said to have been employed for some 17 years by the Consolidated Supply Company, Lawton, Oklahoma. She railed against Duff, stating he had lied to her.

Cantrell said on the following day he had been unsuccessful in reaching Mrs. Duff. On May 25, 1964, he received a long distance telephone call from Mrs. Duff in which she stated her husband had vital information in the case concerning the assassination of President Kennedy. A meeting was arranged on that evening at the police station in Chickasha, Oklahoma. It was at this time that Duff, in the presence of his wife, related the information concerning the alleged association of Jack Ruby and General Edwin A. Walker.

William McEwan Duff

Agent Cantrell said he had taken Duff aside in an effort to establish the truth, pointing out that if the information were found not to be true, Duff could be subject to prosecution. He invited Duff to change his story, if it were not the truth, while maintaining the fiction to his wife. Duff insisted on its truth and volunteered that he would submit to a polygraph examination if desired. Duff requested that the polygraph examination await his discharge from the Army on June 1, 1964, on grounds of fraudulent enlistment. He claimed to have been in the Air Force from December, 195?, to December, 1960, and had not so indicated when enlisting in the Army.

Agent Cantrell advised he had been informed by Cliff Roberts, Oklahoma Crime Bureau, that Duff had been examined by psychiatrists at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and had been diagnosed as a pathological liar.

On June 12, 1964, Peggy Marie Duff, 1213 Lawton Street (ELgin 5-8009), Lawton, Oklahoma, a civilian employee of the U. S. Army in the Consolidated Supply Department (ELgin 1-4208), at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, advised of the following in a telephone conversation initiated for the purpose of locating William McEwan Duff for interview.

Mrs. Duff said that she is now divorced from William McEwan Duff, a divorce filed by her attorney, J. Merrill Oakes, on February 14, 1964, in Comanche County, Lawton, Oklahoma, effective June 3, 1964.

Duff, she said, had been discharged from the U. S. Army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, on June 2, 1964, under Section 606 for fraudulent enlistment and has left the Lawton area.

Although Mrs. Duff said she had not seen Duff since June 3, 1964, he had called her on the telephone on June 12, 1964, from Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. At this time Duff, who would not give his address, perhaps because he is to pay $100 per month alimony in connection with his divorce, advised Mrs. Duff that he had secured employment at Oklahoma City through General Clyde Watts whom he described as an attorney at Oklahoma City and counsel for General Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas. Duff claimed that he was living at the time with an elderly friend of General Watts, a friend who was retired. In order that Mrs. Duff might return a telephone call which he had requested, Duff supplied the telephone number for the residence of this individual with whom he said he was residing; the telephone number being VIctor 3-3075.

Mrs. Duff stated that on the evening of June 12, 1964, she had called the number VI 3-3075 at Oklahoma City to contact Duff. The telephone was answered by an individual who sounded as though he were elderly and who had summoned Duff to the telephone by addressing him as "Bill." Mrs. Duff said that this was a collect telephone call to the number, charges which Duff accepted, and that the call lasted for well over an hour, terminating at about 12:25 a.m., June 13, 1964.

In her conversation with Duff at this time, Mrs. Duff said that she had reminded Duff that he was to contact Agent James R. Cantrell, Special Agent of the Secret Service at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, for purposes of taking the polygraph examination to which he had agreed following his discharge from the military for fraudulent enlistment. According to Mrs. Duff, Duff responded to this by saying "You notify Cantrell, and I'll be gone." Mrs. Duff stated that she would judge by this statement by Duff that he had no intention of pursuing this matter in which he had alleged that Jack Ruby had visited the residence of General Walker on occasion during Duff's employment in the Walker residence.

Mrs. Duff stated she had no additional information concerning the current allegation by Duff and had no information other than as related concerning his whereabouts. She advised that should Duff contact her at any time in the future, she would notify the Federal Bureau of Investigation immediately.

On June 12, 1964, James D. Andrews, 1st Sergeant, F Battery, 1st Training Battalion, U. S. A. T., Fort Sill, Oklahoma, advised that William McEwan Duff had been discharged under Section 606 -- Fraudulent Enlistment -- on June 2, 1964.

On June 12, 1964, Private First Class William H. Grim, Transfer Point, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, advised that Duff's personnel file had been forwarded to the Department of the Army on June 3, 1964.

William McEwan Duff

On June 16, 1964, William McEwan Duff, 1211 Tedford Way, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised that since the date of his previous interview on January 24, 1964, with a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation at Lawton, Oklahoma, he had been discharged from the U. S. Army, divorced from his wife Peggy Marie Duff and had moved to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, as of June 2, 1964.

With regard to his current status, Mr. Duff said that he had been discharged from the U. S. Army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, on June 2, 1964, under Section 606, Fraudulent Enlistment, for the reason he had failed to disclose on his enlistment that he previously had served in the Air Force from which he had been discharged for failure to adapt. He said his wife had filed for divorce at Lawton, Oklahoma, in February, 1964, a divorce effective June 2, 1964.

Duff said a week before moving to Oklahoma City he had visited General Clyde Watts, an Oklahoma City attorney, who is counsel for General Edwin A. Walker by whom Duff had been employed in 1962 and 1963 at Dallas, Texas. He said he had met General Watts when the General had visited General Walker in Dallas.

It had been through General Watts that he had obtained temporary living quarters with Marion W. Osborne at 1211 Tedford Way, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Osborne being a friend of General Watts. With the same recommendation he had obtained temporary employment at a firm managed by Mr. Osborne at the Paul T. Blakeney Company, 330 Northeast 38th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, a firm which distributes and repairs lawn mowers of commercial and home type. Mr. Duff said he anticipates General Watts will find employment for him as a heavy equipment operator in road construction at Oklahoma City by reason of his former association with General Walker.

Mr. Duff said that the information that he previously had related and would now relate was based on that gained in connection with his employment by

William McEwan Duff

General Edwin A. Walker from November, 1962, to April, 1963. He said he had been employed by General Walker as his "batman." He defined batman as a British military term for an orderly, valet, or personal aide, stating he previously had had such experience in England. Mr. Duff said he had applied for the job on impulse as one day he had passed the residence of General Walker in Dallas, a house which he had identified by the flags of the United States and Texas flying in front of the house, along with the name of the General. He said he had known nothing of General Walker until he had gone to Dallas; that he had learned of General Walker through newspaper accounts of the activities of the General. He said he had applied for the job in a personal contact with General Walker, who had been summoned by a volunteer aide when Duff had appeared at the door; that he had supplied no references; none were asked.

Mr. Duff said that his duties at the Walker residence largely concerned looking after the personal needs of the General, including cooking and chauffeuring for him. He said his day started each morning with the raising of the two flags in front of the house, and concluded when the house was locked and the General retired. Duff said that he was quartered upstairs, the front room to the left. He received no remuneration, only room, board and other personal requirements. Although he had access to the entire house, General Walker and his volunteer workers would use care that Duff neither saw correspondence nor overheard conversations of a business nature.

Duff said that during this period and in performance of his duties, he observed that Walker had numerous visitors.

When photographs of Jack Ruby appeared in the newspaper in November, 1963, after his shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, Mr. Duff said he believed him to be one of two individuals who had visited at the WALKER residence once each month in December, 1962, January and February, 1963. Mr. DUFF said that he is "not sure" of his identification; that there is "doubt in his mind"; that he "would not swear definitely" as to his identification of this individual as JACK RUBY. He said there are a lot of men who look like RUBY, adding "I saw one (of RUBY's likeness) in Oklahoma City the other day."

Mr. DUFF said that what identification he had made was on the basis of personal appearance only, a likeness which he had noted upon seeing the photographs of RUBY in the newspapers; that never had he heard Gen. WALKER or anyone else in WALKER's household mention RUBY in any respect nor had he any other basis which would indicate an association between JACK RUBY and Gen. WALKER.

Mr. DUFF stated that to his knowledge the two individuals in question had visited on these three occasions only, each time in the late afternoon at about 4:30 p.m. In December and January he had not observed their arrival but had only seen their departure, observing them as they stood at the doorway conversing with Gen. WALKER for several minutes after emerging from the sitting room where they had conversed behind the closed French doors. Mr. DUFF stated that he had heard none of the conversation. He said WALKER always conducted his business in this manner, not wishing to be disturbed. On the occasion of the third visit of these individuals in February, 1963, DUFF said he had seen them arrive, parking a 1958 Ford at the corner. Mr. DUFF was not able to provide further description of the Ford vehicle. Mr. DUFF said his view of the man whom he thought to be JACK RUBY was only a profile and view of the man's back only.

Mr. DUFF described the man whom he had considered might be JACK RUBY as follows:

White male American, 40 to 50 years of age, 5'8", 125 pounds, grayish white hair, wearing a business suit. DUFF described this individual as being very thin in appearance.

The second individual DUFF described as a white male American, in his late 40s, 5'11" to 6', 210 pounds, with an evident paunch. This man had very black hair and was believed to have been of Italian or Mexican descent according to DUFF. He was described as wearing a dark business suit. Neither man carried brief cases or dispatch cases of any type.

Mr. DUFF stated that he previously had not informed of this possible association between JACK RUBY and General WALKER based on his personal identification because on the occasion of his interview in January, 1964, he had been interviewed at the hospital at Fort Sill and was more concerned about his personal welfare and physical condition than the matter which he reported.

Mr. DUFF reiterated that while he cannot now be certain that the individual who visited WALKER actually was JACK RUBY, in his view, this possibility alone was sufficient to require his reporting it to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He volunteered to take a polygraph test concerning the matters which he had reported.

Mr. DUFF was asked whether or not he was acquainted with one ANDRE ANGELES. Mr. DUFF said he was not acquainted with such an individual and knew of none in his acquaintanceship who had traveled to Dallas, Texas on November 22, 1963.

DUFF stated that never had he seen nor had he been in any association with LEE HARVEY OSWALD; that he has never seen anyone of OSWALD's description at the residence of Gen. WALKER.

Mr. DUFF stated that he had left the employment of WALKER because of friction between himself and several women of the office staff. He said he was supposed to have time off from his present duties when the General was away but the women on the staff became very demanding of him instructing that he make coffee, tea and expecting him to do other chores for them. He said he finally had had enough of this and left.

Mr. Duff stated that in the event a later interview might be required, he would advise of any change of address in order that he might be located readily.

It is noted that information, as originally obtained from Special Agent James R. Cantrell, U. S. Secret Service, as reported herein, indicated the presence of two men with the individual believed to have been Jack Ruby, on the occasions of the reported visits to the residence of General Walker. Mr. Duff advised there was not a third man, only two, one whom he thought might have been Ruby. He said if three men had been reported, it was in error.

On June 16, 1964, Mr. Marion W. Osborne, 1211 Tedford Way, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, employed as manager for the Paul T. Blakeney Company, 330 Northeast 38th Street, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, advised he had given temporary residence and employment to William McEwan Duff upon the recommendation of General Clyde Watts, an attorney for the Blakeney firm, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Mr. Osborne, who advised he had been general manager of the Twentieth Century Fox Films, Inc., at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, from 1925 until he retired several years ago, said he knew nothing of the background of Mr. Duff or of the basis for Duff's interview sought by the Federal Bureau of Investigatio

On June 16, 1964, Clyde J. Watts, attorney, 219 Couch Drive, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, contacted the Oklahoma City Office by telephone from Fort Worth, Texas, and furnished the following information:

William Duff contacted Watts in Oklahoma City on approximately June 7, 1964, indicating he had just been discharged from the Army by reason of fraudulent enlistment, and was in need of employment.

Watts had known Duff to be formerly associated with former General Edwin Walker in Dallas, Texas, and believed Duff possibly had information concerning the assassination attempt on General Walker. Watts believed that if he kept Duff around where he could talk with him there would be a chance Duff would reveal his knowledge of the Walker assassination attempt. Watts contacted a friend at the Paul Blakeney Company, a lawn mower service company in Oklahoma City, obtaining a job for Duff.

Interviewed on a previous occasion, January 8, 1964, Mr. Watts had advised of the following concerning William McEwan Duff, information he had gained as counsel and friend of General Edwin A. Walker:

Mr. Watts advised he is a long-time personal friend of Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas, former General of the United States Army; that he presently is acting as legal counsel for General Walker.

In the Spring of 1963, shortly after someone shot at General Walker in his home in Dallas, Texas, Watts hired two private investigators in Oklahoma City to go to Dallas and attempt to ascertain the identity of the person who had shot at Walker. These investigators were Bill Keester, former member of the Oklahoma City Police Department, and Cliff Roberts, former Oklahoma State Narcotics Bureau Agent.

During the investigation conducted by Keester and Roberts, information was received that one Bill Duff, a Scotsman, who was at one time employed by Walker or Walker's staff, had allegedly remarked he was the person who had shot at Walker. Keester and Roberts made contact with Bill Duff without disclosing their true identity or capacity as private detectives, and offered Duff $5,000 to shoot General Walker. Duff was interested in the proposition and discussed with Keester and Roberts a plan to shoot General Walker. A tape recording was made of the discussion and this recording, along with the results of the investigation by Keester and Roberts, was turned over to the Dallas Police Department. At no time did Duff ever admit to Keester and Roberts that he was the person who had previously attempted to shoot General Walker. At the time Keester and Roberts were in contact with Bill Duff, he resided at 5420 Lewis Street, Dallas, Texas.

On January 16, 1964, Cliff Roberts, Investigator, Oklahoma State Crime Bureau, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, was interviewed concerning his employment as a private investigator by Clyde J. Watts, attorney, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, representing General Edwin A. Walker. He had been retained, he said, with an associate, Bill Keester, for purposes of investigating the attempted shooting of General Walker. In connection with this matter, he had conducted investigation concerning William McEwan Duff, offering Duff $5,000 to shoot Walker, in an effort to establish whether he had information concerning the earlier attempt. During the discussions with Duff relative to this plan, Duff never made any admissions which would indicate he was guilty of the earlier shooting, although he attempted to show some knowledge, in an apparent attempt to impress Roberts and Keester. Roberts said he considered Duff to be a "complete phony" in every respect, and was convinced he had gone along with Roberts and Keester merely in an attempt to get some money out of them.

Investigation concerning William McEwan Duff has disclosed the following background data concerning him:

William McEwan Duff was born November 4, 1931, at Grangemouth, Stirlingshire, Scotland, and on January 24, 1964, was serving in the United States Army at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He is enlisted under serial number RA 18 678 666 and was connected with Battery D, First Training Battalion, USATC-FA, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Duff, when interviewed on January 24, 1964, claimed he had been a member of the British Army, the "Argyles," an infantry unit, from 1949 to 1952. He worked for a number of years for the British National Railroad as an engine driver, and came to Dallas, Texas, in November, 1962. He said at that time the newspapers were full of news of General Edwin A. Walker and he felt he might get a job with the General as his "Batman." Duff, according to his own statement, went to the General's home in Dallas, was hired, and resided at the Walker house as an employee from November, 1962, to April, 1963. He left the employ of General Walker because of friction with a woman on the General's staff.

In August, 1963, he left Dallas and went to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where he enlisted in the United States Army and was sent to Fort Polk, Louisiana, for basic training, and on December 10, 1963, left Fort Polk and went to Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

William McEwan Duff

He claimed in July, 1963, he was investigated by the Dallas Police Department in connection with the attempted shooting of General Walker. He said he took a lie detector test and was "completely cleared" as a result. He is reportedly a former chauffeur and handyman for General Walker.

Duff is described as follows:

Unfortunate for me, for me giving the people the opportunity to get in power, because of the act I committed, has put a lot of people in jeopardy with their lives.

Don't register with you, does it?

CHIEF JUSTICE WARREN: No. I don't understand that.

MR. RUBY: Would you rather I just delete what I said and just pretend that nothing is going on?

CHIEF JUSTICE WARREN: I would not indeed. I am only interested in what you want to tell this Commission. That is all I am interested in.

RE: THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION

Similar dissemination will be made of subsequent volumes of the Commission's report when available. These subsequent volumes contain the completed testimony of all witnesses who appeared before the Commission or gave sworn depositions or affidavits, the accompanying documentary exhibits and other investigative materials which are relied upon in the report.

The field and/or Legats are being instructed to answer all inquiries with a "no comment" and to refer the matter to the Bureau for appropriate instructions, if necessary. Indexing will not be done in the field but at the Seat of Government.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That the attached All SACs and All Legal Attaches airtel be approved, advising a copy of the report will be sent them under separate cover and instructing how to handle inquiries upon receipt,

2. Upon approval of the above, that the Administrative Division make appropriate arrangements to disseminate the reports as indicated above,

3. That the Administrative Division make similar dissemination of subsequent volumes of the report when available.

4. That the Files and Communications Division thoroughly index the Commission's report and subsequent volumes relating thereto, when received.

SUBJECT: DIRECTOR'S TESTIMONY BEFORE THE PRESIDENT'S COMMISSION ON ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY

Attached is a copy of the transcript of the Director's testimony before the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy. This transcript has been examined for accuracy, including misspellings and typographical errors on the part of the court reporter. It is noted that apparently the court reporter did not record the Director's testimony accurately in some instances. We have made as few changes as possible, in order to preserve the intent and accuracy of the Director's testimony.

This testimony was gone over by Messrs. Mohr, Malley, Branigan, M. A. Jones, Gheesling, Rogge, and me, on a word-by-word basis. In addition, Assistant Directors Sullivan, Rosen, DeLoach and Conrad have read the testimony and furnished their suggestions.

It is planned that I will personally go over these changes with Mr. Rankin of the Commission.

"Incidentally, those items in Oswald's notebook requiring investigative attention were first set out in an investigative report of our Dallas Office dated December 23, 1963. This report was not prepared for this Commission but rather for investigative purposes of the FBI and, therefore, the information concerning Hosty's name, telephone number and license number was not included in the report as the circumstances under which Hosty's name, et cetera, appeared in Oswald's notebook were fully known to the FBI.

After our investigative report of December 23, 1963 was furnished to the Commission, we noted that Agent Hosty's name did not appear in the report. In order that there would be a complete reporting of all items in Oswald's notebook, this information was incorporated in another investigative report of our Dallas Office, dated February 11, 1964. Both of the above-mentioned reports were furnished to the Commission prior to any inquiry concerning this matter by the President's Commission.

This change has been noted on Romania copy of Director's testimony — and enclosed should be filed in 62-109090-168.

62-109090-168

Rel

Filed 5/[illegible]

their entire time to various aspects of the investigation, because ~~the leads~~ while ~~where~~ Dallas is the office of origin, ~~the~~ ~~investigation is required and leads ruh out to the~~ auxiliary offices ~~other offices in the country such as~~ like Los Angeles or San Francisco, ~~or~~ and even in ~~the~~ some ~~of the~~ foreign countries like Mexico, ~~and~~ We have ~~an office~~ representatives in Mexico City.

At the ~~height~~ outset of the investigation, ~~on at~~ the following assassination, it was the desire of the President to have this report completed by the Bureau just as quickly as possible, and as thoroughly as possible, and I would say we had about 150 men at that time working on the report in the field, and at Washington, D. C.

Now, all the reports that come in from the field are, of course, reviewed at Washington by the supervisor in charge of the case, and then in turn by the assistant director of ~~that~~ the division, ~~which is the Domestic~~ Intelligence Division, and then in turn by Mr. Belmont, who is the Assistant to the Director.

Reports in which there ~~have been~~ is a controversial issue or where statements have been made of the existence of some particular thing that we ~~had~~ have never heard of before, I myself, ~~at the end of the -- at the end of Sincity~~ going over ~~those~~ there to see that we haven't missed ~~or haven't had~~ anything or have any gap in ~~that~~ the investigation so it can be tied down.

Recently ~~there was this publication~~ the ~~New York~~ National Enquirer ~~which~~ had a fantastic article in it as to the existence of ~~various letters and requests made, and I did not have until I just reached this hearing this morning, the statement of the~~ article in which Stating Justice Dept had asked Dallas Police not to CONFIDENTIAL affect Lee Harvey Oswald & Jack Ruby.

~~Department. I think in the article, an allegation was made~~ that a letter had been written or a request had been made by the Department of Justice to Chief Curry of the Dallas Police Department, to withhold arresting Rubinstein, or Ruby and Oswald ~~[redacted]~~ after the ~~[redacted]~~ attempt on General Walker's life.

First, I had ~~the agents at Dallas~~ the agent in charge at Dallas interview Chief Curry and I have sent to the Commission a letter as to what Chief Curry had to say. He branded it as an entire lie — that he had never received any request of that kind. I had our files searched to be certain we had not written any such letter as that and found we had not. I requested the Department of Justice to advise me whether they had written any such letter and ~~it was just handed to me this note.~~ Mr. Katzenbach advises there is no reference in the Department files to the alleged letter from any Department of Justice official to Chief Curry nor any reference that an FBI official was asked to request the Dallas Police not to arrest Oswald or Ruby, ~~and~~ a letter is being sent to the Commission today setting forth this information.

~~So, it will be a formal record.~~

Rep. Ford. The point that I think ought to be made is that despite the magnitude of the effort that has been made by the FBI and by other agencies, and despite the tremendous effort that has been made, I believe, by the Commission to help and assist and to consolidate all of the evidence that we possibly could, that there is always the possibility at some future date that some evidence might come to the surface.

Mr. Hoover. That is, of course, possible, yes.

Rep. Ford. I want just to be sure that no leads, no evidence regardless of its credibility will be ignored, that it will be pursued by the Bureau or any other agency to make certain that it is good, bad or of no value.

Mr. Hoover. Well, I can assure you so far as the FBI is concerned, the case will be continued in an open classification for all time. That is, any information coming to us or any report coming to us from any source will be thoroughly investigated, and that we will be able to either prove or disprove the allegation. We found in the course of our investigations that individuals have made statements, and yet, when we investigate them and bear down on them to prove it A, B, C, D, they will frankly admit of the statement is an entire falsehood, and that they don't know why they wrote the letter or why they made the statement.

But nevertheless we have the record and generally in those instances we try to get a signed statement from that individual so it can be made a part of the record.

Rep. Ford. Under your authority from the President, the authority which gave you the FBI, the responsibility to conduct this investigation it is not an authority with a terminal point. It is an authority that goes on indefinitely?

4 Mr. Hoover. We found no indication at all that Oswald was a man addicted to violence.

~~Now,~~ The first indication of ~~that~~ an act of violence came after he, Oswald, had been killed, and Mrs. Oswald told us about the attempt on General Walker's life by Oswald.

No one had known a thing about that.

I think in the Enquirer article there is reference to the fact that the Dallas Police knew or suspected Oswald of possibly being a party to the shooting into the house of General Walker.

Chief Curry specifically denies that.

There was no connection of that kind and there was no evidence that ~~the man~~ Oswald had any streak of violence.

We went back into his Marine Corps record, ~~and~~ He was a "loner". He didn't have many friends. He kept to himself, and when he went abroad, ~~of course, and~~ he defected to Russia, ~~that was~~ The first evidence we had of him in our file, was a statement to the press in Moscow. And then later, about 22 months later, he returned to the ~~consulate~~ Embassy there and according to the report of the ~~consulate~~ Embassy we have and which the Commission has been furnished ~~with~~, the ~~consulate~~ Embassy gave him a clean bill. He had seen the error of his ways and disliked the Soviet atmosphere, et cetera, and they, therefore, cleared him, paid his way and paid his wife's way to come back to this country.

At no time, other than the so-called street disturbance

5 in New Orleans, was there any indication at he might be a fighter.

Well, in that particular instance he was handing out these leaflets that he printed for the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, U.S. and some of the anti-Castro forces, we have several thousand of them in New Orleans alone, ~~some of the anti-Castro forces~~ happened to see him and they moved in on him and immediately the police moved in and arrested him. I believe they fined him $10, ~~or something of that kind, but that was just~~ disorderly conduct, and there was no evidence in the place where he was employed, ~~we interviewed all of the people he was associated with in this storehouse they had~~ in Dallas ~~there where he worked, no one had any indication~~ of acts of violence or temper or anything of that kind on his part.

Rep. Boggs. You have spent your life studying criminology and violence and subversion. Would you care to speculate on what may have motivated the man?

I know it would be just speculation.

Mr. Hoover. My speculation, Mr. Boggs, is ~~the fact~~ that this man was no doubt a dedicated Communist. He prefers to call himself a Marxist, but there you get into the field ~~of exercise~~ of semantics, ~~almost~~. He was a Communist, he sympathized thoroughly with the Communist cause.

I don't believe now, as I look back on it, that he ever changed his views when he asked to come back to this country. I

ADMINISTRATIVE:

All Agents of the Dallas Office participated in this investigation, as well as numerous Agents from other surrounding Offices, and their identities are reflected in this report. The overlap of the period of this report with that of previous reports submitted was occasioned by the fact that efforts were made to breakdown the contents of the reports into appropriate sections when submitted.

In certain instances, this report may contain information from sources, the identity of whom would ordinarily be concealed and identified in the Administrative Section of the report; however, due to the gravity of this matter, and the fact that President LYNDON B. JOHNSON requested the FBI to conduct the investigation and the Governor of the State of Texas was also wounded at the time the President was assassinated, it is felt that the sources can be revealed without embarasament, in anticipation of possible dissemination of this report.

Where it was deemed absolutely necessary to conceal a source of information, the information has been set forth in the details without revealing the source, and the source is identified in subsequent paragraphs of the administrative data. No T- symbols were used in view of the fact that this was not considered a report whereby T- symbols would be permitted.

On December 21, 1962, LOUIS J. NICOLETTI, Investigator, Second U. S. Army Industrial Security Field Office, Philadelphia, Pa., Lt. Col. U. S. Air Force Reserve, residing at 8419 Ardleigh Street, Philadelphia, Pa., was interviewed at his request by SAs GEORGE BICKLEY, JR., and JAMES Q. CORD, 109th INTC, Philadelphia.

NICOLETTI related that he attended a Christmas party at the Willow Grove Naval Air Station on December 15, 1962, and that he became socially acquainted with a Mr. W. T. CALEY when CALEY asked NICOLETTI to join a group of people in his party. CALEY during the course of the evening, almost whispering asked NICOLETTI whether or not he had ever heard of "counter-insurgency." NICOLETTI stated to CALEY he had never heard of this, but having his curiosity aroused he attempted to determine from CALEY what "counter-insurgency" was. CALEY said he was speaking in reference to a "counter-insurgency" training program which had as its objective to hold down the American public. CALEY said he had literature regarding "counter-insurgency" and this "counter-insurgency" was related to Major General EDWIN WALKER of the U. S. Army in Texas. CALEY did not specify the relationship between WALKER and "counter-insurgency." CALEY said that he would make some of this literature available to NICOLETTI but NICOLETTI, after departing the club, never heard any more from CALEY.

CALEY gave NICOLETTI, during the course of the evening, his business card which read:

On March 8, 1963, Lt. JOHN LITZENBERG and Sgt. RUSSELL FLEMING, Radnor Township Police Department, Wayne, Pa., advised SA THOMAS F. LEWIS that WILLIAM T. CALEY had been a life-long resident of the area and comes from a family which at one time was considered wealthy. They estimated his age to be in the mid 60's, and said he operates the Caley Nursing Manor, 30 West Avenue, Wayne, Pa., which is also his residence. The manor is a combination rest and nursing home set up and operated by CALEY alone for about 15 years. They said they had never known CALEY to have been arrested or otherwise considered in the community as a criminal type. He does, however, have a history of making frequent and unfounded nuisance complaints to the department and is considered by most of the individuals who are familiar with him, as being mentally and emotionally unstable. They were reasonably certain, but not positive, he had been confined on occasion to mental institutions. He has few social acquaintances in the City of Wayne. He is considered to be completely unreliable in his comments and it is generally understood in the community that any statements made by him have little, if any, basis in fact. Lt. LITZENBERG said it was his opinion that CALEY's business survives because of the acute shortage of nursing establishments in the area.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963
DALLAS, TEXAS

Enclosed for receiving offices are copies of a letter from the Presidential Commission dated 1-15-64 and attached letter and envelope from G. P. Wyllie of 863 Earle Avenue, Northwest, Cleveland, Tennessee. These communications are self-explanatory.

For the assistance of Philadelphia, Army Headquarters files disclose that one Major John S. Wyllie, ASN 0946715, is assigned to Headquarters, Delaware-Eastern Pennsylvania Command at Wilmington, Delaware. He is reportedly stationed at the U. S. Army Reserve Center, 12th and Bern Streets, Reading, Pennsylvania. There is no home address indicated for Major Wyllie. It is not known if this individual is identical with the Major Wyllie referred to by G. P. Wyllie.

Knoxville and Philadelphia are instructed to immediately locate and interview the indicated individuals in accordance with the request of the Presidential Commission. Philadelphia must, of course, insure that Major Wyllie is the same individual referred to by G. P. Wyllie. Full details concerning the allegations must be obtained and any additional investigation necessary to resolve this matter must be immediately handled by teletype. Results of investigation should be furnished to the Bureau in a form suitable for dissemination without any delay.

Bureau records contain no information identifiable with Major John S. Wyllie; however, the following information is contained on G. P. Wyllie (Bureau file 63-7705), who is identical with the individual referred to above. The Bureau has received several prior communications from this individual starting in February, 1959, and the latest being in May of 1963. All of these communications have been highly critical of the Director and the FBI and extremely insulting in tone. You are, therefore, cautioned to be extremely circumspect in your contact with this individual.

NOTE:

In the letter to the Presidential Commission, G. P. Wyllie suggests that there is some connection between Jack Ruby and Lee Oswald occasioned by gambling operators. His letter does not contain much logic; however, he indicates his brother, Major John Wyllie, had told him that Oswald was after Governor Connally of Texas and he indicates his brother, while stationed at Fort Hood, Texas, probably learned of gambling operations and furnished this information to General Walker. Mr. Rankin desired that the Bureau conduct interviews to determine if there is any evidence to support the claims made by Wyllie, particularly the assertion that Oswald was intending to kill Governor Connally rather than the late President.

Bureau file 63-7705 on G. P. Wyllie shows that he initially wrote to the Bureau in February, 1959, and inquired if the Director was related to former President Herbert Hoover. The letter implied that if they were related the Director received favoritism because of the relationship. This communication was answered over Miss Gandy's signature and he was advised there was no relationship. In a letter dated 6-18-62, Wyllie commented that the Director had been head of the FBI 1½ years longer than the age of the Attorney General, Robert Kennedy, and stated "Too damn long in my opinion."

He stated he felt that people no longer think of the Director in regard to the FBI, but rather think of the FBI in regard to the Director and felt there should be a 16-year-limit imposed on the tenure in office by Federal executive officials. This letter was not acknowledged. He last wrote on 5-3-63 and wanted to know the Director's resident address so he could write as a private citizen. He desired to know the Director's views regarding a national police agency among other subjects. This was not acknowledged.

It is quite apparent this individual is a trouble-maker and rabble rouser and may even be suffering from a mental illness; however, in view of the request from the Presidential Commission we have no alternative but to interview him.

RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY,
NOVEMBER 22, 1963, DALLAS, TEXAS

ROGER GOLDSMITH

ROGER GOLDSMITH, 3414 Rogales, Dallas, Texas, telephone FLeetwood 2-6250, employed Collins Radio Company, Richardson, Texas, telephone ADams 9-5511, advised that about six weeks prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY, he attended a party at the residence of MARIA MORRISON, located in the 3000 block of San Carlos, University Park, Texas.

While at this party, GOLDSMITH was discussing politics and President KENNEDY with other persons present. It is his recollection that the subject was brought up by a Mrs. PATTERSON. During this discussion, GOLDSMITH made the point that he considered KENNEDY's policies dangerous to this country. He related that it was perhaps too early to judge or to know the full story and stated the reason he considered KENNEDY's policies dangerous was because he was apparently leading us toward Socialism.

GOLDSMITH related that what he said was that if in the next 5- or 10-year period it became evident that KENNEDY was leading us toward Socialism and bringing to pass measures including Socialism of medicine and Socialism of most industries, then if he had the opportunity under those conditions, he would probably kill KENNEDY.

GOLDSMITH stated this was not a statement made in jest but was an expression of his feelings; that in the event policies of KENNEDY did eventually lead to government control and ownership of all industry and control of the courts and resulted in a breakdown of constitutional processes, then under those conditions he would feel a moral obligation to kill KENNEDY. He made this statement concerning President KENNEDY, but, in fact, it was a theoretical discussion, and he was referring to any leader who would have destroyed our constitutional form of government.

GOLDSMITH recalled that during this discussion he mentioned how HITLER had taken over Germany and the middle class in Germany had given HITLER support, either actively or passively, and had not attempted to stop HITLER.

GOLDSMITH advised that after the assassination of President KENNEDY, MARIA MORRISON called him and asked him if he had made any rash statements to a Mrs. PATTERSON while he was at the party at MARIA's. MARIA MORRISON said she wondered, because Mrs. PATTERSON seemed to be upset concerning some statements GOLDSMITH had made. GOLDSMITH told MORRISON what he had said at the party and the background of the conversation and statement made.

GOLDSMITH said Mrs. PATTERSON was active politically in Dallas as a member of the Dallas Council for Foreign Visitors. GOLDSMITH is also a member of this group, a volunteer group which assists foreign visitors, most of whom are official State Department visitors.

GOLDSMITH advised further that he has talked with former Major General EDWIN WALKER on possibly two or three occasions at meetings in Dallas, but he does not consider himself a supporter of WALKER and does not agree with many statements made by WALKER.

A review of the file has determined that the American Eagle Publishing Company, P. O. Box 750, Dallas, Texas, distributed a pamphlet entitled "The Victory Purge", which contained an analysis by General WALKER. Another pamphlet entitled "What is Counterinsurgency?" also contained an analysis by General WALKER, and both were distribued in 1962.

FRANK B. MC GEHEE has been reported to be an associate of General WALKER, the latter having been arrested by authorities for his participation in the desegregation of the University of Mississippi.

Dear Mr. Rankin:

Enclosed herewith is a copy of a circular entitled "The Assassination Story" which advertises for sale a sixty-page booklet relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. Also enclosed is a copy of a circular letter signed by Frank B. Mc Gehee, 3737 Van Ness Lane, Dallas 20, Texas, which sets forth an appeal for funds in behalf of the National Indignation Convention. These two items which were furnished to this Bureau were mailed to a private individual in Washington, D. C., in an envelope postmarked Dallas, Texas, February 6, 1964.

Information from this Bureau's files shows that Frank B. Mc Gehee was the organizer and president of the National Indignation Convention which was formed in Dallas, Texas, on October 14, 1961, to protest the sale of one hundred thirty-five Sabre Jet aircraft to Yugoslavia and the training of Yugoslav airmen at Texas air bases. Mc Gehee is a self-admitted member of the John Birch Society and information has been received that this society was one of the prime movers behind the National Indignation Convention.

Mr. Mc Gehee is a white male, age thirty-five, a Korean War veteran who was formerly employed as a pilot for Pioneer Airlines and Continental Airlines in Dallas.

Joesten, a writer and admitted left wing liberal sent letter to the Attorney General indicating he was publishing a book entitled "Impossible Assassin" wherein he sets out "extensive documented" findings which convinced him Oswald is innocent and wherein he relates "clues" to the real assassins. It was recommended and approved he be interviewed concerning his allegations. Legat, Bonn located and interviewed Joesten 3/21/64 in Hamburg, Germany. Joesten proved to be very biased, erratic, adamant, and admitted "documentation" based on newspaper articles and four day visit to Dallas during 12/63. He feels real assassins are prominent Texas oilmen and local Dallas authorities. Influential German publication "Der Stern", after seeing draft of book, refused to publish same and endeavoring to abrogate prior agreement with him. All information developed by Legal Attaches and Field will be incorporated in investigative report which will be disseminated to the President's Commission.

JOESTEN's "exhaustive, carefully documented findings, which convinced (him) that OSWALD was innocent and also provided (him) with valuable clues concerning the identity of the real assassins and their motives..." is based on four days in Dallas in early December, 1963, in which he reviewed newspapers, principally "The Dallas Morning News" and talked to two individuals who furnished him information. One of these was a casual passer-by near the book depository in Dallas. The second was the landlady at the apartment where OSWALD stayed in Dallas. This landlady told JOESTEN what she had heard from her housekeeper, Mrs. ROBERTS, and also what OSWALD was wearing when he left her boarding house in Dallas.

JOESTEN's belief that OSWALD is innocent is based on his analysis of the times involved in the various incidents on the day of the President's assassination taken from earlier press reports. He says that these first press reports were factual and that later information was part of a cover-up in which OSWALD had been picked as the fall guy to cover the identities of the real assassins. The identities of the actual assassins are unknown to JOESTEN, however, they were in the employ of Texas oilman HUNT and well-known oil tycoon J. PAUL GETTY. These two individuals conspired with other unknown persons to assassinate the President because he intended to deprive them of income through a change in the oil depletion allowance regulations and because he intended to crack-down on them for the failure to pay adequate income taxes. According to JOESTEN, instruments of the conspiracy were District Attorney WADE, Sheriff DECKER and Chief of Police CURRY. General WALKER actually planned the carrying out of the assassination according to JOESTEN.

For the information of the Bureau, London and Paris, the Cultural Attache in the American Consulate in Hamburg, advised that he had learned that "Der Stern", after seeing the draft of JOESTEN's forthcoming book, had refused to publish it and are attempting to abrogate their agreement with JOESTEN and get their money back. JOESTEN stated, however, during interview that he has sold publishing rights in France to a condensation of his book to the firm of Opera Mundi in Paris. He said he instructed the publisher to send a copy of the condensation to Mr. RANKIN of the President's Commission. He also said he intends to go to London to interest a publisher there in British rights to his book.

JOESTEN would not reveal where he is staying in Hamburg nor would he give his forthcoming itinerary in detail although he said he can be reached in London through General Delivery after he leaves Hamburg. He also hinted at possibly going to Berlin.

For the information of the Bureau JOESTEN displayed a copy of a letter dated December 11, 1963, addressed to Justice WARREN at the Supreme Court in which he summarized briefly his ideas relative to the assassination of the President. He said he never received a reply. GEN

JOESTEN's statement in the letter received by Assistant Attorney General MILLER that he had been sent to Dallas, Texas, by "Der Stern" is somewhat misleading. JOESTEN is a "staffer" for "Die Zeit" which is published by the same firm which publishes "Der Stern". His normal headquarters is New York. He cabled "Der Stern" after the assassination stating that he would prepare an exclusive article for that magazine on the assassination if the magazine would pay his expenses and pay him for the article. The magazine agreed to this. He said he arrived in Dallas on December 6 or 7, 1963, and was there for four days.

JOESTEN presents a completely normal appearance, however, he became agitated when any of his "facts" were questioned. He based his conclusions on earlier newspaper reports but dismissed as a "cover-up" any subsequently reported information which tended to show the original reports were inaccurate as they often are in the confused after-math of a major event.

ADDENDUM:

Letter received from JOESTEN March 23, 1964, states he departed Hamburg, Germany this date for Paris where he will stay about one week. His address will be Poste Restante, Paris, France.

FD-302 (Rev. 1-25-60)

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date March 23, 1964

In February, 1964, Assistant Attorney General HERBERT J. MILLER, JR., received a form letter from JOACHIM JOESTEN which he referred to the FBI. In this letter Mr. JOESTEN stated that he had been sent to Dallas, Texas, by "Der Stern" of Hamburg, Germany, to conduct a thorough private investigation of the "many suspicious circumstances surrounding the assassination of President KENNEDY. On the strength of exhaustive, carefully documented findings, which convinced me that OSWALD was innocent and also provided me with valuable clues concerning the identity of the real assassins and their motives, I wrote a book of around 100,000 words... which is nearly completed..."

Mr. JOESTEN, who said in his letter that he was born at Cologne, Germany, in 1907, and became a naturalized American citizen in 1948, was interviewed at the American Consulate General in Hamburg, Germany, on March 21, 1964. He stated the following:

He arrived in Dallas on December 6 or 7, 1963, and stayed for four days. He concluded that LEE HARVEY OSWALD is innocent of the murder of President KENNEDY which can be readily seen by a review of published information. On the occasion of the President's visit to Dallas, Texas, there was only one published sketch of his intended route through Dallas and this appeared in the November 22, 1963, issue of "The Dallas Morning News" (DMN) in the lower left-hand corner of the front page.

OSWALD could not have known of the President's intended route because the paper did not appear until the morning of November 22, 1963, and according to testimony of Mrs. PAYNE, OSWALD's landlady in Irving, Texas, OSWALD went to bed at 9:00 PM on the night of November 21, 1963. According to earlier newspaper accounts Mrs. PAYNE said, corroborated by a neighbor, Mr. FRAZIER, that OSWALD left his residence in Irving at 7:15 AM on November 22, 1963. In order to do this OSWALD would have had to have arisen about 6:30 AM. He, therefore, could not have seen "The Dallas Morning News" before he left Irving and, therefore, could not have gone prepared to shoot the President.

On 3-21-64 at Hamburg, Germany File #

by Assistant Legat John C. F. Morris Date dictated 3-23-64

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

ENCLOSURE

The most important factor is that the actual route which the President took differed from the published sketch. The sketch in the DMN showed that the President would travel straight down Main Street in Dallas to proceed under the "triple underpass." However, the President's car turned to the right on Houston from Main and then turned left on Elm Street which took the car past the book depository.

Mr. JOESTEN was told by an unidentified individual he met on the street near the book depository that traffic rules required that traffic move in the direction taken by the President if it was intended to turn right into Stemmons Freeway subsequently. JOESTEN tested this twice during a ride in a taxi and found this not to be true. OSWALD could not have known that the route would change even had he been aware of the intended route and it would have been impossible for him to have shot the President from the book depository had the President's car continued straight on Main Street. Mr. JOESTEN said he knows nothing of shooting and firearms but that he had observed what would have been the probable angle of fire and had noted that trees would have prevented accurate shooting.

When Governor CONNALLY was interviewed by newsman MARTIN AGRONSKY shortly after the shooting he said that when he heard the shots he turned to his left. However, the Governor was shot in his right side below the shoulderblade according to newspaper accounts and, therefore, the shot that hit him could not have come from behind.

At least two doctors at Parkland Hospital in Dallas stated that the President had been hit in the front of the neck just below his Adam's apple according to the DMN of November 23, 1963, and had been shot again in the back of his head. According to the DMN of November 23, 1963, "Doctors said (if CONNALLY had not turned) he would have taken his bullet in the heart..." This proves conclusively that the shots were fired from in front of the President's vehicle. Later published reports concerning the autopsy findings made by the medical team at Bethesda Naval Hospital are untrue and a part of the "cover-up" in this case. For this reason the autopsy report has never been made public.

Particularly significant is the fact that OSWALD had never been legally charged with the murder of President KENNEDY but was only charged with the shooting of officer TIPPET. It is apparent that OSWALD was the victim of a deliberate frame-up by the Dallas Police. A story in the November 23, 1963 edition of the DMN headlined "President's Murder Charged to OSWALD" reported that "witnesses to the shooting (of officer TIPPET) described a bushy-haired man about 30...wearing a white cotton jacket..." OSWALD was 24 and looked younger. From photographs it is evident that he did not have bushy hair. Photographs also do not show him wearing a white cotton jacket and he could not have had time to put one on or to change from one. OSWALD's landlady in Dallas, Mrs. JOHNSON, told JOESTEN that when OSWALD left the house he was wearing a zipper jacket and as he went out he zipped it up. Mrs. JOHNSON made a zipping motion. She described the jacket as olive brown. A photograph in the November 23, 1963 DMN, section 1-5, pictures OSWALD in handcuffs in the jacket described by Mrs. JOHNSON. According to published reports OSWALD left the rooming house at 1:08 PM and officer TIPPET was killed at 1:15PM.

Mrs. HELEN MARKHAM is quoted in the DMN of November 23, 1963, as stating she was waiting for a bus and she had no trouble recalling what the killer of officer TIPPET looked like. "...I thought he was going to kill me too and you really look good at a time like that." The actions of the person who shot officer TIPPET, who certainly was not OSWALD, and the actions of officer TIPPET indicate that they knew each other. Newspapers reported that officer TIPPET stopped his patrol car and motioned for a pedestrian to come over to the car. The pedestrian said something to officer TIPPET. TIPPET got out of his car, walked around behind it and approached the man standing on the sidewalk. They exchanged some words. Then the man shot officer TIPPET. If this man had been OSWALD and he had just killed the President, he would not have stopped and talked to the patrolman unless they had known each other previously and this fact proves that this was the case.

The DMN of November 26, 1963, reported that "Police converged on the area and trailed the slayer to the 400 block of East Jefferson. They saw him dart between a service station and a drive-in grocery. (Officers) continued a zig-zag trail westward on Jefferson..." District Attorney WADE in a press conference on Sunday a few hours after OSWALD had been killed said "Yes he was on foot and apparently headed for the Texas Theater. He then walked across a vacant lot. Witnesses saw him eject the shells from a revolver and place--reload--the gun. Someone saw him go to the Texas Theater. A search was made of that later by a number of police officers."

This is obviously inconsistent because if police saw the killer dart between a service station and a drive-in grocery then the statement of Mr. WADE is untrue that he walked across a vacant lot and was seen to reload his gun. The earlier account is the true one.

Police spokesmen said that OSWALD probably had hoped to go to Mexico and then to Cuba after shooting the President and officer TIPPET. Officer TIPPET was killed on East Jefferson in Dallas just in the exact opposite direction from that which would be taken to leave Oak Cliff. The route westward out of Oak Cliff is a main thoroughfare connecting with a principal highway going to Fort Worth. There are no exits from Oak Cliff on East Jefferson. OSWALD had no reason to be on East Jefferson where officer TIPPET was killed and was not there.

When OSWALD left his Oak Cliff boarding house he was on the run because he did fear the police and had become more fearful after his encounter with a police officer in the book depository after the President was shot. OSWALD was actually on West Jefferson at the time officer TIPPET was killed going to see his mother in Fort Worth. Hearing the converging police cars arriving at the scene where officer TIPPET was killed he naturally panicked and took refuge in the Texas Theater not because he had killed the President or officer TIPPET but because of fears of the police for other reasons.

The "New York Times" published an interview with District Attorney WADE in which he said that TIPPET was killed a block or two from OSWALD's Oak Cliff boarding house. The distance is actually ten blocks. The reason Mr. WADE lied about this is because the time element is supremely important in the question of whether or not OSWALD could have been in a position to shoot officer TIPPET. TIPPET was shot at 1:15 PM.

From the previously described circumstances it is apparent that he must have hailed his assailant not later than 1:14 PM. From this alone it is apparent that OSWALD could not have been there because he could not have covered the ten blocks from his rooming house in six minutes. JOESTEN tried it several times and his fastest time was ten minutes and he is a bigger man than OSWALD with a longer stride and, therefore, could walk faster than OSWALD.

In addition, JOESTEN talked to Mrs. JOHNSON who told him that her housekeeper, Mrs. ROBERTS, had seen OSWALD leave the house and had seen him at a bus stop leading to downtown Dallas. OSWALD had no reason to go to downtown Dallas which would have been swarming with police looking for the President's assassin in any event. Actually he was pondering going back to Irving to see his wife before going to Fort Worth to his mother. OSWALD was probably at the bus stop for one minute. This leaves him just five minutes to walk the ten blocks to where officer TIPPET was killed. The fact that OSWALD was fearful of the police and was going to Fort Worth to his mother makes it very logical for him to have been on West Jefferson but he was never on East Jefferson.

The "New York Times" quotes District Attorney WADE as saying that when approached in the Texas Theater OSWALD had tried to hold a gun against the head of patrolman MC DONALD. The gun was snapped but did not fire. Mr. WADE repeated this statement. The press quoted MC DONALD as saying he "... rammed his hand into the top of the man's trousers and grabbed the revolver." According to newspaper reports FBI firearms experts found the firing pin of the gun reportedly taken from OSWALD so bent that it could not strike the "cap of the bullet."

It, therefore, appears most probable that the pursuing officers who began the search after TIPPET was killed actually found the killer and killed him or otherwise disposed of him, took his gun and forced it into OSWALD's hand after they found him after bending the firing pin on the pistol. This was done to insure that OSWALD could not shoot someone after the gun was forced into his hand.

This, therefore, clearly shows (1) OSWALD is innocent, (2) the actions of the police and the statements of Mr. WADE show no innocent error, therefore, (3) there has to have been a conspiracy to assassinate the President, and make OSWALD the "fall guy", involving the Dallas police.

MARQUIS CHILDS, the well-known columnist, wrote on October 12, 1963 that President KENNEDY had confided to intimates that he intended to "crack-down" on HAROLDSON L. HUNT, a Texas oil millionaire and world famed J. PAUL GETTY by introducing new regulations to deprive them of income from their oil holdings by changing the oil depletion allowance rules. Further, both HUNT and GETTY had been avoiding payment of all of their income tax due and Mr. KENNEDY had said that HUNT and GETTY were using money they obtained from their oil interests to subsidize extreme right-wing propaganda. Senator PAUL DOUGLAS and Senator MAUREEN NEUBERGER have been investigating the tax avoiding schemes of HUNT and GETTY.

HUNT is the chief financier of the John Birch Society. Another prominent Dallas member is General EDWIN A. WALKER. General WALKER flew the American flag upside down the day President KENNEDY arrived in Dallas and flew it right-side up after he was assassinated. A man named BERNARD WEIZMAN, according to published reports, placed a black-bordered advertisement in a Dallas newspaper "welcoming" Mr. KENNEDY to Dallas. Although WEIZMAN was penniless he paid for this advertisement. WEIZMAN told the "New York Times" that he had been a military policeman in Germany and had become a "conservative" there. WEIZMAN was in Germany at a time when WALKER was recruiting troops for the John Birch Society and they undoubtedly knew each other. The attorney for OSWALD's mother stated during the trial of JACK RUBY for the killing of OSWALD that he had proof of a mysterious meeting at RUBY's apartment shortly before the assassination of the President and that WEIZMAN and officer TIPPET were present.

Following the cross-fire pattern of one of the attempted assassinations of General DeGAULLE, it is apparent that the assassination of the President was a military-type operation with firing from both front and rear and since General WALKER is an experienced military man it is apparent that he organized the actual execution of the assassination plot. Since he knew WEIZMAN, and WEIZMAN is a former military policeman familiar with firearms, it is probable that WEIZMAN had something to do with the assassination.

Under the headline "Assassin Crouched and Took Deadly Aim" which appeared in section 4 of the DMN on November 23, 1963, it was reported that "...most (spectators at the assassination) ran to the west side of the building thinking the shots came from behind bushes and a fence dividing the street from a railroad yard..." There was a man shooting from the window from the book depository but it was not OSWALD.

After OSWALD, not even knowing what had occurred, became frightened by the policeman he encountered at the book depository, he walked to Griffin and Elm Street which is seven blocks from the book depository and got on a bus whose route would have taken him directly by the spot where the President was shot. OSWALD would never have done this if he had been the assassin.

OSWALD's reported defection to Russia was also "a cover-up". It should be obvious to any casual newspaper reader that OSWALD was sent to Russia by the CIA and that he bungled the job that he was sent to do. Mr. JOESTEN said he had no personal knowledge of this and no inside information but that it is easily evident to any thinking person.

After he returned to the United States he was penniless and was recruited by the FBI as an agent provacateur.

This is easily seen by the fact that he ran the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) in New Orleans against the advice of the FPCC showing that he was acting entirely alone. He was an undercover agent for the FBI in New Orleans and his alleged pro-Castro agitation was a cover intending to make him acceptable to Cuba. The FBI and the CIA decided to send OSWALD to Cuba to give him a second chance to make up for his failures in Russia. Of course, the Russians had already alerted the CASTRO Regime to the fact that OSWALD was an American agent.

The issuance of a passport to OSWALD on June 25, 1963, prior to his trip to Mexico is of paramount importance. After his so-called defection to Russia OSWALD's former Commanding Officer in the Marine Corps stated that they had had to change all of their coding systems because of possible compromise resulting from OSWALD's defection. OSWALD disowned his American passport and announced his intention to become a Russian citizen. He applied for a new passport on June 24, 1963, in New Orleans according to published reports and received it on June 25, 1963.

Although he did not need a passport to go to Mexico the passport was issued as a cover probably showing his destination as Europe so that the CIA could keep secret the fact that he was going to Mexico to get a visa to travel on their behalf to Cuba.

It is absolutely against the law, according to Mr. JOESTEN, to issue a passport to anyone who is a communist much less to a person who has disavowed his American citizenship and is an admitted defector to Russia. The speed and ease with which OSWALD was issued this passport shows obviously that it was done at the request of the CIA.

When OSWALD returned from Mexico, having been unsuccessful in getting a visa to Cuba, it is apparent to any newspaper reader that trouble developed between OSWALD and the CIA and the FBI because of his failures and probably because he had misappropriated money given to him or for other unknown reasons. When he returned to Dallas he went underground because of his fear of the CIA and the FBI and all American police agencies. This underground status to escape notice is proved by his having lived as O. H. LEE in the Oak Cliff rooming house. This fear is what made him take flight after the assassination of the President.

When the conspirators decided to assassinate President KENNEDY they enlisted the aid of District Attorney WADE, Chief CURRY, and Sheriff DECKER because their jobs are dependent upon the good will of HUNT, GETTY and other "Texas oilmen." This complicity of the Dallas police explains the change in route of the President's car to bring him within the range of the assassin's guns. It is particularly important that according to press reports Sheriff DECKER came on the air around 12:25 PM the day the President was shot and ordered all available men to the Elm Street underpass. ("The Daily Times Herald", November 22, 1963.) The President was not shot until 12:30. His motorcade was five minutes behind schedule and he should have been at the underpass at 12:25. From this it is obvious that Sheriff DECKER was in on the conspiracy but from his office did not realize when he ordered his men to the area supposedly to apprehend the killer that the President had not yet arrived at the underpass and had not yet been shot.

Mr. JOESTEN said he has no access to results of hearings by the WARREN Commission but stated that Mrs. PAYNE should be asked the following questions:

(1) Why did you, Mrs. PAYNE, not come forward immediately after OSWALD's arrest and say that you had found him the job in the book depository? (The answer is because that would have proved conclusively that OSWALD did not take a job there in order to be in a position to shoot the President.)

(2) Why did you not say immediately that the highly publicized marked map of Dallas was given by you to OSWALD to assist him in finding the book depository and that the markings were merely to show him directions and had nothing to do with the President's assassination.

She has testified to this according to Mr. JOESTEN but the important thing is that she did not come forward immediately. The reason she did not is because OSWALD was sent to that job deliberately so that he could be planted there as a suspect.

Mr. JOESTEN stated that "Der Stern" has refused to publish his article. He said he does not know why.

In connection with this report it should be borne in mind that the Dallas Office has a separate case in connection with the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD, captioned "JACK L. RUBY, aka.; LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka. (Deceased) - VICTIM; CR", Dallas file 44-1639, Bureau file 44-24016.

It is also pointed out that the Dallas Office has a separate case captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka.; INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA", Dallas file 100-10461, Bureau file 105-82555. Numerous communications have been received bearing the assassination caption (instant case) which contain information concerning OSWALD and/or his connection with the assassination and such communications are being filed and reported in the case bearing the OSWALD caption. For the most part, miscellaneous allegations bearing on the assassination are reported in instant case and all others in the LEE HARVEY OSWALD case. All information pertaining to items of evidence in connection with the assassination related to OSWALD in any way are being reported under the LEE HARVEY OSWALD caption.

The overlap in the period of this report with that of previous reports in this matter was occasioned by the fact that material with respect to certain allegations was withheld until such time as the complete resolving of the particular allegation could be included in one report. The contents of this report merely reflect those allegations which, in the opinion of the Dallas Office, have been resolved completely. Numerous other allegations are under investigation or the Dallas Office is awaiting receipt of appropriate FD-302's and inserts and, upon receipt of same, another report will be submitted in instant case.

No T symbols were used in instant report but where it was necessary to conceal the identity of the source of the information in the details, such source is identified as reflected above.

In some instances FD-302's and inserts contained in this report may bear file number 100-10461, which was occasioned by the fact that such FD-302's or inserts at the time of preparation were considered for the LEE HARVEY OSWALD file but later determined to more appropriately belong in instant case.

Where investigation has previously been reported in connection with a particular allegation mentioned in this report, the identity of the report where such other investigation is reflected is set forth.

No local dissemination of this report is being made pending receipt of instructions from the Bureau to the effect that such report may be disseminated to the U. S. Secret Service at Dallas.

It is suggested that in view of the fact that considerable information is set forth re other persons who have made threatening remarks or statements, that the Bureau may desire to disseminate a copy of this report on a national level to the U. S. Secret Service headquarters, Washington, D. C.

ROGER GOLDSMITH, 3414 Nogales, Dallas, Texas, telephone FLeetwood 2-6250, employed Collins Radio Company, Richardson, Texas, telephone ADams 9-5511, advised that about six weeks prior to the assassination of President KENNEDY he attended a party at the residence of MARIA MORRISON, located in the 3000 block of San Carlos, University Park, Texas.

While at this party, GOLDSMITH was discussing politics and President KENNEDY with other persons present. It is his recollection that the subject was brought up by a Mrs. PATTERSON. During this discussion, GOLDSMITH made the point that he considered KENNEDY's policies dangerous to this country. He related that it was perhaps too early to judge or to know the full story and stated the reason he considered KENNEDY's policies dangerous was because he was apparently leading us toward Socialism.

GOLDSMITH related that what he said was that if in the next 5- or 10-year period it became evident that KENNEDY was leading us toward Socialism and bringing to pass measures including Socialism of medicine and Socialism of most industries, then if he had the opportunity under those conditions, he would probably kill KENNEDY.

GOLDSMITH stated this was not a statement made in jest but was an expression of his feelings; that in the event policies of KENNEDY did eventually lead to government control and ownership of all industry and control of the courts and resulted in a breakdown of constitutional processes, then under those conditions he would feel a moral obligation to kill KENNEDY. He made this statement concerning President KENNEDY but, in fact, it was a theoretical discussion, and he was referring to any leader who would have destroyed our constitutional form of government.

GOLDSMITH recalled that during this discussion he mentioned how HITLER had taken over Germany and the middle class in Germany had given HITLER support, either actively or passively, and had not attempted to stop HITLER.

GOLDSMITH advised that, after the assassination of President KENNEDY, MARIA MORRISON called him and asked him if he made any rash statements to a Mrs. PATTERSON while he was at the party at MARIA's. MARIA MORRISON said she wondered, because Mrs. PATTERSON seemed to be upset concerning some statements GOLDSMITH had made. GOLDSMITH told MORRISON that he had said at the party and the background of the conversation and statement made.

GOLDSMITH said Mrs. PATTERSON was active politically in Dallas as a member of the Dallas Council for Foreign Visitors. GOLDSMITH is also a member of this group, a volunteer group which assists foreign visitors, most of whom are official State Department visitors.

GOLDSMITH advised further that he has talked with former Major General EDWIN WALKER on possibly two or three occasions at meetings in Dallas, but he does not consider himself a supporter of WALKER and does not agree with many statements made by WALKER.

With respect to the telephone call to the San Antonio Office by one AMBROSE W. Subsequent to furnishing his opinions concerning the assassination of President KENNEDY, GOSCH rambled on, elaborating non-specific information about his family and his job.

In connection with investigation set forth on pages 464 and 465 of instant report, Mr. EDWARD MELENDEZ and JOHN TURNER, Post Office clerks, Roswell, New Mexico, Post Office, both advised that they were not familiar with any person by the name of VEDA BRACKEN.

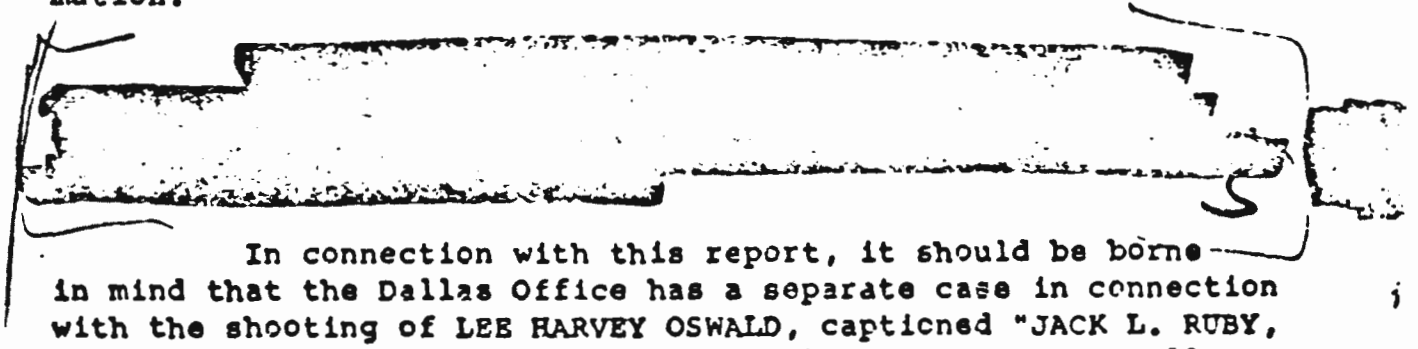
Under date of March 25, 1964, the Baltimore Office advised that it had received a four-cent postal card from Mrs. DOROTHY MENDENHALL containing similar information to that received by other offices.

Under date of March 30, 1964, the Portland and Tampa Offices advised that they had received a four-cent postal card from Mrs. DOROTHY MENDENHALL containing similar information to that received by other offices.

On page 1070 of instant report it will be noted that certain obscene words are not reflected in the details. However, such words are contained in the copies of Exhibit D-138 enclosed with this report. In view of this, it was not felt that a separate enclosure reflecting the obscene language was necessary and essential to the proper reporting of this information.



In connection with this report, it should be borne in mind that the Dallas Office has a separate case in connection with the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD, captioned "JACK L. RUBY, aka.; LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka. (Deceased) - VICTIM; CR", Dallas file 44-1639, Bureau file 44-24016.

It is also pointed out that the Dallas Office has a separate case captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka.; IS - RUSSIA - CUBA", Dallas file 100-10461, Bureau file 105-82555.

Numerous communications have been received bearing the ASSASSINATION caption (instant case) which contain information concerning OSWALD and/or his connection with the assassination, and such communications are being filed and reported in the case bearing the OSWALD caption. For the most part, miscellaneous allegations bearing on the assassination are reported in instant case and all others in the LEE HARVEY OSWALD case. All information pertaining to items of evidence in connection with the assassination related to OSWALD are being reported under the LEE HARVEY OSWALD caption.

The overlap in the period of this report with that of previous reports in this matter was occasioned by the fact that material with respect to certain allegations was withheld until such time as the complete resolving of the particular allegation could be included in one report. Also, much of the information contained in this report originated with other offices.

The contents of this report merely reflect those allegations which, in the opinion of the Dallas Office, have been resolved completely. Numerous other allegations are under investigation or the Dallas Office is awaiting receipt of appropriate FD-302's and inserts and, upon receipt of same, another report will be submitted in instant caption.

Every effort has been made by the Dallas Office to review the numerous allegations for purposes of determining if they have been sufficiently resolved, recognizing this report will be disseminated to the President's Commission. However, some of the complaints included are so nebulous it is difficult to determine what, if any, investigation can be conducted to resolve such allegations. In each instance every effort has been made to conduct whatever investigation was believed logical. It is felt that any additional investigation into the potential for harming the President with respect to any of the individuals mentioned should lie within the jurisdiction of the U. S. Secret Service. However, it is felt that no matter how nebulous the information available may be, the Bureau should include such information herein.

In some instances in this report certain organizations have been characterized immediately following their mention and this was done for clarity purposes.

No T symbols were used in instant report, but where it was necessary to conceal the identity of the source of the information in the details, such source is identified as reflected above.

Where investigation has previously been reported in connection with a particular allegation mentioned in this report, the identity of the report where such other investigation is reflected is set forth.

Much of the information contained in this report was compiled by offices from information previously submitted via letterhead memoranda and, therefore, the date of dictation reflected on FD-302's may be longer than the usual five days.

No local dissemination of this report is being made pending receipt of instructions from the Bureau to the effect that such report may be disseminated to the U. S. Secret Service at Dallas, Texas.

It is suggested that in view of the fact that considerable information is set forth regarding other persons who may have made threatening remarks or statements, that the Bureau may desire to disseminate a copy of this report on a national level to the U. S. Secret Service Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

Jefferson and went to Wyatt's Market (a Kruger). There was hardly anyone in it when I went in but soon it was full. I noticed a rather tall, slender lady with dark eyes kept following me and standing by me. I questioned her purpose. She said she was a deputy sheriff and was studying prices. She asked me if I knew Irene Lines, Ruth Red and Lee Oswald. She said down here we live as we please and they don't want the Federal government snooping around. That Mr. Adle Stevenson was coming down and they were going to give him a little Hatfield spit. They didn't like President Kennedy or Dwight Eisenhower but Truman was more to their liking. She said Bob Hope was coming to play a show for them...

"Just a night or so before Bob Hope played a show in Dallas to raise money for the Methodist College Stadium I was awake enough to see I was being molested by two men in my room and I was naked. I was standing in the arch way between my bedroom and kitchen. Some young man with prominent cheekbones and light hair cut short was mauling me around the busts and heart. I tried to fight back and grabbed his throat and Adams apple. He grabbed my shoulders, pulled me up close to him and spit into my mouth something like the small remains of a lemon drop saying, 'This is from the Lemon drop Kid.' I heard someone say, 'It is one of Crosby's kidney stones.' He hurt my left breast so it is still badly bruised and sore and it feels as if some of the ligaments around my ribs are torn. My head was also hurt again. When I said something to the Managing Owner, Mr. Beacham, a real estate man, he got real smart and said it was the CIA and Mr. McCone was sending in a painter psychiatrist for me who would get rid of me with a flea bite like they had the first Mrs. McCone. We then got a painter who said he was from New Orleans. I had some kind of bites on my left ring finger which made me real ill and my finger was inflamed and sore for several weeks]..

"I looked for work but couldn't find any. Every place I went I was asked about General Walker and Lee Oswald.

The following investigation was conducted by SA ROBERT P. BUTLER:

At McKinney, Texas

On March 5, 1964, O. J. NITCHOLAS, Chief of Police, McKinney, Texas, was shown an anonymous letter dated February 28, 1964, and postmarked March 2, 1964, at McKinney, Texas. Chief NITCHOLAS stated he cannot think of anyone who might have written the letter and made the following comments regarding statements contained in it:

APPROX. 19.

BILL FOWLER is a local promoter and cattle trader living in Collin County near McKinney, Texas. FOWLER is a white male approximately forty years of age and has no local police record. NITCHOLAS stated that the reference to a Baptist preacher on Wilcox Street in the letter is obviously one MALCOM CAVE, 506 S. Wilcox, who has a Baptist congregation on this same street. CAVE, a white male, 35-40 years of age, is a native of McKinney, Texas. He has been known to preach "politically flavored" sermons in which he advocates discontinuance of all foreign trade in order to combat communism. He stated CAVE stopped him on the street one day to tell him that General WALKER would appear at his church during the fall of 1963 but that WALKER never appeared to his (NITCHOLAS') knowledge. In reference to the gun incident, NITCHOLAS advised that some $5,000 worth of guns were stolen from Ledbetter's Sporting Goods, McKinney, Texas, in December, 1962, and that the investigation was "botched" by Deputy Sheriff JERRY KUNKLE, Collin County, who made open inquiries in bars in Oklahoma concerning the theft which alerted thieves who were in Oklahoma waiting to fence the guns in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

In regard to Mr. READ, an alleged friend of BILL FOWLER, Chief NITCHOLAS advised this name is unfamiliar to him and not identifiable by McKinney Police Department files.

Chief NITCHOLAS further stated all information contained in the anonymous letter is "courthouse talk" and that Mr. CAVE broadcasts his sermons by radio each Sunday. He further stated he has no idea [redacted] DESMARAIS, 110 Ward Street, Hartford, Connecticut, advised that he had not made the statement that he knew President JOHN F. KENNEDY was to be assassinated and that he had not stated he had recently been in Dallas. He said, however, that he had made the statement on various occasions that he predicted that something would happen to President KENNEDY and that the President had been assassinated in accordance with his predictions.

DESMARAIS stated that his statements and predictions were based upon his analysis of President KENNEDY's political position, explaining that President KENNEDY was "sandwiched between the conservatives and the liberals". DESMARAIS stated he has no knowledge of anyone ever having threatened or planned to kill President KENNEDY.

DESMARAIS stated that in April 1962, the year General EDWIN WALKER was a candidate for Governor of Texas, DESMARAIS, went to Dallas with the object of selling pamphlet to the political backers of General WALKER. The pamphlet was entitled, "Why America Needs General Walker". DESMARAIS said that he stapled a few pamphlets together but was not able to sell any. He said that while in Dallas, he lived in a rooming house, address not recalled by him, and that he had not worked while he was in Dallas. He said that while in Dallas he had received money from his two brothers who remained in Hartford, Connecticut. DESMARAIS said he had no friends in Dallas. DESMARAIS said that while he was in Dallas for the above purpose, he was told by local police upon inquiry at the police department, that he was not to solicit without a permit and therefore, he did not attempt to sell the above mentioned pamphlet on the streets. DESMARAIS said he left Dallas in August 1962, after receiving funds for travel from his brothers in Hartford, Connecticut.

DESMARAIS, who claimed that he has expressed interest in the New Hampshire primaries as presidential candidate, stated that his stepmother recently told some inquiring reporters that he, DESMARAIS, is "nuts" and [illegible] is a "screwball". DESMARAIS stated that he is an unemployed painter with a grade school education. He is single and resides at 110 Ward Street, Hartford, Connecticut. He stated that he had been arrested on numerous occasions in the past, including an arrest in Hartford, Connecticut, for Breach of Peace and Contempt of Court on February 19, 1963. He stated that the judge, who found him and his two brothers guilty of the above charges, committed a "kidnaping" offense since neither he nor his brothers were guilty of any crime.

DESMARAIS also remarked during this interview that he believed he was being interviewed on this occasion by an FBI Agent as a result of complaints from politicians who fear him as a prospective candidate for President of the United States.

DESMARAIS also remarked that he is capable of making political forecasts and his capabilities along this line had created feelings of jealousy among politicians whose name he does not know.

Mr. R. P. McWILLIAMS, County Judge, for Llano County, advised he is personally acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. W. D. HALLMARK who reside in Llano. He stated Mr. BILL HALLMARK is employed as a carpenter and cabinet maker and Mrs. ADELAIDE HALLMARK is a housewife.

Judge McWilliams stated he has been personally acquainted with these two individuals for approximately 20 years and considers them to be responsible, reliable and reputable citizens in the community. He stated neither has ever been in trouble or charged with any type of law violation. He stated their honesty, integrity and loyalty are above reproach. He advised it is his personal observation that if either Mr. or Mrs. HALLMARK had any information regarding the assassination of former President JOHN F. KENNEDY or any other law violation that they would furnish this information to proper law enforcement officials.

Judge McWILLIAMS stated that neither Mr. nor Mrs. HALLMARK is considered an "endless talker" and neither is known for "spouting off". He stated to his knowledge, they are not the type people who make irresponsible statements. He informed that both are intelligent and mentally alert individuals.

Judge McWILLIAMS stated that he feels Mrs. HALLMARK made a responsible statement if she did say "The KENNEDYs were in for trouble if they went to Dallas". He stated in view of the demonstrations and disturbances previously occurring in Dallas created by visits of ADLAI STEVENSON, then Vice President LYNDON B. JOHNSON and acts against General EDWIN A. WALKER, that such a statement would have been made in good judgement.

Judge McWILLIAMS stated VEDA BRACKEN is unknown to him. He stated inasmuch as the HALLMARKs reside in a residential area in the Southwestern section of Llano, it would be difficult to determine to whom Mr. or Mrs. HALLMARK would make any statement regarding the KENNEDYs' visit to Dallas.

ILL

RALPH LEE HASSINGER was interviewed during the late evening at his home, 140 North Market Street, Mount Joy, Pa., and he stated he had just returned from spending a week in Reading, Pennsylvania, at the home of EDWARD LOTZ, while he was job hunting.

B. APPROX 1928 RELEASED

He said that he first heard of the death of President JOHN F. KENNEDY on November 22, 1963, while he was seeking employment in Reading, Pa. HASSINGER said he knows no one personally in Texas; however, he has been in correspondence with General EDWIN WALKER, Turtle Creek, Dallas, whom he admires, and he is aware that Dallas is a center of right wing thinking.

HASSINGER said he had never heard of LEE HARVEY OSWALD from any of his friends in either New Orleans, Louisiana, nor the Dallas, Texas, area. He said he was unfamiliar with the name of JACK RUBENSTEIN or JACK RUBY.

He said he considers himself an astute student of political trends and his father, whom he described as non-political inasmuch as he knows nothing of politics except the Republican and Democratic Parties, has often been impressed as the result of the observations of his son. As a result, the father has often repeated political observations made by RALPH to other individuals.

HASSINGER said he recalls that during breakfast approximately a month ago, after having read in the morning newspaper the story and seen the pictures of ADLAI STEVENSON, United States Ambassador to the United Nations, being struck by a picket sign in Dallas, he remarked to his father and mother jokingly that the people in Dallas would kill KENNEDY if he goes to Dallas after what they had done to STEVENSON. HASSINGER stated, however, he had no specific advance knowledge of the killing of President KENNEDY. He said, however, that he has known for years that KENNEDY would either die or be killed in office because while he was employed in

ADMINISTRATIVE:

In connection with this report, it should be borne in mind that the Dallas Office has a separate case in connection with the shooting of LEE HARVEY OSWALD captioned "JACK L. RUBY, aka.; LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka. (Deceased) - VICTIM; CIVIL RIGHTS," Dallas file 44-1639, Bureau file 44-24016.

It is also pointed out that the Dallas Office has a separate case captioned "LEE HARVEY OSWALD, aka.; INTERNAL SECURITY - RUSSIA - CUBA," Dallas file 100-10461, Bureau file 105-82555.

Numerous communications have been received bearing the assassination caption (instant case) which contain information concerning OSWALD and/or his connection with the assassination, and such communications are being filed and reported in the case bearing the OSWALD caption. For the most part, miscellaneous allegations bearing on the assassination are reported in instant case and all others in the LEE HARVEY OSWALD case. All information pertaining to items of evidence in connection with the assassination related to OSWALD are being reported under the LEE HARVEY OSWALD caption.

The overlap in the period of this report with that of previous reports in this matter was occasioned by the fact that material with respect to certain allegations was withheld until such time as the complete resolving of the particular allegation could be included in one report. Also, much of the information contained in this report originated with other offices.

The contents of this report merely reflect those allegations which, in the opinion of the Dallas Office, have been resolved completely. Numerous other allegations are under investigation or the Dallas Office is awaiting receipt of appropriate FD-302's and inserts and, upon receipt of same, another report will be submitted in instant caption.

Every effort has been made by the Dallas Office to review the numerous allegations for purposes of determining if they have been sufficiently resolved, recognizing this report will be disseminated to the President's Commission. However, some of the complaints included are so nebulous it is difficult to determine what, if any, investigation can be conducted to resolve such allegations. In each instance every effort has been made to conduct whatever investigation was believed logical. It is felt that any additional investigation into the potential for harming the President with respect to any of the individuals mentioned should lie within the jurisdiction of the U. S. Secret Service; however, it is felt that no matter how nebulous the information available may be the Bureau should include such information herein.

No T symbols were used in instant report, but where it was necessary to conceal the identity of the source of the information in the details, such source is identified as reflected above.

Where investigation has previously been reported in connection with a particular allegation mentioned in this report, the identity of the report where such other investigation is reflected is set forth. In such instances where the title of such reports differs from instant report the title of such report is also set forth.

In some instances, information contained in this report was compiled by other offices from information previously submitted via letterhead memorandum and, therefore, the date of dictation reflected on the FD-302's may be longer than the usual five days.

No local dissemination of this report is being made pending receipt of instructions from the Bureau to the effect that such report may be disseminated to the U. S. Secret Service at Dallas, Texas.

It is suggested that in view of the fact that considerable information is set forth regarding persons who may have made threatening remarks or statements, the Bureau may desire to disseminate a copy of this report on a national level to the U. S. Secret Service Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

KX 89-27
DL 89-43

Mr. J. LEE RANKIN, General Counsel, President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy, Washington, D.C., requested interview of G. P. WYLLIE and Major JOHN S. WYLLIE to determine if there is any evidence to support the claims made by G. P. WYLLIE in a letter to the President's Commission dated January 4, 1964.

In this letter, Mr. WYLLIE alleged that the Texas gamblers, who were being investigated by General EDWIN A. WALKER and Governor JOHN B. CONNALLY, knew that they could not openly and obviously murder Governor JOHN B. CONNALLY, as this would spell the doom of their enterprises. Mr. WYLLIE further alleged they tried to kill General Walker in order to scare Governor CONNALLY, when he was with President KENNEDY, and make it look like a mistake, but "the mistake happened in reverse". In this letter Mr. WYLLIE further alleged JACK RUBY was acquainted with a deceased Cleveland, Tennessee gambler, "CUE" HOOPER and they had met in Chicago. According to Mr. WYLLIE, his brother, Major JOHN S. WYLLIE, while on leave last month said "OSWALD was after CONNALLY".

The following investigation was conducted by Special Agent FRANK W. MORRIS:

Mr. GEORGE PATRICK WYLLIE, a white male, age 27, was interviewed at the home of his parents, 863 Maple Avenue, Cleveland, Tennessee, on January 21, 1964. Mr. WYLLIE advised he was not employed, has had no gainful employment and was engaged at the present time in completing his education along "scientific lines". He did not explain what was included in this education.

Mr. WYLLIE advised he had no information that General EDWIN A. WALKER and Governor JOHN B. CONNALLY of Texas were investigating gamblers in Texas. He said he had reasoned this was so because both men were shot at by snipers. It was his reasoning alone which told him gamblers had first attempted to kill General WALKER in order to frighten Governor CONNALLY. His reasoning also told him the sniper, who shot and killed President JOHN F. KENNEDY, had actually been trying to kill Governor CONNALLY.

RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY,
NOVEMBER 22, 1963, DALLAS, TEXAS
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

On June 10, 1964, the President's Commission on the Assassination of President Kennedy received a telegram from Mrs. Shirley Martin of Hominy, Oklahoma, in which she stated that Mr. William Keester, an Oklahoma City detective told one Jim Standard, an Oklahoma City reporter, that there were many things that he, Keester, had to say about the attempted assassination of Major General Edwin A. Walker. Mr. Keester was reported to have said, however, that he was afraid to tell Mr. Standard what those things were.

On June 30, 1964, Mr. J. Lee Rankin, General Counsel for the Commission, requested interviews of Mr. Standard and Mr. Keester to determine whether or not there is any truth in the allegations made by Mrs. Martin. These interviews are reported hereinafter.

On July 3, 1964, Mr. James Standard, reporter, Oklahoma City Times, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who advised he had been interviewed previously concerning his coverage of the events following the assassination of President Kennedy at Dallas, Texas, stated that several weeks following his return to Oklahoma City on November 25, 1963, he had chanced to talk to William R. Keester, a former detective on the Oklahoma City Police Department, then employed as a private investigator.

On the occasion of this conversation, Mr. Standard said Keester told him he had done some private investigative work in partnership with Cliff Roberts for General Clyde J. Watts, Oklahoma City attorney, and counsel for General Edwin A. Walker. The assignment had related to the attempted shooting of General Walker at Dallas, Texas, in the spring of 1963, and had involved investigation by Keester and Roberts at Dallas, Texas.

Mr. Standard said that, as his conversation with Keester was prior to that time when Oswald definitely had been established as the one attempting the assassination of General Walker, he was interested in any information which Keester and Roberts might have developed, and had indicated this to Keester. Keester, who had then stated he might have to return to Dallas on the same matter, promised to give Mr. Standard information for a story, unless such should be prohibited either by General Watts, by whom he had been retained, or by General Walker. This, Mr. Standard said, was the reason that Keester had not related any details to him in this matter of the attempted shooting of General Walker--the story would await possible additional investigation and clearance by Generals Watts and Walker.

Mr. Standard said that the later developments concerning Lee Harvey Oswald were such that he had not pursued this matter with Keester thereafter.

Mr. Standard said he had related this to Mrs. Shirley Martin, of Hominy, Oklahoma, when she had called him from Hominy. She had called, as she had numerous times in the past, to ask questions of Mr. Standard, and to tell of "interesting things," as Mr. Standard put it. Mr. Standard said that shortly following the assassination, he had visited Mrs. Martin in Hominy for the purposes of obtaining material for a feature story which he had prepared concerning her investigative activities relating to the assassination. Long since, he said, he has merely filed away anything she has directed to him. He felt that Mrs. Martin has supplied him with copies of almost every paper she has prepared.

It was in this most recent telephone conversation with Mrs. Martin, which she had initiated, that Mr. Standard said he had mentioned the Keester conversation to her. He said he had related no more than the contact with Keester as he had described. If Mrs. Martin had inferred anything beyond this, Mr. Standard said that it was in her failure to understand, or of her imagination.

Mr. Standard advised he has no information which would indicate that any person, other than Lee Harvey Oswald, made the assassination attempt on General Edwin A. Walker.

Concerning William R. Keester, Mr. Standard said that he still is engaged in private investigative work at Oklahoma City, insofar as he knew. He has been so engaged since his discharge from the Oklahoma City Police Department in the spring of 1963. Initially, he had operated in partnership with Cliff Roberts, as the K & R Investigation Service, but Roberts now is employed as an agent by the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation, and may be presumed no longer active in the partnership. Keester's principal accounts have been Looney, Watts, Looney, Nichols, and Johnson, Attorneys, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; and Cooper, Lawrence and Gullett, also Attorneys, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Mr. William Ross Keester, 2224 Southwest 61st Terrace, (phone MUtual 5-2745), Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on July 6, 1964, advised he operates the K & R Investigation Service, 417 Leonhardt Building (phone CEntral 2-0233), Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, a firm established in 1963 in partnership with Cliff Roberts, now employed as an agent for the Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation at Oklahoma City.

Mr. Keester stated that the investigative work by the firm primarily is civil, its principal accounts being Cooper, Lawrence and Gullett, Attorneys, where Keester said he maintains an office, and Looney, Watts, Looney, Nichols and Johnson, Attorneys, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, of which firm a partner, former General Clyde J. Watts, is counsel for General Edwin A. Walker, Dallas, Texas.

In the spring of 1963, the exact dates not recalled, Mr. Keester said that he and Roberts had been called upon by General Watts to investigate the attempted assassination of General Edwin A. Walker. Several trips had been made by Keester and Roberts to Dallas, Texas, in connection with this assignment.

The course of initial investigation had been suggested by General Walker, who had ventured that the Black Muslims, which Keester described as a Negro organization active in Dallas, might have "master-minded" the attempt to kill the General. The investigation, Keester said, had failed to identify the Black Muslims with the incident, though liaison with the Dallas Police Department had been established for assistance to the K & R. Investigations Service. Keester and Roberts returned to Oklahoma City without having developed any suspects in the shooting.

The course of subsequent investigation, Keester related, had concerned William McEwan Duff, formerly employed as a batman by General Walker, and reported as a possible suspect by a woman who had called a Walker aide anonymously to state that her daughter, in association with Duff, had said Duff seemed to have knowledge of the shooting. General Walker, in a telephone call to General Clyde J. Watts, had requested investigation concerning Duff, who continued to reside at Dallas, Texas.

A surreptitious investigation of Duff, culminating in an offer by Keester and Roberts of $5,000 to Duff for a second attempt to assassinate General Walker, failed to gain information from Duff which would implicate him in any way with the first attempt, or to indicate his knowledge of any suspects.

Keester said that he and Roberts had taken an apartment in the same building with Duff, cultivated his friendship, his confidence, followed by the offer of $5,000 to kill General Walker. Always Duff had implied knowledge of the prior attempt, and finally did agree to their proposal, according to Keester. Duff stipulated that he be provided a passport out of the United States, along with a car, a driver, and a rifle. With Duff, Keester and Roberts had toured the area of the Walker residence in Dallas, surveying the potential of this area for the shooting.

When the plan had reached this stage, Keester said he and Roberts had counseled with General Watts and he with General Walker. Both were uncertain as to how to proceed. Three days elapsed. Finally, Keester and Roberts were instructed to turn all of the results of their investigation, including taped recordings of conversations with Duff, over to the Dallas Police Department, with which department Keester and Roberts had made no prior contact relating to Duff.

In the three days which had elapsed, Keester said "Duff gets spooky." He had been pressing Keester and Roberts for the passport and implementation of the plan. Keester stated that he never had any doubt that Duff had intended to get and abscond with the $5,000 if he could; that he never had any intention of shooting Walker, Keester doubting that killing was in Duff's make-up. Keester, who described Duff as displaying every evidence of a skilled confidence man, said that on the same day he and Roberts had turned their evidence to the Dallas Police Department, Duff had visited the Dallas office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Keester said that he had a feeling that Duff might have been in touch with the FBI all along.

Mr. Keester said he and Roberts concluded their investigation of Duff with their surrender of evidence to the Dallas Police Department, convinced Duff had taken advantage of his prior employment with General Walker--without intent to pursue the proposal--simply in order to obtain the $5,000 offered.

Additionally, Mr. Keester stated that never in his investigation had the name Jack Ruby appeared, or that of Lee Harvey Oswald, of whom he had heard nothing until Oswald's assassination of President Kennedy. An acquaintanceship with Jack Ruby, pre-dating the investigation, had been established through contacts with the Dallas Police Department and several visits to the night club operated by Ruby. Ruby's name never had been mentioned by Duff, and Keester said that he has no reason to believe that Duff knew anything of Jack Ruby until Ruby's shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald.

Mr. Keester said he had conducted no other investigation relating to the attempted killing of General Walker, an investigation which had been concluded within several weeks following the attempt, nor had he been requested to do so by his client.

RE: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY, 11/22/63, DALLAS, TEXAS

RE: LEWIS EDWARD BERRY, JR.

On June 20, 1964, Mrs. Lewis Edward Berry, Jr., 705 Harold Street, Houston, Texas, furnished information to a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning her husband, Lewis Edward Berry, Jr., which information is contained in a memorandum dated June 22, 1964, at Houston, Texas.

At the time of this interview, Mrs. Berry advised that, while her husband was in Dallas, Texas, as a delegate to the Republican State Convention held in Dallas in 1964, he indicated he stayed with a friend of his from the University of Houston whose family resides in Dallas. Mrs. Berry could not recall this friend's name, but stated he was called the "Nazi" by his friends and associates at the University of Houston. She stated the "Nazi" claimed to have knowledge of the assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

On June 30, 1964, Mrs. Berry advised that the "Nazi" had been identified as Stanley P. Roland and investigation conducted at Houston determined Roland was now residing at 3718 Armstrong Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

On July 13, 1964, Stanley Pendleton Roland, 3718 Armstrong Avenue, Dallas, Texas, advised he was born December 8, 1934, at Dallas, Texas. He stated he is now at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Homer L. P. Roland, on vacation from the University of Houston, where he is about halfway through law school.

Toland advised that in the Fall of 1963 he did not return to the University of Houston since he was undecided at that time as to whether he would continue law school or go into the building business with a friend in Dallas, Texas. He said he has a real estate license and acted as a real estate salesman during this period until he returned to the University of Houston in February, 1964.

Toland advised that when he returned to the University of Houston at Houston, Texas, he was harassed and beleagured by his fellow students for any information he might have relating to the assassination of President John Kennedy. Toland said his fellow students felt that since he was from Dallas, Texas, he might have some "inside" information relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. At first Toland stated he denied having any information at all pertaining to the assassination of President Kennedy, but stated he finally tired of the questioning and informed Phillip Godwin, a fellow student at the University of Houston, that a group of "right wingers" in Dallas paid Lee Harvey Oswald to kill President Kennedy. Further, this same group of "right wingers" also paid Jack Ruby to kill Oswald.

Toland said he also informed Godwin that H. L. Hunt of Dallas was involved in the assassination and that Oswald was hired, due to his "communist connections" since this would throw suspicion off this group.

Toland stated this story absolutely has no basis in fact and was a complete fabrication on his part. He said he has no information relating to the assassination of President Kennedy and no information relating to the killing of Oswald by Jack L. Ruby. Toland stated, "What gets me is that someone would believe it -- it's so silly."

Toland said he might have also related this same story to Lewis Edward Berry, Jr., another fellow student at the University of Houston.

In addition to the above fabrication, Toland said he advised both Godwin and Berry that he is well acquainted with Major General Edwin A. Walker who, according to Toland, lives a block and a half down the street from his mother's residence. He said he does not know General Walker and has had no contact with him.

Toland advised he made up the above stories since his fellow students looked on him with a little more respect for having "inside" information.

Regarding Lewis Edward Berry, Jr., mentioned above, Toland stated Berry was formerly president of the Young Republicans at the University of Houston and is president of the Republican Student Lawyers Club at the University of Houston. In early June, 1964, Toland stated Berry attended the Republican State Convention, held in Dallas, Texas, and stayed at Toland's mother's residence, 3718 Armstrong Avenue, Dallas, Texas, while the convention was in progress.

Toland advised that Berry was accompanied to Dallas by a "rather young, unattractive fat girl," whose name he did not know. He said she possibly stayed with Berry, although he did not know. He informed that his mother, as well as his brother, were out of the city and he, Toland, was staying at an apartment he had rented. He said he, therefore, did not know just who, if anyone, stayed at Toland's mother's house with Berry.

Toland advised the above referred to girl, he believes, is a student at the University of Houston, and he also believes she was a delegate to the Republican State Convention held in Dallas during the time she was here.

Toland related that while at the University of Houston, he and other law students have engaged in various political discussions. He said he has often been on the opposite side of an argument from Lewis Edward Berry, Jr. For the sake of argument, Toland stated he would determine what Berry's views were on a particular subject and then take the opposite side from Berry. He said his position in these arguments was usually to the "extreme right," and he has been called by students at the University of Houston a "Nazi" or "Hitler."

Toland advised that he is a member of the Young Republicans at the University of Houston and also a member of the Young Americans for Freedom, Incorporated, 514 C Street, Northeast, Washington, D. C. He stated the Young Americans for Freedom, Incorporated, is an organization which was set up "propagandizing" presidential aspirant Barry Goldwater and for aiding in any manner possible Goldwater's nomination as the Republican presidential candidate.

Toland advised he strongly favors Barry Goldwater as a Republican presidential nominee, as does Lewis Edward Berry, Jr. He said Berry is very strongly opposed to Attorney General Robert Kennedy and stated that, although he does not believe Berry would be capable of violence against the person of Robert Kennedy, should he be elected to some prominent political office, he believes he would be in favor of removing Kennedy in any manner.

Toland stated he has known Berry only since he attended the University of Houston and has had little contact with him off the campus. He stated he knows Berry is married, has met his wife, but knows nothing of their marital relationship. He stated Berry has rented a house in Houston, lives upstairs with his wife in this house, and operates a book store called the "Dusty Shelf" on the first floor of the residence.

Toland advised he knows of no loosely knit group or revolutionary group being organized by Berry. He stated, "If Berry is organizing any revolutionary-type organization, he has not invited me to join." Toland further stated he doubts very seriously that Berry is organizing any type of revolutionary group.

Concerning a possible hideout that Berry allegedly has in some undisclosed location from which he would operate when he gets financial backing and further organized, Toland stated he believed this to be a figment of someone's imagination. He said Berry does not have enough money to supply any type of a hideout and hardly enough money to support himself. He said the only hideout he might have "would be in his basement and he could cover himself with books."

Toland stated the only possible loosely knit organization that Berry might be trying to organize would be composed of a group of students at the University of Houston who have received tickets from the University of Houston Campus Police for parking infractions. He said Berry has informed him that he has received parking tickets with fines totaling $240, and knows that Berry has contacted Michael McCrory, who has parking fines totaling $180, and Thomas DeShazor, who has parking fines totaling $140. Toland stated both McCrory and DeShazor are also students at the University of Houston.

Toland stated Berry feels if he is able to contact enough other students who have also received parking fines and is able to "get them together" and in a group appeal to the University of Houston to have the fines dropped, he would have more success, "since the inference is drawn that there is more weight in numbers."

Concerning the assassination of President Kennedy, Toland stated he has no information which would assist in the investigation of the assassination. He did state he was not unhappy that President Kennedy is out of office, but stated he certainly did not want to see him assassinated. He stated he was in favor of our constitutional government. He stated Kennedy should have been removed from office by being voted out.

The letterhead memorandum is self-explanatory. No examination of the cartridges by the FBI Laboratory is requested in absence of any indicated recovery of spent cartridges in the attempt to assassinate General WALKER.

It is noted in the interview of CLYDE J. WATTS, Attorney and counsel for General WALKER, that Mr. LIEBLER (Phonetic), an attorney for the Warren Commission, had asked that Mr. WATTS turn these shells over to the FBI for delivery to the Warren Commission.

In connection with the delivery of these shells to the Warren Commission, as has been requested, the letterhead memorandum reporting their source is supplied for clarification.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY
NOVEMBER 22, 1963, DALLAS, TEXAS

The following supplements information furnished concerning WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, formerly employed as a batman by General EDWIN A. WALKER, and of whom allegations of association with LEE HARVEY OSWALD have been received and an allegation by DUFF of possible association between General WALKER and JACK L. RUBY. The previous information furnished has been by memoranda dated June 26, 1964, July 16, 1964, and in report dated January 23, 1964, at Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The matter at hand concerns two of three rifle shells which CLYDE J. WATTS, Attorney and counsel for General EDWIN A. WALKER, produced on July 27, 1964, ascribing their source to WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF, as obtained without his knowledge by WILLIAM KEESTER and CLIFF ROBERTS, private investigators retained by Mr. WATTS. The shells were reported to have been obtained in the spring of 1963, when KEESTER and ROBERTS had investigated DUFF as a suspect in the attempt to assassinate General WALKER. Mr. WATTS had been given the shells on conclusion of the investigation in the spring of 1963 and had retained them to this time, continuing to retain one of the three shells found.

The results of interviews concerning these shells with CLYDE J. WATTS, WILLIAM ROSS KEESTER, and CLIFF ROBERTS follow:

On July 27, 1964, Mr. CLYDE J. WATTS, Attorney, was contacted at his request at his office, 219 Couch Drive, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. He furnished the following items:

Two (2) cartridges, approximately 30 caliber, three and one-fourth (3 1/4) inches in length, steel jacketed. Stamped on base of each cartridge is "L" "C" "53."

COPIES DESTROYED
44 JAN 9 1973

Mr. WATTS advised as follows:

ENCLOSURE

He obtained the above described cartridges (plus a third identical cartridge, which he, himself, is maintaining in his possession), from WILLIAM KEESTER. In the spring of 1963, he had hired WILLIAM KEESTER and CLIFF ROBERTS, Private Investigators of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to go to Dallas, Texas, to investigate the matter of somebody shooting at EDWIN A. WALKER, a former General of the United States Army. An individual named WILLIAM DUFF, a former employee of WALKER, was developed as a suspect in the shooting by KEESTER and ROBERTS. The three cartridges were obtained by KEESTER and ROBERTS from DUFF's residence without DUFF's knowledge. KEESTER delivered the three cartridges to him at his office in Oklahoma City, 219 Couch Drive, sometime during the summer of 1963. He placed the three cartridges in an envelope and put them in his desk at his office and they have been there ever since that time.

WATTS had completely forgotten about the three cartridges until a recent visit to Dallas, Texas, when he appeared before the Warren Commission. During this recent trip to Dallas, he talked with one Mr. LIEBLER (Phonetic), an attorney for the Warren Commission, at which time he recalled and mentioned to Mr. LIEBLER the incident concerning his obtaining the three cartridges.

Mr. LIEBLER told him to give the three cartridges to the FBI in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, so that they could be forwarded to the Warren Commission in Washington, D. C.

WATTS desires to maintain possession of one of the cartridges. He believes KEESTER should be able to furnish specific details as to how he and ROBERTS came into possession of the three cartridges.

Mr. WATTS did not place any marks on the cartridges by which to identify them. He does not know if KEESTER or ROBERTS placed any identification marks on the cartridges. The two cartridges need not be returned to him.

Regarding WILLIAM DUFF, DUFF came to Oklahoma City about two months ago and told him he was being discharged from military service due to a fraudulent enlistment. He wanted to keep tabs on DUFF, so he prevailed upon a friend of his, H. W. THOMPSON, of the Oklahoma Paving Company, Oklahoma City, to give DUFF a job. As far as WATTS knows, DUFF is presently working for the Oklahoma Paving Company in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Assassination of President Kennedy

On July 28, 1964, WILLIAM ROSS KEESTER, 2224 Southwest 61st Terrace, telephone MUtual 5-2745, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, operator of the K & R Investigation Service, 417 Leonhardt Building, telephone CEntral 2-0233, Oklahoma City, advised of the following relative to three rifle shells supplied on July 27, 1964, by Mr. CLYDE J. WATTS, Attorney, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, who stated that he had obtained them from Mr. KEESTER in mid-1963 and that the shells related to the investigation of suspect WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF in the attempted assassination of General EDWIN A. WALKER:

Mr. KEESTER advised that it is his recollection that the shells in question were obtained by CLIFF ROBERTS, with whom he had been associated in the investigation of DUFF at Dallas, Texas; that ROBERTS had delivered the shells to Mr. WATTS. Mr. KEESTER said he had no other recollection concerning the shells, suggesting contact with Mr. ROBERTS, now employed by the Oklahoma Bureau of Investigation, Oklahoma City, as an investigator.

On July 28, 1964, Mr. CLIFF ROBERTS, Investigator, Oklahoma State Crime Bureau, Oklahoma City, advised that in the spring of 1963 he had been associated with WILLIAM ROSS KEESTER in the operation of the K & R Investigation Service, 417 Leonhardt Building, Oklahoma City; that the partnership had been retained by Attorney CLYDE J. WATTS, counsel for General EDWIN A. WALKER, for purposes of conducting investigation relating to WILLIAM MC EWAN DUFF as a suspect in the attempted assassination of General WALKER.

In connection with the investigation concerning DUFF, as previously reported, ROBERTS said he and KEESTER had moved into the same apartment building with DUFF and, on an undercover basis, had established an acquaintanceship and then his confidence in a proposal that DUFF kill General WALKER for them. This was done in an effort to establish what knowledge DUFF might have had concerning the earlier attempt to assassinate General WALKER.

In the development of this proposal to DUFF, ROBERTS said he had obtained some rifle shells from DUFF's apartment without DUFF's knowledge. He did not recall how many he had obtained or how many he had found. As he recalled, he had found these shells in a shoe box in a closet located in DUFF's apartment. There were two other men, names not recalled, who were living at that time in the same apartment with DUFF. ROBERTS stated he cannot now recall how he had identified the shells with DUFF, as opposed to the two others. There were two closets in the apartment and the effects of these individuals were commingled. It was ROBERTS' recollection that he had found something else in the shoe box which had identified the shoe box, containing the shells, with DUFF.

ROBERTS stated that he had not marked the shells with anything which he could identify when the shells were found, nor does he believe he now could identify the shells, except through a chain of evidence by testimony that he had given the shells to Mr. CLYDE J. WATTS, counsel for WALKER.

ROBERTS stated that he had found no evidence in his contacts with DUFF, nor when he had located the shells, that DUFF had a rifle, a firearm of any other type, or had any particular knowledge of the use of firearms.

Never, ROBERTS said, had he or KEESTER confronted DUFF with their knowledge of his possession of rifle ammunition, nor had they intimated this to DUFF. Not having discussed the ammunition with DUFF, ROBERTS said neither he nor KEESTER has any information as to its origin, or why DUFF might have retained it, unless as a souvenir of his military experience.

ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY, NOVEMBER 22, 1963, DALLAS, TEXAS

A source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on June 22, 1964, that, at a meeting of the Tampa, Florida, unit, National States Rights Party (NSRP), held at 4803 North Grady Street, Tampa, on June 19, 1964, DEWEY M. TAFT indicated he was then in the process of getting out an issue of the "American Digest" which would outline the fact that "BOBBY KENNEDY had his brother, JOHN F. KENNEDY, shot; that RUBY and OSWALD were in on the deal, that they tried to kill retired General WALKER before assassinating the President."

The June, 1964 issue of the "American Digest Combined with the Conservative Press", further described as Volume 26, Number 4, showing DEWEY M. TAFT, Florida State Chairman, NSRP, as editor of said publication, which is shown as having been established in 1939, contains an article on its front page, "BOBBY KENNEDY CAUSED DEATH OF HIS BROTHER." The text of this article is set forth below:

"Who hired Jacob Rubenstein, alias Jack Ruby and Lee Harvey Oswald to attempt the assassination of Gen. Edwin Walker seven months before the President was murdered?

"Both Rubenstein and Oswald were alleged undercover agents for Bobby Kennedy's Central Intelligence Agency. After the attempted murder of Gen. Walker in April it was reported that the Dallas Police Dept. was ready to arrest Rubenstein and Oswald in the Walker murder conspiracy --- Rubenstein as the paymaster and Oswald as the trigger-man! But a letter from a high Dept. of Justice official to Dallas Police Chief Curry PREVENTED the arrest of Rubenstein and Oswald!

ENCLOSURE

"The BIG QUESTION going the rounds in Dallas since last Nov. 22:

"'DID BOBBY KENNEDY HIRE OSWALD TO MURDER WALKER, AND WHEN HE FAILED THE TWO CONSPIRATORS QUARRELED, WHEREUPON OSWALD TOOK HIS REVENGE BY KILLING THE PRESIDENT?'"

The "American Digest" has, in the past, indicated that it was established by TAFT in 1939, "for Christ - country, racial purity, State's rights - against race-mixing and other forms of communism."

First source, mentioned above, also a second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, have advised that DEWEY M. TAFT is a member of the United Florida Ku Klux Klan (UFKKK), Plant City, Florida Klavern, and that he regularly attends functions of said Klan group and the klansmen support KKKP activities.

A third source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised in November, 1963, that TAFT joined with other klansmen on November 18, 1963 to conduct a placard-carrying, anti-KENNEDY demonstration at Tampa during the visit of the late President JOHN F. KENNEDY at said location.

First two sources mentioned above have advised that TAFT, in his talks and writings, continues to be principally anti-Semitic, anti-Negro, anti-communist, anti-integration, anti-KENNEDY and JOHNSON administrations, anti-U.N., and anti-Supreme Court.

Characterizations of the NSRP and the UFKKK are attached to this memorandum. Sources who furnished information therein have furnished reliable information in the past.

APPENDIX
I

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY (NSRP)

On November 26, 1957, a source advised that the United White Party (UWP) was organized at a convention held in Knoxville, Tennessee, on November 10, 1957. An article in the November 26, 1957, issue of the "Greenville Piedmont", a newspaper of Greenville, South Carolina, reported "the recent formation of a new political party to be known as the United White Party." According to the article, the party was formed at a recently held meeting in Knoxville, Tennessee, at which many klansmen were represented. The UWP was reported as being opposed to all "race mixing organizations and individuals."

The July, 1958, issue of "The Thunderbolt", self-described as the "official Racial Nationalist Organ of the National States Rights Party" (NSRP) reported that rank and file "States Righters" had merged with the UWP under "the banner of the National States Rights Party", with national offices at Post Office Box 261, Jeffersonville, Indiana.

In November, 1958, a source advised that the NSRP is composed of past members of klan-type organizations and notorious anti-Semites.

Issue Number 19, dated June, 1960, "The Thunderbolt", announced the address of the headquarters of the NSRP had been changed from Jeffersonville, Indiana, to Post Office Box 783, Birmingham, Alabama.

On June 17, 1960, a source advised that Edward R. Fields, the Information Director of the NSRP, is the individual who "runs the NSRP."

"The Thunderbolt" continues to publish articles attacking Negroes and persons of the Jewish faith.

NATIONAL STATES RIGHTS PARTY
(NSRP), STATE OF FLORIDA

In a letter to the Chairman and National Committee, NSRP, dated February 5, 1963, as published in the February, 1963, issue of "The Thunderbolt," self-described as the official organ of the NSRP with headquarters at Birmingham, Alabama, DEWEY M. TAFT announced the merging of the Conservative Party of America, DEWEY TAFT, Chairman, with the NSRP. "The Thunderbolt" also contained another announcement to the effect that TAFT was appointed NSRP Chairman for Florida.

A source has advised during April, May, and June, 1963, that TAFT has located NSRP State Headquarters at Tampa, Florida, and has organized a Hillsborough County Branch of the NSRP at Tampa, Florida.

In April, 1963, TAFT began editing "The Florida Patriot," self-described as a monthly publication of the NSRP of Florida.

UNITED FLORIDA KU KLUX KLAN (UFKKK)

A source advised on August 20, 1955, that a new organization known as Florida Ku Klux Klan (FKKK) has been formed at Macclenny, Florida, on August 14, 1955, by former members of the Association of Florida Ku Klux Klan (AFKKK).

The objectives of this group, according to a second source, are to oppose integration in the schools and to fight communism.

Regarding AFKKK, a third source advised that a former official of the Association of Georgia Klans (AGK) formed an organization on July 7, 1953, known as AFKKK. The "Morning Tribune," Tampa, Florida, newspaper, in its August 11, 1955, issue revealed AFKKK disbanded on that date.

A fourth source advised on October 25, 1956, that AFKKK operated under the same principles and bylaws as the AGK. The AGK has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

A fifth source advised on February 17, 1958, that the FKKK was operating and maintaining the same objectives as set forth above.

The Sixth source advised on June 28, 1961, that at a meeting held in Orlando, Florida, on June 25, 1961, the FKKK and the United Klans, Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Inc., in Florida, consolidated, and the new organization is known as the UFKKK.

On May 17, 1963, the sixth source advised that the UFKKK is still in existence in Florida and maintains the same objectives set forth above.

The enclosed memo indicates that Taft was in the process of preparing an issue of "American Digest" which would outline the fact that the Attorney General had his brother shot, that Ruby and Oswald were in on the deal and that they tried to kill retired General Edwin A. Walker before assassinating the President. The NSRP is a hate group which is anti-Semitic and anticommunist. Investigation relating to Taft and the NSRP is being supervised by SAC. Parkis.

B. DEMONSTRATION OPPOSING FORMER GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER AND BILLY JAMES HARGUS, DENVER, COLORADO, 3/26/63

During February, 1963, there was newspaper publicity that former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER and the Reverend BILLY JAMES HARGUS would speak at a rally in Denver, Colorado, on the question of communism. During the month of March, 1963, meetings were held [redacted] 7D

A characterization of the Denver Chapter, FPCC, is a part of the Appendix hereto.

Also, during March, 1963, the Denver Branch, NAACP, received instructions from the National Office to picket the WALKER - HARGUS meeting.

On March 26, 1963, there was received at one of the Denver newspapers a press release issued by the Committee Against Un-Democratic Action, reporting that a number of Denver organizations and individuals would carry out a peaceful picket of the meeting promoted by "Operation Midnight Ride" at East Denver High School, Denver, featuring HARGUS and WALKER. The press release reported that numerous organizations were picketing on an independent basis.

Approximately 200 individuals, during the period of 6:30 and 8:30 p.m., on the evening of March 26, 1963, carrying signs, picketed in front of the East Denver High School, Denver, Colorado. Approximately 1,200 individuals attended the rally in the auditorium. The picketing was peaceful; however, there was considerable chanting by the pickets of, "Meredith, Yes; Walker, No."

If our normal ...ns of activity in government ... not going to work without ... it, there's a free press ...

Cites 'Military Feet'

Walker charged that there was a national media effort to downgrade the military services, but it was not clear whether he blamed the Administration, the press itself, or a combination of the two.

"There's a national media effort which a lot of the press doesn't recognize to downgrade the military services. They had to get account of Cuba and that's why they had to censor the press.

"Their effort is to make the military services bloodthirsty, so that you don't have to listen to them as they didn't in Cuba. It has to be such an effort and they made a release all out of content and concept and I said I was amused once or twice on the grounds in Mississippi, standing for seven hours watching what was going on and they used it all out of context but that's all right. That's only a portion of the overall media's effort.

"Because the J.C.S. (Joint Chiefs of Staff), the highest military tribunal, was censored during the Cuba operation. They were not allowed to sit in on any of the high-level planning and policy-making decisions. Pretty much before you might say they've always been on Cabinet level and rank. In this case Mr. (Robert) McNamara, Secretary of Defense, took their place, did all the talking and all the decision making."

Who Took Initiative?

Asked who took the initiative in the "national media effort" he described, Walker replied:

"The Administration and your controlled press."

He said the military services are censored "when they haven't fired a 15-cent shell at Cuba."

"Some people will go out of here and say that we can start a war over Cuba," Walker said. "You couldn't start a war over Cuba.

"They told us in Korea you couldn't fight that war to its conclusion because the supply line was too long and it was too vulnerable, five or six thousand miles. Now what excuse are we given? Now the supply line is 90 miles long and theirs is seven thousand miles long."

Walker said the United States should "take Cuba just the way Khrushchev did"—not by an invasion but by psychological warfare.

"You've been told you're in Cold War," he said. "The President says you're in dire peril. That doesn't exclude himself. He's in it too. I said you may not survive this first term in office. Well, I'd think if he didn't survive his first, he certainly couldn't survive his second. But I don't know whether people recognize this or not."

AP Use Questioned

A questioner at the press conference asked Walker why the Associated Press account of his Mississippi activities was used, rather than the United Press International account.

"That is hard to find out why, except that the Administration didn't want the other one used," he said. "I am convinced the AP's report was written in Washington and not by a 21-year-old on the campus grounds of Mississippi. Because if it was by the man that actually was in Mississippi, he couldn't have told such falsehood."

Asked for details, Walker replied later in the conference:

"I'm not saying where it was written. I'm just saying that the wire service report was influenced by someone else than the man that stood and saw everything that he reported."

History 'Never Told'

Walker said the true story of Mississippi has never been told.

"It's never been printed yet across the land," he said. "It's all censored."

He said he went to Oxford last fall "to get the true story of Mississippi." If he had to do over again, he said he...

...about five lawyers with me.

Walker asked if he was against racial integration of schools. Replied:

"I'm against forced integration at the point of a bayonet."

Walker commanded federal troops during integration troubles in Little Rock in 1957. He said he was "on the wrong side in Little Rock by order and on the right side in Mississippi as a civilian."

Walker was charged in Mississippi with insurrection and seditious conspiracy, but a federal grand jury did not indict.

Gen. Edwin A. [illegible] commander in Germany who resigned his commission after being rebuked for indoctrinating troops with his political philosophy through Army educational newsmedia. When it was developed that he had told the University of Mississippi during integration of the school Walker was arrested and charged with seditious conspiracy and inciting insurrection. He was later cleared by a federal grand jury.

Here to speak to a Memorial Auditorium audience Walker used an Associated Press dispatch from Oxford to back up his charge that what he called Communist efforts to control press [illegible] The Administration didn't want the United Press International report on the Mississippi situation used, he said. The A.P. report was used widely.

I am convinced that the A.P. report was written in Washington and shot at Oxford, he said.

Questioned later, Walker said it did not mean the article was written in Washington but that it was influenced by someone other than the reporter who saw what happened.

Walker said he is against forced integration of schools at bayonet point and in favor of the right of the people to establish what they want.

Querried about how news media were being controlled, Walker said Arthur Sylvester (assistant secretary of defense for public affairs) said he was controlling them.

Allied With Atheist

Walker said he meant that wire services and national networks were being controlled, not the local press.

Walker said the military services had been muzzled for 10 or 15 years, but it took longer to muzzle the news media.

Walker said he believed "we are losing the world."

"We are allied with an atheist," he said.

Asked whom he meant, he said Khrushchev. The United Nations supported him in the [illegible] of Cuba.

Attached for each office is a copy of a self-explanatory memorandum dated 10/24/62 from Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller, Jr., requesting additional investigation in this matter.

It may be observed that a number of the items of investigation requested in Mr. Miller's memorandum have already been covered. Item one dealing with copies of certain reports for the Criminal Division may be disregarded as this applies to the Seat of Government.

With respect to item number nine, the Department has advised that this may be limited to activities [redacted] for the period 9/23/62 through 10/1/62 and any connections on his part with former General Walker as well as [redacted] and the White Citizens Council of Jackson. 7C

With regard to the first paragraph of item number ten, Dallas should submit this information in a letterhead memorandum with original and three copies for the Bureau.

This investigation should be expedited along with other investigation in this matter presently being conducted. Leads should be set out by teletype and the submission of reports should be expedited.

EDWIN A. WALKER, DESEGREGATION OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI, RACIAL MATTERS; OBSTRUCTION OF JUSTICE; ASSAULTING OR KILLING A FEDERAL OFFICER; CONSPIRACY

This will confirm a conversation on October 29, 1962, between Mr. Andrew Phelan of your Division and Special Agent [redacted] of this Bureau relative to your memorandum dated October 26, 1962.

The memorandum referred to above requested five items of investigation relative to the death of Walter Ray Gunter on September 30, 1962, during the rioting in Oxford, Mississippi, and the shooting by Deputy U. S. Marshals into a fire hose being used by the rioters.

The investigation requested in paragraphs one, two and five of your memorandum will be conducted. However, with respect to item three, investigation relative to this paragraph will be limited to discreet efforts to ascertain the whereabouts and availability of the fire hose in question. This will be done only if investigation under paragraphs one, two and five does not rule out the possibility that Gunter may have been killed by a bullet fired from a weapon carried by one of the Deputy Marshals.

With respect to paragraph four, no investigation will be conducted to determine the possible position of the fire truck.

NOTE:

[redacted] items of investigation were designed to indicate [redacted] one of the Marshals would have accidently killed Gunter. Paragraph 3 requests that it be determined the number of bullet holes in a fire hose used by the students and angle at which the bullets might have gone through the hose. Also, it requested where the hose was connected during use. It was pointed out to Mr. Phelan that the angle of the bullets' passage through the hose would have very little significance unless the exact position of the hose at the time of the shooting was known. It was also pointed out that the hose would have to be obtained and examined by the Laboratory and this could not be done discreetly.

Paragraph 4 requested determination of location of fire truck (being used by students) during time hose was connected and being used against Marshals. The thought here was bullets fired into hose might have ricocheted off the fire truck (if it was nearby) and struck Gunter. It was explained to Mr. Phelan that according to [redacted] the [redacted] portion shot was only 30 or 40 feet from the front of the Lyceum Building and the fire engine was not in evidence at that time.

It was noted to Phelan that investigation under items 3 and 4 was only in the realm of speculation and conjecture and results would not be conclusive. He agreed to the method of handling set forth in this memorandum.

He stated he made his call from Holly Springs and returned to the University, where he remained until approximately 7:00 P. M., at which time he returned to Memphis, Tennessee.

He stated he saw General EDWIN WALKER only on one occasion on October 1, 1962. He advised this was when General WALKER was being lead from the Lyceum Building, and at that time he was "in custody" of military personnel.

He stated he observed one individual who was demanding to speak to the Attorney General, ROBERT KENNEDY. ED GUTHMAN, Department of Justice, conversed with this individual and told him he could not assist him since he was carrying an arsenal in his automobile.

He stated he was told by the marshals that the chief of the campus police acquitted himself well during the entire affair, and was a credit to the university.

Date 11/2/62

[redacted] advised that he was in Jackson, Mississippi, on September 30, 1962, when he heard of the disturbances on the university campus in Oxford. He stated he drove to Oxford, Mississippi, and arrived at the campus at approximately 8:30 P. M., on Sunday, September 30, 1962. He stated when he arrived at the gate, he saw an individual near the base of a statue, who had been addressing a large gathering. He stated he could not identify this person, nor could he state what was said, since the address had ended when he arrived. He stated that from subsequent nearby activities and from comments of individuals who were on the scene, he learned that General EDWIN WALKER had addressed a crowd at the base of a statue and he assumed that this was the individual he observed, although he could not testify to this as being factual.

He stated he later observed General WALKER on the campus, at which time he conversed with certain individuals but that he did not hear any of General WALKER's comments, nor did he observe him commit any overt act, other than stand around and talk to various individuals.

He stated when he arrived on the campus, the marshals were lined around the Lyceum Building with their backs to the building. He stated the mob was in front of the building and were throwing stones at the marshals while the marshals were firing tear-gas at the mob. He stated there was much confusion during this period of time. He advised there would be a wave of the mob moving toward the marshals and then falling back from the tear-gas. He stated there was a building being erected near the scene of the mob action and they were securing bricks from this building site which they were breaking into sections and throwing at the marshals. He advised that he did not observe any individual other than General WALKER whom he knew.

[redacted] stated he heard the reports from the firing of the tear gas, but at no time did he hear of see any type of firearms, other than the tear gas equipment.

He stated when he arrived at the campus at approximately 8:30 P. M., he observed a group of Highway Patrol cars driving off the campus. He stated he did not count these cars, but it was his impression that there were more than six of them.

He stated it was his impression that the mob was made up of students and other individuals, quite a number of whom appeared to be adults. He stated while he was on the scene and observed the riot, he was approached by students who inquired if he was newspaper reporter. He stated when he identified himself as such, they advised him not to produce any photographic equipment or anything which would visibly identify himself with that profession. He stated he did not conduct any interviews during this period of time and that he could identify no individuals in the rioting area other than General WALKER.

He stated he remained on the scene until approximately 12:30 P. M., at which time the first contingency of the military had arrived and the situation appeared to be coming under control.

MARLIN was in Mississippi during the riot at Oxford, Mississippi, on September 30, 1962, but was not actually at Oxford at the time of the riot. He personally observed no acts of violence on the part of any person.

On September 29, 1962 MARLIN and KENNETH BERNSTEIN, also an employee of NBC News, conducted a five-minute "spot" interview of General EDWIN A. WALKER at the Sun and Sand Motel, Jackson, Mississippi. During this interview General WALKER stated that he had arrived in Mississippi to support Governor BARNETT. He would not state the extent of support which he would give the Governor. During the interview General WALKER appeared obviously mentally deranged, lapsing into periods of silence during which time he stared off into space and refusing to comment on certain questions. The film indicates this fact. This film is now located at NBC News Headquarters, New York City.

BERNSTEIN was present in Mississippi during the time of the riot in Oxford on September 30, 1962. He was in Oxford both before and after this riot, but on the day of the riot he was in Jackson, Mississippi. He did not personally observe any acts of violence on the part of anyone.

BERNSTEIN, along with NBC News photographer CAL A. MARLIN, conducted a spot interview of General EDWIN A. WALKER in the Sun and Sand Motel, Jackson, Mississippi, on September 29, 1962. This interview was arranged by BERNSTEIN, when it was learned that General WALKER had arrived in the city. General WALKER agreed to appear for the interview at the request of BERNSTEIN, and came to the Sun and Sand Motel, where the cameras had been set up. General WALKER entered the room with an unidentified young man, approximately 20 years of age, who refused to give his name. The General was carrying a sheet of paper which contained a statement which he had previously prepared for the press. However, during the interview General WALKER apparently forgot to read this statement and said only that he had arrived to support Governor BARNETT. He refused to state the amount of support which he would give to the Governor. During the interview, General WALKER appeared obviously mentally unbalanced and often lapsed into 30 to 40-second periods of silence after being asked a question, during which times he stared into space. Following the interview, General WALKER was questioned by reporters in the hall, during which time he also gave the impression of being mentally deranged.

The above film is located at NBC News Headquarters, New York City.

The October 6, 1962 Final Home edition of the Oklahoma City Times, an established Oklahoma City newspaper, on pages one and two contains an item captioned "Free Walker, Lawyer Pleads". This item states in part, "efforts to obtain the release of former Maj. Gen. EDWIN A. WALKER, arrested during the University of Mississippi integration riot, from a federal hospital in Springfield, Missouri, were being made Saturday by CLYDE J. WATTS, an Oklahoma City, Okla. attorney. This item reports the former General was sent to the Springfield hospital for a psychiatric examination, but WATTS is attempting to have him transferred to a Dallas hospital.

This item further relates a group of 12 pickets led by an Oklahoma insurance salesman joined marchers in the rain in front of the U. S. Medical Center at Springfield to protest WALKER's confinement. The item states according to United Press International the picket leader identified himself as AL/ALEXANDER, 32, Boise City, Oklahoma. He identified his group as "Volunteers to Insure Constitutional Rights for General Walker".

The item states "Mrs. Alexander, contacted at her home in Boise City, told an Oklahoma City Times reporter her husband is in Oxford, Miss., but added: 'I have no comment. All I know is he's there. You'll have to talk to him about his views in this thing,' she said".

On November 1, 1962, [redacted] made available the following copy of a recorded interview with General Edwin Walker made by Charlie Ray. The original of the tape under ordinary circumstances, is retained about two months. In the event it is desired for court, a subpoena duces tecum should be issued [redacted] and if retention of the tape is desired indefinitely, he suggests station be notified.

MR. RAY: General Walker, do you still intend to follow through with your plans to go to Mississippi after the Government warning today supposedly that you will be held in contempt?

GEN. WALKER: I plan to go to Mississippi as I had intended if and when federal troops are used in Mississippi. I do not feel that there is any Constitutional law that prevents a citizen from moving from state to state or from place to place as he sees fit and there are hundreds of causes moving to Mississippi that are reflecting their attitudes in Mississippi and I am only a small part of this movement and I intend to be there if and when the decision is made to use federal troops there.

MR. RAY: Well, do you personally, sir, believe that that order will be given by Attorney General Robert Kennedy?

GEN. WALKER I would hope that they certainly do not use federal troops. It was a catastrophe when they did it before in 1957 and 8 in Little Rock. It was unconstitutional then as several governors have pointed out and also many members of the Bar and they should read the Constitution more carefully and they would recognize that this is unconstitutional. There is no law that requires integration.

ALL INFORMATION CONTAINED HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED [redacted]

MR. RAY: Well now sir, what do you think the repercussions would be if these federal troops are sent to Oxford and as a matter of fact the State of Mississippi?

MR. WALKER: I am not sure. It depends on what their mission is and what they are supposed to do and how they carry out that mission and what the intents are after they get to Mississippi. I would say that it certainly is obvious now that the cause of states rights extends far beyond Mississippi and practically every state in the union is recognizing the importance of the sovereignty of the state and that that is very much involved, greatly involved in this issue.

MR. RAY: Well sir, what has been the general reaction to your plans of going to Mississippi with groups of citizens? I am sure you have heard from quite a few people throughout the United States.

MR. WALKER: We are just utterly swamped here with telephone calls and offers of help and assistance and notifications that people are moving to Mississippi and that they want to assist in every way possible, that they are opposed to what the administration is doing in opposing the governor in Mississippi. I can assure you that the telephones don't ever stop ringing. Calls are backed up six and eight deep. People are telling me its taking four and five hours to even get into our telephone system and we have seven phones in the house. Messages are coming in, offering support from in groups of ten to twenty to even two thousand.

MR. RAY: Well, sir, do you find that these telegrams and well wishes from people throughout the United States are predominately Southern, or are they also coming from the North and the West and the East?

MR. WALKER: They are from all parts of the country. Many have come in from Ohio, just a few minutes ago from St. Paul, quite a few from New York, Florida, of course, Los Angeles, and many of the states in between. I have just gotten off the line to Seattle, Washington.

MR. RAY: Well, then. do you have plans, sir, for rallies if and when the Federal Troops are entered into Mississippi, of a certain point in the state where all of your followers will then meet with you to protest the integration if it does come about?

MR. WALKER: I intend to join the movement. There are thousands of people, I am sure, already in Mississippi, probably hundreds of thousands there that are already standing beside their Governor BARNETT. The best place to do this would, of course, be at the Capitol or at Oxford or at the University, since that is where the issue is involved, and I am sure that that is where most of the movements will move to to show the grass roots movement in this issue.

MR. RAY: Well, one final question sir. Just what were your thoughts when acting as an officer of the United States Army when you were commanded to enter Little Rock? What were your thoughts in 1957, seeing the same type of citizens in another state so opposedly or reportedly opposing Federal seizure or Federal acts against a sovereign state supposedly?

MR. WALKER: At that time, I knew it was unconstitutional, and felt it was at that time, in using troops, and it should never have been done. My principles have not changed, but now out of uniform, I am on the other side and this time on

MR. WALKER: (CONT'D) the right side, and that is in opposition to unconstitutional actions by the Federal Government, and I am very happy to be free from the requirements of the military service and those cases where the military service has been unconstitutionally used against the citizens of the United States. It would appear to me with all the problems in the international situation and with an enemy, and a very critical enemy, ninety miles off of our coast, that it would be as utterly fantastic as well as impossible that the administration should now be in a cause and a purpose which is as to the disunity of the United States of America, when the important thing is today that all Americans be unified against the one and only important enemy in the world, today, the one who has established that he intends to bury us, and by the President's own statement, this country is in dire peril.

It was during this evening that [redacted] first saw General WALKER. This was about 9 p.m. September 30, 1962, and he saw the General walking around the east part of the circle. He attracted between 100 and 200 followers and, after strolling about and looking here and there, he began a slow walk toward the Lyceum. He said nothing that [redacted] could hear although [redacted] was within hearing distance, and the crowd followed him. During this time the Marshals were firing tear gas and the wind was blowing from the southeast. As the crowd got up to a point where the tear gas was effective, they all fell back. Then General WALKER disappeared.

later in the evening saw General WALKER near the Johnny Reb statue at the east end of the circle. He was looking around and again a crowd surrounded him. He seemed to sense that they expected him to say something, and so he stated [illegible] in particular, "Keep it up. Protest." He then mounted the base of the Johnny Reb statue and made a little speech. stated that it was not inflammatory. He indicated he supported the people and encouraged them to continue their protest. He said he did not want violence and appeared to take pains to avoid inciting violence.

After General WALKER's speech, said something to the General. General WALKER then told the crowd that wanted him to desist. WALKER said that this suggestion made him ashamed to be a member of the Episcopal Church. At that point fell to the ground, and someone in the crowd asked that not be hurt. Thereupon his friends ushered him away. was later interviewed by and he said he had asked the General to desist. He said he had been jerked to the ground but did not indicate who had done this.

Following WALKER's speech he again started to stroll toward the line of United States Marshals around the Lyceum. This was not a charge as some reporters indicated in their articles. Again the crowd followed and when they got to the tear gas once again they dispersed. This was the last saw of General WALKER and at that point it was getting close to midnight.

A little earlier in the evening a large number of U.S. troops began arriving on the campus, and they drove along the north side of the circle in trucks covered with canvas. The troops were sitting on benches in the trucks. A barrage of rocks and bottles was thrown at them, and many appeared to have been hit. stated it was easy to find rocks since there was a construction project off the southeast corner of the campus.

stated there appeared to be no apparent leadership to the various acts of violence he observed during the evening. He pointed out that late in the evening two or three automobiles which had been parked on the south side of the circle flared up and burned. The nature of the flame indicated some type of incendiary was used, and no effort was made to put the fires out.

Concerning General WALKER, [redacted] advised that at no time had he observed any participation by WALKER in the disturbance. He recalled he had observed WALKER on only two occasions in Oxford. The first time was when [redacted] entered the Mansion Restaurant in downtown Oxford with a party of newsmen at about 2:00 p.m. on Sunday, September 30, 1962. On this occasion General WALKER was observed sitting with another man at a booth in the restaurant. [redacted] attempted to engage WALKER in conversation but WALKER merely commented that he was planning to hold a news conference at the Ole Miss Motel at 3:00 p.m. that day. The only other time [redacted] observed WALKER was the following morning when WALKER was brought into the Lyceum Building on the University campus in the custody of Army troops.

[redacted] explained that it was extremely difficult to see and identify individuals both because of the darkness and the tear gas and that actually, he would first note when a missile had struck an object or a Marshal and turning to look, he would see a form disappearing into the darkness. On occasion, several of the United States Marshals would surge forward to chase the group of students back. [redacted] stated that he would be unable to identify any one individual as having taken part in this riot or having been a part of the attack on the United States Marshals. He advised that he left the campus area at approximately 11:00 p.m., September 30, 1962, and during this evening he did not observe or hear General WALKER.

Regarding EDWIN WALKER, [redacted] stated he did not see him on Sunday evening, September 30, 1962, but that sometime between 9:00 and 10:00 AM on October 1, 1962, he saw WALKER along with two associates standing on one of the street corners on the Oxford City Square. [redacted] said that behind WALKER and the other two individuals he observed two soldiers with their bayonets fixed and he noticed that the soldiers and WALKER were in conversation. He said that he overheard WALKER say that they were only going across the street to the drug store to have some coffee but that the soldiers did not let WALKER and the two men cross the street. [redacted] said that he did, however, see WALKER later enter the drug store. [redacted] stated that he again saw WALKER that same day between 12:30 and 1:00 PM when WALKER was being escorted by the troops in the vicinity of the Lyceum Building. [redacted] said he attended the arraignment of WALKER before the U. S. Commissioner, at approximately 2:00 PM in the Federal Building in Oxford. By teletype on 9/28/62 it is indicated [redacted] was heading a group of Los Angeles Minute Men to Mississippi. By teletype 9/29/62, Dallas indicated [redacted] reported 100 armed men from Los Angeles were pledged to General EDWIN A. WALKER to resist Federal troops.

[redacted]

A Bureau radiogram 10/2/62 requested information as to any active role by subversive elements in instant matter. All agents handling security informants were requested to contact their informants to determine if any information had been received indicating that subversive elements played any active role in Mississippi to block integration. As of 10/19/62 no such information had been received from contact with 37 security informants.

[redacted]

[redacted] he devoted himself chiefly to the situation in Mississippi and the defense of General WALKER. He stated that WALKER was not on the University of Mississippi campus, but tried to get the students not to use mob violence and that his arrest "was a mockery of justice and part of a plot to declare him insane by Jew psychiatrists."

[redacted] said if they did not drive WALKER insane, they would use needles to do it. He stated MEREDITH is a "guinea pig" for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Anti-Defamation League (ADL), and that no Jew could ever be trusted. [redacted] also attacked RICHARD NIXON, current candidate for Governor of California, for repudiating the John Birch Society. [redacted] alluded several times to the "eradication of Jews."

[redacted] made the following statements:

"We went to Mississippi armed to the teeth.

"We were going to shoot anyone who tried to stop us or arrest us.

"I cannot say how we got there. We went over swamp country and rough terrain since the Federal troops were guarding all the streets and highways in Mississippi.

"I am tired since I have not had any rest for 12 days.

"I don't care if it is found out that we did go there armed.

"The Federal Marshals were armed and it probably was one of them that killed the reporter.

"I tried twice to talk to Gov. Barnett. The first time he did not seem who I was, but after the Gov. learned that I knew [redacted] he talked to me. He told me how much he enjoyed reading the Cross and the Flag. I told the Gov. to put the Mississippi National Guard under his control and to [illegible] the Marshals for breaking the law. Although he [illegible] good man he does not know the ways of the enemy and did not take my advice.

"Former General WALKER did not try to urge the crowd on but on the contrary, he tried to make them stop.

"After the bail was set WALKER's backers had the $100,000.00 but no one would accept it.

"WALKER was kidnapped and BOBBY KENNEDY should be charged with the crime.

"KATZENBACH (Deputy Attorney General) was named as a Communist in General WALKER's book, and because of that KATZENBACH, a Jew, had WALKER arrested.

"That White Eskimo, WALTER WINCHELL, said in his column, the next state to integrate will be Alabama.

"I do not preach this, but I will see to it that every Jew leaves this country.

"All Senators and Congressmen should be notified by you regarding Sect. 1385, Title 18, U.S. Criminal Code, regarding the Felony Clause - U.S. Code of Judicial procedure. They will then be on notice regarding this law which makes it a crime if they do not start impeachment proceedings against the President, or, let's call him Mr. KENNEDY [illegible] all other officials who participated in the crime including BOBBY. The first one to be arrested for this crime is JIMMY ROOSEVELT.

"We are setting up a fund for General WALKER and our goal is $150,000.00. Send your donation to Box 2870 and we will see to it that it goes to that fund. Address it to the General Walker Fund."

The above information was incorporated in Los Angeles airtels and letterhead memoranda dated 10/1/62 and 10/17/62.

[redacted] arrived in Oxford, Mississippi, on Saturday, September 29, 1962, and spent this day talking to townspeople at Oxford. On Sunday afternoon, September 30, 1962, he went onto the University of Mississippi campus about noon, and stayed there until about 3:30 p.m. talking to students. About 2:00 p.m., someone pointed out to him General EDWIN A. WALKER, who was riding in a car driving on the campus, which car, he recalled, had a Louisiana license. This was the only occasion he observed General WALKER.

[redacted] stated that he saw former General EDWIN A. WALKER speaking at the base of the Confederate statue somewhere around 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. He said he was 35 or 40 yards from where WALKER was speaking and he could not hear his words. He noted that the crowd gathered around WALKER appeared to be mostly young people. He said most of them appeared to be young students. He received the impression that the students were mostly freshmen and sophomores.

[redacted] stated that before WALKER spoke at about 8:30 p.m. he observed the violence which took place in front of the Lyceum Building. He said that he was standing east of this building and witnessed the attack on the automobile [redacted] He said that shortly after this incident he was standing with [redacted] when a youth approached [redacted] and asked him where he was from. When [redacted] replied that he represented [redacted] the youth made a remark to the effect that [redacted] was a "nigger lover" and with this remark struck [redacted] a blow to the chest with his fist. He then turned to the crowd and shouted "let's get him." [redacted] stated that he would recognize this youth should he see him again. He described him as about 6' tall with short blond hair. He weighed about 160 pounds and had a very fair complexion. [redacted] stated that this youth was about 18 years old and appeared to be a freshman or sophomore.

[redacted] stated that he observed an effort made by the students to set the Army trucks on fire and he also observed a fire extinguisher squirted on a soldier who was trying to extinguish the flames. He said he observed many rocks and bottles thrown.

[redacted] recalled that the violence started at about 8:00 p.m. when a group of youths started throwing rocks at U. S. Marshals in front of the Lyceum Building.

He said he saw and heard the speech made by former General EDWIN A. WALKER at the base of the Confederate statue. He said WALKER's speech did not make sense. During part of his speech he was urging nonviolence and then he would seem to be urging the students onto further violence. He said several times "keep it up, keep it up," and inferred that violence would force the U. S. Marshals to withdraw and take JAMES MEREDITH with them. He said he heard several youths who apparently were students express the opinion that WALKER was crazy. Miss

He stated he observed the violence in front of the Lyceum Building and saw youths let air out of tires, throw lighted cigarettes on top of trucks, and throw rocks and bottles at the U. S. Marshals.

[redacted] said that Mississippi State Troopers watched the violence but made little or no effort to stop it. 7D

[redacted] said he doubted very much if he would be able to recognize any of the persons whom he observed in acts of violence. He pointed out that it was dark and the tear gas made visibility extremely poor.

[redacted] He advised that he arrived on the campus of the University of Mississippi at Oxford, Mississippi, about 6:30 p.m. on September 30, 1962, and remained on the campus throughout the night with the exception of brief trips from the campus to the Ole Miss Motel. He said violence erupted on the campus about 8:00 p.m. when a crowd of youths whom he assumed to be students started throwing rocks at the U. S. Marshals who were stationed in the front of the Lyceum Building. He said at this point Mississippi State Troopers were between the Marshals and the crowd of students and that some of the troopers appeared to be making an effort to keep the students pushed back from in front of the Lyceum Building. He said that many rocks were thrown at the Marshals before the first tear gas grenade was exploded. 7D

[redacted] said he saw former General EDWIN A. WALKER speaking to a crowd of about 200 youths at the Confederate statute on the campus. He said he walked over and heard part of WALKER's speech. He recalled that WALKER stated in substance that he was not advocating violence but the students certainly had a right to demonstrate. He recalled that WALKER made a remark to the effect that the violence taking place on the campus would not help oust the Communists from Cuba. He placed the time of WALKER's speech at about 9:00 p.m. and said he later saw WALKER leaving the campus accompanied by two men. He fixed the time of WALKER's departure at about 11:00 p.m. 7D

[redacted] recalled that the crowd really became a mob at about 10:00 p.m. when outsiders began to pour onto the campus. He said he saw many students wearing shirts or sweaters indicating they were students at Mississippi State University at Starkville, Mississippi. He said he saw many rocks and bottles thrown at the Marshals. He recalled hearing shots which he recognized as both rifle and revolver shots beginning at about 10:00 p.m. He added that he did not personally see any of the mob carrying firearms. He said most were armed with sharpened sticks and bricks which were obtained from a building under construction nearby. 7D

He could not furnish any details concerning any specific act of violence in which he could furnish any description of the participants. As of the time he arrived, troops were moving into the area. There was considerable tear gas in the air around the campus. He had difficulty in attempting to get on the campus himself. He obtained permission from a military officer to proceed on the campus, but before he could leave the officer, one of the marshals rushed up and hit him [redacted] with a night stick causing him to leave the area immediately. He recalled seeing some young people throwing stones at military jeeps on the town square. He could not furnish any descriptions of any individuals involved. He did not photograph at close range any specific acts of violence, his photographs being of a general nature, and these were sent directly to GPI Headquarters in New York City. He did not see General WALKER while in Oxford.

He covered the University of Mississippi integration trouble at Oxford, Mississippi, arriving there late night on Sunday night, September 30, 1962, and remained until October 4, 1962. He was unable to furnish any details concerning any specific acts of violence in which he could describe any of the participants.

He furnished the following information concerning matters which he could recall:

About two miles out of Oxford, Mississippi, he was stopped by the Mississippi State Police, who cautioned him to be careful and urged him not to go to the campus at all, pointing out that any kind of equipment taken to the campus might be damaged. [redacted] identified himself as being with the press and indicated his intention of going to the campus, the State Police gave him an escort to the [redacted] where most of the members of the press were staying.

[redacted] met two students from Vanderbilt University who refused to identify themselves but who inferred they had been to the University of Mississippi campus and were involved in the rioting. He could not describe these students.

[redacted] went to the campus where in the vicinity of the Lyceum Building students were [illegible] throwing the missiles. In this vicinity he saw a man in civilian clothes whom he understood to be General EDWIN A. WALKER. WALKER was talking to the students who were gathered there. WALKER was interrupted by a man who described himself as a minister and who pointed out to WALKER that since he appeared to be the friend of the students that WALKER should encourage the students to leave the area. WALKER asked the minister about his religious affiliations and the minister replied that he was an Episcopal minister. WALKER stated that he, too, was an Episcopalian, but at that moment he was ashamed of it, inferring that he was ashamed of the minister's attitude. Thereafter, WALKER made statements to the students to the effect that they should charge the marshals again, [redacted] specifically recalled that WALKER shouted, "Charge!" [redacted] later saw WALKER in the Lyceum Building when WALKER was brought in for questioning.

[redacted] recalled that a reporter for the Toronto Star was in front of the Colonial Hotel where he intended to get into his own car but made a mistake and got into the car of some other person. According to this reporter, he was beaten by unknown persons. [redacted] did not witness this incident.

[redacted] on Monday morning, October 1, 1962, he saw some camera man taking a picture of a soldier, at which time the soldier threw a rock at the camera man and threatened to shoot him if he took any more pictures. During the rioting at the campus [redacted] saw some men in plain clothes whom he believed to be Mississippi State Policemen whom he had seen in uniform earlier that night. He could not be positive and could not furnish any description of these individuals. [redacted] noted that when the soldiers took over the area around the campus that they refused to admit some State Policemen in uniform to enter the gate to go to State Police cars which had been parked inside the gate earlier that night. [redacted] recalled that on Monday, October 1, 1962, he saw men standing at street corners in the town of Oxford with their sleeves rolled up. These men had supplies of bricks and bottles which they threw at any automobile that bore an out-of-state license.

[redacted] advised that on about Thursday, September 27, 1962, he telephoned long distance from Little Rock, Arkansas, to General WALKER at Dallas, Texas, for a telephone interview of WALKER which [redacted] recorded. WALKER spent considerable time reading his prepared statement in which he urged his followers to take their camping equipment and go to Oxford, Mississippi. WALKER made a statement to the effect that when he was in Little Rock he was a soldier and had to serve the government, but that he is now a civilian and can stand up for what he believes. [redacted] recalled that WALKER made some statement concerning a number of followers he had in southern Louisiana and may have mentioned the number 10,000.

[redacted] stated that if his recorded interview with WALKER was of any importance to the Government that he would make it available upon request.

He stated that he, and [redacted] got into their automobile to listen to the President's speech which was broadcasted at 8:00 p.m., however, was forced out of the automobile due to the tear gas. After taking refuge in what he termed to be the Journalism building, they saw the injured being brought in and it was at this time that they saw the injured news photographer previously referred to. [redacted] stated he observed General WALKER (Lieutenant General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army, retired) shortly after the conclusion of the President's speech at 8:00 p.m. At that time he observed General WALKER walking past the Alumni building with four rather tough looking men who were apparently General WALKER's bodyguards. [redacted] had no further comment concerning this observation of General WALKER. [redacted] added he again saw General WALKER at about 9:00 p.m. at which time he was standing near a Confederate statue and was apparently addressing a group of men. [redacted] stated that at no time did he hear any of the comments which General WALKER had to make and observed no actions taken by the people as a result of what General WALKER had apparently said to them. 7D

[redacted] commented that the Mississippi State Troopers left the campus in a body on two occasions, once at about 8:00 p.m. and again at about 10:30 p.m. He added that by 11:00 p.m. the State Troopers were completely outside of the action. 7D

[redacted] had the following impressions of the rioters: 7D

1. Initially composed of students, most of whom were on the campus at the time. They were emotional and hostile to the United States Marshals.

2. Most of the students were not active in emotional hostility to the United States Marshals or the event at hand.

3. A minority of the students was certainly in the violence.

[redacted] stated he departed Oxford, Mississippi, for Memphis, Tennessee, on Saturday afternoon September 29, 1962, and returned to Oxford, Mississippi, at about 8:00 a.m. on Sunday, September 30, 1962. While having lunch at the Mansion Restaurant in Oxford, he was accompanied by [redacted] stated the Mansion Restaurant was friendly to the reporters, but unsympathetic to the Northern views on integration. While lunch was in progress General WALKER (Lieutenant General EDWIN A. WALKER, United States Army, retired) walked into the restaurant. WALKER was accompanied by a youthful male assistant. According to [redacted] it was obvious that General WALKER desired to issue a statement to the press. [redacted] stated that he and his companions, [redacted] did not want to furnish General WALKER with an audience. However, since General WALKER was in a booth close to them, he said they could hear enough of General WALKER's talk to indicate that he was talking to some unidentified Southern reporters about "volunteers." General WALKER announced he would hold a press conference at 3:00 p.m. at the Ole Miss Motel, however, did not appear.

Continuing, [redacted] stated word was then received that the United States Marshals were coming in with MEREDITH. When [redacted] and others tried to get on the campus, they found their way barred by the Mississippi Highway Patrol. This so-called blockade lasted for sometime. Humorously, [redacted] commented that while waiting at this "blockade" [redacted] slipped by the Troopers at the bridge, gained access to the campus as an apparent student, and later returned to tell the American reporters and others who were waiting at the blockade that the students were shouting "to hell with KENNEDY." [redacted] stated that at about this time the Police blockade was suddenly abandoned and all of the reporters got on to the campus.

[redacted] stated he observed the smashing of [redacted] car on the campus. He said the University Police were standing around at the time, but were too few in number to do anything about it. He said he did not see General WALKER at the scene. He said he did not see any weapons used and said he had no descriptions of any individuals, nor any means by which he would be able to identify any of the participants in the violence which occurred. He said that in the beginning of the violence which took place, the crowd seemed [redacted] composed mainly of students but that afterwards a bunch of "roughnecks" took over. [redacted] estimated a hard corps of about 400 activists and about 2000 watchers.

[redacted] advised that on September 30, 1962, he arrived on the campus in the area of the Lyceum Building at about 4:00 or 4:30 P.M., at which time he observed the U. S. Marshals around the Lyceum Building. At this time he recalled there were a few students in the area, however, they were quite orderly at that time. He stated that he remained in this area until about 7:00 or 7:30 P.M., during which time he observed the group building up and individuals in the mob began throwing bottles and rocks in the direction of the U. S. Marshals. He realized at this time that the marshals were preparing to fire gas grenades, at which time he left the immediate area and went to the area of the flagpole located in the grove east of the Lyceum Building. While at this point he observed individuals letting air out of tires of the trucks and observed some individuals throwing lighted cigarettes on the top of the canvas tops of the Army trucks which were used to transport the U. S. Marshals. 7D

He advised that he left the campus immediately after the tear gas shells were fired.

He returned to the campus at about 11:00 P.M. and was a good distance from the Lyceum Building, however, stated he observed several individuals on a bulldozer and stated they were driving this bulldozer in the general direction of the Lyceum Building. He stated that during most of this time he was in the vicinity of the Confederate monument and estimated he only stayed on campus for approximately fifteen minutes. During this time he advised he did not see former General EDWIN A. WALKER and stated frankly he was unable to recognize any of the individuals as being students at the University of Mississippi. He stated, however, that many in the group were young persons who were probably students, but stated they were unknown to him.

[redacted] stated that he was present on the campus when General WALKER made his speech at the Confederate monument and stated to his knowledge General WALKER was advocating a protest, however, did not advocate violence. 7D

[redacted] stated that on several occasions during the speech individuals asked WALKER to lead them in the charge, however he did not answer nor did it appear to [redacted] that he was interested in any type of mob violence. [redacted] stated that it appeared to him that General WALKER was just advocating a non-violent protest in relation to the desegregation matter at the University of Mississippi. 7D

[redacted] stated that there were two other older individuals in the vicinity of WALKER, however, he had no knowledge whether they were connected with WALKER or not, nor could he identify them. 7D

[redacted] stated that it was his personal opinion that WALKER advocated no violence. 7D

[redacted] advised that later on in the evening, time unrecalled, he observed a person firing a rifle which he described as a .22 caliber rifle near the bulletin board near the Confederate monument. [redacted] stated that he could not identify this individual nor does he know whether or not this individual was taken into custody. [redacted] stated that the tear gas was very heavy in the vicinity and obstructed his view. [redacted] advised that he would be unable to identify any of the individuals he observed as none were known to him personally. 7D

Around 10:00 p.m. [redacted] received a telephone call from [redacted] 7D who said that General EDWIN WALKER was making a speech on the campus. [redacted] then came back to the campus, arriving around 10:15 p.m. He did not, however, see General WALKER. [redacted] went to the YMCA on the campus and [redacted] told him that [redacted] had heard WALKER's speech. [redacted] stayed at the YMCA for about 20 minutes. While there he saw a crowd of people throwing rocks at some government vehicles. He also saw [redacted] come into the YMCA who said he had been shot. [redacted] examined the boy's stomach and saw what appeared to be [redacted] "powder burns". The shots had not penetrated the boy's skin. [redacted] did not know the name of this boy but [redacted] this picture was in the Commercial Appeal, a Memphis, Tennessee, daily newspaper, within the next two or three days of [redacted] visit. This photograph showed the boy holding up his shirt. The boy did not say how he had been shot. Around 1:45 p.m. [redacted] left the campus.

[redacted] denied that he had observed anyone shooting a .22 rifle on the night of September 30, 1962, but admitted that he was on the University of Mississippi campus along with another student by the name of [redacted]. He stated that he had been on the campus around 11:00 or 12:00 p.m. He stated on the night of September 30, 1962, as he was walking toward the Lyceum Building, he heard something hit the ground which sounded like a rifle shot about ten or fifteen feet in front of him. [redacted] stated that he could not be certain if this was a .22 rifle, but it sounded like a shot that hit the ground.

[redacted] denied that he had participated in the rioting on the University of Mississippi campus, but indicated that he had heard General WALKER make some statements. He stated that he could not be certain what General WALKER said and did not feel that he would make a good witness concerning him.

[redacted] advised that he arrived in Oxford, Mississippi at around 6:00 a.m. Sunday, September 30, 1962, and nothing of any consequence happened during the day. He advised that between 4:00 and 5:00 p.m. that date, he went onto the campus of the University of Mississippi, and jointed a milling crowd of students and people. Later in the evening, when the U. S. Marshals had arrived and had surrounded the Lyceum Building, he observed the students and people shouting and throwing rocks and cursing. He stated that there was quite a bit of commotion during that time but there was no real violence evidenced at that time. He stated that what appeared to him to trigger the early rioting was a Tele News Cameraman and his wife who were making photographs of the crowd. He stated he then heard glass breaking and he assumed that a car had been smashed. He stated that he did not see the car being smashed but within the next few minutes he heard about three other cars being smashed.

Between 8:00 and 9:00 p.m., General EDWIN A. WALKER arrived near the Confederate Monument on the University Campus. He stated that this was after the U. S. Marshals had used teargas shells on the crowd and as the General began speaking, the students and people quitened down. [redacted] advised that there were approximately 150 people listening to the General speak. [redacted] advised that he made notes concerning the General's remarks but was not able to quote the speech verbatim as it was difficult to write and appear as a student to the other members of the group.

[redacted] referred to his notes and advised that the General stated miscellaneous compliments to the members of the crowd for the protests they were making against the U. S. Government and indicated that they had a right to protest under the Constitution. He continued that the blood shed at the University of Mississippi was on the hands of the Federal Government and the agencies of the Government. He further stated that what had happened at the university was the result of a sellout, indicating that he (General WALKER) had received information from Governor BARNETT that State Highway Patrol Director BIRDSONG had specific orders not to allow any federal officers or U. S. Marshals on the Ole Miss Campus. WALKER further indicated that BIRDSONG had capitulated and had given the orders to let the Marshals on the campus. WALKER indicated that this happening on the campus was a long route to Cuba.

[redacted] stated that at this point, he would be able to quote the General verbatim when he made the statement in reference to the rioting that "You can continue. Many people from out of state are heading for Oxford." He stated at this point, General WALKER left the vicinity of the Monument and walked away. 7D

[redacted] felt that the above statement by General WALKER gave sanction to the rioters to continue their rioting and felt that the General's speech had excited the rioters further. He stated that after this speech, the rioting on the campus reached a new tempo and became really bad. 7D

[redacted] stated he was unable to identify anyone personally who had participated in the riot but stated there was a large number participating. 7D

[redacted] upon interview furnished the following information: 7D

[redacted] stated that he was at Oxford, Mississippi, from approximately 6:30 p.m. on September 30, 1962, to approximately 3:00 p.m. on Tuesday, October 2, 1962, in connection with the efforts to register JAMES MEREDITH at the University of Mississippi. He advised that he arrived at the University of Mississippi campus at approximately 9:00 or 10:00 p.m. on September 30, 1962. He advised that when he started to enter the University of Mississippi campus, he was advised by a member of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol as well as a student against going on the campus. However, he parked his automobile behind the Journalism Building and walked on to the University of Mississippi campus. He advised that when he arrived on the campus, that he observed a man standing on the base of the statue or monument on the campus talking, and that this individual was General EDWIN WALKER and that he stayed close to General WALKER for a period of time. He advised that he overhead General WALKER make a statement to the effect to the individuals who were gathered around him that any blood shed that occurred on the University of Mississippi campus was on the hands of the Federal Government. He also heard General WALKER state that he had been contacted by an aide of Governor ROSS BARNETT during the day and that Governor BARNETT had felt that Mississippi had been sold out. [redacted] stated that he then observed General WALKER to pause in his statements and those individuals who were gathered about the monument, began to holler, "Who".

He advised that General WALKER permitted this question "Who" to be stated several times and then General WALKER answered "Birdsong". [redacted] stated that an Episcopal minister was in the area of the monument and was apparently trying to speak to the individuals gathered in that area and that General WALKER made a comment to those gathered in that area that this Episcopal minister made General WALKER ashamed to be an Episcopalian. [redacted] stated that this minister did not actually talk to those 7D individuals gathered at that point. [redacted] stated that he at no time heard General WALKER make any direct statement to incite riot or action on the part of the individuals who were gathered near the monument or at any time during that night. He advised that from the remarks which are set out above and other remarks which he cannot recall that he considered the statements made by General WALKER to be inflamatory but General WALKER never at any time in his hearing made any direct command or direct suggestion to his listeners to perform any acts of riot. [redacted] stated that he also likewise did not hear General WALKER make any comments to calm, placate, or disperse the crowd. [redacted] stated that he was not present when WALKER first started talking to the individuals in the area and he [redacted] came after General WALKER had begun to talk and therefore he did not hear all that General WALKER had to say. [redacted] stated that with General WALKER was a man whom he would describe as being a white male, approximately 26 years of age, 5' 11" tall, weighing 145 lbs., blond crew cut hair, a dark gray or black business suit, thin face, pointed face with sharp features and gave the appearance of being an ivy-league type. This individual made a comment that he was with General WALKER and [redacted] stated that he believed that he observed this individual with a pad of paper making notes. [redacted] stated that he never did hear this man's name mentioned. He advised that this individual was not the same individual whom he observed with General WALKER when General WALKER was arraigned in Federal Court on October 1, 1962. [redacted] stated that when he arrived on the campus that the U. S. Marshals had already fired tear gas projectiles and that he would estimate that approximately 300 people were in the area of the monument listening to General WALKER. He advised that after General WALKER spoke to these individuals, that this entire crowd of approximately 300 people advance toward the Lyceum Building where the U. S. Marshals were located. He advised that the first group of men marched ahead and that General WALKER walked toward the Lyceum Building with the second group of individuals. [redacted] stated that he walked with General WALKER toward the Lyceum Building.

[redacted] stated that he did not hear General WALKER say anything to direct the activities of this group of people and did not observe General WALKER throw any objects or engage in any violence. He advised that he observed

General WALKER make a nodding of his head when objects were being thrown but that he, [redacted] thought that this action of General WALKER nodding his head was not done so to influence the crowd that was a personal reaction on the part of General WALKER. He advised that when this group moved toward the Lyceum Building that some of the individuals in this group yelled at the Marshals and that a group on the right of those marching toward the Lyceum Building yelled at the Marshals whether or not a truce could be obtained. [redacted] stated that several of the United States Marshals stepped out in front and told the individuals to send some senior students to talk the matter over. [redacted] stated that General WALKER did not step up at that time and that a group of students talked to the U. S. Marshals. He advised that the students, after talking with the Marshals, came back to the crowd and stated that the Marshals had agreed that if the rocks and other objects were not thrown, that no more gas would be shot. [redacted] stated that the terms of this "truce" were not accepted by the crowd and the crowd advanced again toward the Marshals.

7D

[redacted] stated that he observed a group of individuals pushing an old firetruck toward the U. S. Marshals at the Lyceum Building and squirting water through the hoses toward the U. S. Marshals.

7D

[redacted] stated that shortly thereafter, he went to Baxter Hall and that he would estimate that he arrived at Baxter Hall at around 11:30 p.m. He advised that while he was at Baxter Hall talking to the U. S. Marshals, that one of the Marshals said something to the effect of "look out" at which time a bottle came crashing down near where he was standing. He advised that he did not see anyone throw this bottle.

[redacted] stated that on one occasion, on the lawn of the Chemistry Building or the building located next to the Chemistry Building or in the area, that he personally observed men behind some bushes who had guns in their possession. He advised that these individuals had either rifles or shotguns and were dressed in khaki clothing and did not appear by their dress or appearance to be students, but appeared to be older people and of heavier build than the average student.

[redacted] advised that these individuals were not dressed as students. He stated that he did not see the faces of these individuals and would not be able to describe them or identify them and that he did not actually see them shooting these guns. [redacted] stated that he observed Molotov cocktails being thrown at the Marshals at the Lyceum Building on the night of September 30, 1962, and also heard shots, although he did not see anyone actually shooting a gun. He also saw lighted objects being thrown and on one occasion saw one individual with a barrel of what he assumed was gasoline bringing this barrel to the area of the Lyceum Building or where the rioting was occuring. He could not describe this individual or identify him. He advised that he observed the activities in connection with setting fire to the automobile belonging to radio station WMPS of Memphis, Tennessee, but could not identify or describe the individuals responsible for these acts. 7D

[redacted] stated that shortly after midnight, he again went to the monument and General WALKER was at the monument at that time. He observed an individual in the area whom he would describe as being in his early 20's, a white male, fairly short, being 5' 8" tall, and weighing about 155 pounds, and having a thick southern accent. He advised that this individual had blond curly hair, and was dressed in old clothing and had a gash in his head. He advised that obviously to him this individual was not a student but was an outsider and was uneducated and that actually he had seen this individual in the Lyceum Building on the morning of October 1, 1962, after he had been arrested by U. S. Marshals. He stated that this individual was talking to General WALKER near the monument and that from what this individual stated to WALKER or in his comments, he assumed that he was from outside the state of Mississippi as he had indicated that he had driven a long way. [redacted] stated that he did not actually see this individual engage in any violence or riotous acts. 7D

[redacted] also stated that at around 1:30 a.m. he observed an individual near General WALKER at the monument whom he would describe as being a white male being about 6' tall, weighing 160 lbs., lanky build with a round, smooth face, and being 19 to 24 years of age. This individual had dark, close-cropped hair and was dressed in a dress shirt open at the neck and was wearing a jacket. He advised that 7D this individual could possibly have been a student. He advised that he remembers this individual because he had a highball in his hand and asked General WALKER if he was a sheriff. The individual who has been described hereinbefore as having a cut on his head, spoke up according to [redacted] and told the individual with the highball in his hand that he could call him "High Sheriff" referring to General WALKER.

[redacted] stated that he saw General WALKER again on the morning of October 1, 1962, at approximately 11:30 a.m. in the Lyceum Building after General WALKER had been arrested.

[redacted] stated that on Monday morning, October 1, 1962, at around 8:00 a.m. when he left his room at the hotel in Oxford, that he observed rock-throwing activities on the part of individuals in the square where the Courthouse is located. He advised that the individuals were throwing rocks and bottles at soldiers who were located on the street. He stated that these individuals were on the Courthouse lawn and throwing rocks and other objects out at the soldiers west of the Courthouse lawn. He stated that these individuals were in clusters and were rough-looking individuals whom he did not think were students, as they did not give the appearance or were dressed as students.

He advised that in company with [redacted] that he then went to the Mansion Cafe in Oxford, arriving there at about 9:00 a.m. He advised that the front door of the Mansion Cafe was locked and they were permitted to enter by a side door. He stated that there were other newspaper reporters in the Mansion Cafe at that time. He advised that he then looked out the window on Lamar Street or the street which runs south from the Courthouse, and observed individuals on both sides of the street, throwing rocks, bottles and objects at soldiers as they were passing along the street in jeeps and trucks. He observed individuals breaking windshields and glasses of the jeeps and trucks as they traveled along the street. He advised as the trucks and jeeps were moving along, and one group would pass, that these individuals would go into the street, gather up the rocks and other objects and then throw these rocks and objects at the next group or convoy of soldiers that would pass along this street.

[redacted] upon interview furnished the following information: 7B

[redacted] advised that he was at Oxford, Mississippi, for the purpose of covering the events pertaining to the registration of JAMES MEREDITH at the University of Mississippi from September 26, 1962, until Wednesday, October 3, 1962. He advised that on the afternoon of September 30, 1962, he was at the airport at Oxford, Mississippi, when U. S. Marshals arrived at the airport. He advised that on the night of September 30, 1962, he arrived on the campus of the University of Mississippi at about 8:05 or 8:10 p.m. and first went to the Alumni Building. He advised that the U. S. Marshals had fired the tear gas and he observed that most of the activity pertaining to violence was taking place at a point about 100 yards east of the Journalism Building, which is on University Avenue near the entrance to the campus. He advised that he stayed on the campus until approximately 2:30 a.m., October 1, 1962. He advised that while he was on the campus he saw individuals throwing molotov cocktails, rocks and bricks; but he is unable to describe the individuals engaging in such violence and is unable to identify them.

He advised that he saw General EDWIN WALKER at around 10:30 or 11:00 p.m., September 30, 1962, standing approximately 15 feet west of the monument on the University of Mississippi campus and that there were two other young men with him at the time. He advised that he overheard one of these individuals ask General WALKER if he thought they could win, and General WALKER did not reply to this question. He advised that on one occasion he was near General WALKER when a young man came up to General WALKER and was bleeding from the head and someone remarked to General WALKER that they thought that something should be done for this individual. The only comment that General WALKER made at that time was something to the effect, "What's wrong with him?" [redacted] advised that he saw no overt acts of violence on the part of WALKER at any time. 7D

[redacted] stated that he remained in this crowd on the campus from the time he arrived there between 1 and 1:30 a.m. until around 3:30 to 4 a.m. October 1, 1962. He stated that he recalls that [redacted] was with him throughout most of this time and that [redacted] told him that he, [redacted] was going back to the car. He stated that for some reason he remained in the crowd for a matter of a few minutes, not over thirty minutes, and then walked away from the bridge and the campus toward his car, expecting to find [redacted] there. He stated that [redacted] was not around the car, that a window had been broken in his car, and that he drove alone to a point in the Oxford business district which was located between a drugstore on the corner of the square and a Texaco service station which was approximately two to four blocks from where he had originally parked. [redacted] stated that he remained around the car and in the nearby area until the drugstore opened after daylight. He stated that he was concerned about [redacted] whereabouts because [redacted] is only seventeen years of age, and finally decided that [redacted] had possibly been arrested by the troops. He stated that he stayed around the above mentioned Texaco service station practically all day and made various telephone calls attempting to locate [redacted] He stated that at approximately 3 p.m., Army troops saw him sitting on the curb near the service station, arrested him, took him to the National Guard Armory and then to the Lyceum Building on the campus of the university. He stated that he found [redacted] in this building, that he was interviewed and released but continued waiting for [redacted] until the latter was released, when they left for Memphis, arriving at his residence at about 7:30 p.m., October 1, 1962.

[redacted] stated that while he was in the drugstore mentioned above, which was located on a corner across from the town square in Oxford, that a group of men came into the drugstore and that some of these men called one of the others "General WALKER." He stated that most of the men in this group in the drugstore had cameras, that he assumed they were newspapermen, and that someone in this group told him and several other people in the drugstore, whose names he did not know, that they would have to leave the drugstore so that General WALKER could have a conference. He stated that he heard no discussion by the man that appeared to be General WALKER except this individual made a statement to the effect "We have nothing left to fight with except the News." [redacted] stated that after leaving the drugstore, he never saw General WALKER again and had not seen him previously.

[redacted] stated that at no time was he on the University of Mississippi campus so far as he knows, unless it was during the original effort to find the campus about 1 a.m. or shortly thereafter when he drove near some large buildings but turned around and left that area because of tear gas. He stated that he does not recall seeing any people on the campus near the point where he turned around and then went to the area near the bridge. He stated that so far as he knows, he was positive that he was never on foot at any time on the University of Mississippi campus and that he spent the entire time immediately across the bridge away from the campus.

[redacted] stated that in the area around the bridge he recalls having seen very few United States Marshals and pointed out that after arriving in the Lyceum Building and observing the Marshals that it was apparent that their dress was distinctively different from that of the troops.

[redacted] stated that at no time did he participate in any violence against the Marshals or the troops and that he neither threw rocks nor cursed them.

[redacted] was asked whether or not he had made the statement to someone on the University campus that he had hit a United States Marshal with an iron pipe. [redacted] stated that he never told anyone that he hit a United States Marshal with an iron pipe, that he never saw anyone with an iron pipe hit a Marshal and does not know how such a story could have been attributed to him. He again pointed out that so far as he knows, he did not even see any United States Marshals until he was taken to the Lyceum Building by the troops that arrested him.

RE EDWIN A. WALKER

FD-302 (Rev. 1-25-60) FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

1 Date October 16, 1962

[redacted] was first advised that he was not required to talk to Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation; that any information which he did furnish could be testified to against him in a court of law; and that he had the right to an attorney. [redacted] 7D

[redacted] 7D

[redacted] drove this car to Oxford, Mississippi on the afternoon or evening of September 30, 1962, no exact time indicated. He met several boys of college age, assumed by him to be students at the University of Mississippi on the campus, and he drove them to a service station just off the campus where they wanted to get some gasoline and coke bottles. He stated that he did not know any of these boys and did not believe that he could identify them if he should see them again. 7D

While at this service station, he introduced himself to a man whom he recognized to be General WALKER from newspaper photographs of WALKER. He had only a brief, casual conversation with WALKER and could not recall anything that was said.

[redacted] then drove with the boys into Oxford and started into the University campus through the Main Gate. They were stopped, however, by the Highway Patrol, and [redacted] parked the car. [redacted] separated from these boys when they left the car, and he proceeded onto the campus "to see what was going on." The boys went their own way, and he did not believe that they took the coke bottles and gasoline with them. He was gone some time, and when he came back to the car, however, the gasoline and coke bottles were gone. 7D

[redacted] declined at this point to furnish further information. In the course of the interview, [redacted] stated that he was a "State's Righter"; that this situation in Mississippi had caused him to lose confidence in our Government; that, while he felt the FBI investigation would attempt only to report the facts, the results of this investigation might be "slanted" by the Government; and that he resented Government interference in this matter which he considered to be a Mississippi affair. 7D

Our Memphis Office has advised that former Major General Walker and Attorneys Joe Matthews of Dallas, Texas, and C. J. Watts of Oklahoma City checked into a hotel in Oxford on the night of 11/18/62. He is scheduled to appear before U. S. District Judge Claude Clayton in Oxford at 10:00 A.M., 11/20/62.

According to USA Ray, the hearing will be on a motion for a judicial determination as to Walker's mental capacity.

At Springfield, Missouri:

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted]

GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

The Springfield Daily News, Springfield, Illinois, morning edition of October 2, 1962, reflects that former Major-General EDWIN A. WALKER was flown to the U. S. Medical Center, Springfield, on October 1, 1962, after having been arrested at Oxford, Mississippi, in connection with racial rioting at the University of Mississippi.

On October 3, 1962, U. S. Commissioner AXIE POWELL, advised attorneys for General EDWIN A. WALKER presented a writ of Habeas Corpus this date. Mrs. POWELL advised she [illegible] the petition and explained to the attorneys that this type of petition correctly filed U. S. District Court, Kansas City, Missouri, and she would be out of order to [illegible] it. She said she informed the attorneys they could discuss taking the petition up here with U. S. District Court Judge JOHN W. OLIVER, who at the time was [illegible] in Springfield.

Later on October 3, 1962, she stated the attorneys had conferred with Judge OLIVER; however, he deferred any decision pending consultation with Chief Judge FLOYD R. GIBSON at Kansas City, Missouri. She advised OLIVER made several attempts to contact GIBSON at Kansas City by telephone with negative results.

POWELL advised the petition alleges WALKER being illegally detained at the Medical Center and names RUSSELL O. SETTLE, Respondent. She stated WALKER's attorneys are attempting at Oxford, Mississippi, to have Judge CLAUDE CLAYTON there have the commitment set aside. The petition further contends WALKER illegally transported to the Medical Center after being arraigned by U. S. Commissioner in the Northern District of Mississippi and that the commitment was issued without a hearing before the Judge.

On October 4, 1962, Mrs. POWELL, advised WALKER's attorneys were permitted to file Habeas Corpus petition with the U. S. District Court, Kansas City, Missouri, through her office. The case is assigned to the Honorable JOHN W. OLIVER, Judge, Western District of Missouri. On this date OLIVER issued a Show Cause Order directing the government within five days to show cause why the Petitioner, General WALKER, should not be permitted to make bond. He further directed the government within ten days to answer the writ as to why the Petitioner is being detained. The Petitioner was directed to answer within ten days as to why he should not be held.

On October 6, 1962, at 11:57 PM, CST, General WALKER was released on $50,000 property bond signed by Mr. and Mrs. GEORGE WALKER, JR., Kerrville, Texas, [redacted] before U. S. Commissioner JOHN E. BANKS, San Antonio, Texas. The bond was also signed by General WALKER and his mother, CHARLOTTE WALKER, before U. S. Commissioner AXIE POWELL at Springfield, Missouri. Bond returnable Northern District of Mississippi at Oxford.

On October 7, 1962, AXIE POWELL, U. S. Commissioner, Springfield, Missouri, advised a court order issued October 6, 1962, at Oxford, Mississippi, directs WALKER to report within five days to Dr. ROBERT [redacted]FIELD, Chief Psychiatrist, Southwest Medical Center, Dallas, Texas.

"General Walker for President"
"Why Persecute Patriots"
"Free General Walker"
"General Walker was Framed, Will you be next?"
"Civil Rights for Communists, why not for Walker"
"Voters, wake up, if the new frontier can do this to General Walker, they can do it to you"

(2) Single sheet of paper entitled "The Truth About Gen. Walker". This summarized WALKER's career and attempts to exonerate him in connection with the Mississippi crisis. In part it states "The truth is that the U. S. Marshal fired tear gas shell almost in the face of a student who among several who had done nothing more violent than make insulting remarks at the U. S. Marshals as they passed by. Almost blinded, it was this student's scream of pain that triggered the student riot. Later when they started another charge, GEN. WALKER stood up on a low wall calling out to the students to keep the peace and saying, 'It's no use fighting here. Go back before some of you are killed.' The students would not listen to his plea. General WALKER walked away by himself then and was leaving the scene when he was arrested. WALKER's bail was set at $100,000, far higher than that of SOBLEN, the Communist spy recently convicted of espionage. Even so, this amount was quickly made available, but the clerk to whom it should be paid had conveniently disappeared. He continued to be unavailable until General WALKER, in complete disregard of his constitutional rights was flown out of the state. The fact that Gen. WALKER is here in this mental hospital is grim evidence of what can happen to a patriot who dares speak out against a vindictive administration that habitually flies into rantrums whenever they are criticized. If the American people do not demand and secure the release of this patriot, then no one of us will ever again be safe from police state tactics. America will soon cease to exist as a nation of free people."

Dear [redacted]

Your letter of November 22nd has been received, and I want to thank you for giving me the benefit of your observations and comments.

My staff and I certainly share your concern and sorrow over the brutal assassination of President Kennedy, and we want to assure you that the full forces of the FBI were immediately deployed to assist the Secret Service and local authorities. In addition, the President has now instructed the FBI to conduct a full investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy and the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald. I can assure you that this Bureau will discharge its responsibilities in this regard with the same thoroughness and dispatch that have characterized our investigations in the past.

Sincerely yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

On October 22, 1958, [redacted] telephonically advised SA MICHAEL B. DAY that he resided at [redacted] Wayne, Pa., and operates [redacted] Wayne, Pa.

[redacted] said he had been asked by WILLIAM T. CALEY [redacted] to have the [redacted] which [redacted] is [redacted] of, distribute 100 copies of a pamphlet called "United States Day October 23." [redacted] said CALEY operates a nursing home at Wayne, Pa., and frequently visits his [redacted] with pamphlets and literature to hand out. Much of the literature appears to be anti-Semitic and segregationist in nature. [redacted] forwarded through the mail a copy of the pamphlet he mentioned on the phone, to the Philadelphia Office of the FBI. The pamphlet was published by the United States Day Committee, Inc., P. O. Box 353, Tulsa, Okla.; and the pamphlet attacked the United Nations Organization, urged the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act be strengthened, and urged that measures be taken to stop the Federal Government from taking over more of the rights of individuals and powers of local governments. It attacked "Internationalism and creeping Socialism" in the United States.

On April 18, 1958, WILLIAM T. CALEY of 20 West Avenue, Wayne, Pa., personally appeared at the New York Office of the FBI requesting to see SA THOMAS J. BARRY. CALEY stated that RUSSELL MAGUIRE of the American Mercury magazine had furnished him the name of SA BARRY as a person in the FBI "who could be trusted." CALEY said he sometimes had information concerning the "Jewish conspiracy against the United States."

CALEY said he came to New York to see MAGUIRE because he had some material concerning "Nigger gun clubs" which he wanted MAGUIRE to make 100 photo copies of. CALEY said the information about the "Nigger gun clubs" was given to him by one GRANVILLE ROSE, a vitamin salesman who lives in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He said ROSE is active in getting information concerning "Jews and Niggers."

CALEY said he is owner and director of the Caley Research Foundation, 20 West Avenue, Wayne, Pa., which is set up to [redacted] research in cancer.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

(1)

DONALD G. COX and GENTRY H. LOWE, JR., identified themselves as Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation to WILLIAM THOMAS CALEY, 30 West Avenue, Wayne, Pa.

Special Agents COX and LOWE then advised Mr. CALEY that he had the right to an attorney and anything he said could be used in a court of law against him. CALEY voluntarily furnished the following information:

He advised that DON STANLEY and JOHN ADEMA are plumbers and own and operate the S & A Plumbing Business, Princeton, Minn. He advised that STANLEY and ADEMA do plumbing work for him. Mr. CALEY stated that he owns the Caley Building in Princeton, Minn., and this is the property for which STANLEY and ADEMA are hired to maintain the plumbing. Mr. CALEY advised that he has telephoned STANLEY and/or ADEMA on numerous occasions, in the past. He stated that he does recall telephoning STANLEY and ADEMA about thirty days ago in regard to the furnace in the Caley Building. He stated that he was having the old furnace overhauled and had talked to them regarding this matter.

Mr. CALEY stated he did not remember telling or indicating or inferring in any way that President KENNEDY would be assassinated and denied saying, "Soon a high Government official would be assassinated." He stated that he would not have any basis to make this statement and it had not entered his mind. He further advised that he subscribes to the American Capsule News, which is published every Saturday at 1835 K Street NW, Washington 6, D.C., and that MORRIS A. DEALEY is the Editor and Publisher. He advised that he had purchased subscriptions to this weekly newspaper and had given the subscriptions to STANLEY and ADEMA as a gift. Mr. CALEY advised that this newspaper has a section entitled "Predestination." He made available a copy of "American Capsule News," Number 402, dated November 30, 1963, Washington, D. C., and on the inside page under the title, "Predestination," appeared the following article in part:

"On July 15, 1960, Capsule News made the definite, unqualified statement that 'Whoever is elected this year will die in office.'

Mr. CALEY stated that he was of the opinion that Mr. DON STANLEY and Mr. JOHN ADEMA had probably read this "American Capsule News" and attributed the prediction of the death of an elected official mistakenly to him.

Mr. CALEY stated that he could not recall making a telephone call a few days previous to August 28, 1963. He remembered that the March on Washington took place in August 1963, which was a peaceful demonstration to win support for the passage of the Civil Rights Bill. He stated that he did not remember telephoning Mr. ADEMA or Mr. STANLEY previous to this March and denied that he stated to either one of these men to watch for a high Government official to be shot during this March on Washington.

Mr. CALEY advised that he does not publish or distribute any literature of any kind, but has purchased subscriptions to the "American Capsule News" and some other weekly newspapers which he has given to people as gifts.

PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Edwin A. Walker

This report is written to inform you on the psychiatric evaluation of Edwin A. Walker conducted pursuant to Order # W-C-25-62. After a conference which was attended by Mr. Walker's attorneys (Mr. Watts, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Morris) and Professor Charles Webster and myself, I requested that Mr. Walker appear for the psychiatric evaluation. My purpose was to obtain material which would aid you in your decision about his competence to stand trial in your Court. You wanted material in order to deal with three questions: (1) whether or not the defendant is presently insane, (2) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to understand the allegations pending against him, as shown by the complaint now pending against him in the Northern District of Mississippi, and (3) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to properly assist in his own defense.

Mr. Walker presented himself to me on Thursday, November 8, 1962 at 2:00 p.m. After a 1½ hour psychiatric interview, I recommended that he enter the psychiatric ward at Parkland Memorial Hospital as an inpatient for further observation and study. He was admitted at 4:00 p.m. and was cooperative throughout the examinations and procedures. He was released on a pass on his 53rd birthday on Saturday morning. He returned in the evening and was tentatively discharged from the hospital on November 10, 1962 at 10:00 p.m.

Summary of findings is as follows:

1. Physical health - essentially normal

   a. Physical examination - no abnormal findings except a slight deafness in the right ear and marked astigmatism, which is corrected by glasses (examination by A.W. Deutsch, M.D., a member of my staff)

   b. Laboratory examinations - Normal ranges for blood and urine studies

   c. X-rays of skull - normal

   d. Electrocardiogram - normal

2. Additional special procedures

   a. Electroencephalogram - normal

   b. Urine studies - no evidence of current use of tranquilizing drugs

3. Psychological tests - The report by Irwin Jay Knopf, Ph.D., a diplomate of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology, and a member of my staff, states that Mr. Walker is functioning currently at the superior level of intelligence. On the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale his reasoning, judgment, vocabulary, fund of information, and organizational ability were all above average for his age group.

4. Psychiatric interviews were conducted on:

   a. Thursday, November 8, 1962 2:00 p.m.

   b. Friday, November 9, 1962 2:00 p.m.

(with Dr. Edwin Walker, M.D., University of Michigan School of Medicine and School of Law)

Impressions: Room 11-10-65

Mr. Edwin A. Walker is a 55 year old single, white male, who is alert, friendly, and cooperative. He was born at Center Point, Texas and was reared on his parents' farm. Upon completion of high school, he entered the Military Academy at West Point in 1927, and graduated in 1931. He has had a long and distinguished military career, and has received additional education and training in the services special war college. He participated in the Kiska, the Italian, the Southern France invasions of World War II, in the Korean War, in the Little Rock crisis and the German occupation. He resigned from the Army and refused his retirement privileges in order to be free to express his opinions about certain governmental policies re the procedures for indoctrination of troops concerning communism.

The following elicited replies point out the awareness of Mr. Walker concerning the nature and the gravity of the charges against him.

When I read the specific charges which were presented in the Northern District of Mississippi Federal Court, Mr. Walker replied:

1) "that means forcibly assaulting, resisting, and impeding the United States Government, which means you forcibly intend to stop them and did use force to stop them. I feel I can relate the events in a precise way."

2) "It means you inspire others and make an effort to overthrow the government."

3) "It means that you join with others to conspire against the authority of the U.S. Government and attempt to delay and prevent their action. These are severe charges and they carry a severe penalty with them."

After discussion with my Counsel, I directed various questions to Mr. Walker concerning the nature of the processes of a criminal trial. In my opinion, he revealed his awareness in his discussion of the procedures in a military investigation which occurred in Germany.

"When a soldier committed an act against another soldier, my role was to notify the civilian authorities, our own military police, the Judge Advocate, and the investigating team. Evidence was gathered and turned over to the civilian authorities if that was indicated by the nature of the crime." Mr. Walker continued and described in detail and correctly the usual procedures of a military court.

The following factual material would indicate that Mr. Walker has an intact, recent, and remote memory system. His specific responses to questions were satisfactory in many areas, to. example:

1. Events in the Italian campaign.
2. Events in the Korean War.
3. Ability to calculate, recall numbers, knowledge of current information.

[illegible] performance on the intelligence tests.

Mr. Walker has led an active life physically, currently he states he eats well, sleeps well, and exercises moderately. He denies specific symptoms, hallucinations, delusions, addiction to drugs or alcohol, use of tranquilizing drugs. There is no clinical or laboratory evidence which would indicate any physical or toxic condition which would affect adversely his ability to perceive his environment, to evaluate his environment, and to develop effective and appropriate actions in dealing with problems.

In the psychiatric examinations, no effort was made to elaborate a fully detailed picture of why Mr. Walker functions in his present state, nor whether or not there has been any particular change in his mode of psychological operation, since this was not judged by my staff and me to be relevant to the question of his present mental operations. Rather we set out to evaluate how he thinks, regulates, executes, and deals with his present thoughts, values, and impulses, especially as they relate to the present charges. We felt able to arrive at some very specific answers to these questions, and found no difficulty in eliciting the full cooperation and assistance of Mr. Walker during the examination.

All psychiatric and psychological tests indicate that Mr. Walker appears to be able to deal freely and accurately with his recollections of the incidents leading up to his arrest and present charges. He can discuss them accurately, and without distortion noticeable to the examiners. He was able to describe fully his opinions on the charges, what they meant, what kinds of defensive tactics he intends to employ, how his lawyers are working with him and the unfolding of the events which led to the present charges. However, in regard to the questions of the reasons for his involvement, we did not feel that whether or not there were emotional forces of which he is not fully aware (and that might possibly relate to the legal questions of specific intent and motivation) were properly a part of this report. It is our impression that the court in this case at this time is not concerned about Mr. Walker's ability to understand fully, the more complex and subtle aspects of his motivation in regard to the acts for which he is charged. If it were, and if we were asked to evaluate these kinds of questions, it would be necessary to conduct a much more penetrating exploration of Mr. Walker's psychological operations.

It may be that some of Mr. Walker's attitudes and feelings about specific events in Mississippi are such that if he were pressed hard to deal with them (as for example in a cross-examination) this might have a definite effect on his composure on the stand. Since we assume that the court does not deal with this possibility in its standard of competence, we have therefore made no effort to explore in detail their nature or possibility.

SUBJECT: DESEGREGATION OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI
RACIAL MATTERS

The hearing concerning former General Edwin A. Walker before U. S. District Judge Clayton began yesterday. We have been advised that defense attorneys charged that Walker's rights were violated when he was taken into custody 10/1/62 by the military without a warrant. Defense attorneys also reportedly criticized the removal of Walker from the District of Oxford, Mississippi, to Springfield, Missouri, after his arrest and claimed such action was based on an Executive Order. It will be recalled that Walker was confined for mental observation at the Springfield, Missouri, Medical Center after he was arrested. U

Attorneys for Walker are also reported to have charged that the report on his mental condition does not constitute a probable cause for a sanity hearing. U

Memorandum to Mr. Belmont

As indicated previously, 12/1/62 marks the annual football game between the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State University and is also home-coming weekend for the former school. [redacted] has advised that officials of both schools plan to solicit assistance from the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol to patrol both campuses for several days prior to that date as a precaution against possible rowdiness.

Shortly after arriving on the campus of the University of Mississippi, [redacted] stated that he, together with [redacted] heard someone speaking from the Confederate Memorial on the campus. [redacted] stated that [redacted] immediately recognized the voice of former General EDWIN A. WALKER, who had been residing in Dallas, Texas, and they went over to hear what WALKER had to say. WALKER had a large group of students listening to him. WALKER stated that "all the blood shed and violence tonight is on the hands of the Federal Government." [redacted] stated he would construe this to mean that any violence done by the students was not their responsibility and was, in fact, an encouragement to violence. WALKER then stated that he had learned from an aide of Governor ROSS BARNETT that the State of Mississippi had been sold out. The students then began yelling "who sold us out, who sold us out." WALKER then leaned over and asked someone standing nearby and then started to say a name, paused, with a blank stare, and then leaned over and talked to this person again, then said, "the name of the individual given to me was BIRDSONG." The students then started to yell that they were sure that that was who it was.

7D

[redacted] noted that the head of the Mississippi State Highway Patrol is an individual named BIRDSONG and he felt sure that is who WALKER had reference to.

WALKER then stated that he was against violence and had always said that he was for non-violent resistance, however, he could see no reason to invade the State of Mississippi rather than Cuba. WALKER then began an anti-communist harangue talk about subversives in the government, at which time, according to [redacted] most of the students lost interest in his speech and started wandering off. About this time some gas shells were being discharged in front of the Administration Building and most of the students rushed off to see what was going on. [redacted] stated that [redacted] had heard WALKER's "tired old line" so often they became bored and left to join the students to see what was going on in front of the Administration Building. [redacted] stated the time that they heard WALKER speak was somewhere around 8:30 and 9:00 PM, on September 30, 1962. 7D

At approximately 8:30 to 9:00 PM, on September 30, 1962, while in the vicinity of a Confederate Memorial statue on the University of Mississippi campus, [redacted] stated he heard a voice which he immediately recognized as former General EDWIN A. WALKER of Dallas, Texas. They [redacted] then went over to the memorial and heard WALKER state that "all the blood shed and violence tonight was on the hands of the Federal Government." ROBERTSON stated he construed this to mean that any violence the students performed would not be their responsibility but the fault of the Federal Government and, in his opinion, this was inciting the students to riot. WALKER then stated that an aide to Governor ROSS BARNETT had told him the State of Mississippi had been sold out.. The students then began to shout at him to name the person who had sold out Mississippi. WALKER leaned over and talked to an unknown person standing nearby and then stood up and said the name of the man is H- and then 7D

WALKER went blank as he is so prone to do. He leaned over again and this unknown individual again told WALKER something. WALKER straightened up and said the name of the man is BIRDSONG. The students then began to say "we thought that was who it was", or words to that effect. [redacted] noted the head of the Mississippi State Highway Patrol is named BIRDSONG. WALKER said he was against violence and was always for non-violent resistance, but he could see no reason to invade the State of Mississippi rather than Cuba. [redacted] stated that WALKER then began to give a lecture on anti-communism and subversives in the government. At this time the students began losing interest in what WALKER had to say and there was some activity in front of the Administration Building and some tear gas was fired. Almost all of the students then rushed off to see what was going on. [redacted] stated since he had heard WALKER's line numerous times in Dallas, he was not further interested either and rushed off to see what was going on. 7D

[redacted] stated that he left the University of Mississippi campus at about 9:30 PM, and drove to Batesville, Mississippi, to phone in his story and when he arrived back at the campus at about 11:00 PM, all of the State Highway Patrol were leaving and the gates were unattended. Numerous individuals obviously not students, were streaming onto the campus. [redacted] stated he heard numerous shots which he is sure were fired from pistols and rifles, however, he at no time saw the U. S. Marshals fire their guns and does not believe they were even armed with pistols. [redacted] stated the U. S. Marshals remained firm and at no time acted outside of their authority. 7D

[redacted] stated he saw several individuals coming onto the campus who had walkie-talkies and they appeared to be giving what [redacted] described as battle directions to each other. [redacted] stated that he got the impression that they were members of a segregationist organization who were trying to organize an assault on the Administration Building, however, it was too dark for him to positively identify any of these individuals. 7D

[redacted] recalls seeing the automobile of Governor ROSS BARNETT, bearing Mississippi license tag No. 1, with two individuals in the back seat, leave the University of Mississippi campus as they arrived at about 7:30 PM, on September 30, 1962. 7D

[redacted]. At approximately 2:30 PM, on that date he observed EDWIN A. WALKER at which time WALKER read a prepared statement. [redacted] stated he took a tape of this statement; however, this tape has since been destroyed. 7D

[redacted] stated to the best of his recollection, WALKER did not make any inflammatory remarks or indicate at the time of this interview that he was going to resist Federal authorities. [redacted] stated he did not see WALKER again until Monday, October 1, 1962, after he had been arrested. 7D

[redacted] stated he entered the campus of the University of Mississippi at approximately 7:30 PM, on Sunday, September 30, 1962, at which time around 1,000 students had gathered in front of the Administration Building. [redacted] stated that the students were throwing rocks and stones at the Marshals and that after faking three or four times that they were going to throw gas shells at the students, the Marshals finally did fire. Gas appeared to have been shot into the air and [redacted] stated he saw no one hit by any gas shells. [redacted] stated there were too many people and it was too dark for him to determine any of the ring leaders of this group. 7D

[redacted] stated there were a dozen Mississippi State Police at the campus and none of them made any effort to stop any of the rioting.

On September 30, 1962, while returning to Oxford, Mississippi, they heard over the car radio that JAMES MEREDITH, the Negro student, had entered the University of Mississippi campus. [redacted] stated that they then went to the University of Mississippi infirmary and set up their cameras and began interviewing students who were injured in the rioting. State Police tried to prevent this but [redacted] talked to Colonel BIRDSONG, the head of the Mississippi Highway Police, and he gave permission for [redacted] to conduct the interviews and take the films. [redacted] advised he shot at least 600 feet of sound film interviewing various students, most of whom alleged they were shot at by U. S. Marshals.

[redacted] recalls one of the students when asked about EDWIN A. WALKER, said he wished that WALKER had stayed away.

[redacted] stated that on Monday, October 1, 1962, a Mississippi State Highway Patrolman came to their motel and picked up [redacted] and took him to an unknown destination. [redacted] returned and he did not advise [redacted] where he had gone and who he had talked to.

On November 13, 1962, [redacted] Miami Police Department, Miami, Florida, made available a tape recorded speech believed to have been made in California, October 12, 1962. The speech was made by Colonel WILLIAM P. GALE and is set forth as follows:

"I wanna first thank those people who helped make it possible for a hard core group to go to Mississippi. I wanna tell you its been a hard core. We didn't need too many for the type of men we have. When Armed Forces move into Sovereign States as in Arkansas and as in Mississippi, I consider it as an act of war and I figured as such and we went into Mississippi feeling it as such. I don't care if they know it, we were armed to the teeth and my instructions and the instructions of the men that were with me were to shoot dead the first man that tried to capture me, and those will be the instructions if we have to go again, (Applause). I am very sorry that General WALKER, having been recently out of the Military Service, didn't quite understand the enemy and he went into their camp with some little old remnant tennis shoes with all due respect to them, but that wasn't the condition under which these times can operate. This was an armed camp in Mississippi, there was no law. If you go in expecting the law to be obeyed under these conditions you are a fool. They were searching people, searching vehicles, they kidnapped General WALKER. They didn't arrest him they kidnapped him, that's a crime. They took him out of the State of Mississippi without an extradition order having been issued by the Governor of that state. They put him into a Federal Prison, a mental institution, all upon these acts without having a court order or an order to commit him. -----(inaudible) -- and later his attorney ---- him on that one. This is not a question and was not a question of one Negro going to school, it was a question of the Constitution of the United States. This was a question of whether we were going to have a Military Dictatorship in America and on these questions were went armed and on these questions we will continue to go armed and there are 50,000 klansmen in Alabama waiting right now. (A). Louisiana is over 50,000 organizing there. Georgia probably 100,000. These birds might as well get it straight that they're not going to take over this country that way if we have to shoot and die to stop them. (A). What we say we say openly. If there is anyone who wants to pass it to them, let them do it. Opposition to tyranny is obedience to God, and we are going to obey God. (A). We had talked to the Governor of Mississippi on the telephone prior to our departure. We made some suggestions to him. We suggested three executive orders.

> "1. An executive order to transfer all personnel and equipment for the Mississippi National Guard, State Militia, and a command of the Governor.

"The second was to issue an executive order transferring all Municipal and State Police into the State Militia of Mississippi under the command of the Governor.

"The third executive order providing for the recruitment of civilians into the Militia and arm the civilians of Mississippi. We got there, and I'm not gonna tell you how we got there because we had to use some pretty devious means, as my boys who were with me know; the roads were blocked with ----(inaudible), the bridges were covered, they were searching and were picking up anybody with weapons, but there was alot of jungle there, and we are use to jungle, so they didn't pick us up. We performed our mission, we went into the Capital, we were in the Governor's Office all afternoon, that was Governor Barnett and his group assistant, Mr. HUGH FORINE (phonetic). We also met with the speaker of the house of representatives of the States of Missouri or of Mississippi, and it was quite interesting, the speaker of the house, those people were quite suspicious of anyone who came in, unknown, and I sent my man ahead and we didn't move anywhere till we had checked ahead and double checked and the Governor's Office the first time had not heard of me, didn't know me, hadn't talked to me on the telephone, so this made me wonder if I had been talking to the right people on the telephone or not, but the second time they saw me, and this is just to show you that they're not so dumb down in Mississippi, they knew me and they had the whole record of my past background including my picture, and recognized me when I came into the Governor's Office. (A). So they're not stupid, but the suprising thing was that the picture of the house after questioning us, finding out what we thought a little bit, asked us if we knew a very good Patriot by the name of GERALD L. K. SMITH. (A). We said of course we do, we know him personally, then he spoke to us freely because he was a subscriber to the cross in the flag. (A). So we found that the only thing that stopped the Governor from doing what we had suggested was the very thing that caused EDWIN WALKER to be (Zapped), was the lack of understanding, the realization that criminals, I say criminals, using the Armed Forces of the United States to invade a Sovereign State and they were committing an act of war against that state. These people are gonna learn that they're gonna have to take these things as an act of war for what they are and do the things that have to be done under these conditions because they didn't do ----- to the executive order, that I suggested that they ----do, although now they wish they had because now they have lost their Militia in the meantime because they were worried about the technical problem of who owned the equipment. Now when an act of war is committed, the devil with who owns the equipment -------- (inaudible).

" The Governor of Alabama sent Mr. KENNEDY a telegram saying if you invade Mississippi with Federal Troops, are you prepared to invade the State of Alabama?, and they didn't and they were worried about Alabama. They had most of the goon squads on the Alabama side, searching all vehicles and personnel coming in on that side, because I think they are worried about Alabama and I think they better worry about Alabama. They have some good Patriots there. -----(inaudible) and went over the requirements of the ----------act, advising them of what they should do and I wanna tell you now, the night we were there, the night before we were there in Jackson, we moved in early in the morning, about 2 or 3 O'clock, we went 12 days and nights straight, very little sleep and moved at night, the question was will Governor BARNETT (inaudible) by MARSHAL and placed under arrest because he had not yet (inaudible) himself, as they say. Over 30,000 people from the City of Jackson, Mississippi were on call of the White Citizen's Council surround the Governor's Mansion, 20 feet deep, 30,000 people and they had it surrounded, were on call to surround it on a minute's notice and whether any politician ordered anything to be done, I want you to know that the people of Mississippi are gonna fight. (A).

"The are not gonna allow the Governor to be cheated by anyone. Now as Dr. (inaudible) mentioned, in 1957, Congress (inaudible), making it a felony for anyone to use the Armed Forces as a (inaudible), which is simply a police force or otherwise to execute the laws. Now we hear alot, silly ministers as well, saying that the Governor of Mississippi is wrong, EDWIN WALKER is wrong because they are not upholding the law. (Inaudible) there is nothing in the Constitution of the United States that gives any court the power to make a law. (A).

"These rulings of the court are not law, it takes the Legislative Branch of the Government to make a law, now we will uphold the law, the law and actually the legislature says it is a felony to do this, we (inaudible) congressmen from California, JOHN (inaudible), the night before we left. We made him aware of this (inaudible) and with suggestion that KENNEDY would come to the aid of Mississippi, he hadn't done it at this time, he said he never heard of that. So I told him you better hear about it because if they do it was (inaudible), then you get back because I will. (A). [illegible] was with us there, who would have [illegible] Mr. RUSALO, (phonetic), sent him a wire to Meridian, pointing out again that the president had (inaudible), for the constitution, which is a violation of his oath of office (inaudible), unless requested by the Governor or the Legislature of the State, they did, violating Article 4, Section 4, of the Constitution, violating the (inaudible) Act, committing a felony, we said to Mr. RUSALO, (phonetic), in that telegram [illegible] requires, impeachment proceedings into Libby, Mr. JOHN F. KENNEDY [illegible] to prosecute every congressman to commit under the misprision of felony clause which says whoever knows of a crime having been committed and does not report it to the appropriate civil or military official of the United States shall be fined $500.00, imprisoned [illegible] both. That is the law enacted by Congress, [illegible] enacted it, I didn't, but I'm going to uphold it. (A).

"The first one we would like an arrest or get a warrant for under that misprision of felony clause is JIMMY ROOSEVELT. (A). We went on our way back, after our mission had been accomplished in giving them not only moral support knowing that Californians were there as an advance guard of Californians for Mississippi, and that we would stand with the governor of Mississippi, and fight with him if necessary and that we were equipped to do it, but we did get sick to them in these areas of law, but they hadn't (inaudible), particularly the area which demands the impeachment of the president and should also include the arrest of JOHNNY KENNEDY because the (inaudible), act says whoever aided the Armed Forces or otherwise to execute the laws, and those two words otherwise mean that BOBBY KENNEDY committed a felony when he asked the Defense Department to send (inaudible) units to support the 600 marshals from Tennessee that were enforcing the law or attempting to, I won't call it enforcing the law, were violating the law in Mississippi, so this makes it a felony on the head of little BOBBY KENNEDY. (A).

"Now when a person commits a crime, you don't sue him, you have him arrested. We're going to the Federal Grand Jury and the County Grand Jury and we're going to go to Federal Judges and all the judges we've been and we suggested that they get a judge in Mississippi to bring a warrant against Mr. KENNEDY, BOBBY KENNEDY, and have him come in a show cause why he shouldn't be put in jail. (A).

"We're going to start that from here, but as members of this congregation and as Christians, I want you to know, I'll tell you a little secret. We were camped out in the woods in the State of Louisiana and you can see the stars through the trees and we said we're going to pray, and we gathered in prayer in the name of the most high, the name we know, (inaudible), we commanded, as Jesus said, 'If you ask anything in my name I'll do it for you', that the son of God, EDWIN WALKER, be released and returned home, and that prayer was given about midnight, Friday night, and Saturday night EDWIN WALKER was returned home. (A).

"We know the power of pray, and we know it will be answered, and we were protected by the divine protection, all the way through because the places we went and the way we went, I don't think we would have got through without it, we'd be up there in Missouri ourselves, but on the return trip, we stopped into General WALKER's headquarters and then we saw what he needs, with all due respect to those wonderful people, working with him to help him, a little old excited man came in to greet him, very busy answering telephones, only having time enough to spend about one minute with us and sufficient time to tell us what he wanted us to do to help, and then he sat down and outlined that we should come back to California and called the newspaper editors. He called the radio station, I said, 'What for?' 'To tell the truth', he said. I said, 'I have to console myself,' and I said, 'Do you think I drove 5,000 miles to have you tell me to call the enemy.' I said, 'We are here ready to go to Missouri with 3,000 men we have waiting in Louisiana, and we want 2,000 from (inaudible), and he hit the ceiling. He wouldn't talk to me anymore because he said, 'This place is tapped, they're looking to hear somebody say something like that, and then we'll be in trouble', and then he ran out of the room. Well I don't care if they do know it that we've got 5,000 men ready to go to get a good Christian out of that nut house, (inaudible), (A), and they might as well know it, that we will, if we have to, and I think they were very glad to get him out because I heard all kinds of rumors that phone calls were being made to that place in Missouri from public pay phones, that if one hair on his head was harmed, the whole outfit would be killed and murdered immediately. (A). Now I think they meant it, if the rumor is true and I really think that this is more serious and was more serious there than anyone out here could ever realize. You're not being told the truth, General WALKER was not inciting any riot, he was (inaudible) telling the children not to or the students not to riot. He was telling that wouldn't do any good, but EDWIN WALKER is a combat commander of extensive experience, he is a leader, he's a militant Christian, he knows the enemy, he identified the enemy on television the night before he left for Mississippi, so therefore, they have to get rid of him because with a man like that commanding the Mississippi State Guard or Militia anybody is gonna have a rough time and they know it. So this is all a (inaudible), we met him in Dallas, upon his return, we were the first ones to greet and it was a great thrill to him to see us and to see California represented there and it thrilled those Texans too. We spent one hour with him and his attorney in his home after we left the airport. We were invited up to his room to his study, and he had some good attorneys, MATTHEWS is one, and MATTHEWS is an attorney or an investigator for the Senate Committee under Internal Security, I believe, and MORRIS, another who is an attorney for the Senate Committee under Internal Security and another one who has also had the same experience and I think these men know the enemy, but he does have what they call a serious charge against him, (inaudible). We let's get it straight, there is no constitutional rights for anyone to go to school to get an education. To go to school or receive an education is not a constitutional right, it is a privilege granted by the state and the local school board, it is not a right. For if any crime was committed or were committed and if any constitutional right had been violated, they're the constitutional rights of EDWIN WALKER that have been violated. (A). He was illegally seized or as I said before actually kidnapped, now I pointed out to his attorney, not only the (inaudible) act, and that we should demand the impeachment of JOHN F. KENNEDY for this felony, but also Section 241, Title 18, of the United States Code provides that if the constitutional rights of a citizen of the United States are violated, by one who is acting under law or as an official of law, that official shall be fined . $10,000.00 and imprisoned 3 years or both, which is a felony, therefore, we should demand the arrest, on a felony charge of every individual who participated in that illegal captivity or kidnapping of EDWIN WALKER. (A).

"We should demand that the general, I don't even know his name, probably apt to be 1,000 JOHN DOE, (inaudible) who accepted the order to send Federal Troops into that sovereign state, be court martialed. (A).

"As an Army Officer I can say that the oath of an Army Officer is to uphold, preserve and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies whomsoever, both foreign or domestic and that oath is to obey only lawful orders of a superior and an order to violate the constitution is not a lawful order and should not be obeyed by any officer of the United States, no matter who gives it. (A). Therefore, that general having obeyed an unlawful order should be tried by court martial. (Slight appauld). These are some of the actions we're gonna have to take. At the present time EDWIN WALKER can't do it, his attorneys can't do it. They want to win this other thing first. I think we ought a get the word to them that Christians who have Christ and the Bible don't need a couch, it's only those who don't have Christ and the Bible who need a couch and a psychiatrist. (A), and they're trying to take over, and it's very surprising how these things are what Dr. (inaudible) told you about, the hook in the jaw. This KATZENBACH, (phonetic), 'How many have heard his name or read it in the paper, KATZENBACH, he's a Jew, he was the Jew who was identified as a Communist in the Defense Department by General WALKER, in his book. He's the Jew that's been transferred from the Defense Department to the Attorney General's Office and has been in charge of this whole thing in Mississippi. So now you see why they were aiming to get General WALKER don't ya? Mr. KATZENBACH. The names of the attorneys of the NAACP, who are screeming at the courts to do all these things are quite obvious, they're not Christians, they're Jews. People are waking up all over and all across country from Mississippi going and coming we tell them who the enemy are. (A), and you'd be surprised how many of them stood there and said, 'I is beginning to think you're right, (laugh), They're seeing them. These things maybe have to happen, but as far as I'm personally concerned I'm not recommending that you do anything as individuals, but I've reached the point where I'm gonna tell them that they're through in America, we're not gonna ask them to leave, we're gonna get rough with them, they better stop this nonsense and get going (cut off) (A), and that's not a threat that's a promise. (A). So I could go on because we had alot of things happen, but I jut can't tell you about them, I don't intend to cause we might have to do it again and we have our ways of doing these things, and it looks like if the little eskimo is right we should be gettingready for February to help Alabama out. (A). Oh, I don't think they need much help, but this is an effort to (inaudible), it can be anslyzed in many ways, it could be another Hungary, it could be a definite attempt to do these things in order to find out who the hard core Patriots are, to draw them out. It could be a test to find out whether you're gonna read in the headlines that the United States is a Communist Government today, in fact they might as well put it in the headlines because Washington, D. C., has produced nothing but Communism in the last 20 years. (A). Jesus said, 'By their work ye shall know them', and what they're doing is exactly what was done (tape skips) trying to set up a Federal Dictatorship. Now (inaudible), a governor of a state is the commander of the State's militia, and he does have military power, and is the only one who has military power in that state. I just wish I had been governor of Mississippi. (A). It's a shame that so many egg headed lawyers are giving ill advice to governors in the south. Each time, and we've been involved 3 times now, once with Arkansas, once with Lousiana, now with Mississippi and each time these governors are getting a little closer to do what we tell them to do. We tell them the same thing right down the line. If anyone attempts to arrest Governor BARNETT, who har to do nothing but say, 'I declare martial law,' you are under arrest in this state immediately, that's all you have to do. (A). He's the only one who can declare martial law in that state, he's the only one who does have military power. If you will read the records of the Continental Congress from the adoption of the Constitution you will find that they gave the President the title, Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy and that it was a mere title not a rank, who has no military power unless and until Congress declares war, who is a civilian, every military officer of the United States is a Military Officer by an act of Congress, you've heard that expression, 'Gentlemen by Act of Congress', it takes the law to make a military officer of the United States, actually an enactment of Congress, which is bad, giving him a rank as a military officer of the United States. The president doesn't have that rank, he's a civilian. The purpose of the title is just like any Kentucky Colonel's title, it's to maintain civilian control over the Armed Forces and the degree of control was enumerated in the code to the extent that he appoints all officers or admirals to general officer rank or admiral rank. That's the extent of the President's control of the Armed Forces, who is not a military commander who has no right or no power to order troops to do anything unless Congress declares war. The governor of a state on the otherhand existed before we ever had a President of the United States. We have governors of states, they had military power and they still do. It's about time they wake up and use it. (A). Now I think we're gonna have to start right now on the Governor of Alabama who seemed like he was willing and seemed like he might (inaudible). We hope we don't have to go through this thing again telling them what to do, then having him fail, and then saying we wish we had done it. So we want to support now, and I'm gonna try to do something in California, I don't quite know how yet because I still haven't been to bed for the 42 hours since we returned, and haven't had time to sit down and pull things together yet from this trip, but someway, somehow we should raise from 150,000 people in California, at least $1.00 a piece and raise $150,000.00 from California, for the WALKER DEFENSE FUND, to defend General WALKER because the way they've got this set up it's extremely costly to defend yourself in this type of case. So that we're going to do. We don't know at this moment if we should direct the funds there and not know how much has gone or whether we meet or quota or whether to do it from here and then forward them on so we know and can keep track of whether we're meeting are quota or not. We think the latter will be the best. (A). So if you'll pass the word and make a note, we'll use the same Post Office Box we have, 2870, and tell Patriots if they send a check to make it out to the EDWIN WALKER DEFENSE FUND or if they want to send dollar, we'll include the dollar, we'll keep track of it so we know whether we're meeting our quota, to P. O. Box 2870, Hollywood 28. We're gonna try to get that amount. We've got alot we've gotta send dollars for here and there, but we're gonna have to do it, and every dollar we spend is causing the enemy to spend $5,000.00 or $10,000.00. Now I wannna point out to you if you wanna make a note of this it's Section 1385, of Title 18, of the United States Code, United States Criminal Code. I'll repeat that, Section 1385 of Title 18, of the U. S. Criminal Code, that's the law that says whoever uses the Armed Forces of the United States as a police force executes (inaudible) shall be fined $10,000.00 and imprisoned 3 years or both. Now the law in which that, make a note of the misprision that's M I S P R I S I O N, of felony clause, misprision of felony clause, U. S. Code of Judicial Procedure. That's the one that says, whoever knws of a crime and does not report it to the appropriate civil or military official shall be fined $5,000.00, imprisoned 3 years or both. Now every congreesman knows that it's a crime to use the Armed Forces, and you can quote this Section 1385, Title 18, of the United States Criminal Code, youshould advise him that it is a crime so he can't say that he didn't know. I've researched these types of cases and found that where an official has violated the law and a citizen brings him in a criminal court or in a criminal (inaudible), the court usually says, well you can't convict a man of being a thief if he didn't know he was stealing. They can usually get offthe hook.

Now, you advise every congressman that you know of that Mr. JOHN F. KENNEDY committted a felony by violating Section 1385, of Title 18, of the United States Criminal Code, then he can't say that he didn't know it. Send him a registered letter, return receipt requested or telegraph, and when they get back from congress here, we'll pick (inaudible), we like best of all, JIMMY ROOSEVELT, for instance, and we'll go down there and he'll be arrested under the misprision of felony clause for not having brought impeachment proceedings against KENNEDY for having committed a felony. (A). We should immediately demand, as I stated before, that those who were involved in the kidnapping, unlawful seizure of EDWIN WALKER be arrested for the crime violating Section 241, Title 18, of the United States Code, violating his constitutional rights, kidnapping him in matter of fact.

"Yes sir, Yep, that's right (inaudible), he's violated more than that one. They took him out of the state without an expedition order and I can state this because I asked the Governor of Mississippi if he (stutters), ah ah an expedition order, and he said absolutely not; so by his own words I know that he did not and I can say that he did not. Well that's about all unless some of you have a specific question that I can report at this time.

"Yes Mam, Yes Miss BONE (phonetic), write to you congressman immediately because the congress is probably adjourning tonight, but it may not demand impeachment proceedings impeachment merely means bringing a charge, that's all it means, against JOHN F. KENNEDY (inaudible) President KENNEDY, JOHN F. KENNEDY, Mr. JOHN F. KENNEDY for violation of Section 1385, of Title 18, U. S. Criminal Code.

(Question) (Inaudible)

"He will be tried in Mississippi by a (inaudible) Mississippian. No he didn't even know, they just treated him like a, they tried to use the psychological effect on him, they took him out and put him on a C-47, which was in use by the Border Patrol and flew him over into Missouri.

"Yes Mam.

Question (inaudible).

"Yes, I couldn't give the exact information, but from the people we did speak to who were witnesses throughout the so-called riot, the students were not rioting, the marshals were goons, (inaudible), the head marshal, we understand, has a criminal record from New York, a former policeman there, and they looked like goons. They fired tear gas bombs at the students first and we understand that there are witnesses that said it was one of those who shot the newspaper man in fact, and they said they had no weapons, but the pictures in the paper show them with the weapons in their hip pockets. Nothing would have happened, and in fact, some of the state policemen of Mississippi, who were there, were actually fired upon and one was hit in the face with one of the gas bombs and that's why they couldn't stay there, the marshals were trigger happy shooting off tear gas bombs and, ah -- that's about all the answer on that, so I'm going to turn this, yes sir, (question, inaudible).

"Yes, thank you, well they're going to try to scare you, I wouldn't believe anything I read about this too much in the papers, if in fact --- (question, inaudible.

"Yes, well they did, although they got the court order to commit him and to arrest him after they had already done it which makes them guilty of committing a crime, they still have it now, so in order to clear himself of this serious charge, which is although a serious and absolutely (inaudible), its still a charge, he has to go through this, and these are the areas that his lawyers are working on now, this is why I suggest that we as individuals hit the other area because they are gonna go into that after they get this over with, and they have ---, ah, I can't tell you anymore than what they told me. We do have that to worry about. We know that they're trying to make everyone that is a Christian seem like a nut, this is a typical Communist tatic, they're using it on General WALKER, we know it, and they're using it in the press to make the public think that he is insane or nuts, but we know different. There is no answer, we know they're doing it. The thing is, I suggest that if the free people who (inaudible) to get any Christian committed, we oughta find out who they are, get 3 of us to sign for each of them. (A). ____(Break) --- tell them that we're gonna get our man a knife, when they get in there with him, he's gonna carve them to pieces, they won't be able to do anything to our man because they have already said his crazy, and they can't convict him then. (Laugh).

"Yes Mam. (Question, inaudible).

"EDWIN WALKER ----, the money was available, $100,000.00 bail was available immediately and they couldn't find anybody who'd take it.

"That's right, that's right, and that was another violation of the law. There was no law folks, you're thinking in terms of righteous law, believe me there was no law there, this was an armed camp, this was everything in violation of our law that ever could be in violation of our law, and that's why we're gonna have to go and use these criminal charges against these people and uphold the law and get the men to arrest them if necessary.

(Question, inaudible)

"I don't know, I, don't think they are, it takes a court order to commit you to a mental institution and they had him there before they ever had a court order to put him there. This was one thing they did, that was a violation of the law.

"I'm gonna turn this back to Dr. SWIFT I can't answer all, --- we do have lots of people who saw lots of things we talked to them all, but we'd be here for the next week if we tried to cover every little detail. Just know this that Governor BARNETT is standing fast, Governor BARNETT has not integrated a school in Mississippi, it took 30,000 troops to put him there, and Governor BARNETT didn't do it and still won't do it, (A) and the people of Mississippi are not going to allow their governor to be seized by anybody. (A) (Question, inaudible).

"Is that right? ,I've heard that, well he wasn't in Misissippi, yes, well there's one answer then, I've given it to ya, get your rifles out, but pull it on them then, reverse it. Well I want to thank you very much and thank Dr. SWIFT for this opportunity, --- "
(applause covers last few words.)

EDWIN A. WALKER
MAJOR GENERAL, UNITED STATES ARMY
SEPTEMBER 30, 1962
OXFORD, MISSISSIPPI

INFORMANT 1/155

[redacted], advised the Washington Field Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on November 19, 1962, the following information concerning his observations and impressions of Edwin A. Walker, Major General, United States Army, on September 30, 1962, at Oxford, Mississippi: 7D

[redacted] stated he was on the campus at the University at Oxford, Mississippi, during the rioting of September 30, 1962. He stated there was a large crowd on the campus when he arrived and that shortly thereafter he heard that General Walker was on the campus. He stated he started looking for the General since he [redacted] was in Washington, D. C., to testify before a committee on the hearing relating to the muzzling of military officers. After some time he found the General standing back among the shadows. His collar was unbuttoned, and he was carrying his hat. 7D

[redacted] then stated, "I hear you led a charge," but added that he received no answer to this statement. He stated he talked to and observed General Walker for about thirty minutes, and during this time the General appeared to be quite normal. He stated General Walker was quiet and participated in no overt act but merely observed the scene. At one point General Walker commented how terrible the whole thing was, and by this [redacted] stated he assumed he meant the riot. On two or three occasions he stated the General sent a young man, believed to be an associate of 7D

the General, up closer to the rioting to determine what was taking place. Other than this, he stated the General stood and talked quietly with numerous individuals who came up and introduced themselves. He stated during the Washington interview the General was hard to understand and appeared to be "nuts," by which he explained he meant mentally unbalanced, but on this occasion he seemed to be quite normal, and during the time he talked to and observed the General, he saw nor heard anything that would lead him to believe otherwise.

Concerning CLYDE J. WATTS, attorney, it will be noted the October 8, 1962, morning edition of "The Daily Oklahoman," an established daily newspaper in Oklahoma City, contains an article on page 32 titled "Watts Wins First Round for Client-Friend Walker." An "Editor's Note" relating to this article states:

> "Oklahoma City attorney Clyde J. Watts made national headlines Sunday when he succeeded in getting former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker released from the U. S. Medical Center for federal prisoners at Springfield, Mo. The following personality sketch of Watts was written by United Press International."

This article reads as follows:

"Attorney Clyde J. Watts first met former army Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker when they were students at a military prep school in 1926. More than 30 years later they joined in a 'battle against communism.'

"'We are in the twilight of the cold phase of a protracted conflict,' Watts said, 'the stakes in which are slavery and freedom--life and death. The time to clean house is limited.'

"Watts represents Walker as an attorney. Unlike Walker, Watts is a very articulate person. Like Walker, Watts was a general in the army.

"Watts bitterly blasted the United States for its 'less than half-hearted effort' against communism, but his words never caught the national ear.

"Watts retired quietly from a colorful military career while Walker left the service in a blare of publicity over the political indoctrination of troops under his command in Germany.

"Walker acquired Watts as legal aide when he appeared before congress to lash out at national policy and prominent political leaders.

"Watts filed a libel suit for Walker against a Chicago columnist last spring and Saturday stepped into the spotlight to argue for Walker's release from a federal prison at Springfield, Mo.

"A handsome gray-haired man, Watts came to his friend's aid when Walker was arrested in Oxford, Miss., during the integration crisis. He carried Walker's fight into federal court and successfully argued for a reduced bond and freedom for Walker.

"Watts flew from Oxford to Springfield Saturday night to comfort and advise Walker after freedom was ordered.

"The two were associates for years. They met at the New Mexico Military Institue. From there, Walker went to West Point and Watts to the University of Oklahoma law school. Later, they met on the polo fields and Watts said 'Walker is one of the greatest polo players.'

"Both amassed fine military records as officers.

"It was in China in 1944 when Watts said he first was confronted with communism. He said that it was his job to tell Nationalist Chinese why the United States was supporting Communist Chinese.

"Watts said his limited speech in Chinese was not sufficient to convince the Nationalists that the alliance was to fight Japan, a common enemy. He said instead that the Nationalists convinced him the Reds were a greater threat.

"He then launched into his personal drive to awaken the United States to the Communist threat.

"His essay, 'Strategy for Survival,' was printed in the May 15, 1961, Congressional Record. He said: 'We are at war. A space age type of war. We are making less than a half-hearted effort.'

"Co-existence, Watts said, was America's weakness. He said American industry had built Russia and China from 'fourth rate' nations to great forces since World War II. He deplored the aid.

"'We are pursuing happiness at the expense of life and liberty,' he said.

"Post-military life has been good for Watts. He is a successful insurance-surety attorney in Oklahoma City and has four children, ages 9 to 22. He is a native of Wagoner, Okla., and is part Cherokee Indian. His father was a pioneer Oklahoma district judge.

"The 51-year-old lawyer said he disliked such terms as 'ultra-conservative,' and 'extreme right wing' when persons speak of him and Walker. He said it is a Communist tactic to categorically brand all opposition.

"'The Communists study and understand us,' he said. 'We must become aware of them.'"

Concerning J. EVETTS HALEY, it will be noted a sub-heading captioned "Making Trouble for Texas Textbooks" appeared on page 122 in the February 9, 1962, issue of "Life" magazine. This item reads, in part, as follows:

> "In the category of the Crackpots, it would be difficult to outdo the destructive mischief of an organization called Texans for America. This is the invention of a wealthy west Texas rancher named J. Evetts Haley, who frankly advocates lynching Chief Justice Warren. Haley and his group specialize in snooping out Red subversion in Texas textbooks and have been so successful in their demands for change that every history textbook adopted by the State Education Agency this year was altered to meet their demands.
> "Of his campaign and the idea of academic freedom, Haley observes: 'The stressing of both sides of a controversy only confuses the young and encourages them to make snap judgments....Until they are old enough to understand . . . they should be taught only the American side."

The above item consists of a portion of the article titled "Who's Who in the Tumult of the Far Right" by KEITH WHEELER.

The March 30, 1962, final home edition of the "Muskogee Daily Phoenix," an established newspaper in Muskogee, Oklahoma, on page 1 contains an article titled "Legal Fight Continues On Wheat Case." This article reads, in part, as follows:

> "Evetts Haley Jr., of Canyon City, Texas, brought his fight against a federal ruling that he violated the wheat quota system on a 43-acre farm in Sequoyah County to the Federal Court here Thursday.
> "He ased the court to reverse a decision of the Review Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service upholding the Sequoyah County ASCS committee in fining him for planting wheat without a quota in 1956.
> "Haley was fined $506.11.
> "Federal District Judge T. Whitefield Davidson at Dallas, Texas, February 2 ruled that Haley did not have to pay the fine and added that the United States Supreme Court had no jurisdiction in the wheat allotment case.
> "United States Attorney Barefoot Sanders of Dallas appealed to the Supreme Court from the judge's decision.
> "Haley, who said he did not market wheat raised on the farm, but fed it to livestock, said at Canyon City: 'This appeal, which is being made by a Kennedy appointee as United States attorney, has political implications in the cheapest sense of the word.
> "'This whole thing does not mean that I'm in trouble,' Haley added. 'It means the Department of Agriculture and the whole farm program is in trouble.'"

The September 28, 1962, edition of "The Daily Oklahoman," on page 26 carried an article titled "City Magazine Sold to Texas Freedom Body." This article states GWYNNE W. DAVIDSON, President of the "Defenders of the Christian Faith, Inc.," announced the sale of the "American Mercury" magazine by the "right-wing" Defender organization to a Texas group known as the "Legion for the Survival of Freedom, Inc."

The article identifies former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER as one of the listed purchasers. According to this article, General WALKER is listed as military editor and analyst, and MARCIA MATHEWS, radio broadcaster, "who is internationally known for her anti-Communist broadcasts," will become editor of the magazine.

[redacted] continued that the troops kept moving the crowd back toward downtown Oxford until at approximately 9:00 AM, he and his three companions were back at the town square and went into the same cafe they had patronized earlier in the morning. They stayed in the area of the square and at approximately 7:00 AM, troops entered the square driving the crowd back from the square. At approximately 9:30 AM, he and his three companions were in a drugstore near the square at Oxford, and they spotted General EDWIN WALKER coming down a sidewalk.

[redacted] went out a side door of the drugstore and intercepted General WALKER and, subsequently, brought him into the drugstore. [redacted] was on the telephone to Radio Station WRBC in Jackson at the time, and he interviewed General WALKER over the phone for approximately fifteen minutes. General WALKER then left the drugstore, and [redacted] saw no more of him that day. At approximately 12:00 Noon, October 1, 1962, [redacted] and his three companions returned to their automobile and left Oxford, driving to Jackson by way of the Natchez Trace. They arrived at Jackson approximately 5:00 PM the same date.

[redacted] stated that he was not able to identify any one of the crowd involved in the activity at Oxford and could not identify anyone whom he had seen throwing objects at the troops. He stated that he saw no one with firearms except the soldiers and volunteered the information that none of his group had taken any firearms to Oxford.

[redacted] He furnished the following information:

Late on the afternoon of September 29, 1962, he received word from an unrecalled source to the effect that General EDWIN WALKER was then at the Sun and Sand Motel, Jackson, Mississippi, and desired to have a press conference. [redacted] went to the Sun and Sand Motel arriving there somewhere around 5:00 or 6:00 PM on September 29, 1962. The press conference was held on the second floor in a meeting room. General WALKER was there and various members of the press. He did not observe any other individuals who appeared to be with WALKER or in WALKER's party. General WALKER read a statement which apparently had been written on a piece of yellow paper. He made no copies of his statement available to the press. The gist of WALKER's statement was that he was in Mississippi to show his allegiance and support of Governor ROSS R. BARNETT. After reading the statement WALKER walked out of the room followed by members of the press. The press stopped WALKER outside the room and questioned him for approximately ten or fifteen minutes. At this point [redacted] left to return to his newspaper office to meet a deadline. He has no information as to WALKER's activities subsequent to the press conference.

At approximately 7:00 or 8:00 PM Sunday, September 30, 1962, [redacted] left Jackson in [redacted] car enroute Oxford, Mississippi. They arrived at Oxford at approximately 11:00 PM or midnight on September 30. They went direct to the Mansel Motel at Oxford and checked with [redacted] who had been at Oxford most of the day. [redacted] desired to go out to the campus of the University of Mississippi, but [redacted] declined to take his car out to the University. [redacted] ran across [redacted] and [redacted] drove [redacted] to the Alumni House at the University of Mississippi. [redacted] left [redacted] there.

This was approximately midnight [redacted] walked from the Alumni House to the Lyceum Building on the campus and mingled with the students in front of the Lyceum Building. When he arrived in front of the Lyceum Building he observed a crowd of students estimated at several hundred immediately in front of the building and a group of United States Marshals lined around the Lyceum Building. Tear gas was heavy in the air when he arrived there. Occasionally he could see a rock or some other object being thrown from the crowd in the direction of the marshals. [redacted] attempted to pick out the leader of the group of students if any, but was unable to do so. He felt some in the crowd were not students, but that most of them were. He saw no one in the crowd with firearms. Many of them had rocks and some had empty bottles in their hands. He saw two cars burning. He stayed in front of the Lyceum approximately ten minutes. After standing in front of the Lyceum approximately two minutes, a tear gas shell lit close to him and exploded tear gas. He could hear either shots or fire crackers but could not place the location of these sounds. The deaths of the two individuals had already occurred before his arrival as he had heard about it on the car radio enroute to Oxford. After leaving the front of the Lyceum Building he walked around the building and entered the rear of the Lyceum. He saw no prisoners in the Lyceum Building but while standing there two marshals were helped in by other marshals both were injured. One of them had a very bloody face and according to [redacted] it "looked like he caught a brick in the face". He stayed in the building approximately ten minutes but the tear gas got so bad he had to leave. He walked back to the Alumni House arriving there at approximately 1:00 AM on October 1, 1962. He tried to call his office at Jackson, but no line was available. He stayed that night at the Alumni House in a room with [redacted] He did not leave the Alumni House that night. He stated that he did not recognize anyone in the crowd in front of the Lyceum Building and did not see General WALKER. He recalled asking someone about General WALKER and they told him he was on the campus but he never did see him.

At approximately 5:00 AM on October 1 [illegible] 1962 [redacted] woke him up and told him that the crowd was still carrying on and had apparently moved down town. [redacted] got up and dressed and drove down town in an automobile with [redacted] They drove around the down town area and when they approached the town square they were turned back by soldiers. [redacted] dropped [redacted] at the Ole Miss Motel at approximately 6:00 or 6:30 AM. [redacted] went to the room of [redacted] sat around for some time and then heard approximately three or four shots in rapid succession. They ran out of the motel and just outside they observed a squad of soldiers marching approximately ten prisoners in the direction of the armory. He did not know where the shots had come from. He did not see General WALKER that morning. He recalled that he had seen [redacted] at the Alumni House before he left that morning and had asked [redacted] if he knew where General WALKER was. [redacted] told [redacted] that he did not know where WALKER was. Shortly after seeing the troops marching the prisoners a report began to circulate that there were some Negroes beaten and some Negro houses burned. [redacted] and [redacted] drove around Oxford for approximately an hour but saw no evidence of Negroes being beaten or of any Negro homes burned.

[redacted] stated that this was about the extent of his informationconcerning the rioting activities at Oxford. He again pointed out that he would be unable to identify anyone who participated in the rioting.

[redacted]. He stated that both of these individuals appeared to have been on the scene of the rioting from the outset and might have information concerning the activities. He recalled that [redacted] had mentioned seeing General EDWIN WALKER on the campus during the rioting and that [redacted] had said WALKER had made some comment about "getting the power plant".

[redacted] stated that he had no further information of value concerning this matter.

[redacted] advised that he went to Oxford, Mississippi, September 27, 1962, and left the following Tuesday morning. On September 30, 1962, at about 4:00 PM. he got on the campus posing as a student. About 30 minutes before U. S. Marshals fired gas he was in the area between the U. S. Marshals and the students or the crowd near the Lyceum Building who had gathered. Someone grabbed him, hit and kicked him, and took his lighting device. He said he was so shaken up and confused over this incident he does not have a clear recollection of what happened. He said he cannot describe any of the individuals involved with him but supposed they were students. After this incident he, with other newsmen, got between two military trucks which were parked between the Marshals and the crowd where he remained for a few minutes. While there, he saw what appeared to be cigarettes thrown from the crowd on top of the canvas on these trucks. He also saw a fire extinguisher turned on the driver of one of the trucks and this man had to get out on the Marshals' side. This was a soldier wearing fatigue clothing.

He said that due to his being assaulted and the excitement, he could not identify or describe anyone. He did not know anyone but newsmen.

After the above incident, he got to a dormitory and then it was gassed by the Marshals. He then went to a sorority house where he cleaned up and left about midnight.

The next day he was in town and saw E. A. WALKER talk to some soldiers. This was on the north side of the town square. He did not know what was said and did not get photographs of this incident.

He said he took some movies of the demonstrations prior to the rioting, but did not get any pictures of the riots.

He was on the campus on the night of September 30, 1962. He stayed a considerable distance from any real action, but saw people driving cars down through the grove of trees, heard people yelling, and saw people pick up large pieces of concrete and break them into small pieces to throw.

He heard the very last part of a talk by a man who appeared to be standing on the platform of a statue. He heard several people, none of whom he knew, say it was General WALKER; but he was not close enough to recognize the man. [redacted], advised that he went to Oxford, Mississippi, on September 25, 1962. He went on the campus about 8:15 PM, the night of September 30. He said quite a crowd had gathered and the U. S. Marshals were already firing tear gas. He said that from a distance, shortly after going on campus, he saw a crowd had gathered near a statue and a man was talking. He did not hear any details of the talk but heard people say that it was General WALKER talking. He said this crowd moved from the area of the statue and toward the Marshals, and he could see that they were throwing some objects which he thought to be rocks and bricks. He heard what he thought to be shotgun blasts but could not tell where it was coming from. He said he stayed way back out of any of the activity. He left his camera in the car and did not attempt to take any pictures. He said he cannot identify or describe anyone involved in any of the action. He left the campus about 2:00 AM, October 1, and left Oxford the next day. He did not get in any of the downtown action.

He did recall that he saw a bulldozer head toward the Lyceum Building about midnight and a considerable amount of tear gas was fired at this time. He was not close to this operation.

[redacted] advised that he went to Oxford, Mississippi, arriving about 5:00 AM, September 28, 1962, and left the afternoon of October 3, 1962. During this time he went to Memphis, Tennessee, and then to Jackson, Mississippi. He spent very little time on the school campus at Oxford, Mississippi. 7D

He arrived at the campus, Oxford, Mississippi, about 5:00 or 6:00 PM on September 30, 1962, but tried to stay out of all activity, as he had been instructed by his superiors not to become involved in difficulties on the campus. He did see those he thought to be students hollering at the U. S. Marshals, and saw what he thought to be paper burning thrown at trucks. He did not know anyone and could not describe or recognize anyone. About 10:00 or 11:00 PM, he was on campus and heard a man speaking who said something to the effect that the students had a right to protest and to keep it up. He heard someone in passing say this was General WALKER. He did not see this speaker and to his knowledge he did not see WALKER.

He took some photographs but said he did not get any photographs of violence.

[redacted] came over to them and said that General [redacted] WALKER was over at the Confederate Statue. [redacted] said that this Confederate Statue is located in the lower end of the grove facing the Lyceum Building, and that he and the others walked over to the statue where he observed General WALKER speaking to a crowd of individuals. He said he would estimate this crowd to be from 100 to 200 individuals, and that he heard General WALKER say "Neither I or Governor BARNETT have authorized violence, but there is no turning back and no stopping." At this point, [redacted] got up on the base of the statue and told the crowd he was an Episcopalian Minister, and General WALKER upon hearing this said "This man is an Episcopalian Minister and I am ashamed to be an Episcopalian." [redacted] attempted to speak to the crowd but was unable to do so because of the yelling, and at this time [redacted], hollered to the crowd to let [redacted] speak, and the crowd replied "No, no, no."

[redacted] said that because of the ugly nature of the crowd, he decided to leave. However, General WALKER was still at the Confederate Statue when he left. He said that he hung around this general area for about 15 or 20 additional minutes and recalled there was a lot of yelling and running of individuals in the grove. He then left and went back to the Ole Miss Motel.

He said that he could not recall observing any individual committing any act of violence in the area which he was in, nor did he see any individuals carrying any type of weapon, such as a club, rifle, shotgun, or pistol. He said that in the area in which he was stationed, he did not see any individuals throwing any rocks or bottles, nor could he recall hearing any sounds which he could associate with a fire arm being discharged.

[redacted] informed that he did not see General WALKER on the campus of the University during the evening, and that he shot between 70 and 80 feet of movie film which he sent back [redacted] to be processed. He said he did not know the quality of this file because he did not have the proper lighting and that the film taken was mainly of the marshals' ringing the Lyceum Building. He got no shots of the crowd in the grove or any close-ups.

He said that at this time, the first gas was fired, and it appeared to him that the members of the Highway Patrol were attempting to move the crowd away from the Army trucks and back into the grove.

[redacted] stated that for most of the evening, he stayed on the left side of the Lyceum building where he could observe the actions of the crowd and the Marshals and that after the gas was fired, he observed bricks and rocks and coca cola bottles being thrown at the Marshals by the crowd; however, he could not identify any individuals who had taken part in the throwing of these articles. 7D

He said he had heard from an unidentified source that General WALKER was on the campus, but that he did not personally see him.

He said that he shot about 20 feet or so of movie film and had sent this back to [redacted] but that he did not know whether this film was any good. 7D

[redacted] said that he did not observe any individuals carrying any type of firearms, such as shotguns, rifles, or pistols, nor could he recall seeing any individual physically assaulted by any of the Marshals or any of the Marshals physically assaulted by any of the crowd. He said that sometime later in the evening, possibly about 11:00 p. m., he left the campus and returned to the Ole Miss Motel, because of the effects of the gas which had been fired.

[redacted] said that for the next three hours, he was there on the side of the Lyceum building to observe what was going on in front of the Lyceum building and he could see groups of persons in the grove charge at the Marshals and throw rocks, coca cola bottles and bricks at the Marshals.

[redacted] said he recalled that about 9 00 p. m., he observed a Marshal starting to cross the street near the Lyceum building and as he entered the street, he observed a Mississippi Highway Patrol car accelerate at a fast speed towards the Marshal and if the Marshal had not jumped out of the way, he would have been hit. [redacted] stated he could not identify the Highway Patrolman driving or the car itself or the Marshal involved.

[redacted] said that late in the evening he became enveloped in a cloud of gas and became very sick to his stomach and shortly thereafter, he left the campus. He said that it was impossible to get to the car, which he parked near the Fine Arts building earlier in the evening. He said that he did not observe any individuals carrying any type of firearms, such as shotguns, rifles or pistols, nor could he recall hearing any sounds as if any of these type of weapons were being fired. He said that he was given a ride back to the Ole Miss Motel by an unidentified person and he did not see General WALKER on the campus on the evening of September 30, 1962. He said he recalled talking with an unknown newsman whom he believed was from the Washington D. C. Office of either the New York Tribune or New York Times, who informed him that he had been with General WALKER on the campus and that WALKER had made a speech to the crowd.

[redacted] stated that he had not taken any pictures on the campus and that when he returned on the campus the next day and went to his car, he found that it had been wrecked and burned. 7D

About 8:00 or 9:00 AM in the morning he observed approximately 100 persons believed to be students throwing rocks at Army trucks in town. About 9:00 - 9:30 AM, Army troops formed a flying wedge in the square and cleaned it out. He observed General WALKER in the square and observed soldiers escort WALKER to a drug store. Any persons on the square who wanted to enter a store received an escort. Shortly thereafter, WALKER left. WALKER, according to information he received, was arrested at a roadblock soon after.

While he was at the square, a National Guard Captain, name unknown, confiscated two rolls of film from him. He gave the Captain his name, but no provision was made for return of the film; and he has never received the film back. He does not have the National Guard Captain's name. The film was taken from him about 12:30 PM near the Mansion and this film probably had pictures of rioting in the square area. All other pictures taken would be in possession of UPI in New York.

[redacted] stated that he did not think he would be able to identify anyone other than some of the participants in the vicinity of the Lyceum. He said that there were about 20 students who stood out among the rioters, and it is possible he might recall some of them if shown pictures. He had no information as to the identity of any of there persons, or the ones involved in the trouble in town during the morning. 7D

After seeing [redacted] at the airport, they were unable to get back into town for some time as no one was permitted to leave the airport. When they were able to drive back in town, they observed cars being searched. They were able to enter the campus about noon and observed the debris and marshals rounding up students. All the violence had ceased.

[redacted] said he later learned they were a block away at the time General WALKER was arrested. He has reviewed the film taken by [redacted], but no incidents were recorded wherein it might be possible to identify any participants in violence. He said that [redacted] did not see as much as he did, for [redacted] was trying to take pictures and that neither of them would be able to identify anyone, particularly since it was not possible to tell for sure where the bottles were coming from that were being thrown at troops or who was throwing the bottles.

Prior to going to Oxford the second time he called General EDWIN WALKER on the telephone from New Orleans. WALKER was in Dallas at the time. Inasmuch as [redacted] had been active in the Houston area in behalf of WALKER when WALKER was campaigning for governor of Texas [redacted] was able to conduct an interview with WALKER over the telephone. He said that this interview was conducted 2 days before he went to Oxford. On Saturday night, September 29, 1962, General WALKER called him from the residence [redacted] and spoke to him for a few minutes, saying that he intended to go on to Oxford. He told WALKER that he would see him at Oxford.

[redacted] proceeded to Oxford on September 30, 1962 arriving there about 5 PM and checked in the Colonial Hotel. He attempted to contact General WALKER, who was supposed to be at the Ole Miss Motel, between 6:15 and 6:30 PM and left a message for WALKER that he would like to interview him. About 6:30 PM he went to the entrance of the campus and met [redacted] of Memphis. They decided to work together. They went first to the cafeteria. About 8 PM while they were in a woman's dormitory trying to make a phone call they heard what sounded like shots. They ran out on what is known as the "Grove" and saw about 200-300 people and saw tear gas. The persons appeared to be students from their general appearance and from talking to one or two of them, without identifying themselves, they learned that a number from Mississippi State were on the campus. There appeared to be no leadership among the students and there was no indication that any organizations were active among those present.

During the evening he observed some rocks being tossed at the Marshals and observed persons starting to break up concrete benches and street markers to use as weapons. The rioters started calling out that the Marshals were running out of gas. He observed windows [redacted] being broken and a young demonstrator beat a cameraman on the head with his fist. At this point the Mississippi Highway Patrolman left as the gas was becoming dense. As the gates were left unguarded what appeared to be a different element came on the campus. He said these persons did not appear to be students.

During the period [redacted] were on the campus he observed no firearms being used but heard them. Two or three hours after the rioting started a revolver was being fired somewhere behind them and they had to get out of the way but did not seen the persons responsible for the shooting. A group of persons got an old fire truck and drove it toward the Marshals who were around the Lyceum Building, turning the hose on the Marshals for about ten minutes. Another group got a tractor and drove it up against a tree. He observed some demonstrators after this making Molotov cocktails by filling coke bottles with gasoline. He also saw three or four cars pulled across the road to block the military trucks and saw three or four cars burned.

[redacted] said that during the period of violence it was dark and the area was further obscured by tear gas. He was unable to be definite about the time of occurrence of any acts of violence . [redacted] concealed their identity as newsmen and indicated to persons on the scene that they were with them so the demonstrators would not turn on them. He said that he could not point to any particular persons as responsible for the violence in this period, pointing out that the situation was very confused and that there appeared to be no leadership among the rioters, that the rioters were wandering around in small groups and going where there appeared to be any action.

[redacted] stated that about 9 PM he saw General Edwin WALKER come upon the campus. WALKER was in the vininity of the Confederate Memorial and some of the students hollered, "There's our leader." A crowd of about 100 gathered at this spot. WALKER was accompanied by a big man wearing a ten gallon hat who had a pistol on his belt and wore a silver looking badge. He said this man was about 45 years of age, wore what may have been a khaki shirt, was tall and heavy set. Another man who was short, of medium build and had black hair, was noted to be with WALKER. 7D

As WALKER arrived at the statue, WALKER saw [redacted] At this point, the students called to GENERAL WALKER to talk to them and WALKER urged them not to commit any violence, but said they had the right to protest. He spoke for about five minutes. An Episcopalian minister spoke up and said they should not protest. WALKER said in reply that this made him sorry that he was an Episcopalian. He said that WALKER did not tell the students anything special that they were to do and told them only that they had the right to protest. WALKER left the campus after being there for about thirty minutes and he did not see him again. 7L

[redacted] said that at no time did General WALKER advocate the use of violence but to the contrary urged no violence. He said that since the arrest of WALKER he has been contacted by an attorney representing WALKER who asked him if he would testify in WALKER's behalf and he told the attorney that he would testify as to what he saw and heard. 7D

[redacted] said that [redacted] left the campus about 4 AM to phone in their stories. Shortly thereafter they found no one was being allowed back on the campus. They then located a back entrance and came in on a dirt road, without being challenged. The rioting was over at this time and the troops were in charge. Groups of persons on the campus were being asked to identify themselves by the officers. He stayed on the campus until about 10 AM after the registration of MEREDITH and then left Oxford.

On November 2, 1962, [redacted] made available the following copy of a recorded interview with General Edwin Walker made by Charlie Ray. MR. RAY: General Walker, do you still intend to follow through with your plans to go to Mississippi after the Government warning today supposedly that you will be held in contempt?

MR. WALKER: I plan to go to Mississippi as I had intended if and when federal troops are used in Mississippi. I do not feel that there is any Constitutional law that prevents a citizen from moving from state to state or from place to place as he sees fit and there are hundreds of causes moving to Mississippi that are reflecting their attitudes in Mississippi and I am only a small part of this movement and I intend to be there if and when the decision is made to use federal troops there.

MR. RAY: Well, do you personally, sir, believe that that order will be given by Attorney General Robert Kennedy?

MR. WALKER: I would hope that they certainly do not use federal troops. It was a catastrophe when they did it before in 1957 and 8 in Little Rock. It was unconstitutional then as several governors have pointed out and also many members of the Bar and they should read the Constitution more carefully and they would recognize that this is unconstitutional. There is no law that requires integration.

MR. RAY: Well now sir, what do you think the repercussions would be if these federal troops are sent to Oxford and as a matter of fact, the State of Mississippi?

MR. WALKER: I am not sure. It depends on what their mission is and what they are supposed to do and how they carry out that mission and what the intents are after they get to Mississippi. I would say that it certainly is obvious now that the cause of states rights extends far beyond Mississippi and practically every state in the union is recognizing the importance of the sovereignty of the state and that that is very much involved, greatly involved in this issue.

MR. RAY: Well sir, what has been the general reaction to your plans of going to Mississippi with groups of citizens? I am sure you have heard from quite a few people throughout the United States.

MR. WALKER: We are just utterly swamped here with telephone calls and offers of help and assistance and notifications that people are moving to Mississippi and that they want to assist in every way possible, that they are opposed to what the administration is doing in opposing the governor in Mississippi. I can assure you that the telephones don't ever stop ringing. Calls are backed up six and eight deep. People are telling me its taking four and five hours to even get into our telephone system and we have seven phones in the house. Messages are coming in, offering support from in groups of ten to twenty to even two thousand.

MR. RAY: Well, sir, do you find that these telegrams and well wishes from people throughout the United States are predominately Southern, or are they also coming from the North and the West and the East?

MR. WALKER: They are from all parts of the country. Many have come in from Ohio, just a few minutes ago from St. Paul, quite a few from New York, Florida, of course, Los Angeles, and many of the states in between. I have just gotten off the line to Seattle, Washington.

MR. RAY: Well, then, do you have plans, sir, for rallies if and when the Federal Troops are entered into Mississippi, of a certain point in the state where all of your followers will then meet with you to protest the integration if it does come about?

MR. WALKER: I intend to join the movement. There are thousands of people, I am sure, already in Mississippi, probably hundreds of thousands there that are already standing beside their Governor BARNETT. The best place to do this would, of course, be at the Capitol or at Oxford or at the University, since that is where the issue is involved, and I am sure that that is where most of the movements will move to to show the grass roots movement in this issue.

MR. RAY: Well, one final question sir. Just what were your thoughts when acting as an officer of the United States Army when you were commanded to enter Little Rock? What were your thoughts in 1957, seeing the same type of citizens in another state so opposedly or reportedly opposing Federal seizure or Federal acts against a sovereign state supposedly?

MR. WALKER: At that time, I knew it was unconstitutional, and felt it was at that time, in using troops, and it should never have been done. My principles have not changed, but now out of uniform, I am on the other side and this time on

MR. WALKER: (CONT'D) the right side, and that is in opposition to unconstitutional actions by the Federal Government, and I am very happy to be free from the requirements of the military service in those cases where the military service has been unconstitutionally used against the citizens of the United States. It would appear to me with all the problems in the international situation and with an enemy, and a very critical enemy, ninety miles off of our coast, that it would be as utterly fantastic as well as impossible that the administration should now be in a cause and a purpose which is as to the disunity of the United States of America, when the important thing is today that all Americans be unified against the one and only important enemy in the world today, the one who has established that he intends to bury us, and by the President's own statement, this country is in dire peril.

[redacted] stated that the activity leading up to WALKER's going to Oxford, Mississippi began on Wednesday, September 26, 1962, [redacted] stated he does not know exactly what it was that caused former General EDWIN A. WALKER to call the press conference and he does not know if WALKER consulted with anyone else before making this decision or whether he did it strictly on his own.

[redacted] stated that all conversations that [redacted] heard WALKER have, either in person or over the telephone, were with individuals who were going to accompany WALKER to Mississippi. WALKER told them not to take firearms and that this would be a peaceful demonstration.

[redacted] was a volunteer aide for EDWIN A. WALKER and was frequently at WALKER's office assisting him.

[redacted] stated that the directors of the Grand Prairie, Texas, Radio Station, KPCN, were all avid followers of EDWIN A. WALKER [redacted] further advised that WALKER was a member of the John Birch Society as well as all of his close followers. However, he could not state that there was a definite connection between WALKER's activities and the John Birch Society, other than the fact that all of WALKER's close aides and followers were members of the John Birch Society.

[redacted] stated that when WALKER held the open house at his residence on September 28, 1962, he read from Bar Association reports opinions that the use of troops to force integration was illegal and WALKER took the stand that state rights rather than the rightness or wrongness of integration was the main issue.

[redacted] stated he saw former General EDWIN A. WALKER for a very short time at their motel, exact name of the motel unrecalled. [redacted] stated that he had previously interviewed WALKER in Dallas and attempted to interview him on the afternoon of Sunday, September 30, 1962; however, a young man who was apparently acting as WALKER's chauffeur and bodyguard, name unknown, prevented the press from talking to WALKER on that afternoon.

[redacted] expressed the opinion, based on his observations of WALKER in Dallas on September 27, 1962, and September 28, 1962, and based on his observations of WALKER on September 30, 1962, WALKER appeared to be mentally unbalanced. [redacted] expressed the opinion that WALKER is probably legally sane, however, from the way he talks, acts, and looks, he considers him to be of an unbalanced mind.

[redacted] advised that he did see former General EDWIN A. WALKER about midnight on the campus talking to a crowd that had gathered around him. He stated he recalls that an unidentified student asked WALKER, "When are the reinforcements coming?" To this WALKER replied, "They are on their way. I have thousands and thousands coming in from Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, and some from Florida. Keep your spirits up. Don't give up."

[redacted] stated that he did not see WALKER in charge of any of the rioters as a leader but recalls that the student with the injured leg was brought up to WALKER and WALKER commented, "Keep your spirits up. Don't give up now."

[redacted] stated that he also heard another student comment that if he (WALKER) is such a good General what is he doing out here.

[redacted] stated that he saw some "rabble rousers" who were not students on the campus, although he cannot identify them. One of these individuals commented that he had driven 500 miles to come to the fight.

[redacted] also stated that he was present when the first National Guard units came and observed students throwing at them. He stated that cars driven by what appeared to be students came in to the area with bottles, rocks, and sticks which were used as "ammunition" against the National Guard troops.

[redacted] also advised that he recalls seeing a boy whom he cannot identify jump on a truck bringing U. S. Marshals to the campus and take a "swing" at one of the Marshals. He stated that the Mississippi State Police took this student off of the truck. He stated that he also saw the students driving a fire truck onto the campus and squirting water at the Marshals.

[redacted] stated that he left the campus at approximately 2:00 AM and did not return until approximately 7:30 PM on October 1, 1962. At that time troops had arrived in town, and he could not get back on the campus.

[redacted] stated that he does not have any photographs of the rioting and is unable to identify any of the participants.

Date November 1, 1962

[redacted] stated most of his photographs taken were in the downtown area of Oxford, Mississippi and were not on the University campus. He stated he had taken three rolls of film, two of which he placed in the dash pocket of the rental car and upon his turning same into the airport at Memphis, Tennessee he failed to get the films out of the glove compartment. He stated he had telephonically contacted Avis Rental Car Agency after his return [redacted] and they were to attempt to locate the film for him but had been unable to do so. From the photographs in [redacted] possession, he produced three photographs one concerning the arrest of E. A. WALKER, by United States Marshals and two other photographs concerning the arrest of various other individuals. [redacted] stated he had no photographs of actual violence taking place in his possession.

[redacted] stated he saw former General EDWIN A. WALKER come onto the campus of the University of Mississippi. He stated he heard he had been on the campus earlier but did not see him. When he returned he had with him a man approximately 45 to 50 years old who was somewhat smaller than WALKER, of medium build, dark hair slightly graying, and a pointed face. He stated he heard this individual remark he had come over with General WALKER. He recalls while WALKER was talking to the students crowded around him he heard him say, "Keep up your courage. Don't let the communists get you down." 7D

[redacted] stated after the second group of National Guardsmen came to the campus some of the students, particularly the girls, started leaving either due to the arrival of the National Guard or the late hour. He stated the tear gas was being fired less regularly, and he went back to his motel. He stated he had no pictures of the incidents that he saw, and he left Oxford on the night of October 1, 1962. 7D

[redacted] advised that he originally went to Oxford, Mississippi, on September 25, 1962. He stated, however, when the riots broke out he was in Memphis, Tennessee, and did not return to Oxford until late in the evening after the riots had started. He stated when he arrived the U. S. Marshals were already on the campus and tear gas had already been shot. He stated he noticed former General EDWIN A. WALKER on the campus with a crowd of individuals around him.

[redacted] stated he had very little first-hand information regarding the riots and could not identify any individual involved in the rioting. He stated, however, that he developed two students as sources of information, and these students actually worked for [redacted] He stated the two students were [redacted] He advised these two individuals furnished reporters [redacted] including himself, with various pieces of information, and the information furnished by these students regarding the rioters was furnished to the U. S. Marshals by the reporters. [redacted] stated he does not recall all of this information.

He stated he did learn from [redacted] who were in the crowd standing around former General EDWIN WALKER, that rioters would from time to time come up to WALKER, tell him what they had done, and he would remark that it was "O.K." and give them further orders. He stated he also learned that WALKER was either in or around the dormitories on the campus trying to organize things before the riots began.

[redacted] stated he feels sure that [redacted] if they have not already done so, would cooperate with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He stated they should not be contacted on the campus and any contact should be extremely discreet since, if it became known they were cooperating with the FBI, [redacted], they could be injured by other students on the campus.

[redacted] stated she arrived at the University of Mississippi in Oxford, Mississippi, shortly before 8:00 PM on September 30, 1962. She left the campus shortly before midnight and during her stay there attempted to obtain information for a story on the rioting at the University of Mississippi.

She stated that in view of the darkness and the great quantities of tear gas in the air it was virtually impossible to personally observe any details of the rioting. She stated she was of course aware that a large number of students were making noise and were throwing stones at the United States Marshals who were on the campus. She stated, however, she was unable to obtain a description of anyone engaged in the rioting, nor could she at this time identify anyone so engaged.

She stated at no time did she see anyone with a weapon such as a gun or a knife.

She stated the only time she saw General EDWIN WALKER was the following morning, Monday, October 1, 1962, as he was leaving the Admission Building of the University of Mississippi. At this time he had already been taken into custody by the United States Marshals and at this time he was accompanied by several United States Marshals.

Specifically as to the rioting and other incidents which occurred on the night of September 30, 1962, and the morning of October 1, 1962, [redacted] advised that he did not observe the start of the riots on campus, since at first newsmen were excluded from the campus. By the time [redacted] arrived at the campus of the University of Mississippi, several clashes between the students and the United States Marshals had already taken place and several cars had been burned. [redacted] observed the rioting generally and saw numerous stones and other missiles flying about. He stated, however, that he could not identify any of the participants in the rioting because of the darkness, the tear gas, and the necessity of looking after his own safety.

[redacted] did observe late in the course of the rioting numerous persons participating in the rioting who appeared to be outsiders and not students at the University. At one point in the rioting, the time of which [redacted] does not remember, he observed General WALKER from some distance, apparently talking to some of the rioters. He was not able to hear what was said. He further observed General WALKER briefly on two occasions during the morning of October 1, 1962, in downtown Oxford, but was never close enough to determine what General WALKER's specific activities were.

He furnished the following information concerning his observations:

On the afternoon of September 29, 1962, (Saturday), he and [redacted] General EDWIN A. WALKER at the Mancell Motel, where WALKER was staying, which is located on the boundary of Oxford.

General WALKER read a prepared statement at that time to them [redacted] Since he could not use the statement for his column in view of his deadline, he set the statement aside and is not sure where his notes concerning this interview are at the present time. However, [redacted] who also had taken the text of the statement, filed it with his story [redacted]

His statement, in part, did not make sense to either of them and was incoherent. Both [redacted] questioned WALKER concerning clarification of parts of it. As much of the statement as he could remember was that it was a message to the people of Mississippi and believes that it started out "Onto Mississippi".

The following day, during the afternoon, he and [redacted] heard that the United States Marshals had arrived at Oxford. That afternoon, everyone except students were excluded from the campus of the University of Mississippi.

All during this time, the Mississippi State Police continued their passive attitude and the mob action continued to build up against the United States Marshals until it was imperative that the United States Marshals fire tear gas, as they had, for their own protection.

The mob of students and outside hoodlums had built up to such a hostile spirit evidenced by shouting and throwing of objects at the United States Marshals and finally moving toward the United States Marshals, where he believed that if the United States Marshals did not respond with tear gas it would have been no more than ten minutes before they would have been at the mercy of the mob.

Throughout the intensive mob action, he had heard that General WALKER had positioned himself near the Memorial Statue of the Confederate Soldier, which was near the Lyceum Building, and that he was giving instructions to participants of the mob action. He, however, did not see General WALKER during any of this action that night.

Throughout that night he observed no weapons used by the mob other than rocks, bottles and other objects that they could get their hands on to throw. Shots were reported to have been fired by some of the mob, but he did not hear any shots nor did he see any weapon, such as a gun, being carried by any of the mob.

Since 1:00 a.m. (October 1, 1962) was the deadline that his story could be sent to his paper, he left the campus between 10:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. and went to his hotel where he could write his story.

At the time of his leaving, the hoodlums had almost completely taken over and the students were a minority. About 2:00 a.m., he tried to get some sleep, but the noise in town became so loud that he was unable to do so. He observed that the National Guard had moved the rioters off the campus and now the rioters were in the town of Oxford carrying on with their destructive action.

He observed rioters on second floor porches, as those characteristic of many old southern homes, throwing bottles and other objects at the moving National Guard vehicles as they passed by.

The next morning in Oxford, he observed that the National Guard, stationed throughout the town, was controlling the situation.

It was between 8:00 a.m. - 9:00 a.m., while [redacted] were speaking to a guardsman just on the periphery of the Court House Square, located in the center of Oxford, that he observed General WALKER across the street in a drugstore having a cup of coffee.

7D

General WALKER was, at that time, surrounded by a group of hoodlums to whom he was talking. While they were observing General WALKER, two loud shots, apparently rifle shots, were fired about one hundred (100) yards up the street.

Almost spontaneously, General WALKER stepped out of the hallway of the drugstore and waved his hat in the direction of where the shots had been fired shouting, "Good going boys".

The National Guard immediately went to the source of the shots, but he does not know the disposition of this incident.

No definite information could be furnished concerning the identities of any of the participants in the riot. No weapons were observed other than rocks, bottles and other objects thrown by the rioters.

The only personal knowledge of gunfire by rioters was on the second day (Monday) when he heard two (2) rifle shots in the vicinity of the Court House Square.

11/1/62

During all this time [redacted] stated he did not observe General EDWIN WALKER and, in fact, did not see the General until the following day, October 1, 1962, when he noticed him in the custody of the United States Marshals.

He was on an assignment at Oxford, Mississippi, on September 30, 1962, and was present at the University of Mississippi Campus (U of M), Oxford, on that evening, a Sunday. Prior to arriving at the campus, he learned on that same date from a Mississippi State Policeman that retired General EDWIN A. WALKER was in Oxford apparently in connection with the anticipated admission to the U of M of JAMES H. MEREDITH. He obtained information from the policeman regarding the car being driven by Walker, and as a result, he eventually located WALKER in the restaurant at the Ole Miss Motel in Oxford. [redacted] interviewed General WALKER briefly at the restaurant, but he did not state what his purpose was in being in Oxford. They then arranged a press conference for later that evening. General WALKER at this time stated that he did not approve of the way this matter was being handled by the Government but did not elaborate on that point. A short time later, when [redacted] were enroute to keep the appointment with General WALKER, they noticed a crowd and numerous reporters enroute to the airport at Oxford. [redacted] assumed that this was a more important matter than the interview with WALKER, and both [redacted] followed the crowd to the airport and returned to the campus at approximately the same time as the United States Marshals did. He did not believe that General WALKER kept the appointment and had no other contact with WALKER thereafter.

Shortly after arriving at the campus, persons present on the campus were observed by him in the act of roughing up people, mostly newsmen, and in particular, attacked cameramen.

6. Due to the fact that Birchwell was arrested with the following items in his possession: Arms, ammunition, and membership cards which contained a listing of guerilla or survival equipment on the reverse side; and that Birchwell stated he was enroute to Mississippi to offer armed support to former Major General Edwin A. Walker, it is possible this activity is closely aligned with "Minutemen Activities."(B-2)

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

3. After further search of the car there was also found a small cardboard file box which contained two telephone index cards with several names listed thereon, eight pages of handwritten notes (Incl 1) and approximately 200 blank 5" x 8" cards (Incl 2) that appeared to be membership cards to an unknown organization. Of these 200 cards there were 12 cards (Incl 3) that had been filled out to varying degrees in what appears to be a code. The coded portion appears to be the name of an individual belonging to this unnamed organization. Local police authorities report that this organization is unnamed in order that the members cannot be accused or prosecuted for belonging to what could possibly be construed as an extremist organization. The front side of these cards lists what appears to be dues and initiation fees paid by the members. The reverse side contains a check-list of several items such as arms, ammunition, clothing, and other miscellaneous supplies, all of which appear to be either survival equipment or that type of equipment utilized by guerilla forces. Each of the eight pages of penciled notes corresponded to one of the coded cards. (D-2)

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

1. At 0630 hours on 30 September 1962, Ashland F. Birchwell was arrested in the 700 block of North Buckner Boulevard, Dallas, Texas by local police officers for a traffic violation of speeding. Description of Birchwell is as follows:

Date of Birth	: 28 September 1940
Height	: 5'11"
Weight	: 160 pounds
Hair	: Brown
Eyes	: Blue

Birchwell's present address is 1527 Annex, Apartment 204, Dallas, Texas. He was originally from the state of Michigan but came to Dallas to work for former Major General Edwin A. Walker as a secretary. As Walker could only pay him approximately $50 per week he obtained a second job with a local solvent firm, The R. J. Brown Company, 4228 West Highway 183, Irving, Texas. (B-2)

Source: Criminal Intelligence Section, Special Service Bureau, Dallas Police Department, Dallas, Texas

2. Upon stopping Birchwell the arresting officers found his car, a 1956 Chevrolet Sedan, Texas license number NX 4625, to contain a large cache of arms and ammunition, which included:

1 - switchblade pocketknife
1 - .357 Magnum pistol
1 - .303 Army rifle
3 - .22 caliber pistols
14 - rounds of .303 rifle ammunition
1,000 - rounds of .22 caliber ammunition
2,000 - rounds of .30-06 rifle ammunition

When questioned as to the reason for his possession of these arms and ammunition, Birchwell stated that he was enroute to Mississippi to aid Governor Barnett's cause by lending support to former Major General Edwin A. Walker. Birchwell further explained that prior to his recent release from active service with the US Army he had worked in a psychological warfare section of Walker's division in Germany before Walker was relieved of his command. EDWIN A. WALKER
DESEGREGATION OF UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

On November 26, 1962, Dallas Confidential Informant T-1, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that he was told by a member of EDWIN A. WALKER's staff, name unrecalled, that WALKER did not desire any armed resistance to federal marshals or U. S. troops in Oxford, Mississippi, but favored passive resistance. T-1 stated that after WALKER's television appeal for people to go to Oxford, Mississippi, he received many telephone calls from individuals from all over the country offering aid of one sort or another. Apparently the offer of 100 armed men from California was some type "crank" call since there is no indication that this group of men ever materialized and it was the understanding of this informant that WALKER did not desire such assistance.

As to the report that the followers of EDWIN A. WALKER were gathering arms and ammunition prior to WALKER's television appeal to resist integration at Oxford, Mississippi, this informant pointed out that most of WALKER's admirers and followers are firmly convinced that the U. S. State Department is infiltrated and controlled by the Communist Party and that they are planning to surrender the United States to the Soviet Union directly or possibly through the United Nations, which these individuals are also firmly convinced is controlled by the Communist Party. According to T-1, these individuals are gathering arms and ammunition to resist this imminent communist take-over of the United States which they are firmly convinced could come at any time.

T-1 explained that from what he has been told by the members of WALKER's staff, WALKER had not consulted anyone before making his appeal to resist integration at Oxford, Mississippi. T-1 stated that according to the best information he can develop from friends and associates of WALKER, on Wednesday, September 26, 1962, WALKER and one of his followers, [redacted] were listening to an unknown Shreveport radio station which was describing the status of the integration situation at the University of Mississippi. Suddenly, apparently on the spur of the moment, without consulting anyone, WALKER telephoned this Shreveport radio station and made a statement which T-1 understands was taped and played over the radio on September 26, 1962. As a result of this radio statement, WALKER then called the Dallas and Fort Worth radio and television stations and gave a television interview on September 27, 1962, and another interview on September 28, 1962. T-1 stated it was in these television interviews that WALKER outlined his plans to offer what WALKER considered to be passive resistance to the desegregation of the University of Mississippi.

T-1 further advised that many of WALKER's followers and admirers advised WALKER against carrying out these plans, telling him that Oxford, Mississippi, was not the place or time for such action; that the main issue was communist infiltration into the government and that he was unnecessarily exposing himself. T-1 stated, however, that some of WALKER's followers and admirers agreed with WALKER, and this informant knows of at least two followers, [redacted] both of Dallas, who went to Mississippi at WALKER's request. T-1 reemphasized that it was his understanding that WALKER consulted no one prior to his radio and television statements and that he felt on the spur of the moment that this was the time for action and that this might be the opportune moment in history to make his appearance at the University of Mississippi and thus strike a blow against communism. According to T-1, many persons described by this informant as "conservatives and anti-communists" are disgusted with WALKER's action and feel that he has badly hurt the anti-communist movement by his rash actions.

When asked [redacted] was present at a meeting on September 29, 1962, and September 30, 1962, in Dallas, which was attended by [redacted] T-1 refused to confirm or deny [redacted] T-1 further advised that [redacted] a strong follower and admirer of WALKER, was among the individuals in Dallas gathering arms and ammunition to resist the alleged communist take-over of the United States, described above.

On November 24, 1962, Dallas Confidential Informant T-2, contact with whom has been insufficient to determine reliability, advised that when he contacted the office of EDWIN A. WALKER on Saturday, September 29, 1962, to determine what WALKER planned to do, [redacted] a volunteer aide to EDWIN A. WALKER, told T-2 that WALKER was in Mississippi, and that all followers of WALKER should immediately depart for Jackson, Mississippi. [redacted] stated that all of WALKER's followers should meet at the courthouse steps in Jackson, Mississippi, at 10 A.M. on Sunday, September 30, 1962, where they would receive further instructions. Further, that if anyone was unable to get to Jackson, Mississippi, by 10 A.M. on September 30, 1962, they should meet at the courthouse steps at 8 A.M. on Monday, October 1, 1962, in Oxford, Mississippi. According to T-2, [redacted] apparently felt there would be no attempt to enter JAMES MEREDITH, the Negro student, at the University of Mississippi, until sometime Monday, October 1, 1962, and that the purpose of the meeting in Jackson was to show support for Mississippi's governor, ROSS BARNETT. T-2 advised that [redacted] at no time told him that the above instructions were coming directly from EDWIN A. WALKER, but by the manner in which he spoke, it was the definite impression of T-2 that these were WALKER's instructions to his followers.

On November 23, 1962, Dallas Confidential Informant T-3, contact with whom has not been sufficient to determine reliability, advised she determined from [redacted] that [redacted] is an admirer and follower of EDWIN A. WALKER. T-3 advised from information developed from [redacted] sometime prior to WALKER's going to Oxford, Mississippi, [redacted] suddenly developed an interest in firearms and joined a gun club. T-3 stated that [redacted] was of the opinion that this interest in firearms had some connection with the activities of EDWIN A. WALKER, who[redacted] very closely followed. According to T-3, there is no indication that MRS. HALL went to Oxford, Mississippi, at WALKER's request.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date November 23 1962

[redacted] stated that shortly after he got on the campus he observed a group of people kicking and striking a station wagon which he learned was the automobile of a news photographer from Dallas Texas. He said the group attacking the car looked like students but that he could not be able to identify any of them.

He said that a little later in the evening he saw a man on the side of the Lyceum building who had a camera and appeared to be a newsman. He said when he saw the man there was a Mississippi Highway Safety Patrolman helping him up.

He said he observed a lot of heckling and throwing of objects in front of the Lyceum building but did not see anyone injured there and cannot identify any particular person or persons who were throwing objects. He said he was not in the immediate area when tear gas was first fired but he heard it and smelled gas. [redacted] said he did not have a watch and there was a lot of confusion and he is therefore not certain of times when particular events occurred.

He said he saw General EDWIN WALKER come onto the campus and he believes this was at about 9 or 9:30 PM. He said a large group of students gathered around WALKER and he heard them shouting about having a leader. He said WALKER walked toward the Lyceum followed by a large group of students. More gas was thrown and WALKER and the group finally turned back.

[redacted] said that later in the evening he heard General WALKER make a speech at the Confederate monument on the campus. He said there was a noisy crowd there and he did not hear every word of the speech, but he did hear WALKER say that Colonel BIRDSONG had sold out by letting U. S. Marshals on the campus, and that he had inside information that Governor BARNETT had sworn he would never let Marshals on the campus. [redacted] advised that at one point in the speech WALKER said "give them protest and give them ____." He said the last word was unintelligible.

[redacted] stated that WALKER also said a Minister had asked him to lead the students off of the campus and he had refused. He said he was ashamed to be an Episcopalian. According to [redacted] at about that time a man who he believed to be [redacted] moved up and took hold of General WALKER. He said several people in the crowd pulled the minister away from WALKER and asked him to leave.

[redacted] said he saw General WALKER several times during the evening of September 30, 1962, but saw him take no positive action except as set out above. He said that except for the speech, WALKER seemed to be very quiet and saying very little.

[redacted] said that about 11 PM he left the campus because he was becoming sick from the gas on campus.

He said he remained on the campus until about 8:00 PM and during that period he saw several people throwing rocks and throwing burning paper on Army trucks. He said there was a great deal of confusion and he cannot describe any specific acts of violence or the people involved in the throwing of objects. He said that it seemed to him that the U. S. Marshals on duty were being subjected to a great deal of harassment and abuse and he admired the way they stood firm and did not react violently toward the people heckling them while he was in the vicinity.

[redacted] advised that during this period he saw General EDWIN WALKER on one occasion but did not observe any activitiy on the part of WALKER and did not hear him give instructions to anyone.

[redacted] said he left the campus about 8:00 PM and returned to the automobile which he had driven to Oxford about 9:30 PM. He said he had picked up [redacted] at the Colonial Hotel where [redacted] had registered for them and they drove onto the campus together. He said everything was in an uproar and they could see people running and shouting but that they did not get close to the Lyceum Building where most of the activity seemed to center and that he did not observe any specific acts of violence. He said that they left

He said that [redacted] hung around all afternoon and nothing unusual happened.

[redacted] went back to the Town of Oxford where they had observed several young men in front of a cafe across from the movie theatre. They appeared to be having some kind of conversation. During this time, the Lieutenant in charge of the infantry division told them that they would have to move on, that they could not gather on the street. This individual checked the credentials of him and [redacted] and let them move on. He said that he and [redacted] left Oxford on Tuesday, October 2, 1962.

[redacted] said that he did not see General WALKER on the campus, but did hear someone mention him making a speech over the walkie-talkie he had in his possession. He does not know who made the report, whether it was [redacted] the student assisting them, or some other person with a similar-type radio.

[redacted] stated that he cannot identify anyone that might have been involved in any of the riots.

Around 7:00 PM or thereafter, the "mob began first to move toward the Marshals as a mob." They began throwing lighted objects at the Marshals and at the Army trucks parked in front of the Lyceum Building. The Marshals had to dodge small objects thrown at them. At least on two occasions [redacted] saw some person on the Army trucks put out fires on the canvas tops of the trucks caused by flaming objects. The Marshals took no action toward the people in the crowd as a result of the above actions. As of this time, the Mississippi Highway Patrol had kept just enough room between the crowd and the Marshals for automobiles to pass. Around 7:15 PM to 7:30 PM, a large crowd was gathered right around the front of the Lyceum Building where the Army trucks were parked. About this time the crowd suddenly began moving away. There was a cry of "tear gas." [redacted] did not smell any tear gas nor did he see any. There was no "barrage" of tear gas at this time. [redacted] left the campus shortly thereafter. [redacted] did not see anyone with any guns and he did not hear any shots. [redacted] did not see General EDWIN WALKER. [redacted] could not identify anyone who threw objects at the Marshals or at the trucks. Even at the early hour that [redacted] was present he noted "several" people in the crowd who from their dress and appearance did not appear to be students.

[redacted] impression was that the Marshals endured a long seige and a great deal of suffering before taking any action.

[redacted] did not take any photographs.

[redacted] came onto the campus of the University of Mississippi about the time [redacted] left and was "right in the thick of it." [redacted] possibly can furnish information regarding General WALKER.

[redacted] stated that he got out of the car at the Lafayette County Courthouse, Oxford, and observed an individual whom he recognized as General WALKER standing on the steps of the courthouse, [redacted] proceeded to where General WALKER was standing. He stated that General WALKER was introducing himself to several of the individuals standing in the area and that General WALKER introduced himself to him. [redacted] stated that the only statement made to him by General WALKER was "I'm General WALKER. I'm happy to meet you." [redacted] stated that after meeting WALKER, he and [redacted] proceeded to the University of Mississippi campus in the vicinity of the Lyceum Building and that he estimated there were approximately 500 - 700 individuals standing in the grove in front of the Lyceum Building. He stated that the majority of these individuals appeared to him to be students of the University. 7D

[redacted] stated that he talked to many students, none known to him, regarding the situation pertaining to the Marshals having surrounded the Lyceum Building. [redacted] stated that he maintained a position in front of the Lyceum Building among the many students and noted the crowd increasing.

He stated he stayed with this group until the Marshals commenced firing the tear gas. He stated that he observed, himself, no violence directed at the Marshals at the time a cigarette was flipped onto the top of one of the Army canvas trucks. He stated he also heard air escaping from a tire on the other side of this same truck. However, he was unable to observe any individuals participating in such acts of lawlessness.

Records of United States District Court Clerk, Oxford, Mississippi as made available by WILLIAM T. ROBERTSON, United States District Court Clerk, November 23, 1962, reflected that on November 20 and 21, 1962, witnesses were heard with respect to General EDWIN A. WALKER'S activities at the University of Mississippi on September 30, 1962, for the purpose of a judicial determination with respect to WALKER'S mental competency. On hearing all witnesses, Federal District Judge CLAUDE F. CLAYTON on November 21, 1962, ordered a psychiatric examination of WALKER. Judge CLAYTON at that time stated that if agreeable to WALKER'S defense counsel and the prosecution, he would accept the examination of Dr. ROBERT STUBBLEFIELD who had previously examined WALKER and whose report had been furnished to Judge CLAYTON. STUBBLEFIELD is a psychiatrist from Dallas, Texas and Judge CLAYTON advised that he had not read the report. Upon agreement between attorneys for the Government and WALKER, the report of Dr. STUBBLEFIELD was used. This report reads as follows:

"PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

"EDWIN A. WALKER

"This report is written to inform you on the psychiatric evaluation of Edwin A. Walker conducted pursuant to Order # W-C-29-62. After a conference which was attended by Mr. Walker's attorneys (Mr. Watts, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Morris) and Professor Charles Webster and myself, I requested that Mr. Walker appear for the psychiatric evaluation. My purpose was to obtain material which would aid you in your decision about his competence to stand trial in your Court. You wanted material in order to deal with three questions: (1) whether or not the defendant is presently insane, (2) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to understand the allegations pending against him, as shown by the complaint now pending against him in the Northern District of Mississippi, and (3) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to properly assist in his own defense.

"Mr. Walker presented himself to me on Thursday, November 8, 1962 at 2:00 p.m. After a 1½ hour psychiatric interview, I recommended that he enter the psychiatric ward at Parkland Memorial Hospital as an inpatient for further observation and study. He was admitted at 4:00 p.m. and was cooperative throughout the examinations and procedures. He was released on a pass on his 53rd birthday on Saturday morning. He returned in the evening and was tentatively discharged from the hospital on November 10, 1962 at 10:00 p.m.

"Summary of findings is as follows:

"1. Physical health - essentially normal

"a. Physical examination - no abnormal findings except a slight deafness in the right ear and marked astigmatism, which is corrected by glasses (examination by A. W. DeLoach, M.D., a member of my staff)

"b. Laboratory examinations - Normal ranges for blood and urine studies

"c. X-rays of skull - normal
"d. Electrocardiogram - normal

"2. Additional special procedures

"a. Electroencephalogram - normal
"b. Urine studies - no evidence of current use of tranquilizing drugs

"3. Psychological tests - The report by Irwin Jay Knopf, Ph.D., a diplomate of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology, and a member of my staff, states that Mr. Walker is functioning currently at the superior level of intelligence. On the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale his reasoning, judgment, vocabulary, fund of information, and organizational ability were all above average for his age group.

"4. Psychiatric interviews were conducted on:

"a. Thursday, November 8, 1962 2:00 p.m.

"b. Friday, November 9, 1962 2:00 p.m.

"c. Saturday, November 10, 1962 10:00 a.m.

"d. Saturday, November 10, 1962 8:00 p.m.
(jointly with Andrew Watson, M.D., University of Michigan School of Medicine and School of Law)

"Impressions;

"Mr. Edwin A. Walker is a 53 year old single, white male, who is alert, friendly, and cooperative. He was born at Center Point, Texas and was reared on his parents' farm. He received his education in the local grammar school, attended Schreiner Military Institute. Upon completion of high school, he entered the Military Academy at West Point in 1927, and graduated in 1931. He has had a long and distinguished military career, and has received additional education and training in the services special war college. He participated in the Kiska, the Italian, the Southern France invasions of World War II, in the Korean War, in the Little Rock crisis and the German occupation. He resigned from the Army and refused his retirement privileges in order to be free to express his opinions about certain governmental policies re the procedures for indoctrination of troops concerning communism.

"The following elicited replies point out the awareness of Mr. Walker concerning the nature and the gravity of the charges against him.

"When I read the specific charges which were presented in the Northern District of Mississippi Federal Court, Mr. Walker replied:

"1) 'that means forcibly assaulting, resisting, and impeding the United States Government, which means you forcibly intend to stop them and did use force to stop them. I feel I can relate the events in a precise way.'

"2) 'it means you [illegible] make an effort to overthrow the government.'

"3) 'it means that you join with others to conspire against the authority of the U. S. Government and attempt to delay and prevent their action. These are severe charges and they carry a severe penalty with them.'

"After discussion with my counsel, I directed various questions to Mr. Walker concerning the nature of the processes of a criminal trial. In my opinion, he revealed his awareness in his discussion of the procedures in a military investigation which occurred in Germany.

"'When a soldier committed an act against another soldier, my role was to notify the civilian authorities, our own military police, the Judge Advocate, and the investigating team. Evidence was gathered and turned over to the civilian authorities if that was indicated by the nature of the crime.' Mr. Walker continued and described in detail and correctly the usual procedures of a military court.

"The following factual material would indicate that Mr. Walker has an intact, recent, and remote memory system. His specific responses to questions were satisfactory in many areas, for example:

"1. Events in the Italian campaign.
"2. Events in the Korean War.
"3. Ability to calculate, recall numbers, knowledge of current information.
"4. Performance on the intelligence tests.

"Mr. Walker has led an active life physically; currently, he states he eats well, sleeps well, and exercises moderately. He denies specific symptoms, hallucinations, delusions, addiction to drugs or alcohol, use of tranquilizing drugs. There is no clinical or laboratory evidence which would indicate any physical or toxic condition which would affect adversely his ability to perceive his environment, to evaluate his environment, and to develop effective and appropriate actions in dealing with problems.

"In the psychiatric examinations, no effort was made to elaborate a fully detailed picture of why Mr. Walker functions in his present state, nor whether or not there has been any particular change in his mode of psychological operation, since this was not judged by my staff and me to be relevant to the questions of his present mental operations. Rather we set out to evaluate how he thinks, regulates, executes, and deals with his present thoughts, values, and impulses, especially as they relate to the present charges. We felt able to arrive at some very specific answers to these questions, and found no difficulty in eliciting the full cooperation and assistance of Mr. Walker during the examination.

"All psychiatric and psychological tests indicate that Mr. Walker appears to be able to deal freely and accurately with his recollections of the incidents leading up to his arrest and present charges. He can discuss them appropriately, and without distortion noticeable to the examiners. He was able to describe fully his opinions on the charges, what they meant, what kinds of defensive tactics he intends to employ, how his lawyers are working with him and the unfolding of the events which led to the present charges. However, in regard to the questions of the reasons for his involvement, we did not feel that whether or not there were emotional forces of which he is not fully aware (and that might possibly relate to the legal questions of specific intent and motivation) were properly a part of this report. It is our impression that the court in this case at this time is not concerned about Mr. Walker's ability to understand fully, the more complex and subtle aspects of his motivation in regard to the acts for which he is charged. If it were, and if we were asked to evaluate these kinds of questions, it would be necessary to conduct a much more penetrating exploration of Mr. Walker's psychological operations.

"It may be that some of Mr. Walker's attitudes and feelings about specific events in Mississippi are such that if he were pressed hard to deal with them (as for example in a cross-examination) this might have a definite effect on his composure on the stand. Since we assume that the court does not deal with this possibility in its standard of competence, we have therefore made no effort to explore in detail their nature or possibility.

"In the middle of September, 1962, I was in Chicago covering the Patterson - Liston championship fight. I flew from Chicago to Jackson, Mississippi, on September 29, 1962, and from Jackson to Oxford, Mississippi, the following afternoon, Sunday, September 30, 1962. From the airport, I attempted to go directly to the campus at the University of Mississippi but was stopped by state police at a bridge crossing the railroad tracks near the entrance of the campus.

"I returned to the Town of Oxford, and thereafter met [redacted] About 8:00 P.M. that same date, September 30, 1962, [redacted] and myself again drove toward the campus of the University of Mississippi. We were stopped briefly by state police at the bridge, but when we showed our credentials, we were allowed to proceed to the campus. We parked some distance from the Administration Building, took off our jackets so as to appear to be one of the crowd, rather than newspapermen. We mingled with the crowd. The rioting was already underway.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

"The United States Marshals were lined up in front of the Administration Building, and across the drive, the crowd, apparently mainly composed of students, faced them. The rioters were throwing rocks and debris, and occasionally, the Marshals would fire tear gas grenades to keep the students at a distance. Soon after we arrived, someone in the crowd had told us that General Walker had made a speech to the students. We were advised that Walker had made a speech from a Confederate statue located at the other end of the campus circle from the Administration Building, known as the Lyceum. Apparently Walker's speech had occurred about ten minutes before our arrival and immediately preceded the start of the riots.

"I was interested in General Walker's part in the disturbances and asked [redacted] to spot Walker for me in the crowd. He soon pointed out General Walker to me, and I suggested that we move up close to the General and overhear any of his conversation. This we did, and for approximately five minutes, more or less, [redacted] and I were usually about six to nine feet in distance from the General. I could not hear everything which was said, and [redacted] was not in a position to hear everything that went on, but between us we were able to piece together a story.

"General Edwin Walker stood with a friend, a man in his fifties, facing the scene of rioting. I would say he was some forty yards behind the line of students and could easily see the action, that is, the rioters throwing debris at the Marshals and tear gas grenades being fired. Walker was dressed in civilian clothes, wearing a Texas hat, and during the time we were near him, groups of young men, apparently students from age seventeen to twenty, kept running from the line of rioting and reporting to the General. It appeared to me as if Walker was taking up a command post back of a battle scene, and the young men were acting in the capacity of adjutants reporting to him.

"Occasionally, WALKER was forced to move back from this particular position because of the influx of tear gas, but when the gas went away, he resumed the same position. I was able to hear one young man, about eighteen years old, report to General Walker that one of the students had talked to a Marshal, and the Marshal had stated, in effect that he hated to do this job but had no choice. The student reported that the Marshal had stated that he had been out of work and that is why he took the job as United States Marshal and had received orders and must fulfill the job.

"I heard General Walker comment: 'Why doesn't the man desert?'

"I heard another student ask if it would not be a good idea to break into the power plant and blacken the campus. I was unable to hear General Walker's answer, but [redacted] advised me that Walker had replied, fine, do you know where it is located? 7D

"One of the students asked Walker about the possibility that if all the students joined in a charge, would the Marshals dare to shoot. The General had told him 'they would have to.' He went on to state, in substance, that that was not necessary; that we now have what we need. We have protested - there has been bloodshed. Everything will be in the news reports tomorrow. Walker went on to state that tomorrow he intended to make a radio speech.

"At this point, one of the students yelled, 'Give them hell, General.' Walker replied, 'I sure will.'

"Immediately after overhearing these conversations, [redacted] and myself withdrew from the Walker group and compared notes on what we had overheard. It was at this time I prepared handwritten notes which I retained. For the most part they are in Swedish but some of the quotes are in English. 7D

"Of the rioters I observed on the campus of the University of Mississippi on September 30, 1962, I believe I could possibly only identify, from photograph, the youth who spoke to General Walker concerning the remarks of the Deputy United States Marshal.

"I have read the above statement, consisting of five pages, and the statement along with the corrections I have initialled is the truth to the best of my recollection. 7D

[redacted] related that although he could possibly only identify one of the student rioters from photographs, he had observed rioting in the streets of Oxford, Mississippi on October 1, 1962, and could possibly identify from photographs, some of the individuals he had observed throwing rocks and debris at Army jeeps as they drove through town.

On December 3, 1962, [redacted] stated that he would be able to identify from a photograph, the adult male who had been accompanying General WALKER at the riots.

[redacted] stated that when he arrived at the University, hundreds of people were milling around on the campus. He stated there were no lights except in the YMCA building and the nearby dormitories. He stated that there was a cloud of tear gas covering the area in front of the Lyceum Building when he arrived on the campus.

[redacted] stated that he did not observe anyone throw rocks, bricks, bottles, or any other objects, although he did hear glass breaking on more than one occasion. [redacted] stated that he spent most of his time in the YMCA building and did not mingle with the crowd. He stated that while in the YMCA Building, an individual came in, whom he assumed was a student, and reported that a man had just been shot and desired to use a telephone to call an ambulance.

[redacted] stated that he observed General E. A. WALKER from a distance but never got close enough to hear what WALKER was saying. He said that WALKER was surrounded by a group and he did hear the question asked of WALKER where the hundreds of people were who were supposed to have accompanied him to Mississippi. He said he did not hear WALKER's reply. He said he did hear a priest whose name he does not know, tell WALKER that he could stop the rioting if he, WALKER, desired to do so.

[redacted] stated that he did not make any photographs at the campus on September 30, 1962.

[redacted] advised that on September 30, 1962, he arrived on the University of Mississippi campus between 7:45 p.m. and 8:15 p.m. The U. S. Marshals were already on the campus and stationed in front of the Lyceum Building. Approximately five or ten minutes after he arrived on the campus, the U. S. Marshals began firing tear gas. [redacted] advised that shortly after he arrived on the campus, they observed two individuals whom he believes to be Deputy Sheriffs assisting in placing a number of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol in a car after the patrolman had been knocked down by some object. He advised that as he attempted to take a photograph of this action, one of the Deputy Sheriffs made some comment to the effect that those in the area should get the "cameraman" at which time the group started toward [redacted] He advised that at this time he lost his lighting equipment and therefore was not able to take effective photographs on the campus for the remainder of the evening because of the lack of proper lighting conditions. [redacted] advised that he was on the campus and in the vicinity where General EDWIN WALKER was making a speech at the Monument and he heard General WALKER making a statement something to the effect that Colonel BIRDSONG of the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol had ushered JAMES MEREDITH onto the campus of the University of Mississippi. He also heard General WALKER make a verbal attack on an Episcopal priest who was in the area, but [redacted] observed that approximately half of those who were listening to WALKER were sympathetic to the Episcopal priest and "booed" WALKER when he attacked this Episcopal priest verbally.

[redacted] advised that he at no time heard any positive statement made by General WALKER inciting the crowd to riotous conduct or to acts of violence. He advised that he heard shots being fired but he could not distinguish shots that were fired by the gas guns and any other possible shots that might have been fired. He advised that to him although WALKER was not participating in the action that he was talking to individuals in the area. [redacted] advised he is unable to state what WALKER was stating to individuals in the vicinity.

[redacted] advised that he had also seen General WALKER when he first came onto the campus at about 9:00 p.m. or shortly thereafter and that General WALKER was walking along University Avenue by the Journalism Building. [redacted] stated that there were 2 or 3 people with General WALKER and that as General WALKER would walk along University Avenue he would state to individuals who were along the side of the street something to the effect, "Come on and let's go." [redacted] advised that he also saw General WALKER in the Grove of the University of Mississippi Campus on several occasions during the evening.

[redacted] stated that he was unable to describe anyone who was with General WALKER. He advised that he observed people lined up on both sides of University Avenue and that these individuals were throwing rocks and bricks at trucks that were bringing soldiers onto the campus.

[redacted] saw the fire truck being driven about the Groove in front of the Lyceum Building during the evening. He said at one point he had heard a group of several young men possibly students discussing the possibility of getting a fire truck. However he was unable to furnish any identifying data concerning any member of this group. Although he did see the fire truck driven about the area in front of the Lyceum he was unable to furnish any information regarding the identities of the person driving it or riding on it. Later, at about 2 A.M., October 1, 1962, he was standing near the area at the entrance to University of Mississippi Campus from University Boulevard and observed former General EDWIN A. WALKER standing with a group of young men. He did not

[redacted] said that he took a position behind a tree for protection and stood near General E. A. WALKER who was also behind a tree. He said that he was behind WALKER for approximately 45 minutes. He said a crowd was gathered around WALKER and that the crowd would disperse and another crowd gather around WALKER. He said that WALKER sent a young man to where [redacted] was standing for the purpose of ascertaining who he was and what his business on the campus was. He said this man, whose name he does not know, desired to know if he were a newspaper man. He said he did not hear WALKER make any statements nor did he see WALKER participate in any way in the rioting.

[redacted] stated when he arrived on the campus, it was dark. He was of the opinion that all the street lights had been either turned off or broken out.

[redacted] stated that he noticed several groups of students in the circle and saw General EDWIN A. WALKER in one of these groups. He stated he went over to the group which was between the flag pole and the monument, slightly south on the grass, slightly south of the line running from the flag pole to the monument. [redacted] advised that he noticed only one man who apparently was with or had some connection with WALKER. He stated this individual was about average size, about 5'9", was well [illegible] and approximately thirty years of age. [redacted] stated he did not learn his name or his connection [illegible]. [redacted] stated that he was interested in news, of course, and asked General WALKER how he was doing and the General replied, "Fine." [redacted] stated that either he or someone asked General WALKER, "What do you think of this?" and General WALKER replied, "It's the worst thing I've ever seen." [redacted] stated that WALKER then made a statement to the effect that the Federal Government has now drawn first blood, so you are now ahead and you are winning the war or you are winning the battle, or words to that effect. [redacted] stated he was in the presence or immediate vicinity of General WALKER for approximately fifteen minutes. He stated that the students in the area were not paying any particular attention to General WALKER. [redacted] stated that he heard General WALKER state that, "When this is over I'm going on the network and tell the nation what I saw." Some time around 10:00 to 11:00 P. M., [redacted] heard that former U. S. Army Major General [redacted] WALKER was in the crowd near the Confederate Statute near the east end of the grove. An Episcopalian minister from Oxford, [redacted] accompanied them to see WALKER.

[redacted] did not hear all that ensued but heard [redacted] try to plead with those people around the statute, presumed to be students, to cease harrassing and resisitng the Marshals and to go to their rooms. The students for the most part booed [redacted] and refused to heed his advice.

[redacted] did not hear any utterances made by WALKER. He did not see WALKER commit any acts. He merely saw WALKER standing near the statute as an apparent observer.

[redacted]

[redacted] sensed trouble as did practically everyone else in the crowd. Thereafter the two men shot several shots each with their rifles, both shooting into the direction of the Lyceum Building several hundred yards away. [redacted] had no way of knowing if anyone was hit. He estimated that this took place around 11:00 P. M. and some thirty minutes after he saw WALKER at the statute.

[redacted] went to his room at the Ole Miss Motel and participated in a press conference given at the motel at about 4:45 P. M. by former Army Major General EDWIN A. WALKER. [redacted] made a few notes of WALKER's remarks such as : "I'm appalled by the mess left on Central High in Little Rock; scars that still remain." He said, "I'm on the right side now." [redacted] said thousands were coming to help. He would not elaborate or say how they would help, but said they were coming as far away as from California and Florida. [redacted] said that [redacted] asked WALKER if he planned to have his followers deputized. WALKER said: "That's a new idea, thanks." Actually [redacted] said WALKER's statements were somewhat vague, incoherent and that WALKER appeared to be under some emotional strain.

Suddenly, [redacted] who then standing in front of the Lyceum Building with the Marshals said Chief U. S. Marshal JAMES MC SHANE gave the command: "Gas." The Marshals had donned gas masks and had gas guns or riot guns. Immediately the Marshals began firing tear gas projectiles at the crowd. Some of these projectiles were shot in the direction of the MHP, many of whom were in front of the Marshals, between the crowd and the Marshals. [redacted] who had no gas mask could not stand the gas. He went to the YMCA Building for relief. There he and many students heard President KENNEDY's nationwide speech. Periodically [redacted] went outside. However, the grove area into which gas was being fired was so strong with gas that [redacted] remained at the YMCA until he noticed that many students had gathered at the east side of the grove near the Confederate statute. There, for some time, the students would advance toward the Marshals throwing rocks and bottles at the Marshals. Each time the Marshals would fire tear gas at the students. One student, who [redacted] could not identify, was allegedly hit by a gas shell fired at him. He in turn took a coke bottle and threw it at the Marshal who had fired at him. About this time [redacted] noticed General EDWIN A. WALKER talking to a group of students at the scene. [redacted] accompanied [redacted] Episcopalian minister, Oxford, and [redacted] Episcopal chaplain, into the crowd of students. The minister attempted to quiet the students but the students would not listen.

[redacted] heard General WALKER tell the students that there had been a "double cross" by some state official; that it was a "double cross" that took MEREDITH onto the campus. [redacted] asked WALKER if [redacted] could talk to the students and WALKER told the students that an Episcopal minister wanted to talk to them and that [redacted] made WALKER ashamed of being an Episcopalian. With this introduction, the students were not receptive to [redacted] urgings that they go home and cease acting like animals and to act like human beings. By this time the crowd was angered with reporters and photographers, apparently feeling the crowd or portions thereof might be identified. [redacted] spent most of the rest of the night in the YMCA Building. He heard many unverified reports that students threw gasoline-laden bottles, afire, at Marshals, threw many bricks and that some, in the crowd, even fired rifles. He knew the identities of none of the participants.

[redacted] stated that he worked his way to the rear of the Grove, a large circular grassy plot in front of the Lyceum Building and noticed former General EDWIN WALKER standing at the base of a Confederate memorial statue with about 30 or 40 people around him. WALKER told those around him that they were doing the right thing and that the United States Government would be responsible for any bloodshed.

[redacted] stated that at about 8:30 pm on September 30, 1962, General WALKER shouted to one of the group surrounding him "Get the fire engine." A few minutes later a youth drove up in the fire truck which belonged to the University of Mississippi. The students then attempted to drive this truck into the line of United States Marshals but were halted by tear gas. [redacted] stated that this was the only time he had heard General WALKER make any utterance resembling a command or order.

[redacted] interjected that earlier on Sunday, around noon on September 30, 1962, he was eating in a restaurant in Oxford, Mississippi when General WALKER entered the restaurant with a young man in his early twenties. Both WALKER and the youth were similarly dressed in black business suits. [redacted] recognized WALKER immediately since he had met WALKER about five years previously in Little Rock, Arkansas, when WALKER was in command of the United States troops during the integration problem there. WALKER informed [redacted] that he, WALKER, had come to Oxford "to see about the situation" and had brought no one with him but his aide. He stated that he had been on the wrong side at Little Rock and that there were many others ready to come to Oxford at a call from the Governor of Mississippi. [redacted] stated that he departed from the University of Mississippi campus at about 9:00 pm on September 30, 1962, in order to make arrangements with the Western Union Office in town to file his story.

[redacted] stated that he arrived in Memphis at about 6:00 am on Monday, October 1, 1962, and from there travelled by car to Oxford, Mississippi where he arrived at approximately 7:30 am, on Monday, October 1, 1962.

[redacted] stated that he attempted to get on the campus on the University of Mississippi but was unsuccessful and went to the Ole Miss Motel, where most of the newsmen were staying.

About three quarters of an hour later, [redacted] stated that he passed through town on his way to the campus and noted groups of people in the town square throwing rocks and bottles at United States Army troops passing by in jeeps and trucks.

[redacted] stated that these were the only incidents of disorder he observed in Oxford, Mississippi.

[redacted] stated that the only time that he saw former General Edwin Walker was when WALKER made an appearance in the courtroom at Oxford, Mississippi and heard the charges on which he was arrested read to him.

[redacted] then returned to the Lyceum and the rest of the mob started throwing rocks. He went into the Lyceum after being hit in the leg by several rocks. The mob then turned their attention to the trucks that drove the United States Marshals on the campus, the Negro drivers having remained in the truck. The mob started the yell obscenities. They rocked the trucks and attempted to overturn them. Someone hurled a flaming object at one of the trucks and this was quickly followed by several more. The mob then proceeded to hurl rocks, pieces of pipe and several other objects at the United States Marshals. [redacted] went down to the front steps of the Lyceum just as the Marshals fired teargas shells. The mob dispursed momentarily and then [redacted] observed General E. A. WALKER, surrounded by a mob, standing in front of a statue of a Confederate soldier about 150 feet from the Lyceum. [redacted] could not hear what General WALKER was saying, but saw him, surrounded by the mob, advance in the direction of the Lyceum.

The local National Guard arrived at the scene and they were mauled by the mob. [redacted] then went inside the Lyceum again and heard that the regular Army was going to be called on to the campus to quell the mob. While inside the Lyceum, [redacted] heard several guns fired and learned the door of the Lyceum was hit by gun fire.

[redacted] pointed out that throughout the disturbance, he did not observe the local police or Mississippi State Police attempt to actively stop the riot or quell the disturbance.

[redacted] did not take any photos and was not harmed in any way himself.

During the afternoon and evening of September 30, 1962, he was stopped twice by the Mississippi State Police and searched by them. When no cameras were found on his person, he was allowed to leave. [redacted] was unable to furnish a description of any individuals using weapons or force of any kind while he was on the campus. He was unable to single out any individual who used force or weapons while he was on the campus of the University of Mississippi.

Appropriate offices should conduct the necessary interviews and persons interviewed are to be advised they are being interviewed at the specific request of Assistant Attorney General Herbert J. Miller, Jr., of the Department of Justice.

Each office is to submit one letterhead memorandum (original and four copies) using the caption of this airtel setting forth the names of persons interviewed and the answers to the three questions contained in the Department's letter. If the interviewee desires to make any change in his statement he should make such change. Each office should insure that all changes are initialed and in addition each page is to be initialed whether or not any changes are made. In addition, as an added last page to each statement, each office should indicate the name or names of Agent contacting the interviewees and the date of such interviews.

The statements should be returned to the Bureau as an attachment to the original letterhead memorandum.

Offices receiving copies of this airtel should insure that the letterhead memorandum is prepared to reach the Bureau within seven days of the receipt of this airtel.

For information of all offices, these statements all pertain to former General Edwin A. Walker and these are the statements the Department wishes to be given initial priority.

For the information of Memphis the other statements mentioned in Department's letter will follow in an airtel similar to this airtel with copies and instructions to appropriate offices.

NOTE: Following the riotings on the University of Mississippi campus on 9/30/62 Departmental Attorneys conducted interviews of various persons by the use of tape recorders. These tapes have now been transcribed and the Department desires that the persons interviewed be allowed to read the transcription and acknowledge that they are correct. The Federal Grand Jury in the Edwin A. Walker case will probably convene in about three weeks.

RE: DESEGREGATION OF
UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI -
EDWIN A. WALKER

On December 13, 1962, Dallas confidential informant T-1, [redacted] advised that former United States Army Major General Edwin A. Walker, although mentally competent to stand trial, shows signs of having had a past brain infection to the central nervous system. This is apparent from an E.E.G. test taken on Edwin A. Walker during the month of November, 1962. Walker rated superior in some areas and above average in other areas. He should have rated superior in all areas or above average in all areas.

Walker was very disappointed at his failure to win election to the office of Governor of Texas in May, 1962, but did remark that Lincoln tried ten times before finally being elected President of the United States.

Walker has a strong conviction that things should be done differently in the Government. Walker appears to have a strong unconscious resentment toward the United States.

Walker is not an overt or partial psychotic, but operates better when he believes he is being persecuted or prosecuted; that is, when someone is subjecting him to pressure, he tends to become more stable. When Walker is being ignored, he is liable to do something to attract attention and bring pressure against himself. Walker is an action-oriented individual and very active physically.

Walker apparently became involved in the integration at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Mississippi, in an effort to win wider political support. It apparently bothered Walker that he lacked wide support in his effort to win political office, and he felt his association with the states rights issue and the integration issue would widen his political support even though he knew he could not prevent integration at the University of Mississippi.

Clyde Watts, Walker's attorney, was very disappointed in Walker's actions in Mississippi and had tried to talk him out of going there, but due to his long friendship with Walker, going back to their high school days, he will stand behind Walker.

Walker appeared to be surprised any people came to Mississippi at his request. Walker realized he had many people loyal to him, but did not really believe they would follow him to Mississippi.

Walker appears to be a "mama's boy"; that is, he is dominated by his mother. Walker's father died in 1955 or 1956. Walker's brother, George Walker, Jr., a Massachusetts Institute of Technology graduate, appears to be a rival for their mother's affections.

Walker's physical shows he has very poor eyesight and has severe astigmatism. He is also partially deaf in one ear. Walker's strange actions when appearing before the public, such as at a press interview, are due to his inability to see or in many cases to hear the individuals around him, it being noted that Walker does not wear his glasses when appearing in public.

T-1 further described Walker as a person who is "bad", but not "mad". It was further noted that the president of the American Psychiatric Association has received over 1,500 letters, coming mostly from Texas and California, protesting the psychiatric examination of Walker. These letters, according to T-1, had a marked similarity, indicating a common source.

It was further noted that the physical examination of Walker indicated that he did not appear to be under any drugs or sedatives at the time of his examination and this possibility was very closely checked into.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

PSYCHIATRIC REPORT

Edwin A. Walker

This report is written to inform you on the psychiatric evaluation of Edwin A. Walker conducted pursuant to Order # M.C-28-62. After a conference which was attended by Mr. Walker's attorneys (Mr. Watts, Mr. Matthews, Mr. Morris) and Professor Charles Webster and myself, I requested that Mr. Walker appear for the psychiatric evaluation. My purpose was to obtain material which would aid you in your decision about his competence to stand trial in your Court. You wanted material in order to deal with three questions: (1) whether or not the defendant is presently insane, (2) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to understand the allegations pending against him, as shown by the complaint [illegible] in the Northern District of Mississippi, and (3) whether or not the defendant is sufficiently competent to properly assist in his own defense.

Mr. Walker presented himself to me on Thursday, November 8, 1962 at 2:00 p.m. After a 1½ hour psychiatric interview, I recommended that he enter the psychiatric ward at Parkland Memorial Hospital as an inpatient for further observation and study. He was admitted at 4:00 p.m. and was cooperative throughout the examinations and procedures. He was released on a pass on his 53rd birthday on Saturday morning. He returned in the evening and was tentatively discharged from the hospital on November 10, 1962 at 10:00 p.m.

Summary of findings is as follows:

1. Physical health - essentially normal

   a. Physical examination - no abnormal findings except a slight deafness in the right ear and marked astigmatism, which is corrected by glasses (examination by A.W. DeLoach, M.D., a member of my staff)

   b. Laboratory examinations - Normal ranges for blood and urine studies

   c. X-rays of skull - normal

   d. Electrocardiogram - normal

2. Additional special procedures

   a. Electroencephalogram - normal

   b. Urine studies - no evidence of current use of tranquilizing drugs

3. Psychological tests - The report by Irwin Jay Knopf, Ph.D., a diplomate of the American Board of Examiners in Professional Psychology, and a member of my staff, states that Mr. Walker is functioning currently at the superior level of intelligence. On the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale his reasoning, judgment, vocabulary, fund of information, and organizational ability were all above average for his age group.

4. Psychiatric interviews were conducted on:

   a. Thursday, November 8, 1962 2:00 p.m.

   b. Friday, November 9, 1962 2:00 p.m.

c. Saturday, November 10, 1962 10:00 a.m.

d. Saturday, November 10, 1962 8:00 p.m. (jointly with Andrew Watson, M.D., University of Michigan School of Medicine and School of Law)

Impressions:

Mr. Edwin A. Walker is a 54 year old single, white male, who is alert, friendly, and cooperative. He was born at Center Point, Texas and was reared on his parents' farm. He received his education in the local grammar school, attended Schreiner Military Institute. Upon completion of high school, he entered the Military Academy at West Point in 1927, and graduated in 1931. He has had a long and distinguished military career, and has received additional education and training in the services special war college. He participated in the Kiska, the Italian, the Southern France invasions of World War II, in the Korean War, [illegible] and the German occupation. He resigned from the Army and refused his retirement privileges in order to be free to express his opinions about certain governmental policies re the procedures for indoctrination of troops concerning communism.

The following elicited replies point out the awareness of Mr. Walker concerning the nature and the gravity of the charges against him.

When I read the specific charges which were presented in the Northern District of Mississippi Federal Court, Mr. Walker replied:

1) "that means forcibly assaulting, resisting, and impeding the United States Government, which means you forcibly intend to stop them and did use force to stop them. I feel I can relate the events in a precise way."

2) "it means you inspire others and make an effort to overthrow the government."

3) "it means that you join with others to conspire against the authority of the U.S. Government and attempt to delay and prevent their action. These are severe charges and they carry a severe penalty with them."

After discussion with my Counsel, I directed various questions to Mr. Walker concerning the nature of the processes of a criminal trial. In my opinion, he revealed his awareness in his discussion of the procedures in a military investigation which occurred in Germany.

"When a soldier committed an act against another [illegible] to notify the civilian authorities, our military police, the Judge Advocate, and the investigating team. Evidence was gathered and turned over to the civilian authorities if that was indicated by the nature of the crime." Mr. Walker continued and described in detail and correctly the usual procedures of a military court.

The following factual material would indicate that Mr. Walker has an intact, recent, and remote memory system. His specific responses to questions were satisfactory in many areas, for example:

1. Events in the Italian campaign.
2. Events in the Korean war.
3. Ability to calculate, recall numbers, knowledge of current information.

4. Performance on the intelligence tests.

Mr. Walker has led an active life physically; currently, he states he eats well, sleeps well, and exercises moderately. He denies specific symptoms, hallucinations, delusions, addiction to drugs or alcohol, use of tranquillizing drugs. There is no clinical or laboratory evidence which would indicate any physical or toxic condition which would affect adversely his ability to perceive his environment, to evaluate his environment, and to develop effective and appropriate actions in dealing with problems.

In the psychiatric examinations, no effort was made to elaborate a fully detailed picture of why Mr. Walker functions in his present state, nor whether or not there has been any [redacted] mode of psychological operation, since this was not part of my staff and not to be relevant to the questions of his present mental operations. Rather we set out to evaluate how he thinks, regulates, executes, and deals with his present thoughts, values, and impulses, especially as they relate to the present charges. We felt able to arrive at some very specific answers to these questions, and found no difficulty in eliciting the full cooperation and assistance of Mr. Walker during the examination.

All psychiatric and psychological tests indicate that Mr. Walker appears to be able to deal freely and accurately with his recollections of the incidents leading up to his arrest and present charges. He can discuss them accurately, and without [redacted] material available to the conscious. He [redacted] demonstrate fully his opinions on the charges, what they meant, what kinds of defensive tactics he intends to employ, how his lawyers are working with him and the unfolding of the events which led to the present charges. However, in regard to the questions of the reasons for his involvement, we did not feel that whether or not there were emotional forces of which he is not fully aware (and that might possibly relate to the legal questions of specific intent and motivation) were properly a part of this report. It is our impression that the court in this case at this time is not concerned about Mr. Walker's ability to understand fully, the more complex and subtle aspects of his motivation in regard to the acts for which he is charged. If it were, and if we were asked to evaluate these kinds of questions, it would be necessary to conduct a much more penetrating exploration of Mr. Walker's psychological operations.

It may be that some of Mr. Walker's attitudes and feelings about specific events in Mississippi are such that if he were pressed hard to deal with them (as for example in a cross-examination) this might have a definite effect on his composure on the stand. Since we assume that the court does not deal with this possibility in its standard of competence, we have therefore made no effort to explore in detail their nature or possibility.

[redacted] advised as follows: 7D

During the course of the rioting on the University of Mississippi Campus which took place on September 30-October 1, 1962, he was on the campus of the university from approximately 6:30 or 7:00 p.m. until about 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. This period of time included the period before the tear gas was fired by the U. S. Marshals and extended beyond the time when darkness fell until he left at 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. At this time he noted a large number of students on the campus of the University of Mississippi but stated he was not actively participating in the rioting and was unable to identify any of these persons. He stated that the majority of the persons who were taking part in the rioting and actually committing acts of violence were in the "grove", an area in front of the Lyceum Building. During this time he saw no persons with weapons other than bricks and bottles. During the time he was on the campus he, at this period, saw and heard General EDWIN A. WALKER talking to about 150-200 persons. He heard WALKER talking about BIRDSONG and BARNETT, but stated he was about 30 feet from WALKER and was unable to get the full text of WALKER's speeches. He stated he just heard phrases and was unable to make any comment about this inasmuch as he did not hear the full text. He stated he also heard WALKER say something about Cuba but he did not know what it was. He stated he left the campus about 9:00 or 9:30 p.m. and returned about 10:30 or 11:00 the same night. He stayed on the campus until about 12:00 midnight, and at this time noticed that the majority of the University of Mississippi students had departed from the campus and that the rioters were, for the most part, outsiders. He stated that while he was on the campus he asked a number of people where they were from and heard such answers as Texas, Water Valley, Pontotoc, Alabama, Mobile, and others. He stated he was not interested in obtaining names and he simply asked these persons where they were from. He stated he could not identify any person who he saw participating in acts of violence at this time.

He stated that at no time did he see any person firing a gun and that he personally could not believe that there was any shooting taking place. He stated that he had heard, after the rioting, that there had been someone in the Peabody Building who was shooting but he had not heard who this person was, could not recall who told him this, but he had heard that this person had been apprehended by soldiers.

He stated that WALKER's lawyer, whose name he does not recall, talked to him and asked him if he could testify as to what WALKER said. He stated that he told the lawyer that he could not testify because he did not hear the full text of WALKER's speech due to the distance between WALKER and himself while the speech was being made.

He stated that he was present during the evening of September 30, 1962, and the early morning hours of October 1, 1962, on the campus of the University of Mississippi.

He has been previously interviewed regarding his presence on the campus of the University of Mississippi during the aforementioned period by [redacted] who he understood was making an investigation on some type of inquiry in behalf of General WALKER.

[redacted]

In order that he be perfectly fair in this matter, [redacted] stated that he would prefer to furnish to the FBI a letter setting forth his observations of the riot that occurred on the campus of the University of Mississippi and would also let his attorney read this letter prior to furnishing it to the FBI. He pointed out that he did not desire to furnish a signed statement in this matter but preferred to make his observations known in a letter form, leaving out nothing or addingnothing that he had previously furnished to [redacted] He explained that he thought this method only fair and that he desired to remain as impartial as possible and report only the truth.

He further added that he took no photographs during the period he was on the campus of the University of Mississippi.

"I arrived on the University of Mississippi campus shortly before the gas barrage was fired by the Federal Marshalls. The first place that I went was the Lyceum building which was ringed by Marshalls at the time. I drove my automobile as near as I could and would estimate that I was able to park within 75 to 100 yards of that building. The first thing I did was to walk through the cleared area between the Marshalls and the students. At this time the highway patrol was moving the students back to the curb with success. I was almost herded back into the students and it was with some difficulty that I was able to get back into the cleared area to continue along my route. At this time the students were loudly berating the Marshalls and one was using a can of spray paint to paint letters on one of the trucks parked in front of the building. I did not see any evidence of objects being or having been thrown.

"After having gone the entire length of the Lyceum Building between the two lines I went into the building next door, I believe it is the Chemistry Building, looking for a telephone to call in a report. The phone there was tied up and while I was still in the building I heard the sound of the tear gas being fired and the running of feet as the crowd stampeded getting out of range. I waited around a little longer and still was not able to get a telephone so I went to the next building going the back way to stay out of the tear gas as much as possible. I believe the next building is the Engineering Building and in the hallway there I met a professor who let me into one of the offices in which there was a telephone and I made my initial report from there and watched what was going on through one of the front windows.

"After making my report I watched a little while longer and then left the Engineering Building, going out the back way again and circled behind the Lyceum building trying to get back to my automobile where I had a gas mask. However, the gas was too strong and I was not able to get there. Looking for some place to get out of the gas I went into the Student Union Building and stayed there until the stinging of my eyes eased a little.

"The wind was blowing across University Circle, almost into the face of the Marshalls in front of the building so I decided that I had best get up wind and work my way to my car as the gas drifted with the wind.

"I worked my way behind all of the buildings on the circle until I was at that end of the circle away from the Severn Building. It was here and at this time that I first saw General Walker. I had not known that he was on the campus and recognizing that even his presence was of great interest to my listeners, I took notes on all that he said and [illegible] his speech was finished never got more than a few feet from him. Admittedly my notes were made in the dark and were sketchy made up mostly of key phrases. I did however, type these up on Tuesday after the riots and I believe they are basically accurate and complete.

"What follows is from these notes:

"My attention was caught by [redacted] appealing to a man to help quiet the mob action that was developing. As I went closer I saw that the individual was General Edwin C. Walker whom I recognized from pictures in recent newspaper and interviews on television. [redacted] was saying, 'General, these boys will listen to you. [illegible] do something to make them stop what they are doing.' To which General Walker said, 'I am sad for you. Go make your spiel somewhere else.'

"At this point the General walked off and I followed staying close enough to hear anything that he might say.

"Students were telling him of instances where students and patrolmen had been injured. After listening for a while General Walker told them, 'You are doing allright. Riot, Riot. You are getting news all over the country. You've got casualties.'

"Some of the gathered crowd called for the General to make a speech. He at first declined saying, this is not the time or place. But, after several requests he agreed and went to stand at the base of a statue nearby. This is what he said:

"'I want to compliment you all on your protest. You have a right under the constitution. I did not come to see violence but, any blood you see tonight is on the hands of the Federal Government and the agencies thereof.'

"'I have just been informed by a representative of the Governor that the fact that these people are on the campus is due to a sellout.' That there were definite orders that the Marshalls not be allowed on the campus but, were allowed on at the order of a certain official.'

"In response to cries of 'Who sold us out General?' General Walker said, 'Birdsong'. The general went on to say, 'I am only telling you what has been reported by an official representative of the Governor.'

"General Walker then said, 'Do not expect violence but, you can continue to protest until Meredith is not admitted. This is a long route to Cuba.'

[redacted] again approached the General during this speech and in front of the gathered crowd said, 'General, stop it. You can.' [redacted] was almost dragged into the crowd at this point but, someone moved in and escorted him to one side. 7D

"General Walker continued, 'You can continue protesting as you are. There is no stopping point. There are many headed toward Oxford, both Mississippians and non Mississippians to help you.'

"This was the end of his speech and at this point I left and again went looking for a telephone. [redacted] 7D

"I did not have a watch with me and therefore do not know the times of the various events. Estimating on the basis of imagined time spent in the places mentioned earlier and on the report that the tear gas was first fired at 7:50 PM, I would say that I left General Walker shortly after 8:00 PM.

"I was on the campus most of the night and again the next morning and later in the town of Oxford itself, and although I heard his name mentioned I did not see him.

"I have not talked to anyone else that was present during the time I observed and heard General Walker except [redacted]. I saw him on the campus the next day and spoke to him only to express my admiration for his courage the night before therefore, the remarks reported here are the result of what I saw and heard and are not colored by reports of others.

"If there is any other information that I can supply you please let me know for I am happy to cooperate.

"Sincerely,

".....unquote.....

[redacted] 7D

"I do not recall recognizing anyone else that night that was involved in actions that would receive your attention nor do I believe I could recall any faces well enought to identify them.

"If there is anything else I can provide you please let me know.

"Sincerely,

[redacted] attended a meeting with him on the evening of September 29, 1962, through early morning hours of September 30, 1962, in the Pleasant Grove area of Dallas. [redacted] the true identities of only two of the individuals were known to him, three of the individuals he had never met before, and one individual he had met previously at the headquarters of EDWIN A. WALKER. The only thing [redacted] could recall about this individual was that he was from out of town and had backed EDWIN A. WALKER in his unsuccessful campaign for nomination of Governor of the State of Texas in May of 1962. [redacted] he was introduced to this individual in late April or May, 1962, by a name which he could not recall, however, at this meeting in September of 1962 this individual used another name. [redacted] the main purpose of this meeting was to discuss the advisability of any individuals in this group going to Oxford, Mississippi to assist EDWIN A. WALKER and that it had been decided that to go to Mississippi in the manner requested by EDWIN A. WALKER would be futile and would only tend to get the members in trouble and expose their organization before this organization wished to be exposed.

I lost the note I had with reference to a Nash Rambler with an automatic rifle which was seen in the area of Ricks Hall and the Naval ROTC Building, but my best recollection this was seen just before the 1958 black Mercury was seen. Both of these reports were passed to me as a result of observation by [redacted] indicated 7D that the 1958 Mercury had a two-way radio in it and that it had also been seen late Sunday afternoon at the University-Oxford Airport while the Federal Officers were unloading.

Late Monday afternoon I received reports that two persons were seen in a Thunderbird automobile bearing an Alabama license at a vacant house at 803 South 11th Street and that these individuals were seen to go into the basement of this house. [redacted] was the person who saw the car, but she could not identify 7D the persons. [redacted] and [redacted] later went into the basement of this house and found some ammunition.

A search warrant was issued and the house searched and kept under surveillance later Monday night, however, nothing was obtained from the results of the surveillance.

Edwin A. Walker, former General, Texas GER was charged on a complaint made before the United States Commissioner Omar Craig filed by this office with certain offenses. He waived preliminary hearing and bail was fixed in the sum of $100,000.00. The following persons were also charged with criminal offenses and bail fixed as indicated. These individuals had a preliminary hearing before the United States Commissioner on Monday night at the Lyceum:

The following information was furnished by General Edwin A. Walker to an assembled group of newspaper reporters at Oxford, Miss. on or about September 30, 1962, and, in essence, is as nearly a verbatim report of what General Walker said.

"Interview with Gen. Walker at Ole Miss Motel, Oxford early afternoon Sunday 2 p.m.

'I realize that as the commanding officer of troops at Little Rock I was on the wrong side. This time I am completely out of uniform and I am on the right side. I am greatly interested in the movement of volunteers to Oxford. The movement is national. Thousands are moving in and the roads are blocked from every direction. There is great support to the Governor across the nation. My headquarters in Dallas has been swamped with callers hoping to assist him in his stand for state sovereignty. Even now I'm learning about tactics and strategy reflected in Kennedy's devious route to Cuba through Mississippi. Today's news has reflected the assembly of new frontier troops to the North and in the state of Mississippi. I'm sure the people are anxious to see what flag enters the state. Will the troops be under the United Nations as a police action or under the United 'States flag, since all of our armed forces and weapons have been proffered to the United Nations. Let history be the witness to the courage and determination that calls us to Oxford to support a courageous Governor in his lawful stand for state sovereignty. He is supported by thousands beyond the state border now on the way to join us at Oxford. If there is bloodshed the blame will be on the president. I don't think in terms of force.'

"I later saw Walker in front of the Lyceum talking to students early in the rioting, about 7 p.m., one hour before tear gas was fired.

"I have read this statement consisting of this and two other pages, and certify that the information contained herein is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

[redacted] stated that sometime after 9:00 P.M. on September 30, 1962, he saw former General EDWIN WALKER standing near the Confederate statue which was located by the main gate of the campus. [redacted] stated he heard General WALKER tell those students assembled around him that theirs was a magnificent protest. [redacted] stated, however, he never heard WALKER issue anything even resembling an order.

[redacted] stated that he introduced himself to WALKER and when WALKER learned that [redacted] was from Texas, he asked [redacted] if he had come to Oxford as a result of WALKER's radio appeal several days earlier calling for volunteers to assist Mississippi Governor BARNETT in his struggle against the United States Government. When [redacted] replied in the negative, WALKER stated that thousands of reinforcements were on their way to Oxford to support Governor ROSS BARNETT.

[redacted] stated that he spent several hours in intermittent contact with WALKER on the campus at the University of Mississippi and heard him periodically blame President KENNEDY for the situation at Oxford, Mississippi, stating that the President should have sent the troops to Cuba and not to Oxford, Mississippi.

[redacted] stated that he is convinced that WALKER was not sane during the time he observed him on the Mississippi University campus. [redacted] based this opinion on nothing that WALKER had said but on the fact that WALKER apparently condoned the action of revolt against the recognized authority of the United States Government.

[redacted] stated that he last observed General WALKER on the campus at about 2:00 P.M. on October 1, 1962.

[redacted] stated that all the time he was on the campus, the battle between the students and the United States Marshals and later between the students and the Mississippi National Guardsmen continued. However, as the evening wore on into the early morning hours of October 1, 1962, the students for the most part were obviously losing interest and becoming openly hostile toward General WALKER and Governor BARNETT, blaming them for the outbreak of violence on the Mississippi University campus.

[redacted] advised that around 2:00 A.M. on October 1, 1962, he tried to reach his car which he had parked off campus. However, he was unable to drive away since it had been blockaded on a side street by other vehicles.

[redacted] recalled that a Mississippi University student by the name of [redacted] at the height of the rioting appealed to the students to be sensible, leave the campus, go back to their dormitories and consequently bring the situation back to normal. [redacted] related, however, that this student's words went unheeded.

[redacted] stated that on the morning of October 1, 1962, he saw MEREDITH being escorted to class by United States Marshals amid a mob of students who hurled insults at him. However, there was no further violence.

[redacted] stated he departed from Oxford, Mississippi, sometime during the morning of October 1, 1962, in order to resume his trip to New York City.

EDWIN A. WALKER
DESEGREGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI

On December 19, 1962, Dallas Confidential Informant T-1, [redacted] advised that on the week end of September 29 through 30, 1962, CLYDE J. WATTS of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, attorney for EDWIN A. WALKER, made several telephone calls to EDWIN A. WALKER in Mississippi. WATTS advised WALKER that he, WATTS, had been warned by friends in Washington, D. C., that WALKER might be charged with sedition if he interfered with integration at the University of Mississippi. WATTS tried repeatedly to convince WALKER he should leave the State of Mississippi and return to Texas. WALKER apparently refused to listen to WATTS. WATTS then made WALKER promise he would not leave his motel in Oxford, Mississippi. 7D U

On December 9, 1962, Dallas Confidential Informant T-2, [redacted] advised that it is generally known that H. L. HUNT, wealthy Dallas, Texas oilman, is paying all of the expenses for DR. ROBERT MORRIS and paying the fee for MORRIS' legal defense of EDWIN A. WALKER. 7D U

[redacted] He stated that they returned to the downtown section of Oxford where they observed General WALKER on the street surrounded by a crowd of people and heard WALKER state that rumors were circulating to the effect that he had lead two riots on the Campus of the University of Mississippi, which rumors were not correct. He claims that General WALKER made a statement to the effect that the Federal Marshals in Oxford were "goons." [redacted] claims he gathered the opinion that General WALKER thought that the Federal Marshals were in Oxford to incite a riot. 7D

With reference to General WALKER [redacted] stated he had heard WALKER [redacted] at the Sports Arena at Los Angeles some time prior to their trip to Mississippi, and considered him "a hard core American" and agreed with what he said at that meeting. 7D

[redacted] telephonically contacted General WALKER at WALKER's office at Dallas, Texas. During the conversation with WALKER, [redacted] asked whether or not there would be a protest in Oxford, Mississippi in connection with the action of Federal troops to enforce the Federal Court order to admit a Negro to the University of Mississippi. [redacted] he was informed by WALKER that it was anticipated there would be a protest and that the more people who showed up to protest, the more effective the protest would be. [redacted] he was not asked by WALKER to come to Mississippi. He said, however, that upon termination of the conversation, he telephonically contacted a friend, whose name he would not disclose, and informed him that [redacted] intended to go to Mississippi. [redacted] asked his friend if he to would like to go. The friend said he would go and asked permission to invite others to also go. [redacted] said he had no objections and made arrangements to meet his friend later that same evening to depart for Mississippi.

[redacted] continued that later that same evening, he went to his friend's house where he met his friend and two other individuals, whose names he refused to disclose. He said he and the four other individuals made their final arrangements and left late that night for Mississippi in his friend's red pickup truck with a silver camper.

[redacted] advised they drove to Mississippi via Route 66, arriving in Oxford, Mississippi approximately 48 hours later. Upon arrival in Oxford, the group split up and he and one other individual contacted General WALKER, where they had a short conversation. [redacted] said he did not engage in, or observe any rioting while in Mississippi. He further advised he did not observe anyone else from California, other than those in his immediate group, while in Mississippi. He advised he and his group left Oxford, Mississippi a few hours after their arrival and returned to California via Highway 80.

TD [redacted] advised that on a Friday evening during the latter part of September, 1962, he received a telephone call from a friend, whose name he refused to disclose, in which he was asked whether or not he would like to go to Oxford, Mississippi. He said he agreed to go and later that same evening, met with four individuals, including the one who had called him, and departed for Oxford, Mississippi in a red pickup truck with an aluminum camper. He advised he and the others arrived in Oxford, Mississippi approximately 48 hours later. Upon arrival at Oxford, the group split up temporarily. He advised he personally talked to several people, but did not meet or have contact with General WALKER. He said he did not observe or engage in any rioting while in Oxford. Approximately three hours after their arrival, the group decided to return to California. He said he is unable to recall the Route by which they went to Oxford or the Route by which they returned to California from Oxford.

TD [redacted] declined to say whether or not he personally carried any firearms from California to Mississippi, or whether any member in the group, to his knowledge, carried any firearms.

He advised his purpose in going to Mississippi was soley to observe on a personal basis the situation in Mississippi. He said he did not have any contact with General WALKER, either before the trip or after his arrival in Mississippi. He said to the best of his knowledge, the trip was initiated as a result of a spontaneous desire upon those who went to Mississippi to observe the situation from a personal standpoint.

When they arrived in Oxford, they stopped at a roadside rest,which they assumed to be outside of the town of Oxford. They washed up and made themselves presentable with intentions of going into Oxford. They found that they were in fact parked opposite the University of Mississippi campus. They talked with a number of people passing to and from the campus and later drove into the business section of Oxford and there talked with other townspeople, students and with what he assumed were state and city polic He saw no other California people there. In Oxford he observed a car bearing a placard "Arkansas Volunteers". He questioned some of those people and found them to be segregationists opposed to MEREDITH rather than supporters of States' rights. He talked with many students and found that they were not for the most part segregationists but rather defenders of States' rights. Several of his group left the truck but he stayed with it because he had in it three cameras and two typewriters.

He was asked if he or any of his group carried guns. He stated that before leaving the group had discussed whether to carry firearms and decided it would be both foolish and dangerous to do so. He removed the two rifles from his gun rack and left them at his home and carried no firearms whatsoever. He believes that the others in his group were unarmed.

He was advised that information had been received to the effect that rifles and ammunition were observed in the gun rack in the camper and that one of his group had reportedly carried a side-arm. He denied that this was true and said that in Oxford a police officer asked him if he had any weapons in his camper and he answered "Yes, I have some weapons, typewriters and cameras". He offered to allow the officer to search the camper and the officer said his offer was proof to him that they had no guns and he made no search.

He said two members of his group, [redacted] told him that they had talked briefly to General WALKER but he himself did not see WALKER. He said none of the group observed any rioting or assaults but after they returned to the roadside rest opposite the campus they heard shooting on the campus. At about that time three bus loads of patrolmen drove onto the campus and [redacted] said: "Those guys are using rifles" [redacted] gathered his group, immediately left Oxford and went a few miles out of town stopping in a restaurant in the next town north of Oxford. He could not recall the name of the restaurant or the town. He said that they arrived in the restaurant in this town in the early morning of October 1, 1962. He could not recall that any of his group made any statement about having come "to help ROSS" but thought that probably he and his group were speaking openly in praise of Governor BARNETT because they supported his defense of Mississippi. He recalled no talk of formation of an "underground" in California or in fact the formation of any organization to support General WALKER or Governor BARNETT. He said he and his friends do oppose the United Nations and that a sign opposing the United Nations (UN) may well have been in the truck. He said that several of his friends have worn lapel buttons which reflect opposition to the UN but did not remember if they wore them on this occasion. He said when they left the restaurant one of the other members of the group drove and he got into the back of the camper [redacted] This included results of interviews by himself and his friends. He said that he and this group later made a tape which was played over the radio for "Let Freedom Ring." He was asked if he knew General WALKER and he said that he did not know him personally, but as a member of the right-wing, he knows many of the other prominent members of most of the right-wing groups. He said he knows of no other persons who went to Oxford during this period.

FORMER MAJOR GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER

On April 29, 1963, an article appeared in the "Dallas Times Herald," a daily Dallas, Texas, newspaper, which stated that the Texas Medical Association, House of Delegates, on that date voted to commend the American Medical Association (AMA) for its current investigation of the hospitalization of Former Major General EDWIN A. WALKER. Delegates asked the AMA to continue its investigation and that full results be published in the AMA Journal. The resolution was introduced by the Navarro County Medical Society delegation. This resolution was altered to cite the present investigation rather than to call for a new probe as the resolution originally read.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

Walker's Outfit Helps Run Anti-Semitic Magazine

A REPORT ON THE MENTAL condition of former Maj. General Edwin A. Walker, who was arrested for inciting rebellion, insurrection, and seditious conspiracy, in the James Meredith case will be presented to a Mississippi federal court on Tuesday, Nov. 28. The report will be based on two examinations of Walker, the first by Dr. R. L. Babbiefield the other by Dr. Andrew L. Watson, a member of both the medical and law faculties of the University of Michigan.

Walker was released from Parkland Hospital in Dallas on Nov. 11.

By MIKE NEWBERRY

EX-GENERAL Edwin A. Walker has been revealed as one of the leaders of a group of ultra-ultras who have bought control of the anti-semitic and racist American Mercury.

The ultras group of which Walker is a reputed representative, is the so-called Survival For Freedom Inc. of McAllen, Texas.

Formerly the American Mercury was owned by the Defenders of the Christian Faith, a fundamentalist sect founded by the late Rev. Gerald Winrod whose Nazi and Fascist sympathies made him a prominent figure in the pre-war Fifth Column. Survival for Freedom Inc. bought the hate publication directly from the old Winrod outfit.

Walker, and his cohorts, reportedly paid "around $200,000" for the magazine.

Sources of this bankroll, or who is bankrolling the Survival For Freedom venture into large scale hate propaganda, were not revealed. The financial angels are presumably those who have been supporting the right-ist general's organizing efforts of late.

It has been announced that Walker will write military analysis" for the New Mercury.

WALKER

THE MERCURY has a particularly sordid history.

Until a few years ago the slick, monthly magazine was published in New York City by Russell Maguire, a millionaire industrialist and self-styled racial "patriot" Maguire, whose editorials set the tone of the magazine, delivered himself of such thoughts as:

"To soften us up for the kill we are urged to betray our God-given racial assets. Mongrelized, bestialized, human dogs can beget only miserable, stinking human curs."

Furthering this racist line the Mercury launched its infamous "Termites of the Cross" series, a monthly tirade of Jew-baiting and Negro-hating. It began to attack and encourage defiance of the Supreme Court integration decisions, and urged its readers, as long ago as 1957, to lay in a supply of guns.

In the early years of the ultra movement the "Mercury" was the rallying center of the fledgling rightists.

Many who are today leaders of the ultra-right appeared regularly in the magazine's [illegible] pages. Billy James Hargis of the Christian Crusade, Robert Hall [illegible] of World, Fulton Lewis III [illegible] Young Americans for Freedom, and the House UN-American Activities Committee, Robert Welch of the Birch Society, [illegible]

[illegible] but their political teeth [illegible] Mercury's fifth [illegible] hysterical and violent did [illegible] Mercury's anti-Semitism become that the magazine was literally forced out of New York. Printers refused to handle it. Newsstands boycotted it; there were but four newsdealers in the entire city where the magazine could be bought.

Besides, the Mercury became an ugly albatross around the neck of rightist politicians who were trying to make their movement appear respectable and acceptable to the voters.

It was then that the Mercury suddenly closed its fancy 57th Street office and announced it had been sold to the Winrod Defenders of the Christian Faith in Witchita, Kansas, where a high-powered printing and circulation apparatus was available to it.

At that time the Mercury had a proclaimed circulation of 90,000. Though its influence had dwindled, the Winrod outfit, with its own mailing lists of 300,000 more, hoped to revive the vitriolic publication along quieter revivalist lines.

WALKER, and his Texas financiers, in buying the "Mercury" evidently will seek to rebuild it as a propaganda and organizing center for the extremist general.

It may well be turned into a mouthpiece for the glorification of General Walker as a would-be man on horseback.

The ultra-right of the ultra-right has become more and more critical of what they consider the "political opportunism" of the right-wing leadership, whose current "go slow" policy has infuriated them. Hot heads, gathered around General Walker, the Nationalists, the States Rights Parties and the diehard segregationists have begun to urge "direct action" and there has been open talk of using "force and violence."

Evidence of this was heard in Walker's threat to organize 24,000 men for a march on Mississippi.

"It is time to move," the [illegible] General said, in a speech broadcast throughout the South; "we have talked, listened and been pushed around far too much by the Anti-Christ Supreme Court. Now is the time to be [illegible] 10,000 strong from every [illegible] in the union. Rally to the [illegible] of freedom."

The decision for force will be made in Washington," he added. "We will move with the punches."

Just before issuing this battle cry, which was widely reprinted in the press, Walker made an even more significant statement to his personal followers, that the press largely ignored. With a sampling of the "military analysis" he perhaps will write for the Mercury, Walker gave his opinion of the U.S. Army's counter-insurgency Program — better known as anti-guerrilla warfare — which he declared was being added to National Guard unit training. Since the government pooh-poohed the "internal threat" of Communism, according to Walker, this military training might, he implied, be used against the right and he warned his ultra-ultra legions to take note of this.

So it was that the week before the Mississippi riots the "Liberty Bulletin," the Ultra-Ultras voice on the University of Mississippi campus, echoed Walker's battle cry:

"Place yourself at the disposal of Governor Barnett," declared the "Liberty Bulletin." "Do not engage yourself in force and violence unless he calls for it and unless you are personally attacked. On the other hand, do not permit yourself to be intimidated . . ."

The "Liberty Bulletin" was reported to have been distributed in university dormitories the week before Meredith arrived.

When newsmen questioned Walker on whether he was advising his "volunteers (to) go armed" the General replied he was urging "whatever is necessary," and pointedly did not disavow the use of arms.

In the furor over the Mississippi University riots increasing incidents of violence and terrorism throughout the South went almost unnoticed.

Georgia reported the 8th burning of a Negro church during the very week that Walker [illegible] moving into action. White Louisiana KKK terrorists burned fiery crosses in fourteen cities and on the State Capitol grounds in Baton Rouge. Every town of over 2,000 population in Northern Louisian would be terrorized, said a KKK spokesmen.

These outbreaks of violence typified the ultra-ultras plans for the South.

How the new owners of the "American Mercury" will fit the magazine into these plans remains to be seen. The Department of Justice now that it has had a forestate of the ultra-ultras' plans also remains to be seen.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1962

University of Mississippi

Attorneys for Edwin A. Walker have made arrangements for him to undergo psychiatric examination at the Southwest Medical Center in Dallas, Texas, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced today.

Walker, therefore, will be released shortly on bond from the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Missouri, Mr. Kennedy said, under the terms of a stipulation filed by the Government and Walker's attorneys today in United States District Court in Oxford, Mississippi.

On October 2 in Oxford, United States District Judge Claude F. Clayton ordered Walker held for psychiatric examination to determine whether he is able to stand trial and assist in his defense against charges of seditious conspiracy, insurrection, attacking federal officers and conspiring to hinder them in the execution of their duties.

Walker, 52, a former Army major general, was arrested in Oxford on October 1 and held in lieu of $100,000 bail. The complaint asserted that he was involved in the mob attack on United States marshals on the University of Mississippi campus September 30.

In the stipulation entered today, Walker agreed to report within five days of his release on bond to the Southwest Medical Center in Dallas and remain available there until the completion of the examination. The stipulation provided that the Government select a psychiatrist to participate in the examination with the Dallas psychiatrists and that they report the results of the examination to Judge Clayton.

REC- 51

Petition Asks Walker Probe

Associated Press

A petition bearing thousands of signatures was filed with the Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday requesting an investigation of former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker's arrest and imprisonment.

The petition, filed by a group called the Citizens Congressional Committee, asked an investigation of what it called the treatment of "America's fearless patriot on the occasion of his incarceration at the instigation of the Department of Justice."

Walker was arrested and charged with seditious conspiracy and insurrection last fall during the rioting that broke out when a Negro was admitted to the University of Mississippi. The charges were dropped after a Federal grand jury in Mississippi adjourned without returning an indictment.

REC 37

SUBJECT: ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT
JOHN F. KENNEDY
MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION CONCERNING

Re Bureau telephone call to New York, 5/29/67.

On 6/6/67, the film, "Rush to Judgment" was reviewed at the Carnegie Hall Cinema, NYC, by SA JOHN J. AHERNE, as suggested by the Bureau. "Rush to Judgment" is a documentary type of film based on the book by MARK LANE. "Rush to Judgment" was produced and directed by EMILE DE ANTONIO.

The film begins with newsreel clips depicting LEE HARVEY OSWALD in the Dallas Police Department following his arrest and subsequent scenes showing the shooting of OSWALD by JACK RUBY. Through interviews with various officials of the Dallas Police Department and District Attorney HENRY M. WADE, it is indicated that the investigation of these killings is a joint effort of the Dallas Police Department, the Secret Service and the FBI. It is clear that at this time MARK LANE wishes to impress the fact that any responsibility for the case is to be borne by the FBI as well as any other agency.

MARK LANE immediately gives the audience the purpose of the film. He states that the Warren Commission, from its inception, had the preconceived theory that OSWALD and OSWALD alone was responsible for the killing of President KENNEDY and all its actions were directed to obtain evidence to substantiate this view. The FBI, acting on behalf of the Warren Commission and acting with the same preconceived theory, directed all its efforts to obtain the evidence which would be in keeping with the Commission's views.

LANE also points out at the beginning of this film that the Warren Commission did not offer OSWALD the benefit of counsel which was afforded even to Nazi criminals at the Nuremberg trials.

After this comparatively short introduction, witnesses are introduced and interviewed by LANE. They are the same witnesses as are found in LANE's book and give the same information as they did in the book. These witnesses deal with the killing of Officer J.D. TIPPIT and the participation of JACK RUBY. Information in this regard is also introduced concerning WARREN A. REYNOLDS, page 234, and Mrs. EARLINE ROBERTS, page 142.

It can be seen that the movie closely follows the book as the so-called witnesses which comprised the greater part of the movie are all set out in the book. It is also obvious that the book has many more witnesses and is a far more complete "case" for LANE's objectives.

At the conclusion of the majority of these interviews in the movie, LANE asks the witness a question such as, "Did you furnish this information to anyone?" or "Were you called before the Warren Commission?" The answers, which had a telling effect, were in general, "Yes, I gave this information to the Dallas Police Department or the Secret Service or the FBI," and "No, I was not called before the Warren Commission."

Some witnesses, who were called before the Warren Commission, stated that the Warren Commission did not appear interested in everything they might know about the matter and which information they had previously furnished to other agencies.

The over-all impression, in these interviews and to some extent in the entire movie, is that the main target of LANE is not the Dallas Police Department, the Secret Service or the FBI, but the Warren Commission.

The following comments, which are also found in the book, were noted which were critical of the FBI:

1. The statement by SAC GORDON SHANKLIN that the paraffin test indicated gunpowder on OSWALD's cheeks and hands - page 124

2. The interview of Sergeant NELSON DELGADO, in which he states that FBI Agents were trying to change his statement - page 330

3. Suppression of the MARY MOORMAN photograph either by the FBI or Warren Commission - page 293

Newspaper clippings concerning this film will be sent to the Bureau at a later date.

[illegible], Tex.

Dear Batchelor:

[illegible] complaint is based on incidents arising out of four telephone calls and visits to my home within three days by Mr. J. J. Angers in an appeal [illegible] for financial assistance, $10,000, for [illegible] the release, distribution and sale of a book that he, Mr. Curry, and one other wrote produced for sale on the assassinations of Pres. Kennedy and Oswald, [illegible] attempt on me.

Mr. J. Angers told me that he, Ex-Chief of Police Mr. Jesse Curry, and [illegible] whom he named were the authors and producers of the book. He presented himself as an author, as a representative of the Curry group, [illegible] a salesman, expounding on the great profits to ensue.

Mr. J. Angers said that he had a copy of my police file. When asked for copy, he said he would give it to me. He indicated by finger motion that it was about one inch thick. He displayed a copy of a letter from [illegible] City Police files that referred to me and my activities that was [illegible] any file ever shown to me at Dallas Police Headquarters.

At [illegible] Mr. Angers said he would go, and at another that he had been, [illegible] policeman and verified a statement in the book to be correct. The statement [illegible] false.

[illegible] reading the book, I confronted him with certain selected wrong or [illegible] inferences and statements in the book.

[illegible] complaint at this time is presented to you in the following questions:

1. Is J. Angers officially associated with the Dallas City Police--now, [illegible] time covered by this book, or has he been at any time?

2. Did Mr. Angers have a copy of a letter from police files and records [illegible] pertaining to me?

3. Did he have a copy of a police file--my police file?

4. Did Mr. Angers be going to a policeman, with such facility, to verify [illegible] matters of important and high-level significance? (Most significant [illegible] I recommend the statement in the book and his verification of [illegible] false.)

5. Did Mr. Angers, representing the ex-Chief of Police group [illegible] book, [illegible] publisher-and-printer, as author and salesman, approach [illegible] for [illegible] and associate assistance and for backing and endorsement?

SUBJECT: WILLIAM MANCHESTER
AUTHOR OF KENNEDY BOOK TO BE PUBLISHED IN 1969
APPOINTMENT WITH DIRECTOR, 10:10 A.M., 6-4-64

By appointment, I introduced William Manchester, who has been commissioned by Mrs. John F. Kennedy to write a book concerning the four days surrounding the assassination and funeral of the late President, to the Director at 10:10 a.m., today in the Director's Office.

Mr. Manchester first thanked the Director for seeing him. He expla that he had already seen approximately 90 people, principally in Washington; howev had not yet gone to Dallas, Texas, inasmuch as Chief Justice Warren felt that he sh not conduct interviews in Dallas until after the Warren Commission report had beer

In instituting a series of questions to the Director, Mr. Manchester inquired as to what the Director was doing on November 22, 23, 24 and 25, 1963. Manchester added that he would first like to start with November 22, 1963, at the p moment the Director first received the news that the President had been shot. The Director replied that he had just returned from lunch. This was approximately 1:1 A news item was brought in to him reflecting the President had been shot. The Dir immediately called the Attorney General who was at his home dining with the U. S. Attorney from New York, Mr. Morgenthau. The Director advised the Attorney Gen that a news announcement had been made that the President had been wounded. The Director stated he next talked to the SAC of our Office in Dallas, Texas. He was i that the President had been wounded and had been taken to the Parkland Memorial H The SAC also advised that Governor Connally had been shot and was now in the eme room with Kennedy at the same hospital. Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Connally, who w riding in the same car, had not been hit. The SAC told the Director that it appeare the shots had come from an upper story window of the Texas Book Depository Buildi

The Dallas Office additionally advised the Director shortly after 2:00 p.m. that day that the President had died. The Director immediately called the Attorney General once again and told him of the death of his brother. At this time the Director inquired as to whether the Attorney General planned to go to Dallas. The Director stated that he had advised the Attorney General that if such plans were in the making he would facilitate his departure and arrival. The Director told Manchester that shortly thereafter our Dallas Office called once again to indicate that the President's body would be immediately flown back to Washington and that the Vice President had already been sworn in as President. The Director later called the Attorney General once again and told him that the FBI was moving into the investigation. The Director advised Manchester that the FBI took this action despite the fact that there was no law making it a Federal violation to assassinate the President.

At this point the Director gave Manchester a brief history of the assassination of SAC Shanahan in Chicago, Illinois, in the middle 1920's. There was no Federal law against assaulting or murdering an FBI Agent at that time. The Director told Manchester he initiated action to make it a Federal crime to assault or kill an FBI Agent so that proper action could be taken in Federal court rather than a local court in such matters.

The Director told Manchester that if the FBI had taken custody of Lee Harvey Oswald, Jr., Oswald would never have been killed by Jack Ruby. The Director stated that the murder of Oswald by Ruby naturally gave rise to considerable speculation and rumor. All of this could have been avoided had the Dallas police taken proper action to protect Oswald.

The Director told Manchester that the FBI immediately entered the case, despite non-jurisdiction, and that we interviewed Oswald as soon as he was made available. The Director stated that on the evening of November 22, 1963, at approximately 7:25 p.m., President Johnson called him at his home and requested that the FBI take complete charge of the case involving the assassination. The Director stated he advised the President that the FBI had already entered the case and that we would, of course, go all out in this matter. The Director also told the President that he was concerned about the great amount of publicity coming out of Dallas.

The Director then told Manchester that the Dallas police had given out considerable information received as a result of FBI findings, particularly from our Laboratory. He added that on the 4th or 5th day following the assassination he instructed our SAC in Dallas to contact Chief of Police Curry and order him to make no further statements to the press with respect to the evidence or investigation surrounding the assassination. The Director told Manchester that this Chief of Police could have told him to go to hell; however, he had recognized the obvious necessity and logic of such instructions and had complied. The Director explained to Manchester at some length the necessity to keep physical evidence confined prior to the prosecution of an individual.

The Director told Manchester that on Saturday evening, November 23, 1963, our Dallas Office had received an anonymous telephone call indicating that plans had been made to murder Oswald when he was removed from the Dallas City Jail. The FBI informed the Dallas Chief of Police immediately. The Director told Manchester that original plans for removal of Oswald had been made for 10:00 p.m. that Saturday night. The Chief of Police, however, changed these plans by acceding to the pressure of the press that Oswald be removed at a convenient time so that communications media could cover the event. Our Dallas Office again called the Dallas Police Department on Sunday morning, November 24, 1963, and reminded that Department of the same anonymous telephone call. At that time the Chief of Police assured our Dallas Office that all precautions were being taken to protect Oswald.

The Director informed Manchester that following the President's call at 7:25 p.m., November 22, 1963, he gave specific instructions that the FBI do everything possible to thoroughly investigate this case. The Director stated that additional personnel were immediately sent to Dallas. He told Manchester this was necessary inasmuch as our Dallas Office and FBI Headquarters, as well as other offices, received hundreds and hundreds of phone calls, telegrams and letters setting forth leads in this case.

Manchester inquired as to whether the Director placed any significance to the anonymous phone call concerning the plan to murder Oswald. The Director replied that we had no way of knowing at the time whether any importance should be attached or not; however, we did have the responsibility to immediately notify the Dallas police, which we did.

The Director characterized Jack Ruby as somewhat of a "police buff." As a result of his friendship with a number of police officers he had easy accessibility to the Dallas Police Department. The Director stated that he did not know whether Ruby's reported insanity was of the sincere or faked type inasmuch as we were not psychiatrists. He stated that Ruby had given the excuse that he had killed Oswald because of his obvious affection for the late President and the fact that he wanted to prevent any further sorrow to Mrs. Kennedy inasmuch as she would necessarily have to return to Dallas and testify against Oswald.

Manchester inquired as to the exact location of the Director at the time Oswald was killed on Sunday, November 24, 1963. The Director replied that he was at home. He stated that the Dallas Office contacted him immediately following this event. Manchester inquired as to the Director's immediate reaction. The Director replied that his first thought was how such an event could take place, particularly under a system of civilized justice. The Director added that he had ordered an immediate check on Jack Ruby and particularly to ascertain if there had been a relationship between Ruby and Oswald.

Manchester inquired as to whether the Director was watching television at the time of Oswald's murder. The Director replied in the negative. He stated he was working on official papers at the time. The Director added that he usually saved Sundays to review lengthy documents and memoranda as well as to prepare himself for interviews, hearings, etc.

Manchester inquired as to what the Director was doing on Friday morning, November 22, 1963, prior to the assassination. The Director replied that he was conducting business as usual, that he had had a number of interviews that particular morning.

Manchester inquired as to the physical location of the wire service ticker machine. He was told that it is located across the hall and that pertinent wire service items are brought in to the Director immediately.

The Director told Manchester that his first conversation on November 22, 1963, with our Dallas Office occurred at approximately 1:48 p.m. The Director was advised at that time that the President was not believed to be dead yet but that he had suffered a mortal wound. The Director mentioned that on the occasion of his second call to the Attorney General, the Attorney General had indicated that he had also been in touch with a number of the Presidential Staff and had been informed of a number of details concerning the shooting and the fact that the President had died.

Manchester inquired as to the Director's opinion of the Attorney General's reaction upon being informed that the President had been shot. The Director replied that the Attorney General had been silent for a few moments and had then requested that the Director keep him informed of any further facts received concerning this matter. The Director told Manchester that the Attorney General is usually very quiet in manner until he has all the necessary facts of a given situation. The Director stated that the Attorney General was not the explosive type unless he became angry.

Manchester told the Director that the President's call to the Director at 7:25 p.m., November 22, 1963, appeared to be one of the first calls that the President made upon returning to Washington that evening. The Director replied that he would surmise that this was correct. The Director added that our investigation proceeded forthwith; however, it was not until Monday or Tuesday of the following week that the President decided to name a Presidential Commission to look into the assassination. The Director told Manchester that an FBI report had been sent to the Warren Commission within ten days after the President had set up this body. The Director stated that he personally had appeared before the Warren Commission and that he considered their questioning of him to be quite thorough. He stated that thoroughness was necessary on the part of the Commission inasmuch as this would serve to assist in quelling gossip and speculation in the future. The Director quickly added, however, that rumors will continue concerning this case, especially in Europe where there is widespread gossip concerning a supposed conspiracy, for many years.

The Director told Manchester that the statement that some of the information may be withheld by the Warren Commission naturally gave rise to further rumor. Manchester replied that he could understand the Chief Justice's statement in this regard inasmuch as not just any individual should be allowed to look at the classified material sent to the Commission by some agencies. The Director replied that the issue in point is such that excessive precautions of security is unwise. The Director explained that he had never been a great believer in wasteful precautions or going overboard regarding excessive security. He stated that an item is either classified or else it isn't classified. The Director gave examples of leaks in Government that have given several Presidents extreme cause and worry. He stated that the FBI is usually called upon to investigate these leaks, however, newspapermen naturally do not desire to reveal their sources. The Director stated that if newspapermen did reveal such sources that quite naturally the sources would dry up.

Manchester inquired of the Director as to whether the assassination case became one of major concern following the President's call at 7:25 p.m., November 22, 1963. The Director stated that as he had previously indicated, the FBI had already entered this case. He added, however, that after the President's call we went all out in doing such things as working around the clock, sending a Washington-based FBI official to Dallas and adding approximately 30 Agents to the Dallas personnel complement. The Director stated that we still have at least 50 men who are tied up in running down leads on this particular case throughout the FBI's service. He stated that this case will never be closed from an investigative point of view inasmuch as we will continually receive leads, many from mental cases, which necessarily have to be checked out.

Manchester asked if the matter of a President being assassinated not being a Federal crime had ever been discussed fully by the Congress, or anyone else, according to the Director's knowledge. The Director replied that there had been no discussion to any extent. He stated the matter had just never been considered.

Manchester inquired as to whether the FBI had prior material on Oswald before the assassination. The Director replied that we did have some information regarding Oswald, however, it was quite flimsy in nature. The Director then explained at some length the background of Oswald. He told Manchester of the press releases that Oswald made in Moscow. He told Manchester of Oswald's employment in a factory in Minsk, Russia, and of the fact that Oswald had later returned to Moscow. The Director stated that he certainly did not understand why the Department of State had failed to have Oswald sign an affidavit forfeitting his American citizenship at the time Oswald returned to Moscow and visited the U. S. Embassy. Manchester spoke up and stated that the State Department claimed they had wanted to find out if Oswald had committed an extraditable crime in the Soviet Union, therefore, no signed affidavit was taken from him. The Director again deplored the failure to have such an affidavit executed.

The Director continued that we had interviewed Oswald within two or three days following his arrival in the United States. He explained that we, of course, desired to find out if Oswald had been recruited as an intelligence agent by the Soviet Union. The Director told Manchester that this did not appear to be true. He added that Oswald had identified himself as a Marxist rather than a communist. The Director added that Oswald had later been interviewed in New Orleans after getting into a street squabble with anti-Castroites over leaflets being handed out by Oswald. The Director told Manchester that Oswald could best be termed a "loner." He explained Oswald's communications with the Communist Party in the United States but added that Oswald never joined the Party. The Director told of the incidents surrounding Oswald's attempt to kill General Walker in Dallas. He added that Oswald's wife, Marina, had advised us of this incident following the assassination. The Director summarized this part of the interview by indicating there appeared to be nothing in Oswald's background which would reflect that he was a man of violence and most certainly nothing which indicated that Oswald had any intentions of assassinating the President.

Manchester asked if the Director did not find it odd that Mrs. Oswald had failed to tell anyone about the attempted assassination of General Walker until after the murder of President Kennedy. The Director replied that he did not find this odd in view of the cold relationship between Oswald and his wife, the language barrier on the part of Mrs. Oswald and the fact that Mrs. Oswald did not have the natural instincts of an American woman but to the contrary had a different attitude altogether. He stated he placed no significance in Mrs. Oswald's failure to advise of this incident prior to the assassination.

Re: William Manchester, Author of Kennedy Book

Appointment with Director, 10:10 a. m., 6-4-64

The Director told Manchester that it was extremely difficult to speculate on the motivations of Oswald to kill the President. The Director stated it was entirely possible Oswald may have wanted to kill Governor John Connally. He explained that Oswald had written communications to Governor Connally protesting his particular type of discharge from the U. S. Marine Corps. The Director added that President Kennedy was an intellectual liberal type. He stated that President Kennedy had been desirous of keeping peace with honor. He stated that President Kennedy desired peaceful co-existence --American style. The Director added that the President, although he had been firm in his dealings with Khrushchev, had a fairly good relationship with Khrushchev and the Soviet Union. The Director summed up by stating that Oswald could not have desired to kill the President because the President had dealt harshly, or spoken harshly, against the Communist Party and Chairman Khrushchev.

Manchester speculated that perhaps the communists, including Oswald, did not like the relationship between the late President and Khrushchev; therefore, the communists desired to do away with President Kennedy so that this obstacle to their desired philosophy could be removed. The Director replied that this was entirely possible; however, he wanted Manchester to clearly understand that Khrushchev was not a person to be trusted and that Chairman Khrushchev had a very cold and evil mind. The Director, at this point, gave examples of Khrushchev's understanding of the English language despite the fact that he had Troyanovsky, an excellent interpreter, with him at all times while on his visits to the United States. The Director told Manchester that he had always felt it better to kick individuals like Khrushchev on the shins once in a while rather than to boot-lick them. The Director explained that Khrushchev was basically an oriental and that individuals opposing orientals usually lost face in the oriental's opinion when fear or trepidation was shown.

Manchester inquired as to whether the Director's duties and responsibilities allowed him to participate personally in the funeral ceremonies. The Director replied in the negative. He stated he had been at his desk constantly. He added that he had issued instructions that FBI personnel participate officially in the ceremonies by assisting Secret Service as much as possible. The Director spoke of the many visiting foreign dignitaries and of the dangers involved in the march from the White House to St. Matthew's Cathedral. He told Manchester that over 40 Special Agents had been assigned to assist Secret Service, particularly at St. Matthew's Cathedral. He further told Manchester that the authority to protect the President was clearly a function of the Secret Service; however, since the assassination we have assisted when called upon. The Director briefly advised Manchester at this point of the immediate widespread ramifications of this case following the actual shooting. He told Manchester that leads had spread to Mexico as well as throughout the entire United States. Therefore, it has been necessary for him personally to remain at his desk so as to supervise this matter.

At this point I reminded Manchester of his previous statement to me that he had to be at the White House at 11:15 a.m. Manchester thanked the Director twice upon his departure and stated that he was very appreciative of the Director's cooperation and considerable time taken from a busy schedule to be of assistance.

INTERVIEW REPORT

Dt. 10/10/62

On October 8, 1962, [redacted] Dallas Television Station KRLD-TV, advised that his department first received word that former GENERAL EDWIN A. WALKER intended going to Mississippi on Wednesday, September 26, 1962. At this time [redacted] stated he received a telephone call from CBS News in New York, with whom they are affiliated, and asked to check with WALKER regarding the fact that he intended going to Mississippi to assist GOVERNOR ROSS BARNETT in his dispute with the Federal government over the integration of the University of Mississippi. [redacted] stated that one of his newsmen then contacted WALKER's office, at which time WALKER readily granted a television interview. [redacted] noted this was the first time that WALKER had been cordial or cooperative with the press during his entire stay in Dallas, Texas. [redacted] stated following the first television interview, a second television interview was held with GENERAL WALKER on or about Friday, September 28, 1962. At that time [redacted] stated [redacted] asked WALKER if he would advise him when he, WALKER, was going to Mississippi so that he could have proper news coverage. WALKER [redacted] told him to come down to Mississippi and wait for him, thus indicating to [redacted] that he had already made up his mind to go to Mississippi to resist Federal attempts to integrate the University of Mississippi. [redacted] stated that sometime shortly before noon an unknown individual from WALKER's office notified his news department that WALKER had left for Mississippi.

by Special Agent [redacted]

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

[redacted]

[redacted] stated that following WALKER's two television appearances regarding his stand against desegregation of the University of Mississippi, he received numerous telephone calls at his office, almost all of them supporting WALKER's stand, and WALKER held a reception at his home for his followers on the evening of Friday, September 28, 1962.

[redacted]

[redacted]

[redacted] said he knows that WALKER maintains at least two bank accounts at the Park Cities State Bank in Dallas, Texas, one of which is carried as "FRIENDS OF WALKER" and the other "AMERICAN EAGLE PUBLISHING COMPANY." [redacted] said he is certain of these two accounts [redacted] stated that most of the deposits were contributions from friends of WALKER, half of it being in cash and about one-half in checks. [redacted] declined to name any of the main contributors to WALKER.

[redacted] stated that from the best information available to him approximately twenty to twenty-five followers of WALKER may have gone to Oxford, Mississippi, at WALKER's request. However, he could only identify [redacted] and [redacted] estimated that between 200 to 300 followers of WALKER attended a reception at his house on the evening of September 28, 1962.

[redacted]

[redacted] stated that he has noticed WALKER on several occasions shake very strongly when angry or excited. However, he does not know the medical significance of this.

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION
INTERVIEW REPORT

On October 9, 1962 [redacted] Dallas, Texas, advised that [redacted] on September 21, 1962, purchased three Sturm-Luger .22 automatic pistols from his store. Serial numbers on these pistols were 229049, 229242, and 229124. [redacted] gave his name as JOHN F. KENNEDY when he purchased these pistols and gave address [redacted] Dallas, a nonexistent address. On June 28, 1962, [redacted] again using the name of JOHN F. KENNEDY purchased a six inch Smith & Wesson Highway Patrolman .357 Magnum Pistol, Serial No. S185221, giving an address of [redacted] Dallas, Texas, also a nonexistent address [redacted] stated that on September 21, 1962, when purchasing the .22 automatic pistols [redacted] also purchased 1000 rounds of .22 ammunition. [redacted] estimated that [redacted] had purchased approximately eight guns, including three Mausberg .22 caliber rifles and approximately 2500 rounds of ammunition from him in the past several months. According to the information that [redacted] furnished [redacted] he was a member of some type club or organization, exact nature of which he never disclosed to [redacted]. [redacted] stated he was accompanied on several occasions by a blond haired woman who had a seven year old son, and on another occasion by a dark haired, clean cut, well dressed individual about 5' 8" in height, in his middle or late 20's. [redacted] stated that earlier on October 9, 1962, this man described above came into the store at which time he assured [redacted] that [redacted] had nothing to fear from the Federal authorities any more and that everything was under control.
